ARCHIE LAMB traveled to Potsville yesterday with the declared intention of defeating Hon. Elias Davis for the Republican County Chairmanship.

THE mine employes who have gardens and yards attached to their houses devote the three days a week during which they are thrown idle to preparing beds for flowers and vegetables.

HEED THE WARNING.

Through discussions in their ranks the New York Republicans hopelessly lost everything—Governor, Legislature, Courts, election bureaus, appointment, etc., and the Democrats have entrenched themselves firmly.

OUR Councilmen seem to devote more time to efforts to vindicate themselves than they do to the performance of duty to their constituents.

CONSIDERING that the miners and mine laborers in this section have been working but three days a week of nine hours each day the past two weeks and worked but little more for some time previous, the response to the Russian relief appeal, as shown by present figures, is a most liberal one.

M. Very was far beyond giving information to throw light on the outrage, but a waiter who was taking him to the hospital says that his master has received no fewer than 50 or 60 threatening letters from Anarchists since Ravachol was arrested.

A Section Foreman's Sleep of Death. LANCASTER, Pa., April 26.—Samuel Foliz of Elizabethtown, a section foreman on the Pennsylvania Railroad, became intoxicated and lay down on the railroad and fell asleep. He was run over by a freight train and literally ground to pieces, the only portion of the body found being part of the trunk.

A Locomotive Fire Trust. PHILADELPHIA, April 26.—It is rumored that the five leading manufacturers of locomotive tires of the country, the Nashua Iron Company, the Standard Iron and Steel Company of Lewistown, Pa., the Latrobe Steel Company of Latrobe, Pa., the Midvale Steel Company of this city, and the Chicago Tires and Spring Works of Chicago, have formed a combination and will soon be merged into a trust concern.

Danbury City Election. DANBURY, Conn., April 26.—The annual election in Danbury was very quiet. It resulted in a victory for the Republicans, who elected their candidates in three of the four wards.

Hunting Up Evidence Against Truists. PHILADELPHIA, April 26.—Special Agent Horton, of the Department of Justice, has been in this city during the past week hunting up evidence against truists. It is understood that his mission has special reference to the Sugar Trust and National Cordage Trust.

Big Fire on a Dairy Farm. PARKVILLE, L. I., April 26.—The four large stables on the dairy farm of the Chesbire Improvement Company, together with twenty-four cows, thirteen horses, and an immense quantity of fodder, were burned shortly after midnight.

BLEW UP HIS SHOP

Ravachol's Friends Succeeded in Killing M. Very.

TEN OTHERS SERIOUSLY HURT.

A Dynamite Bomb Exploded in the Storeway With Terrible Effect.

The Wine Shop Completely Wrecked, and Surrounding Buildings Badly Damaged. M. Very, in Whose Place Ravachol Was Arrested, Had Received Scores of Threatening Letters—Ravachol's Trial To-day—Great Anxieties Felt.

Paris, April 26.—There was a terrific explosion last evening in the entrance of the wine-shop of M. Very, 22 Boulevard Magenta, where Ravachol, the Anarchist, was arrested on March 30. The bomb contained at least 12 pounds of dynamite, and completely wrecked the establishment. Ten persons were seriously injured and M. Very is dead.

The explosion occurred when the wine-shop was half full of guests, and as nearly as can be learned, the bomb was placed just within the outside door of the corridor and at the door leading from the corridor into the wine-room. M. Very was standing in the middle of the room when the shock came. He was thrown against the wall in a heap of shattered tables and chairs. The ceiling fell, and several beams were split and fell to the floor.

A minute after the explosion 10 of the guests recovered their senses and ran into the street shouting and crying "fire." The police who have been stationed near the wine-shop since Ravachol's arrest, came up as the uninjured came out, and began bringing out those unable to help themselves.

M. Very was found to be in a pitiful condition. Both of his legs had been crushed by falling beams, his collarbone was fractured and his right arm was broken. He was bleeding at the mouth and ears, and is supposed to have suffered internal injuries. His little boy was found unconscious in a corner with his collarbone broken. Both were taken to the Saint Louis Hospital, where M. Very's legs were amputated.

Of the other ten persons injured three were taken to the hospital and the others were helped to their homes by the police. Six of them are said to have broken bones and internal injuries, but the particulars are not known. Half of the front of the wine shop was blown out, the stairs of the lower two stories were smashed to splinters, and not a door or window in the house was left whole. The floor in the corridor was blown away, the chandelier was twisted and hurled into a corner and where the ceiling walls were not split, the plaster was taken off as with a knife.

The buildings on each side of the wine shop were damaged from top to bottom. Half of the furniture was broken and all glass in them was shattered. The whole block around the wine shop was rocked by the explosion, and the walls were started so that they cracked or bulged. The neighborhood is thickly populated and in five minutes after the explosion the street was crowded with frightened men and women.

An extra force of police was summoned and an effort was made to induce the people to return to their rooms. This effort was fruitless for some time, and women and children blocked the sidewalks, crying and wringing their hands. Later men began carrying out their most valuable possessions and prepared to move their families to other parts of the city.

Much of the patronage of the wine shop was local, and families in the neighborhood fear that Ravachol's friends have marked it for destruction, as a warning to the magistrate and the witnesses at the trial to-day. Following the explosion, a number of people were watching the shop and making house-to-house inquiries along the Boulevard in the hope of getting a clue to the perpetrator of the deed.

M. Very was far beyond giving information to throw light on the outrage, but a waiter who was taking him to the hospital says that his master has received no fewer than 50 or 60 threatening letters from Anarchists since Ravachol was arrested. One of them, found by the police at M. Very's desk at the rear of the shop, said:

"Sir—You have dared to betray Ravachol, beware! You will learn what you can do. Your shop is doomed and your intamou life will be taken before May 1. Your family is no better than you. We will take care of them too."

Three arrests have been made, including a man who, after the explosion in the wine-shop shouted at the next corner "Vive L'anarchisme!"

A revolver and knife were found on him. He professes to know nothing of the perpetrators of the explosion. Troops cleared the Boulevard Magenta. Thousands of sightseers had crowded the street near the wrecked wine-shop and the police were unable to drive them back. In the confusion, it was feared another outrage might be perpetrated. Four companies of soldiers were called out. They drove the crowds into the side streets and remained on guard until the people had gone home.

Ravachol's trial begins to-day, and the most intense excitement prevails. The "Eclair" to-day publishes a letter, purporting to be signed by a number of Ravachol's friends, addressed to the jurors who will sit in the case. The letter appeals to the jurors to observe impartial fairness, and declared that Ravachol's acts of vengeance were justified by the criminal attitude of Judge Benoit and Public Prosecutor Bulot at the trial of the Cléthy Anarchists.

The "Eclair" also publishes a text of an Anarchist proclamation secretly printed, and appealing to the people in regard to the municipal elections to be held on May 1. The manifesto advocates neutrality in the elections, which are denounced as a bourgeois farce.

The demand for tickets of admission to the courtroom during Ravachol's trial has been very active.

The desire to hear the proceedings has been somewhat dampened, however, by a rumor that friends of Ravachol are plotting to prevent any sentence the court may impose upon him being carried out.

It is not known what course the Anarchists may pursue, but it is feared that some of them may in some way gain admission to the courtroom and throw a bomb.

FOX-BORROWE.

The So-Called Duel Still Being Discussed—A Southerner's Views.

New York, April 26.—The meeting of Edward Fox and Hallett Alsop Borrowe on the field of honor, which took place in Belgium on Saturday, is still the chief topic of conversation at the uptown clubs, and the opinions expressed as a rule are not complimentary to the principals in the affair.

A Southern man, who formerly lived in South Carolina and was familiar with the rules laid down in the Wilson Code before he was out of knickerbockers, said this morning that the so-called duel was a farce that in the South would make all the participants in the affair objects of ridicule and contempt.

"Judged by the rules that have governed duels in the South for a hundred years, the meeting was in no sense an affair of honor," said the Southerner. "I cannot understand why Milbank, who has the reputation of a professional duelist, allowed the affair to go on. He certainly ought to know it was against the rules of the code. After this affair no gentleman will recognize any of the parties concerned in it, as principals or seconds, as his equals. In the South a challenge from any of these men to a gentleman would be ignored."

"As to the termination of the affair, that is equally as absurd as the beginning of it. In an affair of honor between gentlemen, unless a certain number of shots be agreed upon by the seconds, the principals shall continue shooting until one or both are hit, or both agree that they are satisfied."

"In the latter event it is the duty of the seconds to see that their principals shake hands and leave the field as friends. Fox is alleged to have repeated his charges on the field after the exchange of shots. This was not only contrary to the code, but unbecoming a gentleman, and it was the duty of his second to have refused them and there to stop further for him, and to apologize to Borrowe and his second for the language of his principal on the field."

"The entire affair was a farce. The Code Duello of France does not differ materially from the American Code, and under neither can this be classed as an affair of honor."

REPUBLICANS AT ALBANY.

The Work of the State Convention Thursday Will Be Brief.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 26.—Secretary John E. Kennedy of the Republican State Committee is in the city completing the local arrangements for the State Republican convention, which meets on Thursday at noon in the Hartmann Biecker Hall. The majority of the delegates to the convention will arrive to-morrow morning, although some of the special trains from the large cities will arrive to-morrow night.

The State Committee will meet on Thursday morning at the Seneca, and will decide any contested cases that may come up, although at present the secretary has not been notified that there will be any.

The work of the convention will be quite brief, because the greater part of the work either has been or will be laid out by the State Committee. The four delegates at large to the National Convention will be Chauncey M. Depew, Thomas C. Platt, Warner Miller and either Frank Hiseock or Frederick A. Schroeder.

Consecration of Bishop McDonnell.

New York, April 26.—The new Catholic Bishop of Brooklyn, Charles E. McDonnell, was formally consecrated yesterday at St. Patrick's Cathedral, this city. The impressive and imposing ceremony began at 10 o'clock and lasted for nearly three hours, and was witnessed by a vast assemblage. The entire ceremonial was of extraordinary brilliancy, and the audience viewed it with great interest. Archbishop Corrigan was the consecrator, and fully 200 priests participated.

Trouble Ahead for the Reading People.

PHILADELPHIA, April 26.—Some large holders of Poughkeepsie Bridge bonds have decided to reject the Reading reorganization plan and have made overtures to the Pennsylvania and Boston and Maine roads. The Railway Committee have made deposits but not enough to control the situation. The time for making deposits under their plan expires April 30. The Pennsylvania has asked how many bonds its friends control and there may be a fight.

A Section Foreman's Sleep of Death.

LANCASTER, Pa., April 26.—Samuel Foliz of Elizabethtown, a section foreman on the Pennsylvania Railroad, became intoxicated and lay down on the railroad and fell asleep. He was run over by a freight train and literally ground to pieces, the only portion of the body found being part of the trunk.
