LOVE FINDS THE WAY

High Shepard Finally Weds the Girl of His Choice.

COURTED HER FOR THREE YEARS

In Spite of Opposition They Embark on Life's Journey Together.

Miss Hart's Parents Objected to the Match, So the Young People Plan and Carry into Execution an Elopement—Embarrassment of the Groom on Finding Himself Without Money to Go Home With—Believed by the Interested People of Millerton, N. Y.—They Go to Ask For Her Parents' Forgiveness.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Feb. 18.—Hugh Shepard and Miss Hattie Hay Hart, both of Winsted, Conn., alighted from a train at Millerton, Dutchess county, last night, and in five minutes' time the village was in an uproar.

The couple were looking for a clergyman and acted as if they feared they might be overtaken before they found one. They inquired of half a dozen persons where a minister might be found and they were finally directed to the Rev. M. Wolff, pastor of the Baptist Church of the village. A goodly portion of the villagers had been attracted by the actions of the pair.

After the ceremony had been performed the couple, now all smiles, went to Barbour's Hotel, where they told their story to a group of eager listeners.

It was a runaway match, but as this was already known to almost every man, woman and child in the village, details were anxiously asked for.

Young Shepard, who was greatly agitated, said that he had been courting Miss Hart for three years, but her relatives had prevented their marriage on many occasions. At length they concluded to get married anyway and in their coming to Millerton and haste to find a clergyman told the rest.

Miss Hart is a beautiful young woman not more than 18 years old. She was elegantly dressed and her superior station in life to that of her companion was apparent at a glance. She is said to belong to one of the best families of her town.

The groom, in the morning made an embarrassing discovery. He found that after paying the marriage fee of three dollars and his hotel bill, he had come to the end of his resources. His predicament, however, was short-lived.

When it became known, he had no difficulty in borrowing all the money he needed to carry himself and bride back to Winsted for forgiveness. Quite a crowd saw the happy couple off at the railroad station.

The residents have done scarcely anything since then but talk of the romantic marriage, and they will not soon forget the beautiful runaway bride that created such a sensation in their village by insisting upon marrying the man she loved.

THE BRIDEGROOM CAME NOT.

A Chatham, Ont., Pastor's Many Engagements and Flight.

CHATHAM, Ont., Feb. 18.—Rev. N. H. Martin, who, for the past fifteen years, has been pastor of the leading Episcopal Church here, to have been married last night to Miss Kitchen, a prominent member of his flock.

The guests had assembled and all was in readiness for the ceremony, but the bridegroom came not. An investigation revealed the fact that he left the city on Saturday last, since which time no tidings had been received from him.

The sensation caused by his disappearance was added to by the announcement that he was engaged to be married to Miss Deinauge, another member of his church, and also to Miss Sarah Bonet, a farmer's daughter.

The latter has a document in the pastor's handwriting in which he promises to marry her on Monday, Feb. 15, and further gives her full possession of all his household effects.

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 18.—Landlord B. F. Crane, who owns the house No. 8 Nassau place, was surprised to find that Henry Jenks, his wife and three children had taken possession of the house and had filled it with three loads of furniture.

It is said that the Jenks family have been here from England but a few months, but have as yet paid no rent, merely taking possession of vacant houses and awaiting ejection by process of law, which in this State is slow. When threatened they have retaliated with threats of suits for damages.

An Engineer Makes Arrangements to Blow up a Factory.

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 14.—Charles Dexheimer, who attempted to blow up the leather factory of S. & J. Well, has been arrested.

Dexheimer is the engineer of the factory. Yesterday morning he drank very heavily and at 10 o'clock, when he should have started the engines, he did not appear. Several employes went into the boiler room where they found he had formulated a fiendish plot to wreck the factory and endanger the lives of the 150 employes.

Dexheimer had removed or loosened the bolts from the steam chest, so fixed the steam gauge that it would fail to register and put the entire machinery into such a condition that, when started up, an explosion would follow.

Verdict of the Coroner's Jury in the Senior Murder Case.

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 18.—Coroner Phelan and jury have concluded the investigation of the circumstances surrounding the murder of Mrs. Elizabeth Senior, in Millburn, on January 10.

John Gunzler, the 16-year-old boy who claimed to have seen Gus Lentz, the man in custody on suspicion of having committed the crime, in Millburn at 7 o'clock on the night of the murder, would not swear to his former statement without qualifying it. To the best of his knowledge and belief the man was Lentz.

After the examination of several other witnesses, the jury found that Mrs. Senior came to her death at the hands of some persons unknown.

HIS AWFUL DEATH

A Grip Victim's Blood-curdling Method of Suicide.

HIS NURSE HAD JUST LEFT HIM.

He Broke a Pane of Glass and Sawed His Throat on the Jagged Edge

After the Physicians Had Put Twelve Stitches in the Wounds, George Grumbler Regained Consciousness, Tore Off the Bandages and Lacerated the Cuts in a Fearful Manner, Dying From Loss of Blood Before the Medical Men Could Again Dress Them.

GREENSBORO, Pa., Feb. 18.—George Grumbler, a prominent citizen of Old Ninevah, took his life in a most horrible and blood-curdling manner. Mr. Grumbler has been ill with grip for two weeks past and this probably affected his mind.

In any event, during the temporary absence of his nurse, he arose from his bed and going to a window broke a pane of glass. Then, placing his head through the hole, he deliberately sawed his throat over the jagged edges, inflicting terrible injuries.

Blood spurted in all directions, but the unfortunate man kept on sawing his throat until he fell to the floor exhausted from loss of blood.

A few moments later the nurse returned, and seeing the man's condition, hastily summoned physicians.

The doctors put twelve stitches in the frightful wounds and then put Grumbler to bed.

They had scarcely turned away from the injured man when Grumbler, who had recovered consciousness, tore out the stitches, lacerating the gaping wounds afresh.

Death ensued before the doctors could staunch the renewed flow of blood.

Grumbler leaves a wife and several children.

Lamp-chimneys cost so little that we let them go on breaking.

We go on buying and grumbling.

What should we do?

Get Macbeth's "Pearl-top" and "Pearl-glass;" they are made of tough glass, tough against heat; they do not break in use; they do from accident.

They are fine, well made, exact; they fit the lamps they are made for; stand upright; the shade is right; they make a right draught for light; they are uniform. Both bear a label for your protection. Look for it. Be willing to pay a nickel more and stop this constant expense and annoyance.

I delayed writing to you, as I was anxious to know whether I was temporarily or permanently cured.

It is with pleasure that I now state that from my present feelings, I would judge that I am cured.

It is highly necessary for me to recommend this medicine as I am positive that a trial of it is all that is necessary, and I am fully convinced it will recommend itself.

Yours truly, V. H. HAGENBACH, For sale at Kirtle's Drug Store, Ferguson House Block, Shenandoah, Pa.

Bartow on the Sound, Westchester Co., N. Y. To Alva's Brazilian Specific Co.—Gentlemen—Last spring I was troubled with what the doctors told me was muscular rheumatism. I was unable to walk for nearly six weeks. All this time I was using the medicine prescribed by the attending doctor, and from which I got no relief.

A friend sent me a large bottle of Kemp's Cough Cure, which I tried, and before two-thirds of the cure was used I was able to walk without pain. It is now two months since the pain left me, and have not as yet returned. I feel better than I have for years.

HIS AWFUL DEATH

A Grip Victim's Blood-curdling Method of Suicide.

HIS NURSE HAD JUST LEFT HIM.

He Broke a Pane of Glass and Sawed His Throat on the Jagged Edge

After the Physicians Had Put Twelve Stitches in the Wounds, George Grumbler Regained Consciousness, Tore Off the Bandages and Lacerated the Cuts in a Fearful Manner, Dying From Loss of Blood Before the Medical Men Could Again Dress Them.

GREENSBORO, Pa., Feb. 18.—George Grumbler, a prominent citizen of Old Ninevah, took his life in a most horrible and blood-curdling manner. Mr. Grumbler has been ill with grip for two weeks past and this probably affected his mind.

In any event, during the temporary absence of his nurse, he arose from his bed and going to a window broke a pane of glass. Then, placing his head through the hole, he deliberately sawed his throat over the jagged edges, inflicting terrible injuries.

Blood spurted in all directions, but the unfortunate man kept on sawing his throat until he fell to the floor exhausted from loss of blood.

A few moments later the nurse returned, and seeing the man's condition, hastily summoned physicians.

The doctors put twelve stitches in the frightful wounds and then put Grumbler to bed.

They had scarcely turned away from the injured man when Grumbler, who had recovered consciousness, tore out the stitches, lacerating the gaping wounds afresh.

Death ensued before the doctors could staunch the renewed flow of blood.

Grumbler leaves a wife and several children.
