AGAINST THE VETERANS.

The New York Mail and Express announces that some of the Union veterans are organizing for political purposes. It is high time for them to

It is as plain as day that if the Democratic party comes into control of the Federal Administration, one of the first things it will do, after enacting a free and fraudulent silver law, will be to strike at the pension system and thus at the Union veterans.

On Saturday, during the discussion of the Sundry Civil bill in Congress, a rebel general from Alabama, Mr. Forney, proposed that the pension of each inmate of the Soldier's Home in excess of $5 a month should be withheld and applied by the managers to the support of the home. During the discussion Congressman Snodgrass, of Tennessee, declared that the roll of pensioners is "a roll of dishonor," and Congressman Bland, of Misseuri, demanded the repeal of the Dependent Pension act. Cheese-parer Holman and his ex-rebel associates then proceeded to cut down the appropriation for the payment of adjusted and certified claims of soldiers and the widows and orphans of soldiers over $750,000. Bear in mind that this appropriation is simply introduced to pay the just claims of the veterans of the war, their widows or children, who have been waiting thirty years to have the debt acknowledged.

Union veterans can expect no favors from Democratic Administration conducted by the men who kindled the flerce fires of secession.

Ohio, who also boldly says "I am a bor to Foint Granville are seven or Democrat," has other fears than free eight three-legged towers, that look silver and a Protective tariff. Listen drivers, with a rude box at the top of to him: "The great danger to the each. These towers are called sea-otter Democratic party is that she will marry herself to a few individuals, many of them like Mr. Hill, utterly unworthy to be consorted with, while she will divorce herself from the or three feet deep. From the tops of these derricks the hunter picks off the political equality, and equal rights for all men with special privileges for none."

THE People's Party is in doubt as to holding its national convention in Omaha, owing to the fact that the hotel keepers in that town want to charge delegates from $5 to $8 per day. If the masses of the party should ever find out that its leaders were guilty of paying such prices as that for their daily bread nothing on earth could save them.

In Mexico the people wanted rain and got frogs. There are a few communities in the West which would be glad to exchange.

THE Cork Trust is to have an organ. Lightness will, of course, be one of the editor's aims.

HUNTING SEA OTTERS.

Patience and Skill Are Necessary to Success in Their Pursuit.

Animals Which Produce the Most Valuable For Reews to Commerce-Blazing A. ay All Day from Tall Tow-ers Along the Coast.

It is a fact not generally known, ever, among the residents of the state of Washington, that off the coast along the edge of the Pacific ocean, and almost in the shadows of the majestic Olympic range of mountains is found, in numbers now rivaling the product of the Aleutian islands, the much-prized sea otter, an animal which furnishes the most expensive fur known to the commercial world. The sea otter fur requires no dyeing to fit it for use like the seal fur, and in its natural state is worth ten or twenty times the figure that the scalskin sells for. It is not usually made into cloaks or sacques, because too heavy as well as too expensive, to suit the tastes of many, and it is so rare that the fur is not often seen except as trimmings for garments made of sealskin.

The main source of supply for sea otter skins, says the San Francisco Chronicle, has always been away up in the Aleutian islands, nearly to the coast of Siberia. A few years ago as many as seven thresand were taken in a single season, but the catch of the season just closed in that region has only amounted to a mere handful, so ruthlesss and systematic has been the destruction. When that field is exhausted the only one of any extent remaining will be this little bay on the coast of Washington, where for many years the industry of taking skins has furnished employment to a number of weather-beaten hunters. It is not a little remarkable that on all the western oast line of the United States the only places that the sea otter has survived the deadly persecution of the hunter are along the stretch of the Pacific beach between the mouth of Gray's harbor and Point Granville, a distance of about thirty-five miles, on the islands off the Santa Barbara coast. Point Granville, with its bold, picturesque rocks jutting out into the sen, is about midway be-tween Cape Flattery, at the mouth of the straits of San Juan de Fuca, which form the northwest boundary of the United States, and the mouth of the Columbia river, which marks the line between the states of Washington and Oregon. The Pribylov islands, where most of the seals and the sea otters come from, are away up to the northwest nearly three thousand miles. It is very interesting to see the manner in which the highly prized sea ot-ters are secured here on the coast of Washington. If it were an easy task to get a sea otter there would no longer be any of them left in these waters, for they have been hunted here for twenty years by white men and a hundred or more by the Indians. The Indians hunt the sea otter from long, heavy ca noes, in which they go out through the surf, and, cruising along a mile or two, shoot or spear the animal as he lies sleeping in the water with only his head in sight. Owing to his extreme wariness, it is hard to approach and difficult to hit the animal after it is found. It is only after long practice that an Indian, accustomed as he is to the use of a cance, is able to meet with any success at all, for it takes great skill to shoot or spear a floating object in a choppy sea from an uncertain cance, Very often a hunter remains out five or six days without result.

It is not, however, the Indians who secure the most sea otters, for there are not many natives left, and the pursuit is a hazardous one. It is the white hunter, or "Boston man," as the Indians call him, who has devised a way of getting the coveted fur without risk-REPRESENTATIVE HARTER, of ing his life in a canoe at sea. Along this stretch of beach from Gray's harfrom a distance like huge skeleton pile derricks, and they are erected as far out toward the breakers as practicable without danger of being washed away. The beach is smooth and so nearly level that at a distance of one thousand feet wary sea otter, and it is not a unusual thing for one to shoot and kill his game at a distance of one thousand yards. But though these hunters are excellent riflemen and their weapons are the very best, they may shoot a hundred times without killing a single sea otter, so that in addition to being good shots they must possess unusual patience. In spite of the apparent lack of liveliness in the pursuit, the sport is a most attractive one, and the hunter who once gets into it seldom abandons it.

Poisonous Plants.

There are certain plants which produce flowers which make not only poisonous honey but also poisonou wax. Cases often occur of persons be ing made ill after eating honey, and the cause is often attributed to indigestion. but more frequently the reason is found in the honey itself, the bees having fed upon poisonous flowers. In some parts South America there are flowers which produce honey and wax of a bluish green color, and it is said that both the honey and wax are more poisonous than the same quantity of arsenic. No such poisonous honey is produced in the United States, though it is known that the quality of honey is frequently greatly impaired by the flowers of certain trees on which the bees greedly feed. Telegraph Wire.

There are 900,000 miles of telegraph Mnes in the world, with approximately 2,500,000 miles of separate wires. Europe alone has 67,465 telegraph stations out of the total of 465,000. The world's yearly messages are put down at 296, 000,000. From this number 57,500,000 are messages transmitted from one country to another. The total receipts for the world's telegraph service amount to upward of $450,000,000.

WAS "HABITUALLY UNRELIABLE." Dismissal of Beatrice Tiffany, a Well Known Society Relle, from an Opera Co. BALTIMORE, May 24 .- The sensation it society circles two weeks ago was the advent of Miss Beatrice Tiffany upon the professional stage. That sensation is supplemented by another in her dismissal from Harris, Britton & Dean's Opera Company. Miss Tiffany is the youngest daughter of Osmond Tiffany, and her genealogical tree strikes its roots deep into the historic families of Maryland. Her mother, Anne Pinkney Whyte, was the graud-daughter of Wil-liam Pinkney Whyte. Ex-Gov. William Finkney Whyte is her uncle. Miss Tif-fany was married some time ago to Francis Scott Key, a grand-son of Fran-cis Scott Key, of "Star Spangled Ban-

The accommodating "physician's certificate" was, on these occasions, accepted with much grumbling. Affairs reached a climax at last Saturday's matines when Miss Tiffany appeared on the stage in such a condition that the management felt warranted in demanding her resignation.

Five years ago Baltimore society had no more prominent figure than Miss Beatrice Tiffany. By virtue of the prominence of her family, and her high social connections, she had the entree into the most conservative circles. She was an influential member of the old Wednesday Club, and no cast was considered complete unless she took the leading role. Her fall from the second story of her home, when she struck the payement head first, is still fresh in the public mind, and she bears the marks of her accident to day. Shortly after that event Miss Tiffany went to New York, where she studied for the stage, and her engagement with the Harris, Britton & Deau Opera Company marked her next appearance in Baltimore.

The Report That the Lockout Had Been Declared Off at Cape Ann Untrue. GLOUCESTER, Mass., May 24.-It was reported yesterday that a settlement had been made with the locked-out granite workmen on Cape Ann, but inquiry at the office of the Lanesville companies contradicts it. It is also learned that no settlement had been made at Cape Ann and Pigeon Cove quarries.

One of the company's agents said it looked hopeful for a settlement soon, but on what terms he could not tell. The workman were glad that Bishops Brooks and Williams were suggested as arbitrators to settle the difficulty, and as they were both New Englanders they believed justice would be done to all parties. parties.

WESTINGHOUSE COMPANY GETS IT. The Electric Light Contract for the World's Fair Awarded.

CHICAGO, May 24.—George Westinghouse's company has been awarded the incandescent electric lighting contract for the World's Fair. After many days of fruitless endeavor to award the work to the Edison General Electric Company, the Committee on Grounds and Build-ings was forced to award the contract to Westinghouse, because he had by $81,000 the lower bid.

However, the committee asked a $1,-000,000-bond as an evidence that the Westinghouse Company would fulfill its contract, and gave until June 10 to accept the terms. Fresident Westinghouse said that he thought the demand for $1,000,000 unjust and was not yet decided whether he would accept the Mr. Westinghouse's bid was $399,000.
