SCENES AT THE CIRCUS FIELD.

LARGE CROWDS "SAW THE ELEPHANT" YESTERDAY.

NO DISTURBANCES REPORTED

The Fakirs Struck a Cold Snap and Had a Poor Day Through Vigilance of the Police Authorities.

VERY thing passed off quietly in town yesterday. Not a disturbance was reported and no one suffered any loss through pickpockets or like disreputable characters who usually follow up the circuses. Forepaugh's Shows are no exception to the rule. Bums and other suspicious looking characters cling to the tents like flies on a molasses barrel and manage to hold on to them as they pass from one town to another. But to the credit of the management of the shows, be it said, that every provision possible is made to protect the public against these pests. Two detectives employed by the shows put all such characters and point them out for the benefit of the police of towns where the tents are put up.

But the greatest vigilance cannot rid a circus of the fakirs. They will follow the tents and ply their schemes in the towns in which they are pitched in defiance of the law and authorities. But yesterday this class of people were struck by a cold wave. Chief Burgess Smith positively refused to give any of them a license. Even the genial, old-time Brooks found it impossible to soften the heart of the Burgess. Mr. Smith is certainly deserving of praise for his work in this connection and he is making an excellent reputation for himself. He gave notice last week that under no circumstances would he tolerate the fakirs and he showed yesterday that he is a man of his word. Chief of Police Davies and his assistants are also to be complimented for the support they gave the Burgess in this work, and also for the admirable manner in which they kept the town under control.

There were but two arrests during the entire day, which is an excellent record. The parties arrested were men who persisted in disobeying the orders of the authorities. One, a man who gave the name of M. Lewis and said he resided in Wilkes-Barre, attempted to play a shell game at the Philadelphia & Reading passenger depot.

He was scooped in by Constable Toomey and put under bail for trial. The fakir's "tools of trade" were confiscated and are in possession of Squire Monaghan.

The other party was also a fakir and he was released upon paying a fine.

There were no drunks or disorderlies, no fights and no accidents, yet it is estimated that there were fully eight thousand visitors of all classes in the town during the day.

Reports of contemplated depredations were numerous yesterday afternoon. Some said that the "patch boys" were in town in force and had no money on account of the poor working time at the collieries, and that they were determined to gain admission to the show, even if they would be obliged to cut the tents and ropes.

If the "patch boys" were prepared for such a movement, they very wisely abandoned the project. The shows had a large force of men of their own ready for such an emergency and Chief Burgess Smith had his special police scattered about the grounds in such an advantageous manner that any raid would have been repulsed effectively and with serious loss to the raiders. There was not a disturbance at either the afternoon or evening performance.

The main circus tent was well filled during the afternoon performance, but the evening attendance was much lighter. The reserved seats were not half filled. One dollar was too high for the miners' pockets. Press Agent Starr said last evening that the attendances at the performances were disappointments to the management. He said it was evident that the miners were in need of money, for they are always relied upon to pack a circus tent.

The production of "The Fall of Nineveh" last evening was an improvement on that of the afternoon by reason of the illuminations showing to better advantage. The dazzling costumes and arms of the warriors, and glittering dresses of the dancing girls were very effective in the rays of the lights and made the production much more impressive than it was in the light of day.

more than filled by the magnificent production of the biblical play.

The burlesque policeman, the German with the imitation kodak, and the Yankee farmer who kept walking to and fro looking for "them darned preserved seats" were side features that afforded abundant amusement for the spectators.

The evening performance was put through rapidly, but the acts were in no way marred. The entire entertainment, including the concert, was over before half past ten, and when the auditors fled out they found that only the main tent remained standing on the grounds and the animal cages, the poles and tents and other properties were already loaded on the cars at the old P. & R. depot, ready to be hauled to Allentown, where the shows are booked for performances this afternoon and evening.

At midnight the sawdust covered circles and patches were the only evidences that a circus had been in the trotting park during the day.

NOTES.
The Ready-Pay Store furnished all the groceries and provisions for the circus.

Richard Amour and D. J. Conners were on duty during the day and evening as specials at the main entrance.

All the Councilmen were guests of the management.

The kodak man captivated Constable M. Tosh.

Councilman Gable occupied a seat close to the ring in which "De Ate" elephants performed.

Chief Burgess Smith met many old-time acquaintances at the circus. When the man and horse race was run the Burgess was reminded of the times when he used to walk against a running horse in Barnum's circus several years ago.

The attendance at both performances was estimated at 8,000.

Fresh Arrivals.
A batch of twenty Hungarian immigrants arrived in town yesterday from New York in time to see the circus performance, but so much time elapsed before their friends recognized them they failed to witness the great show. They stood at the L. V. depot for hours before they were called for and taken to boarding houses.

It was amusing to watch some people who have been in town hardly long enough to get the smell of the sea out of their clothes stand around the new arrivals and smilingly remark, "Aint dese funny fellows?"

Safe, Sure and Speedy.
No external remedy ever yet devised has so fully and unquestionably met these three prime conditions as successfully as Allcock's Porous Plasters. They are safe because they contain no deleterious drugs and are manufactured upon scientific principles of medicine. They are sure because nothing goes into them except ingredients which are exactly adapted to the purposes for which a plaster is required. They are speedy in their action because their medicinal qualities go right to the work of relieving pain and restoring the natural and healthy performance of the functions of muscle, nerves and skin. Do not be deceived by misrepresentation. Ask for Allcock's, and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

Funerals To-day.
The remains of the late Hon. John Parker were interred in the Odd Fellows' cemetery, Tamaqua, this afternoon. The funeral was a very large one, many prominent people of the county were in attendance.

Mrs. Maize, mother-in-law of Supt. William H. Lewis, of Wm. Penn, was interred in Pottsville to-day.

A Little Girl's Experience in a Lighthouse.
Mr. and Mrs. Loren Trescott are keepers of the Gov. Lighthouse at Sand Beach, Mich., and are blessed with a daughter, four years old. Last April she was taken down with measles, followed with a dread ail cough and turning into a Fever. Doctors at home and at Detroit treated her, but in vain, she grew worse rapidly, until she was a mere "handful of bones."—Then she tried Dr. King's New Discovery and after the use of two and a half bottles, was completely cured. They say Dr. King's New Discovery is worth its weight in gold, yet you may get a trial bottle free at C. H. Hagenbuch's drug store.

BIG ELECTRIC RAILWAY TRAFFIC.

EIGHT THOUSAND FARES REGISTERED YESTERDAY.

MORE CARS PUT ON THE ROAD

There is a Delay in the Arrival of the Trail Cars But They Will be Here Within a Few Days.

RAILWAY traffic to and from town was immense yesterday. Every P. & R. and Lehigh Valley train was crowded and the depot was packed all day. The largest business was done on the electric railway. The record for the day was 8,000 five-cent fares. Two additional cars were put on the line. They are open cars with the seats arranged crosswise. They are especially adapted for summer traffic and are motor cars. The company expected to have a number of trail cars ready for the day, but the builders are so pushed with orders that these cars cannot be secured for several days.

To Raise Circus Funds.

While a man was driving from town towards Ellengowan yesterday with a load of empty powder kegs a half dozen boys ranging from about 14 to 18 years of age halted his horse on the hill near the stone crusher. Two of the boys bantered with the man, while the others unloaded the kegs at the rear of the wagon and ran off with several of them. The driver did not realize the trick until about thirty kegs had been carried off. He then made vigorous use of his whip and succeeded in driving off his tormentors. Most of the kegs were found in the bushes at the side of the road, but none of the boys were caught.
