LOCALITIES.

More sunshine. Less moonshine. Fresh salad are about. How do you like spring? The tools will soon expand. Will you fit on the first of April? Saturday was a lively pay-day in town. It's the fast people that don't fast in Lent. Daylight will now soon be away ahead of darkness. "Don't shove; just push," is the latest slang for go easy. They put eagles on dollars to remind us how money flows. Yesterday snow and rain made walking very unpleasant. There would be more good boys if there were more good fathers. The snows will soon give place to showers and gentle spring. The dry goods merchants are showing some elegant spring goods. There are a good many fine floral displays in windows about town. The liar despises those who believe him and hates those who do not. George Seibert, of North Jardin street, buried an infant child yesterday. Wisdom is dearly bought sometimes, but better that way than not at all. The tramp is never about when there is snow to shovel from the sidewalks. This is the season when everybody acknowledges the need of better roads. A number of families will leave next week for New Jersey and other places to locate. No parent whose children are permitted to run the streets at pleasure does his duty. It will soon be time to use the spade and rake until your back feels as if it was broken. The number of changes in business on and after April 1st will almost bewilder our people. The men who hurt a town are those who oppose everything that does not originate with them. The arbutus hunters will be scouring the mountain sides as soon as the snow banks disappear. Rev. William McNally, pastor of the Presbyterian church, preached a powerful sermon on the Freedom of the South last evening. Rev. H. J. James' sermon in the English Baptist church yesterday morning was an eloquent discourse. The subject was "Grace for Grace." Rev. Havlen, pastor of the English Lutheran church, preached on the "Prodigal Son" last evening. The lesson taught ought to have been heard by the young men of town who spend their time in the club rooms on Sundays.

The Beck Funeral.
The funeral of the late John Beck, who met his death in an accident last Wednesday, took place from the residence of his sister, on North Jardin street, yesterday afternoon. The funeral was a large one. The Rescue Hook & Ladder Company, of which deceased was a member, the Phoenix Hose Company, and a large delegation from the Columbia H. & S. F. E. Co. were in attendance. Among the floral tributes was a large piece representing ladders and hooks, bearing the initials of the Rescue Company and the name of the deceased. The remains were interred in the Odd Fellows' cemetery. The pall bearers were Leo Bamberger, Robert Oliver, Jacob Kreiger, Morris Brown, Milton Troutman and William Warnick.

Coming Events.
Mar. 30—"The Tatling Tongue," lecture by Rev. H. G. James in the P. M. church, for the benefit of a sick and needy family.
April 21.—A marigold tea in Robbins' hall, under the auspices of the degree staff Lydia Degree Lodge, No. 112, L. O. O. F.

A Cheerful Home.
"Well, Mary, how cheerful your home is. You always have such a cheerful fire."
"Yes, I think we always have a good fire since we get our coal from Zerbe & Co.'s Mountain Colliery. Before we always had such a time getting a fire in the morning. That made us all nervous and crabbed; but now everything is lovely. And, besides, it is cheaper. Mart Shoemaker takes orders, does the collecting and delivering."

A Corner in Hats.
Some hats are neither worth throwing nor taking out of a corner. A good hat is light, durable, shapely and a pleasure to the wearer; a bad hat isn't worth powder enough to blow it into perfidion. Good hats are no more expensive than bad ones, but bad hats are expensive at any price and sensible men couldn't be paid to wear them. Our $2 hat is a perfect gem, and there is no reason to be without one at this low figure. The same is true of our Neckwear and Suspenders. Good shirts from 50c up to $2. All the newest things in gent's underwear, collars and cuffs. Everything at rock bottom price.
