A Touching Incident.

After services in the Welsh Baptist church last evening Thomas L. Williams invited a few friends to accompany him to the residence of his son, John L. Williams, who was until recently division superintendent for the P. & R. C. & I. Co., and who is about to move his family to Shamokin, where he has headquarters as general manager for the Union Coal Company. The venerable father was accompanied by his wife, Rev. D. L. Evans, John P. Williams, Robert Edwards and John R. Jones. Upon entering the house Mr. Williams produced a gold-headed cane and asked Rev. Evans to present it to his son. The clergyman complied gracefully. The recipient acknowledged the gift with feeling. Among other things he said, "I have recently received many gifts from friends, but this I accept from a true friend, one who has been an unwavering friend to me all my life." The presentation was a complete surprise to the invited guests as well as the recipient and there was not a dry eye in the room when the situation was fully grasped. Mr. Williams' father is about 70 years of age.

An Old Timer.

A spring dropped from the truck of a P. & R. passenger locomotive in front of the depot yesterday. A gentleman who witnessed the occurrence remarked, "I would not have been surprised if the engine had fallen apart. It has done noble service and knows the line so well it could go to Mahanoy Plane and back without an engineer."

THE ENGINE UPSET.

An Open Switch Causes Considerable Trouble.

The passenger train due here from Hazleton at 2:00 o'clock yesterday afternoon met with a serious accident this side of Delano. It bounded upon an open switch and after running several yards the engine toppled over and two cars left the rails. Fortunately Engineer Charles Price had the presence of mind to apply all brakes in good time and when the engine tumbled the train was running at a comparatively slow rate of speed. His action prevented the cars from piling upon the engine and no one was injured when the crisis was reached. The reason for the switch being open is unknown.
