It is only a question of time when the entire world will wake up to the fact that Brother Jonathan is equally determined not to trespass on the rights of others or to allow others to trespass on his own.

CONGRESS has been in session for over three months and has done nothing in legislation. When elected its 150 Democratic majority was going to repeal the McKinley tariff law and substitute a "tariff reform" measure for it the first week after organizing; and the second week was set aside for passing a free silver coinage bill!

ANOTHER step in the steady progress of reciprocity has been taken by the issuing of a proclamation by President Harrison announcing the completion of negotiations for reciprocal trade with Nicaragua. The proclamation bears date March 12, and the new arrangement is to take effect on April 15. Despite the recent decision of the Supreme Court and the acknowledged success of the reciprocity policy, it is too much to expect from the opponents of the Administration fair dealing with this subject. The latest bugaboo is that the reciprocity clause is to be used for "retaliation." The United States has dealt openly and fairly, and used all honorable means to bring about reciprocal trade relations with all countries interested.

In 1880, when the depression in trade and industry in England had continued for so long a period and become so grievous as to alarm all classes, the English government appointed a royal commission to inquire into and report upon the extent, nature and causes of the depression and as to how it could be alleviated. It is not generally known in this country that a portion of this commission recommended a protective tariff as a measure of relief. The commission consisted of twenty-three persons of high character and ability. They reported in December, 1886, and were unanimous in their agreement that a great depression then existed in the trade and industry of Great Britain. They differed about the causes of the depression and differed about the measures necessary to remove it and to revive prosperity. The minority recommended a protective tariff as the best means to this end. None of the recommendations, either of the majority or the minority, was ever carried out and the condition of things with the manufacturing and laboring elements has grown worse rather than better than they were when this commission was appointed. Such illustrations as these and comparison of these facts with the prosperity of the United States under a protective policy should fully satisfy the people of this country that protection is the sound principle for us to follow.

Let it be remembered that it takes a man of sense to judge of the relative virtues of medicines. We're just that cheap, and Dr. Cox's Wild Cherry and Seneba is the remedy we took for our cough.

JURY SECURED IN THE TOOMEY CASE.

THE FIRST WARD CONSTABLE IN COURT FOR SHOOTING MIKE BOBBIN

The Officer Shot the Man While He Was Running to Make His Escape—Names of the Jurors.

OLICEMEN and constables of the county will anxiously await the result of the case of Constable Jerry Toomey, of the First ward, now on trial at the Pottsville court for having shot and killed a Pole named Mike Bobbin. Toomey claims the shooting was done in the performance of his duty as an officer to prevent the escape of a prisoner.

On the 8th of December last Toomey and other officers were summoned to quell a disturbance at the east end of Centre street. Arriving at the place they found that a crippled Hungarian and a friend had been badly beaten by a gang of Poles. Chase was given to a crowd seen running away and Bobbin was arrested with three or four others. The officers started for the lockup with their prisoners, Toomey having charge of Bobbin, who behaved quietly and said it was not necessary to handcuff him, as he would willingly go to the lockup. While walking along Oak street Bobbin asked to be allowed to step into the alley that runs between Main and Jardin streets. Toomey complied with the request, but kept close to him.

Bobbin then started off. Toomey ordered him to halt, but he only increased his pace. After another order to halt Toomey fired three shots. One of them entered Bobbin's back, but the man kept on running and made a circuit until he got behind the school building on West Centre street. There he was captured. He was removed to his boarding house and was subsequently transferred to the Miners' Hospital, where he died. After his death Toomey was arrested and released under bail on habeas corpus proceedings before the Pottsville court. It is also claimed in Toomey's behalf that the officer had no intention of killing or seriously wounding Bobbin and expected that if any of the shots should take effect the man would be hit in the leg and be brought to a halt.

George J. Wadlinger, Esq., is Toomey's counsel. The jurors in the case are A. J. Crawford, Minersville; William Lotts, St. Clair; James Shay, Pottsville; Elias Yeager, Manheim; E. W. F. Evans, Frackville; Henry Britz, Cresona; Frank Wharmby, North Union; William H. Madison, Pottsville; Charles Krabs, Mahanoy City; John H. Merkle, Minersville; E. D. Boddall, Shenandoah; J. Irvin Steele, Jr., Minersville. The case was resumed to day. Martin Fotobkus, one of the men arrested with Bobbin, is now serving a term of four years for his part in the assault upon the cripple.

With the 19th century dawned the era of wonders. It has also proven an era of surprises—for notwithstanding its giant strides toward knowledge, we are told that there are still in some places a few citizens who have not heard of Salvo's Oil.

THE REORGANIZATION.

A Correspondent's Version of the Late Caucuses.

EDITOR HERALD.—Under the caption of "Shenandoah's new Trouble" a correspondent to the Pottsville Republican tries to show how three members of the Citizens' party attempted to turn the town over to the old water company, the electric railway and "the gang." Now we will look at the other side of the question. The trouble commenced soon after the water committee was appointed by Council. Who composed said committee? Messrs. Betteridge, Scheiffy, Gable, Lamb, James and Wurru. This committee would give little or no information to several members of Council. On January 7th, Lamb presented a resolution for the signatures of the members of Council, endorsing all the committee had done and was going to do, although they gave little information as to what had been done, and none as to the cost of water works. As may be supposed, some members refused to sign the resolution. Before this Mr. James, in visiting Richard Amour, then Chief of Police, and who was sick, stated to the Chief that all the old police would be retained. But on a visit after the resolutions were presented he said it was not quite sure that the Chief would get his place again, because his brother, E. W. Amour, had refused to sign the resolutions. Who attended the caucus that was giving out offices at this date? The water committee, Scheiffy excepted. This committee, composed of three Citizens and two Democrats, had laid plans for a deal and was proceeding to carry it out. At the ward convention Wurru was out of it, but the deal went ahead. It had already been stated that Holman and Amour would not be in it. At the reorganization of Council, when questioned by Amour on this point, Messrs. James and Lamb made no answer. The article states that on February 20th Lamb asked Amour to come into a caucus. What Lamb said, was "We will have a caucus early next week, so that we can understand each other." Lamb met Holman the same evening and asked him to come to a caucus. Holman answered, "When you are ready, send for me and I will come." Lamb met Hopkins the same evening, but never said a word about caucus to him. Holman was never sent for, neither was Amour or Hopkins. On the 23d of February Lamb met Amour and said "We will not have a caucus until right up to the reorganization." Now why was it put off? Because they were consummating their deal. There were already five Citizens and two Democrats in it, and a third Democrat had been approached, so that when the meeting would be held the claims of Holman, Hopkins and Amour would be ignored. They would be compelled to submit to the other five Citizens; for if they kicked there were three to take their place, and they would be out. It had been decided that R. Amour and D. J. Conners should be put off the police force. Hopkins having been asked to make a stand against Conners positively refused to do so. To prove that a deal had been made by Lamb, James and others, take the caucus held on the night of February 29th (the night after the alleged caucus at the Scheiffy house) Who attended it? Lamb, James, Gable, Van Dusen, Stout, Betteridge, Conkley and McGuire. Could these have been got together in such a short time if there was not a previous understanding? I think not! The same parties held another meeting on March 2d, when Betteridge and Gable were sent to the Scheiffy house to attend a Democratic meeting Betteridge because he was a Democrat and the latter because he voted with the Democrats at the previous organization of Council in 1891, to see if Holman, Hopkins and Amour were there. In this they were disappointed, for the three they were looking for were at their respective homes. On the night of the reorganization Amour was asked to go and see James and get the matter fixed up. He refused to do so. Hopkins likewise refused when he heard of it a few moments later, which action was endorsed by Holman. The correspondent no doubt wishes to raise Lamb, James & Co., to the heavens in the estimation of the people. I think if the people consider the matter they will see that because Lamb & Co. could not have the ruling of the party they were prepared to give nearly all the offices to the opposition, and then attempt to put the blame on others. I would call the correspondent's attention to the fact that Lamb has been drawing from the public chest the salary of treasurer of the School Board for two years past. It has been asserted by Lamb that Holman, Amour and Hopkins would not say what they wanted. If they had been called to the caucus he could have found out, they having agreed and signed a paper naming the men as they would vote for, viz: For president, F. H. Hopkins; secretary, F. C. Ross or J. S. Williams; treasurer, T. F. Bradigan or —; solicitor, J. H. Pomeroy; supervisor, David Evans, E. Hughes or George Ayres; and the old police force to be retained.

For the New County.
Ex-Senator Morgan B. Williams, in an interview with a Plain Speaker man, said: "I think the new county scheme stands a splendid chance—better now than ever before. Luzerne, with a population of 200,000 people, is too large and unwieldy for its own good."
It is whispered that Mr. Williams is to be nominated again for the Senate. One thing is sure; the next State Senator the Low End Democracy elects must be first, last and always, pledged to support the new county. The enterprising citizens in the Shenandoah region are glad to come in with us in a new Hazle County. The Shenandoah HERALD article favoring this plan has met with great favor all through this region. It is manifestly better for a bustling, bright town like Shenandoah to be one of the principal places in the new county, rather than a hanger-on of Pottsville in Schuylkill. The Shenandoah people evidently know where their interest is.—Hazleton Plain Speaker.

GOLDMAN, RING AND LAUTERSTEIN ON TRIAL.

CREDITORS MAKE THE COMPLAINT

The Case Will Take Several Days For Trial—An Army of Witnesses on Both Sides—Other Court Items.

CONSIDERABLE interest is being manifested in the ultimate outcome of the trial of Leopold Ring, Max Goldman and L. Lauterstein, all residents of this town, which is now before court at Pottsville. The case arose out of the closing up of the shoe business conducted under L. Ring's name some time ago at the corner of Main and Oak streets. The place was first conducted by Max Goldman, who was closed up. Then Ring, said to be relative of Goldman, took charge, the latter acting as manager. Ring was subsequently closed up and the creditors instituted suit, charging that Ring and Goldman, in conjunction with Lauterstein and others, conspired to defraud them. Goldman is now managing the shoe business at the corner of Centre and Market streets, which is conducted under the name of L. Goldman, a name believed to represent Max Goldman's wife. Each side has about forty witnesses for the trial. Frank McDermott, the telegraph operator, has been subpoenaed for the prosecution and it is said he will produce telegrams sent from town prior to the closing up that will make damaging evidence against the accused. A few days ago Max Goldman said, "It will be a big case but these other fellows will have to pay as much as we will. The jury will say 'They are all Jews, give all of them the costs.'"
