$100 FOR A HUSBAND

That is the Price a Woman, Aged 70, Paid For One.

HER SPOUSE IS ONLY 21

She Married to Secure Her Son an Inheritance of $180,000.

There was a Clause in Her Former Husband's Will, That If She Married Again the Property Was to Revert to Their Child, Who is a Cripple—If She Did Not Marry, Then the Property Would Be Divided Among Her Husband's Relatives.

JACKSON, Mich., March 11.—William H. Plumb, a young man 21 years of age, was married here yesterday to Mrs. Amanda Bentley, aged 70. Although it was not a love match, it was one of the most romantic weddings on record. By it the aged bride secured to her crippled son an inheritance of $180,000, which, without the wedding, he could not have legally claimed.

The young groom, who is very boyish in appearance, was working on the streets at $1.25 per day, when he was approached by an acquaintance who told him that Mrs. Bentley wanted to get married so badly that she would pay him $100 for becoming her husband, and would not ask him to live with her. Young Plumb accepted the opportunity, and within twenty-four hours the ceremony was legally performed.

Immediately after the ceremony Mrs. Bentley, or Mrs. Plumb, took the train for Grand Rapids. Her home most of the time is in Ridgewood, Canada. In explanation of her strange marriage she explained:

"My husband, who died some years ago, had been married before and had several children. He left a will bequeathing me a large share of the estate during my life. There is a clause in the document providing that if I married again the property was to revert to our only child, who is now 23 years old and a cripple. Should I die without marrying the will says that the property is to be divided among my husband's heirs. I think it was his intention to have all that was left to me revert to our child, but he made a mistake in writing his will. This is why I enter into this marriage. By it the property reverts at once to my son and he will not be left helpless and in poverty at my death, which cannot be far off."

A Ruffian Cuts a Young Girl's Throat from Ear to Ear.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 11.—While the Rev. Marion Moore and his wife were absent from their house, a small mountain farm at the head of Stock's Creek, about 15 miles from Charleston, a young man of the name of Jack Adkins went into the house and attempted to outrage Miss Bettie Moore, the 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Moore. The young girl stoutly resisted Adkins, whereupon he cut her throat from ear to ear with a butcher knife, killing her instantly.

Adkins was seen to leave the house, and escaped to the mountains. The murder is the most diabolical committed in this county in 15 years. Adkins will be lynched if caught. The whole county is up in arms, and several detectives from this city have joined in the chase.

Trouble in a Seminary.

KINGSTON, N. Y., March 11.—Recently several students of the Stamford Seminary charged Prof. Hakesley, the principal, "with conduct unbecoming a teacher," and an investigation of the charge was made by the Board of Trustees of the Seminary. The Board decided that the charge was not substantiated, and the students who made it were suspended. A conference of students was held, and as a result twenty-two students left the Seminary. The affair has created a sensation at Stamford, and it is feared that many other students will leave. The suspended students are to bring an action against the Board of Trustees.

The Bicyclists After Hiding Forty-Eight Hours are Very Close.

New York, March 11.—The bicycle race that is now in progress at the Madison Square Garden is one of the most hotly contested on record. For forty-eight hours the men have been racing round the ten-lap track, and at a very lively pace, too, and the three leaders, Lumsden, Ashinger and Martin, are only separated by the length of their wheels. The fourth man, Lamb, is a lap behind. He lost this distance through a fall, the other riders gaining a lap on him while he was getting a new wheel. The fifth man, Beading, is a lap behind Lamb. This loss was caused through an accident. The next man is Schneck. He broke his wheel on Wednesday, and has been falling behind ever since. Stage is the last man. The pace has been too hot for him. If the men keep together today and to-morrow, the finish will be a very exciting one.

The score at 1 o'clock was: Ashinger, 696 miles, 5 laps; Lumsden, 646 miles, 5 laps; Martin, 699 miles, 4 laps; Lamb, 699 miles, 3 laps; Beading, 646 miles, 3 laps; Schneck, 678 miles, 3 laps; Stage, 641 miles and 8 laps.

AN ENRAGED FATHER

He Wants the Life of a Newark Priest.

CHARGED WITH A GRAVE CRIME.

Seven-Year-Old Rosa Basile Says That He Assaulted Her.

The Priest, Who is a Turk, Was Met by the Father of the Girl, Who Called a Policeman and Had Him Arrested—He Was Taken to the Station House, But Was Allowed to Return Home Shortly After in Charge of a Policeman.

NEWARK, N. J., March 11.—"I will murder that parish priest if the law does not punish him," said Angelo Basile yesterday morning to Justice Hayes in the First Precinct Police Court of Newark, and he said it calmly and with an air of unmistakable determination.

Through an interpreter his 7-year-old daughter, Maria Rosa, whom he held by the hand, had for a second time told the Justice a story of assault. The police surgeons had also told the Justice that the girl had been assaulted. The Justice issued a warrant for Father Joseph Ali, a Roman Catholic priest attached to the Italian Church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel, who is charged with committing the assault.

The little girl attends the parochial school attached to the church. When she came home from school Tuesday evening she was crying and greatly excited. In reply to her father's questions she said that when she left school Father Ali took her into ante-room in the school, where, she said, the assault was committed.

The father armed himself with a revolver and went in search of the priest. He failed to find him. He then applied to Justice Hayes for a warrant. The latter had remembered that there had lately been factional troubles in the church and declined to issue a warrant even after he had heard the child's story from her own lips.

Basile went home and told his wife that there was no law for him, and vowed that he would kill the priest. Mrs. Basile went to the police court on Wednesday night and begged the Judge to save her husband from committing murder. Basile was at that time at the parochial residence again with a loaded revolver. In his rage he searched for Father Ali. The intention was for him and the little girl yesterday morning, and after hearing her father's account of the assault again without a variation from her first version of it he issued the warrant.

Father Ali was arrested last evening. The girl's father met the priest in the street, and, seizing him by the coat collar, called a policeman. The priest was taken to Police Headquarters, followed by a crowd of men and boys. He was not recorded on the blotter, but was hurried to the detective room, from which reporters were excluded, and an air of mystery prevailed. An hour later he was allowed to return to his home in charge of a policeman.

Bishop Wigger said yesterday afternoon that Father Ali had been with him at Seaton Hall for two or three hours early in the day, and that he had thoroughly examined the priest concerning the charge and was satisfied that he was innocent.

Father Ali, who is a Turk, was converted in Palestine. He was graduated from Seton Hall College a year ago, and immediately became attached to the diocese of Newark.

DESPERATE ROBBERS

Two Negroes Bind a Servant and Plunder a Mansion.

NEWPORT, R. I., March 11.—The house of the Misses Newman, in Catharine street, was robbed last night of about $100 in money.

The story told by the colored servant is that two negroes rang the door-bell, and when she responded they forced themselves into the house, bound her, and a white one commanded her at the point of a revolver to keep still the other searched the house.

After securing the money they left. The girl cried for help and then, with her hands tied behind her, went to a neighbor's house and gave the alarm. The police are not satisfied that the girl has told all she knows about the matter.

This year, with the exception of the holding of flags on church steeples and the ringing of bells, there was no observance of the day, the royal family being in mourning for the late Duke of Clarence.
