Reinforcements Marching to Join General Crespo—The Head Waters of the Orinoco River Now Under Control of the Insurgents—Foreign Commercial Houses Are All Closed—A Run Has Been Made on the Bank of Venezuela.

PANAMA, April 2.—The Government troops commanded by General Rodriguez have been repulsed near Ortiz. They met the forces that were marching from Orinoco to re-enforce General Crespo, the leader of the revolutionists. There was a sharp engagement, in which General Rodriguez's forces were compelled to retreat, though the loss was not heavy on either side.

The revolutionists occupied Ortiz, a town of 7,000 in the State of Guarico, and then began an advance on Cura, a city of 10,000 inhabitants 60 miles southwest of Caracas.

The success at Ortiz was followed by the seizure of the national gunboat, Nueve de Julio, which was stationed at Esmeralda, on the Orinoco River. This success gives the revolutionists the command of the upper end of the river and will be of great advantage in future operations.

News of these reverses has greatly depressed the followers of President Palacios, who continues his dictatorial course. Meanwhile the cause of the revolutionists is growing in popular favor.

General Ballista is marching from Zamoras with 1,000 soldiers to fight for the revolution.

The President informed Congress that he would resign the moment his successor was elected and the centralized form of government proclaimed under the new constitution which has been ratified by the States. The President thus named was under Palacios's decree to be first under the new constitution and was to be ineligible to re-election.

These terms were not accepted. They were denounced by the opposition in the Senate and Chamber of Deputies, the Federalists declaring that they would insist upon the election of a new President before proclaiming the new constitution.

When the news of this refusal was taken to Palacios, he issued a decree dissolving Congress and sent troops to arrest members who refused to bow to his will.

Senators and Deputies fled when Palacios's soldiers marched into the halls of Congress, evidently fearing a repetition of the scenes when Managua's forcibly dissolved Congress in 1848.

Palacios's soldiers pursued the fleeing members. General Saluzo, the leader of the Federalist members and candidate for the speakership, was caught and dragged off to prison. He battled bravely to escape, but his fight was useless.

Senators Gondoleri, Silva, Gregorio and Rivera and Deputies Bustamante and Lopezbaralt, whose opposition had especially incensed President Palacios, were captured as they fled from the capital and were put in prison with General Saluzo.

Many private citizens who were known to be in sympathy with the offending Senators and Deputies were arrested, and they, too, are now in jail, with the members of the Supreme Court and other political prisoners.

The dissolution of Congress and the arrest of its members caused tremendous excitement throughout the city. Those who had shown sympathy with the opposition sought places of refuge. Some fled from the city.

Foreign commercial houses were all closed. Protests were made by foreign residents against the policy of President Palacios, but these acts did not allay public apprehension. To the fear of personal violence was added the fear of loss of property and a financial panic followed.

A run was made on the Bank of Venezuela, where the government has deposits amounting to $5,000,000. All the gold in the banks has been withdrawn from circulation. Paper money is depreciating in value. Great distress is threatened.

PIONICS THEIR DOWNFALL.
Elizabeth N. J., to Prevent Girls Under 18 from Attending Them.

ELIZABETH, N. J., April 2.—The City Council has passed an ordinance prohibiting girls under 18 years of age from attending picnics, balls or other places of amusement of like character, unless accompanied by a parent or lawful guardian, and imposing a fine and imprisonment, not only on girls violating the law, but also upon those admitting girls to such places, instructing the police to rigidly enforce the provisions of the ordinance.

This action is the result of a mass meeting of Christian women held lately upon the disclosures made by the police in arresting a number of girls under age in a disorderly house. The girls attributed their downfall to having attended picnics.

GUNPOWDER EXPLODED.
People Alarmed and Windows Shattered in Brooklyn.

NEW YORK, April 2.—A can of gunpowder was exploded in front of 45 Willow street, Brooklyn, in the most fashionable quarter of the city.

The windows on both sides of the street were shattered, and the sound of the explosion was heard for miles.

Among those who lived in the neighborhood are the Rev. Lyman Abbott, ex-Mayor David B. Whitney and General Horatio King. They and their families were a good deal alarmed.

Those who reached the sidewalk just after the explosion occurred, saw two men running away and the remnants of a burning fuse lying near the carbstone in the gutter. Nobody was hurt so far as is known.

The Esher faction, therefore, has the right to appoint the board of publication of the society, to control its property and to direct all the affairs of the association.

Robbed by Footpads.
CHICAGO, April 2.—S. M. Hall was sandbagged in the most brutal manner, dragged into an alley off Wood street, between Jackson boulevard and Adams street, and robbed of his watch and money by four footpads Thursday night.

When found Mr. Hall was unconscious and bleeding from several wounds in the head, where he had been kicked and beaten. His condition is critical. No arrests have been made. The crime was committed under the broad glare of two street lamps just at nightfall and the citizens who were summoned to assist in caring for Mr. Hall were forced to go as far as Van Buren street before they could find a police officer, and then found one coming out of a saloon.

BRAINED HIS RIVAL
Tragedy on a Canal Boat in Jersey City.

A PRETTY WIDOW THE CAUSE.
One of Her Admirers Was Insanely Jealous of Her.

George Creech, alias "Nick," Had Long Been Enamored of Mrs. Mann, Who Owned Two Boats, but His Affections Were Not Returned—He Had Sworn to Kill the Sailor Who Was Favored by Her and Buried an Axe in His Skull.

JERSEY CITY, April 2.—George Creech, alias "Nick," a canal boatman, is wanted for a murderous assault upon John Smith, a watchman.

Smith, who was employed on the steamboat Canoniens, called upon Mrs. William F. Mann, who lives on the canal boat Oliver A. Payne, which is tied up in South Cove.

Mrs. Mann is a prepossessing widow, who owns two canal boats, the Payne and the Ed Bennett. Both boats have been in winter quarters in South Cove, alongside the steamer Canoniens.

Creech was employed by Mrs. Mann last summer. He had paid Mrs. Mann considerable attention and so had Smith. The latter was received with the more favor apparently, and the result was that Creech became insanely jealous.

Three weeks ago, and she says that Creech then threatened to kill Smith, who secured a revolver to protect himself.

Smith and John Babcock, of the Canoniens, were in Mrs. Mann's cabin talking with her and her two little children, when Creech came down the hatchway and ordered the men to leave the boat, saying he had been put in charge of the boat by the sheriff, who held an attachment in favor of James Howell, one of Mrs. Mann's creditors.

Hot words ensued. Mrs. Mann ordered Creech to leave. He refused and Mrs. Mann threw some water on him. Then he went on deck and she bolted the hatchway.

Creech then began to batter in the door with an axe, and shouted: "I want you to come out!"

Babcock went on deck and Smith followed. As the latter's head and shoulders appeared above the cabin, Creech lifted the axe and sank it deep into the left side of Smith's head, inflicting a terrible wound.

Smith dropped on the stairs, and the axe became loosened and again fell on his neck and shoulder, cutting him badly.

Babcock clinched with Creech, but the latter finally escaped. Smith was taken to the hospital in an ambulance.

This is the story of Mrs. Mann, who says that Creech has a wife and family in Troy, N. Y., where he killed a negro some years ago.

He lives, she says, with his niece, a married woman, at Third avenue and Twenty-third street New York.

Creech is described as 5 feet 8 inches in height, stoutly built, weighing 180 pounds, of dark complexion, dark mustache, and wearing a black overcoat with pockets in the sleeves, drab trousers with blue stripes and a black derby hat.

Now They Are More Attractive.
DETROIT, Mich., April 2.—Detroit is laughing over the results of its latest moral attack. Last Tuesday night the Common Council adopted a resolution forbidding the exposure of off-color theatrical posters and similar advertisements. The Griswold Street Theatre had a line of variety show paper to put up Monday which came within the prohibition. The bill posters cut red paper into dress forms and posted them over the bare limbs of the actresses in the lithographs. The posters are now more attractive than they would have been if left alone.

An Apple Causes a Boy's Death.
ROXBURY, N. Y., April 2.—A sad accident, resulting in the death of the victim, occurred to the 2-year-old son of Jerome Twiggler, of Fort Egan. The boy was eating of an apple and had bitten off a large piece, when something aroused his merriment. Through his laughter he had forgot the piece of apple, which quickly slipped down his throat and lodged in his windpipe. Medical aid was quickly summoned, but the poor little fellow choked to death long before the doctor reached the house.

A Loss to Paper Manufacturers.
BUFFALO, N. Y., April 2.—Supt. F. Lillis of this section of the Erie Canal began letting out the water on both the upper and lower levels of the canal here early in the morning for the usual spring clearing. All the mills in the section from here to Brockport, a distance of 43 miles, dependent on the canal for water power will have to close down for this month, unless provided with steam power. This will occasion a severe loss to the manufacturers of pulp and paper in this city.
