SEVERAL EXPLOSIONS AT LIEGE.

A House or Two Blown Up, But Nobody Beriously Hurt,

The Greatest Labor Demonstration in London's History-Discovery of an Alleged Plot to Blow Up Woolwich Arsenal-Not a Disturbance of Any Kind Reported from Paris, Where Dynamite Outrages Were Most Foured.

LIEGE, May 2 .- This city is still panicstricken over the events of yesterday, and further trouble is feared.

The day passed without much disorder and no attempt was made to hold meetings. After sundown the streets were filled with workingmen, some intoxi-cated, but most of them sober and orderly. A body of militia, in marching out to relieve a company on guard near the City Hall, came upon a crowd of workingmen and tried to march through.

Instantly there were eries of "Down With the Police," "Kill the Hirelings," and 'Long Live Anarchy." The militia charged and dispersed the crowd, but hardly a minute later an explosion was heard and the air was filled with splint-heard and theair was filled with splint-ered glass.

A bomb had been set off in front of a shop about fifty yards off. The pave-ment was shattered and all the windows of near-by buildings were blown out. Nobody was injured. Within ten min-utes two more bombs were exploded in the same district. The damage was trivial but the avoltenant was intense trivial but the excitement was intense. Half of the city came out into the streets. Bodies of mounted police and militia marched constantly from one district to another to reinforce the guards at another to reinforce the guards at threatened points.

Bombs were exploded last night at the residences of Senator Baron Selys and his son in Longchamps. Doors were blown in and furniture and glassware throughout the house were broken. No-body was injured.

body was injured.

An explosion under the wall of the Church St. Martin shattered a famous memorial window near the altar and brought down part of the carved stone from the roof. The shock was terrific, and it is said that not fewer than twelve pounds of dynamite were used. Windows for 200 yards were smashed to Dynamite cartridges and fuses have been found in several streets. The city is patrolled by all the available police and militia. Most citizens are guarding their own houses. More explosions are expected to occur to-day.

Fifty arrests have been made.

A GREAT DAY IN LONDON. Enormous Labor Demonstration - Discovery of a Dynamite Plot.

LANDON, May 2 .- This city saw yesterday the greatest labor demonstration in its history. The weather was bright and from early morning numberless processions of labor unions and Socialistic socleties thronged the streets in the vicinity of Hyde Park. All the men brought out their wives and children and choked the streets from wall to wall. Almost every organization had a band with it, and at moon the din and confusion became terrific at the park entrances, although everybody was good natured. But one incident of the day betrayed the dangerous undercurrent of the demonstration. Shortly after noon a senti-nel in the Woolwich Arsenal discovered at the entrance of the gun factory a bag containing eight canisters loaded with dynamite; gun cotton and cartridges. He called in a policeman and the bag was removed. No fuse was attached to the canisters, but a detonator was found at the bottom of the bag.

The plot was, undoubtedly, to destroy England's greatest arsensi, although thereby 17,000 men would have been thrown out of employment. It has been a beast of the War Office that no Anarchists or Socialists could be found in the executed. The region have a stronger of the transparent of the t arsensal. The police, however, although exceedingly reticent, acknowledge that the dynamite must have been placed by an arsenal workman, as the presence of a stranger would have been remarked by the guards. No arrests have yet been Excepting this incident, nothing marred the peace fulness of the demonstration. By 3 o'clock there were fully 350,000 people in the park and between then and 5 the crowd swelled to 500,000. Soore of meetings were held. Every advantageous point was occupied by a speaker, and a man had only to begin to talk to collect in no time an audience of 2,000 or 3,000.

of 2,000 or 3,000.

At Scotland Yard it is denied that the bag at the door of the Woolwich gun factory was filled with canisters of dynamite. The detectives say that the bag contained only gunpowder which was stolen from the Maxim Amuunitium Company. They do not believe there was a dynamite plot.

NO DISTURBANCE IN PARIS.

Every Public Building Was Guarded and Soldiers Were Everywhere.

Paris, May 2.—May Day was very pleasant and the gay Parisians seem to have tried to forget the dangers supposed to encompass them. The boulevards and parks were crowded, and the patronage of restaurants and cafes was exceptionally large. Women and chil-dren walked unterrified through the streets. The churches were full and the strain of apprehension seemed to have relaxed

In the barracks, at the police stations and in the districts around the public buildings, however, thousands of around men stood ready since I c'olock in the men stood ready since I o'clock in the morning to march out at a moment's notice and shoot to kill. All day squads of cavalry and mounted police clattered through the streets to the relief of the troops on guard before daybreak, and occasionally the heavy tread of infairty reminded the promenaders that both services in the avertions had been publitry reminded the promenators that both services in the garrison had been mobilized against expected daugers.

Every public building was garrisoned with fifty or sixty infantry with ball cartridges in their rifles. Ousile santinels at intervals of ten yards patrolled the streats. No civilian was allowed to approach within one hundred yards of any national or municipal building. All who wished to go by were obliged to go round and nobody demurred, as the sentinels were known to be under strict in-structions to shoot upon slight violation of the order.

No attempt was made by workingmen to hold street processions or outdoor meetings. They held, however, several monster indoor meetings with a total attendance of 100,000 or more, and at least an equal number were turned away from the overcrowded halls.

A LOST ART.

The Ancient Egyptians Were Skillful Glass-Blowers.

The glass-blowers of Thebes were as great proficients in their art as, possi-bly greater than, we are after the lapse nearly forty centuries of progre and retrogression. They possessed the art of staining glass, and they produced a piece of stained glass of considerable taste of design and beauty of color in which the color is struck through the whole vitrified structure, and there are instances of the design being equally struck through pieces of glass half an inch thick, perfectly incorporated with the structure, and appearing the same on both the obverse and the reverse

The priests of P'tah at Memphis were great glassmakers, and, says one authority, "not only had factories for common glass, but, profiting by their saved out of a fleet of twenty-two. No discovery of the property of oxides of lives were lost, but the natives on shore metals, which they got from India, of have been using chronometer cases for vitrifying different colors, conceived brass kettles ever since. the project of imitating all the precious stones which commerce brought them from that country."

They were favored by nature, moreover, in having at hand an unlimited supply of pure sand and kall; and their glass derived its good quality as well from these substances as from the further fact that in its preparation they utilized the ashes of a peculiar genus of kelp that grew in abundance by the Lake Marcotis and the Red sea. They imitated amothysts and other precious stones with wonderful dexterity; and besides the art of staining plass, they must have been aware of the use of the diamond in cutting it and engraving it. For in the British museum there is a piece of exquisitely-stained glass of the time of Thothmos III. (circa 1500 B. C.), skillfully engraved with that monarch's emblazonment by the hand of a master.

The priests were to the people of early Egypt pretty much what monks like Roger Bacon were to the early middle ages—they were the great scholars and exemplars of the learning of their day, and held the keys of all the arts then known. But they differed from the monks in this that whereas the latter impacted their knowledge only to a few, the others taught it broadcast and let the people benefit by it. How they discovered the art is a matter concerning which nothing can be gathered, probably because the dis-overy went too far back in the na-tional history. They themselves averred that the great god P'tah, whose servants they were, and who invented the universe, had taught them the art; but this is only tradition, and in conformity with a habit men have of ascribing simple luxuries to the direct mediation of the gods.-Chamber's BANGER OF POLE HUNTING. Those Who Have Perished Have Made Blunders Hard to Explain.

The popular notion is that arctic exploring is a very risky pursuit, but in reality it is not so. Fishing on the Grand banks is much more dangerous. As Mark Twain says: "The greatest peril which people encounter is not met with in traveling on the railways, but in going to bed. Most people die in bed." Only three expeditions out of the many which have been made have involved loss of life.

Franklin's party starved to death mainly because there were too many in it, where Schwatka traveled three thousand miles away from any base of supplies, living off the country. Greely whose subordinate officer, Lockwood, attained the furthest north ever this commodity in the utmost profu-sion. Rosellini gives an illustration of reached, beyond eighty-two degrees north latitude, was subjected to awful sufferings, many of those with him dy-ing, merely because of too much red tape in Washington. If the navy department had kept the appointed rendezvous at Cape Sabine, where it had agreed to have a vessel with provisions at a certain date, there would have been no trouble. It is the whalers who encounter most serious perils in the Arctic ocean. Hardly a year passes

Pigmy Rogs.

Specimens of the smallest known spe-cies of hogs are now quartered at the London zoological gardens. They came from the southern part of Australia, and are known as "the pigmy hogs of the antipodea." They are well formed frisky, and about the size of a muskrat. They are real hogs, and not to be confounded with guinea pigs, which are a species of rodent.
