A ROUGH PASSAGE

The Steamship Bermuda Narrowly Escapes Foundering.

BATTLING WITH A CYCLONE.

The Vessel Boarded by Huge Waves, Carrying Away the Boats.

The Cabin Flooded, and the Terrified Passengers Expected the Ship to Go Down Every Moment—Bolworks Broken and Skylights Smashed—Twenty-Four Hours of Awful Suspense—Capt. Frasier's Action Saves Several Lives.

New York, April 18.—There were 27 passengers on board the steamship Bermuda when she arrived at this port yesterday who had had a taste of life at sea which seldom befalls even a mariner. When they embarked at Barbados on April 8 they expected a moderately rough voyage past Cape Hatteras, but instead they were almost compelled to swim from their staterooms to the main saloon.

The Bermuda is commanded by Capt. Frasier, who has had many experiences at sea, but none like the one which overtook his vessel on April 15. The steamship sailed from St. Kitts on April 8 with a cargo of sugar and limes. Fair weather was encountered on the first part of the voyage until the Gulf Stream was reached. Then a gale commenced which speedily developed into a terrific cyclone.

In latitude 34, longitude 70, the wind blew from the four quarters of the compass. Heavy, irregular seas buffeted the little vessel about as if she were a feather. A succession of waves boarded the vessel over the stern, carrying the port life boat from the chocks, causing it to fall on the after cabin sky light, smashing it. Water poured down the opening, flooding the cabin to a depth of nearly two feet. The stewards were put to work bailing it out, while the terrified passengers crowded around the companion way in efforts to gain the deck. Captain Frasier had the storm doors closed and locked. Had it not been for that precaution some of the passengers might have been carried overboard.

The vessel was then holed. For 12 hours the storm raged. The bulwarks were smashed, while the iron storm doors were wrenched until almost ready to fall apart. Twenty-four hours later the storm subsided, when the damage wrought by the sea was temporarily repaired. The vessel reached her berth at the foot of Congress street, Brooklyn, yesterday and her passengers sighed with relief on stepping upon terra firma once more.

THE RAHWAY MYSTERY.

Believed Now That Both the Dead Men Were Murdered.

RAHWAY, N. J., April 18.—The tramps arrested in connection with the mysterious finding of the bodies of two dead men in the woods near this city, have been held pending an investigation. The men under arrest identify the bodies as those of Thomas Walsh and John Davis. They assert that the men came into their camp intoxicated and carried a bottle of wood alcohol, for the possession of which a fight ensued. The men were driven from the camp, retaining, however, their alcohol. A number of the men followed the two, but all the prisoners deny having been in the following party. The say that they heard shots and that the party returned soon afterward with the spirits.

The police believe that both men were murdered and that at least one of the murderers has been captured. They base their belief on the fact that while one of the prisoners was being conducted to the lock-up and while crossing the bridge which spans the river the prisoner threw something in the water. Subsequent search near the spot led to the finding of a revolver containing six cartridges, three of which had been discharged.

To Protect American Interests.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The Government is moving in the Behring Sea matter with considerable rapidity, and by May 1 a formidable fleet of vessels will be on the outskirts of Behring Sea ready to protect American interests. The four revenue cutters, Rush, Bear, Corwin and Albatross, are now on their way north or are preparing at San Francisco. The men-of-war Adams and Mohican are now in the northern waters, while the Baltimore and Yorktown have been ordered to the Columbus River. All United States vessels ordered to Behring Sea are instructed to stop at Port Townsend, where most of them will receive their final instructions.

Thieves Pillaging a Village.

POTSDAM, N. Y., April 18.—Thieves are pillaging the village of Wappingers Falls, Dutchess County. A silk muffler and a pair of shoes were also taken. The next night two men were seen trying to force open the shutters of the house of J. A. Redfield. They escaped. Later they entered the residence of Thomas Stevenson and stole some wine.

Will Not Rescind the Decree.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 18.—The Ministers of War and the Interior have refused their consent to the rescinding of the decree which prohibits the export of grain. Many failures are expected to result from their decision. London firms will probably lose heavily on advances made by them to Russian dealers. Gen. Gourko has ordered all German colonists who have not passed to return to Samara.

EASTER IN NEW YORK.

Unusually Elaborate Floral Decorations and Musical Programmes.
NEW YORK, April 18.—Never before in the history of church music in this city have such full programmes been carried through by the organists as for this Easter. Fine music was not confined to the Roman Catholic or Episcopal churches, but all denominations made a special effort to make their Easter services as bright as possible. Even the Presbyterians, the majority of whom are opposed to a musical service on the ground that it is unchurchy, became liberal this year at the season which commemorates the resurrection of the Saviour and contributed their quota.

Church music has made tremendously rapid strides, and where a few years ago the service was entirely plain, with the exception of a few hymns which were sung congregationally, there was an elaborate programme prepared and the singers were this year of the professional class.

The floral decorations in all the churches of the city were extremely elaborate this Easter and in a few the cost for the display amounted to $1,500 and over.

Trinity chapel was one among the most elaborately decorated, and the display at St. Thomas' was very pleasing. Among the other churches whose decorations this Easter surpassed anything previously attempted in the floral line for churches were those of Calvary, Old Trinity and the Church of the Transfiguration.

SHE TAKES HIM BACK

Bigamist Abbott Has a Very Forgiving Wife,

AND SIX OTHERS BESIDES.

Not an Adonis, and Yet He Is Seven Times Married.

His Legal Wife Will Forgive Him Again When He Gets Out of Prison—She Was Used to Hearing of His Weddings, and Had Often Testified Against Him—He Was Kind to Her and Called Her "Doll."

NEWARK, N. J., April 18.—James Abbott, 42 years old, who yesterday committed to jail here on a charge of bigamy. He has served two years in Sing Sing for the same offence, and according to the testimony of his legal wife, has been married seven times, and is decidedly guilty and asked to be sentenced as soon as possible.

Abbott about four months ago met Mrs. Katie Romp, a young widow, at a social gathering in Newark. She permitted him to call, and he made such a favorable impression on her that she consented to marry him. The marriage took place on March 20, and the couple lived together two weeks. Then he disappeared. A diamond pin and other jewelry belonging to his wife and an overcoat of her brother's were missed at the same time.

Soon after Abbott wrote to his wife. The letter gave the police a clue to his whereabouts. A decoy letter induced him to go to Jersey City from Brooklyn, where he was, and he was arrested. He denied the theft, but the overcoat was found in a Brooklyn pawnshop.

In trying to locate him in Brooklyn the detectives discovered that he was a bigamist. They found his legal wife in Ninth street, Brooklyn. She is about forty-five years old. She did not appear to be surprised when told that her husband had lately been married in Newark. She was used to hearing such things, she said. She willingly went to Newark to testify against him. That was not a novelty to her either.

Her story, as told to the police, was that she was married to Abbott nineteen years ago, after the death of his first wife, who she declares, Emily Havemeyer, a member of the wealthy New York family of that name, and who had married him at the age of fifteen. He married Hannah Roach in this city in 1876, and for that offence was sent to Sing Sing for four years. Hannah Roach drowned herself while he was in prison. His wife forgave him when he was released and he lived with her a year.

Then he married Mary Moulton of this city, who had secured a divorce from her husband for that purpose. When she learned that he already had a wife she caused his arrest for bigamy, and he went to Sing Sing for five years.

His lawful wife appeared against him in both cases as a witness, but after his second liberation she took him back and they moved to South Norwalk, Conn. Then he met Glory Ann Bailey, and married her. His wife returned to Brooklyn, and in a few months Abbott followed her and was again forgiven. He joined the Salvation Army, and married a member of it named Lena Parks. That was but a few months ago. The Newark woman makes the seventh.

Mrs. Romp is greatly shocked by the discovery that has been made. Her family is a very respectable one. Mrs. Abbott has not yet lost her forgiving spirit. She will take her husband back again once more, she says, when his term of imprisonment is ended. She admits that he never worked for her, but thinks that his constantly kind manner and his pretty way of calling her "Doll" should cover a multitude of sins.

ANARCHISTS IN MINNEAPOLIS.

Discovery of a Society with Servant Girls for Agents.
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 18.—This city is greatly excited over the discovery of a local society of Anarchists, whose parent organization is in Chicago. It is a powerful organization and has branches in every large city in the Union. The local society is a particularly flourishing one, and, although its meetings are held in the strictest secrecy, neophytes are added at nearly every session.

The agents of the society are servant girls or butlers. They secure employment in wealthy families and pay close attention to everything that occurs. The manner of living of the families is carefully noted, also the kind of food used on the table and the estimated cost of the same; the amount and kinds of wine drunk; the furnishings of each residence; the quality of clothes worn by the inmates, and in fact everything that goes to make up a first class establishment.

The agent makes a weekly report of all this to the society. The ultimate object of all this is not apparent, but the wealthy people of the city are already having visions of dynamite bombs and other terrible murderous missiles of assassins.

General Alger Will Not Withdraw.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—General Russel A. Alger is in Washington in attendance upon the sessions of the Commission to arrange for statues of Generals Hancock, Sheridan and Logan in this city. His presence here has given rise to reports that he would soon withdraw from the race for the Republican nomination for President. Since his arrival he has called on both President Harrison and Secretary Blaine. He said last night that he was as much in it now as ever, and expected his name to be presented at Minneapolis.

Cashier Percival's Defense.

LEWISBURG, Me., April 18.—The defaulting cashier of the Auburn Bank and Leather Bank, M. C. Percival, who is now in State prison, has made a deposition to be used in the case of the bank against his bondsmen. It is said that he declares that the directors of the bank knew of its condition two years before Percival's arrest. Percival's father and father-in-law are both on his bond. When he was elected cashier his bond was placed at $20,000. Unknown to the bondsmen, the capital stock was increased, and for this reason the bondsmen claim they are not liable.
