TOO ATTENTIVE TO THEIR WIVES

The Rev. Mr. Jones' Life Was Put Out With the Church Lights.

An Attempt Was Made to Drive Hin Out of Town, but He Held His Ground Only to be Assassinated While Deliver ing a Sermon-He Was Shot Through the Breast-A Reward Offered for the Capture of the Guilty Parties.

Augusta, Ga., March 28 .- News has been received here of the murder of Bishop Jones, a noted colored preacher, in Allendale, S. C., on Thursday night. Jones formerly preached here, but went to Allendale to preach sanctification and perfect holiness. He succeeded in getting a following, mostly women.

Some of the husbands of the women objected, and there was a division among the colored people of the town. The anti-holiness people tried to distodge the bishop. They prosecuted him for vagrancy, but he made a good showing on the trial, many of the women testifying that they willingly contributed to his support, and that they would give him the last cent of their earnings if necessary.

Then several mea disguished as women waylaid the bishop at night. He was bewildered and overwhelmed at so much feminine attention and readily fell into teninine attention and readily fell into the arms of his assailants. A short time afterward his adherents built a church, in which the bishop preached. On Tuesday night last service was going on in what they called the Holy Temple. The bishop had prayed and taken a chair in the pulpit, and an assistant had be-gua, to preach. A side window was steathily opened, the muzzle of a gun was thrust through, and a report fol-lowed.

The door of the church was shut. The murderers had taken the precaution to fasten it from the outside. Upon the discharge of the gun every light, was extinguished. Then there was great con Women screamed and expected instant death.

Some one finally struck a light, and it was found that the bishop was dead. Justice Mixos and a jury of fourteen white citizens investigated the matter for two days, but up to a late hour no clue was found to warrant the arrest of

WALT WITMAN

An Autopsy Held Upon the Body of the Post.

Campex, N. J., March 28.—Before the comains of Walt Whitman were placed in he easket, Artist Alken, of Philadelphia, made a cast of the 'good gray out'n' face.

The body will be placed in the recently impleted fomb in Harleigh Cemetery, on the outskirts of Camden, a spot se-ected by Mr. Whitman when he was en oying his usual health, and where he isited many times during the construc-

The last hours of the venerable poet The last hours of the venerable post were peaceful and he was conscious to the last moment. Only an hour before the end he called his housekeeper and signified that he would like to change his position in his bed; she aided him to do so and noticed that a very pronounced change for the worst had taken place in his condition. She called Mr. Whitman's nurse and also sent for his physician. When Dr. McAllister reached the bedside of the dying man, he was lying on his When Dr. McAllister reached the beatside of the dying man, he was lying on his side, conscious, but visibly nearing the end. The physician asked him if he suffered any pain and he faintly smiled and responded, in a whisper, that he felt no pain. The doctor asked Mr. Whitman if he could do anything for whitman if he could do anything for him and he nurmured: "No."

A few moments later he passed away.

Walter Whitman's will makes Mr. Traubell executor. He leaves the house in which he lived, a small amount of money and his books and manuscripts. In a codicil to his will, made very recently, he left a small legacy to Walt Whitman Fritzinger, a child of the brother of his nurse, Warren Fritzinger. Yesterday atternoon an autopsy was made upon the body of the deceased poet. The physicians found, it is said, that the left lung was entirely gone and only a breathing spot of the right lung remained. They found about three quarts of water around the heart and a large number of small abscesses about that organ. The pain in the left side had been occasioned by peritonitis.

The brain was found to be abnormally large and in a quite healthy condition. Portions of the brain and other organs were taken for microscopic examination.

A MEDAL OF HONOR.

Worn by a Legion of Uncle Sam's Brave Sons

WHO FOUGHT FOR THE UNION.

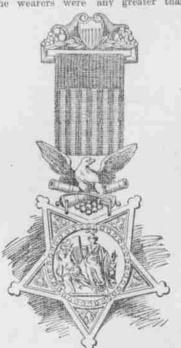

Congress Decided to Give a Lasting Recognition of Valor on the Field.

How One Was Won by Meritorious Service at the Battle of Fredericksburg and is Highly Prized by a Distinguished Pennsylvanian.

Outside the ranks of the Grand Army eterans, who in their regular gatherings find enjoyment in the discussion of such patriotic subjects, there are few who are aware of the existence of the Medal of Honor Legion of the United States. There is nothing, it is said, that Colonel Quay prizes more highly than the medal of honor awarded him by congress for specially meritorious services and bravery on the field of battle, and which entitles him to membership in this organization.

The Medal of Honor.

As in France and other countries, there are some soldiers here who have been nationally honored. They are such as have been awarded the medal of honor. This distinction does not necessarily imply that the services of the wearers were any greater than se of many others of the 2,000,000 enlisted men in the late war not so honored. Many a loyal and brave deed has gone unnoticed and unsung. The award of the medal of honor, however, is significant of conspicuous and meritorious service.

Soon after the beginning of the war congress recognized the necessity of giving something distinctive and lasting to those men whose bravery was so conspicuous as to merit the commanding general's commendation for a token of honor. To this end they voted to constitute the Legion of Honor, and to present those with the proper recommendations, a bronze medal.

The medal is in the shape of a large star, with a figure emblematic of war on one side and the recipient's name, regiment and the occasion of the act of bravery specially commended, inscribed
