A SERMON TO THE VETERANS.

THE GRAND ARMY AND SONS OF VETERANS

HEAR AN EFFECTIVE SERMON.

By Rev. Havice, in the English Lutheran Church Last Night.
Honor to the Dead and Respect for the Living.

VERY interesting sermon was preached in the English Lutheran church on North Jardin street last evening by the pastor, Rev. M. H. Havice, for the special benefit of the Watkin Waters Post, No. 143, G. A. R., and the Sons of Veterans.

There was a large attendance by the members of both organizations and the sermon was listened to with deep interest.

Rev. Havice took his text from Matt. 23-25. "The North increased in wealth, population and spirit of progress; the South remained stationary. Her mines remained undeveloped, her rivers, filled with the greatest water power in the world, remained unfettered by mills or factories. For years the North hoped against hope that the South would awaken to the blight and curse of slavery. History will never honor Jeff. Davis. We are willing to recognize the courage and valor of the Confederate soldiers; we can give them all credit for the education of the times, for the passions and feelings of the hour; nevertheless, it will remain true that the South sought to destroy the best government the world has ever known. Men were not slow in recognizing the true inwardness of the contest. As early as 1862 the freedom of the slaves became apparent, when Lincoln said: 'If Lee is driven back from Maryland, I will crown the event by declaring the freedom of the slaves. The battle of Antietam was fought September 17, 1862. On September 18, 1862, Lee retreated across the Patomac and was hurled back from Northern soil. On September 22, 1862, Lincoln declared the freedom of the slaves in the states and parts of states that were then in rebellion, to take place January 1, 1863. From that

ON HIS JOURNEY.

A Newspaper Man's Impression of the West.
Editor H. C. Boyer, of the HERALD, has journeyed as far as Cleveland, Ohio, on his western trip, after pleasant visits to Elmira and Buffalo. Writing from the former place Mr. Boyer says that a drive through Buffalo with Mr. Harry Bonney resulted in a revelation. Buffalo, he says, has had a wonderful growth during the past fifteen years. The city seems to be the starting point and terminus for all railroads, and the shipping business on the lakes and canals is immense. Everything except coal is cheap there, much cheaper than the same articles are in Schuylkill. The city is a paradise for ticket scalpers. For squares there is a scalper's office in almost every other house and tickets for almost any point may be secured at a great reduction. Asphalt is being placed on the streets in place of Belgian blocks. Mr. Boyer predicts that Buffalo will at no distant day rank among the first beautiful and populous cities of the Union. During his stay in Cleveland Mr. Boyer had ample opportunity to see all important points by riding on the electric railway. "For miles before reaching Euclid station, and west of it," he says, "the lands are laid out in one vast grapefarm. The grape markets of the country will be well supplied from these farms." Cleveland is worthy of a visit Mr. Boyer said. It is called Forest City, a very appropriate name, as it is a city in a forest. Mr. Boyer started for Chicago Thursday morning.

THE COMPANY LEAVES.

The Clarence Bennett Company begins a week's engagement at the Palace theatre, Girardville, to-night. Upon the close of the engagement the company will jump to Burlington, N. J., where Mr. Bennett will tender the members the usual annual benefit. The company will play there one night and produce "Hamlet," which met with excellent favor here Friday evening. It has been Mr. Bennett's custom for years to tender a benefit to his company before closing the season. Mr. Bennett has furnished the theatrical patrons with a series of excellent plays during the past week, and should he return here he may depend upon it that he will have large audiences.
