The Male Members of the Colony Will Be-Here Nothing of the Charges Against Mills-He Defies the Authorities and Tells Them to Prove That He Has Done Wrong, But Will Not Admit the Truth of the Charges,

DETROIT, Mich., March 30.-Chief Starkweather and Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Springer examined a number of the women brought down from the "Prince" Michael colony as witnesses against "Prince" Michael M. Mills and Eliza Courts yesterday.

The revelations startled the officers and showed both the prisoners to be onscienceless demons.

Bernice Bickle, a pretty girl of 15 years, May Webster, a girl of 20, Alice Court, handsome and a sister of New Jerusalem, and Carrie Bendoy unblushingly spoke of their relations with the 'Prince," and did not seem to consider it wrong at all. It transpired that with the aid of the Courts woman Bernice Bickle had been deliberately ruined by "Prince" Michael.

Great indignation is felt at little Bernice's story. In answer to questions put to her at the examination, which did not seem shocking in the least to her, but which were revolting in the extreme to the officers conducting the examination, she said that Michael had told her that the secrets of the Godhead must not be revealed and therefore she did not tell her mother anything about it.

When the latter was called and was informed of what her daughter had said, she would not believe it until Bernice

Twenty-three Confederates and but Sixtoon Union Soldiers in the Senate.

PENNSYLVANIA "VETS" KNOW THIS

They Decide That the Representation of Union Men Shall Not be Decreased.

They Will Have no One But a Soldier for United States Senator and Colonel Onav's Old Regiment Leads a Movement for His Re-election.

"There is a bond of sympathy between Colonel Quay and sixty thousand other veterans of the late war among the survivors of the union forces in Pennsylvania," said Captain James McCormick, of Philadelphia, an admirer of the junior senator, the other day. "You would be surprised at the interest taken in his candidacy for re-election by the old soldiers. The tocsin was first sounded by the boys of Colonel Quay's old regiment, the 134th Pennsylvania Volunteers, residing in Newcastle and vicinity. They call upon Republicans all over the state to participate in the primaries and to vote to instruct for Colonel Quay's return to the senate.

Former Comrades Speak. In their address mailed to Republi cans, among other things they say:
"Without desiring to detract from the just merits and claims of any other candidates, as soldiers of the late war, we deem it our privilege and our duty to recommend to your favorable consideration, for said office, our comrade, the Hon. Matthew S. Quay, late colonel of the 134th Regiment, Pennsylvania vol-

"Colonel Quay's brave and patriotic service upon the field of battle, his faithful and distinguished devotion to duty throughout the war, the fidelity with which he has performed the arduous duties in the many places of trust which he has had the honor to fill, his contraction. his unswerving loyalty to the party of his choice, and his matchless leadership of the Republican party in state and national contests, are considerations among many others, which prove his courage, ability and fitness for the office of United States senator, and should determine you to give him your earnest and most hearty support."

Where Union Soldiers Are Needed. A campaign committee has been formed by the old soldiers in Lawrence formed by the old soldiers in Lawrence county, composed of members of Colonel Quay's regiment, and they have just issued a letter to all their comrades in that county in which they say:
"On Saturday, April 2, there will be a popular vote taken at the Republican primaries in our county on the question of the United States sensorship. Of the of the United States senatorship. Of the eighty-eight present members of the eighty-eight present members of the senate twenty-three served in the Confederate army and only sixteen in the Union army. Senator M. S. Quay, whose gallaniry at the battle of Fredericksburg, and whose untiling interest in the welfare of the soldier is well known to you, is one of the sixteen. His successor will be elected by the next legislature, and you are asked by your vote and your influence to decide whether he shall be succeeded by a civilian. We who have known him under the most trying circumstances—he having been colonel of shall succeeded hy a civilian. We who have known him under the most trying circumstances—he having been colonel of our regiment—when death itself was courted with a reckless daring, rather than that the remotest shadow should be cast on his fair name, appeal to you to stand with a soldier's pride for a soldier's rights. Go to the primaries yourself on the date named, and ask your Republican friends and neighbors to do likewise.

"We ask of you that, with due consideration, you co-operate with your comrades in showing to the people of Pennsylvania and the nation, with an emphasis which cannot be misunderstood, that our county has not forgotten her debt of gratitude, her promises of the sixties, and that you desire the Honmatike w Stanley Quay shall succeed himself as United States senator from Pennsylvania."

A Chat With Captain Taylor. Captain John Taylor, president of the ig War Veterans' club in Philadelphia, which has a membership of over 1,100, was a close observer of sentiment as expressed in private conversations at the ent Grand Army encampment at Pittsburg.

"I found a deep and lively interest taken by old soldiers generally in the canvass for United States senator," said Captain Taylor, when asked of his political observations while mingling with his comrades in Pittsburg, by a reporter of the Philadelphia North American. "No candidate for senator," he con-tinued, "who was not a soldler can extinued, "who was not a soldier can expect much support or sympathy from the veterans in this canvass. While there is no politics in the Grand Army, the old soldiers cannot keep out of a fight such as is now being stirred up in the state. You will find them everywhere, acting as individuals or working together in the strong veterana organizations that took so conspicuous a part in the campaign for General Gregg and Captain Morrison, wielding a powerful influence at the primaries."
