A SPITEFUL FLING.

The Daily Republican stooped to a dirty piece of work in its issue of last evening by charging that Judge Sad Ier "belongs to that class of men who believe that this ---- soldier business is played out." That the spiteful thrust was wholly unwarranted and uncalled for the public can see by the following reference to the case spoken of by the paper: "At Carlisle, on Friday, Judge Sadler handed down an opinion in the case of John Web bert vs. the County of Cumberland. Webbert brought suit to recover $12 he paid the county for a huckster's license, claiming that a soldiers' license he held exempted him from payment of the license demanded by the county. Judge Sadler decided the case in favor of the county, holding that the Act of Assembly in regard to the soldiers' license only permitted the holder to 'peddle, hawk and vend,' but did not give him 'any right to purchase or barter for butter, eggs or poultry."" It seems to us that the decision is a perfectly proper one, based upon a fair and honest interpretation of law, and in no way infinanced by a feeling for or against the soldier. It should be remembered that Judge Sadler is a veteran of the late war, but that did not deter him from constraing the law as he conscien tiously believed was fair to all.

WHEN Cleveland was elected in '84 he was shaken up with Thomas Hendricks to leaven his mugwumpery with true Democracy. In '88, when he came as near being elected as he ever will be again, the Old Roman, Allan G. Thurman, performed the beosting het for him. Who could impart the flavor of Simon pure, moss-back Democracy in the year 1892? Perhaps Thomas F. Bayard. Most Democrats would prefer Hendricks again. To be sure he's dead, but he's only been dead a short time.

THERE are enough Democrats in Congress one would suppose to make sure of a quorum of their own. But when a horse race or a base ball g me is on hand there is no holding a suffi cient number of them to do business. It would be a very simple, fair, constitutional procedure for Speaker Crisp to count the Republicans who are in their seats attending to business and make a quorum. But that is not to be thought of because "Czar Reed" did lt. So the public, business lags.

GRANDMA'S OPINION.

"Gentle boys make gentlemen," Grandma said. Said jully Beny "Gentle boys are just like girls— Dainty hands and sissy carls. Boys must run and knock absuit. Kick and prance and yoll and shout; There's no fun in taking pains. Busting in when or the runs.

Running in whome or it rains, Whining if you stub your too. Such boys are sleay, don't you know!"

"A boy I know runs like a deer, But lifts his hat when girls appear: But lifts his hat when girls appear: He langue and yells and knocks about, Putting all cowardly hads to rout, And yet this hoy will feel no shanna When called away from roup or game of these is control.

'Oh, there is mother. I must go:

Mother always stands first, you know! Geutle boys make guillemen." Grandma repeated once again. —Annie A. Preston, in N. Y. Observer.

WILL LEAD TO SUCCESS.

Patience, Perseverance and Pluck Will Win for You an Honorable Position

The importance of a knowledge of the three R's-"Reading," " 'Riting,' and "Rithmetic"—has long been uni-versally recognized, but the three P's. "Patience," "Perseverance" and Pluck"-have received less conideration. They are, however, the means of success in every direction.

"The barriers are not erested that an say to patient perseverance "thus ar and no farther," " Beehthoven delared. And who more competent to mow the truth of the assertion than ie who, despite his deafness, reached an eminence in the musical world to which few others have attained.

A spirit of indomitable perseverance infinenced Gen. Grant to write: "I propose to fight it out on this line if it ikes all summer," as it influenced Naoleon, when informed that the Alps yould impede the progress of his army, exclaim: "There shall be no Alps. Nothing is so well calculated to disourage one as physical defects that an not be remedied. But, as aforeaid, Beethoven was deaf, while Milton vas blind, as was our own historian, rescott.

When Demosthenes spoke for the first ime in a public assembly, owing to his yeak voice, his imperfect articulation, and inappropriate gestures, he was nooted from the stage. He shut himself up in an underground chamber for three months in order to study the laws and politics of Greece, and practice composition and declamation. He eventanally became the most perfect orator the world has known.

The lack of an opportunity to require in education during one's earlier years s also discouraging. Yet John Bunyan 'worked his way from ignorance and discurity to immortal fame:" Sir Isaac Newton "when twelve years of age stood the lowest in his class;" Elihu Burritt, "the learned blacksmith," placed his books on the forge and tudied while at work; the dake of Wellington, who defeated Napoleon at Waterloo, when he entered the army was deemed "only fit to be food for powder."

Alexander the Great, before he was wenty-five years of age, having only fifty thousand men at his command, by his intrepidity and perseverance gained complete victory over the Persians. whose numbers are variously estimated between five hundred thousand and a million. Just prior to the battle he was awakened from a sound sleep by his chief lieutenant, who said: "You seem as calm as if you had already gained the victory." "I consider the whole work done when we have reached the enemy and found it ready to give us battle," he replied.

A peculiar aptitude for certain voca-tions-denominated "talent" or "genius" is the birthright of many. If undeveloped by its possessor it amounts to nothing.

In the nature of things everybody can not become "famous." Any one posses ed of ordinary ability can, by persist effort, win an honorable position. ent If there is any end which you, reader, desire to accomplish-any commendable end, we mean-never wait for "circumstances" to become "more favorable." Either change the circumstances or break through their environment one of which "the three P's" will enable you to do. Indeed, they will render everything but the impossible possible for you .-- Harper's Young People. PETS IN THE NAVY. Animals and Birds That Receive the Af-

A MANLY BOY.

An Appellation That You Need Never Be Ashanied Of.

"He is only a mother's boy," is a statenent I have heard more than once And then there was a curl of the lip which said plainer than words that a mother's boy is not held in very high respect.

Let me see; what is a mother's boy? I have one in mind as I write. He is about twelve years of age. He is strong of limb, and fair of face. He is a hard tudent, and an enthusiastic playfellow after school hours. He does not use vile language. He is considerate of He plays with a vim and thers. dash born of enthusiasm and good health, but he is considerate of soys younger, weaker and smaller than himself. He is tender in his treatment of his sisters. He does not cause his father anxiety by doing things that would displease him. He does not go into his class-room without preparation for the studies of the day. He treats his teachers with the consideration that boys should treat their elders and superiors. He goes to bed early, and is up with the lark. He has a due for his own personal appearregard ance, and keeps his face and bands and clothing clean. He reads good books to elevate the mind. He is loving and gentle with his mother. He finds pleas-ure in her society. He is ever ready to save her weary footsteps by anticipating her wishes. He is saving of his pennies. He is generous to those who do not treat him fairly. In a sentence, be is a manly boy. There are many such mother's boys in the world. They are the hope of our future. Some of them will be our presidents and law makers. They will be the presi dents of our colleges, banks and railways. They are the men who will move the world. I wish all my boyreaders were mother's boys. The las who is called a "mother's boy" need never be ashamed of the appellation. many of the great men of this and other countries have been such and have beer proud of it. Upon the day of Garfield's inaugura tion as president of the United States he turned after taking the oath of office and kissed his mother who was standing near him. In his hour of triumph. and amid the glittering crowd, he did not forget the mother whose he-role struggle in bringing up her children in the poverty of frontier life forms one of the most fascinating pages in our history. Surely he must have been a "mother's boy."-Foster Coates, in Ladies' Home Journal.

A Large Attendance Daily.

THE death of John H. Evans was fections of Uncle Sam's Sallors.

surprising news to the citizens of Shenandoah this morning. In Mr. Evans' death the borough loses one of its best citizens, one who had been active in the mining circles of the region for over seventeen years. He was a kind neighbor, and generous to a fault.

THE Democrats are going to the farmers of the country with the doctrine that they are extortionists and no better than robbers in holding their farms since everybody has an equal right to the land. That is the Henry George doctrine.

THERE is a deep pathos in the fact an expert climber. He can got to the that no one is so poor as to trot out top of the mainmaist in less than twen-THERE is a deep pathos in the fact Horizontal Bill Morrison as "some good Western man," or even an alternative compromise candidate.

THE Henry George doctrine which the Democrats are distributing for a campaign document, is, "If you have not any land of your own help yourself to what you want."

THE Democrats who are circulating Henry George literature should steer clear of Chicago. The police of that enlightened community have a particular antipathy to red flag communists.

By virtue of their vocation, sailors are rough in speech and action, and can hardly be called a sentimental class Yet the men, as a rule, are more fond of dumb animals, and it is an astonishing sight, on the return of a vessel from foreign parts, to see nearly every Jack tar with a monkey, parrot or other pet.

On board men-of-war, where strict discipline prevails, the sailors are not allowed to lumber up the vessel with pets at their own discretion; but there is not a man-of-war in service that does not carry its special pet.

The Kearsarge has a big black cat called Jim, and for two years he has had the run of the ship, and has taken a voyage to South America. The sailors have trained Jim to a number of tricks. and the man who is caught abusing him would be in peril of his life.

The pet on the erniser Yorktown is a monkey. He is a frisky youngster and seconds if he is feeling first-rate.

The monkey has been trained to play tricks on the crew. He has a funny way of tickling the car of a sleeping sailor with the end of his tail.

If anyone loses a plug of tobacco it can generally be found hidden in the rigging. When the hiding place is discovered, the monkoy breaks out into a chatter that shows how he appreciates the fun.

Billy, the goat, was the pet of the Galena for nearly two years. During that period he never left the ship. When the ship was in port, the sailor would take turns getting grass and clover for the goat, and they always got a goodly supply ahead when it was known that the ship would soon sail. Some time ago, through the strategy of certain members of the crew who had Attest Octagon is the name of a horse who used to live at a lighthouse station on the island of Nantucket. There was : low fence all around the house. This made good yard room, and kept out the cows. Octagon was the lightkeeper's horse, so he was allowed to graze outside the yard. Nannie, a little goat.

lived there, too. Nannie had very winning ways. She would go along to Octagon, and, putting her head down close to his, stand up on her hind feet. Then Octagon would stop eating the nice, fresh grass and look at her. If he was in a happy mood, Nannie would run off a little way, then turn and look back.

She would run back mad forth until the big horse was ready for play. Then Nannie would run around outside the fence as fast as her little legs could (#2.003.691.) carry her. Octagon could run faster. but he never did. That would not be playing. He would gallop just behind Nannie, bringing down both fore feet together, close to her little hurrying ones, taking care not to touch them. Nannie would run around and around until she was out of breath, when she would jump over the fence into the yard and stand there, panting. Octagon would stop running too, and stand ooking at Nannie, as much as to say: "What! tired with that little run? It It wasn't more than half-running; I could go like that all day long, and not feel tired."

When Nannie was all ready for another run she would leap over the fence and away the two would go Sometimes Nannie would stop again. to rest three or four times before she had finished her play, and Octagon always stood watching her. When she was tired enough to stop altogether, Nannie would go and lie down and Octagon would begin eating the nice grass again .- Lilla Barnard, in Little Men and Women.

Would Remember Her.

It is told of one of the children in a New York hospital, who had been un-der the care of one nurse for a long time, that when the little fellow found out that he was to go home cured, he put his hands around the neck of the nurse, and said softly in her eav: "My mamma will never hear the last of you." Was not that a touching expression of gratitude?--Watchman.
