MORE COMPLAINTS OF PERSECUTION.

HEBREWS PROSECUTE POLES AND HUNGARIANS.

CHARGED WITH GROSS INSULTS

Two Men Arrested Last Night for Insulting Women—More Cases Likely to Follow, and will Go to Potsville.

THE Hebrew residents of town are again loud in their complaints against alleged persecutions on the part of Poles and Hungarians in town. The complaints emanate from the First ward and that part of Main street, south of Oak. If the offending parties do not desist in their practices the calendar of the Potsville court will soon be filled with cases in which Jews will be prosecutors and Poles and Hungarians defendants.

The Jews complain that they cannot pass a group of their persecutors without being insulted by cries of "Hoff! Hoff!"

The word "Hoff" is interpreted as "pig." Last night a young Hebrew residing on South Main street caused the arrest of two Polish young fellows, charging them with insulting his mother and sister when they were out walking.

The mother swore that both men cried "Hoff! Hoff!" as she passed and one of them spat in her face.

The accused were placed under $500 bail, each.

Decoration Day Echoes.

Notwithstanding the threatening weather yesterday morning, the town was crowded with visitors.

Congressman Robinson did not come to town, as was expected. He is a patient at the Willis Eye Hospital, in Philadelphia.

Rev. M. H. Havice, pastor of the English Lutheran church, took Congressman Robinson's place as orator of the day and did admirably.

The Potsville Cadets made an excellent impression on parade. They are a fine looking, well-uniformed company of young men. They march and drill well, and make an excellent appearance. The cadets were the guests of the G. A. R. during the day.

Co. A, Jr. O. U. A. M., looked well yesterday and their drills on the streets were highly spoken of.

Proof of Merit.
The proof of the merits of a plaster is the cures it effects, and the voluntary testimonials of those who have used Alcock's Porous Plasters during the past thirty years is unimpeachable evidence of their superiority and should convince the most skeptical. Self-praise is no recommendation, but certificates from those who have used them are. Beware of imitations and do not be deceived by misrepresentation. Ask for Alcock's, and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

The Tools Awarded.
Some time ago a promise was made that whoever should collect the most amount of money for the benefit of the Catholic church at Lost Creek would receive a set of mining tools. Philip Jones, of Wm. Penn, and Lawrence Murphy, of Colorado, entered the contest. Last night the tools were awarded to Jones, he having turned over to the committee $218.40 and Murphy handed in $100.50. Benjamin Richards, of town, William Chandler, of Wm. Penn, and P. J. Ryan, of Lost Creek, formed the committee.

SHOOTING AFFRAY AT THE STRIPPINGS.

THREE YOUNG MEN AND A BOY INJURED.

ONE RECEIVED EIGHT WOUNDS

Thomas McAllister Suffered the Most, but None of the Victims Were Dangerously Injured. Italians Did the Shooting.

THREE young men and a boy of this town were victims of a shooting affray that occurred near the trotting park towards evening yesterday. They were Joseph Sadusky, aged 12 years; John Madden, aged 20; William Ringheiser, aged 17; and Thomas McAllister, aged 22. Each of them received at least two wounds, but none were dangerous. McAllister suffered the most. He carries eight wounds. At first it was thought that he was fatally injured, but when visited last night he talked cheerfully and was suffering no pain.

The man who did the shooting is named Frank Mandel. He is better known as "Big Frank" and is employed as watchman at the "strippings" by Contractor Rickett. The shooting was done with double-barreled shot guns loaded with small pieces of lead.

Sadusky, the boy, was shot in the left leg, near the knee, and his scalp was grazed by one of the bullets.

When asked about the shooting he said he and other boys were in the bushes near the trotting park picking flowers. Near by was a gang of young fellows gathered about a keg of beer. A quarrel arose over a dog and while it was going on an Italian from one of the neighboring shanties tried to steal the keg.

The young fellows attempted to stop him and a fight ensued. Then "Big Frank" appeared with a shot gun and fired at the party.

When asked for his version he said, "We had a little thing up there and they tried to take it from us, but we wouldn't let them. Then there was a fight."

McAllister was found on a sofa at his father's home on Chestnut street. He has four wounds in the left leg above the knee, one near the right ankle. One bullet passed between the index and second finger of the left hand and inflicted two flesh wounds, and another bullet entered the left side of the face just below the cheek bone. This bullet is so located that probing for it would be dangerous.

Madden had the back of his head grazed by a bullet and received a flesh wound under the left eye.

McAllister and Madden say that the gun used must have been loaded with a number of small pieces of lead and they scattered when fired, as all the wounds were inflicted by two discharges. They say that other Italians discharged revolvers directly at them, but they were loaded with blank cartridges. This brings the shooting down to one man, "Big Frank."

McAllister, Ringheiser and Sadusky were carried to town by young men who escaped the shots.

Upon their arrival in town 'Squire Monaghan prepared warrants for the arrest of the Italians and handed them to Constable Toomey, who went out to the shanties accompanied by the paid police and several specials. They raided the shanties and placed under arrest fourteen Italians, but failed to find "Big Frank," who had disappeared over the mountains in the direction of Frackville, and the police concluded that he went to Potsville to seek the aid of Contractor Rickett. The men arrested were brought to town and placed in the lockup for the night.

The wife of "Big Frank," a negress, attempted to use a large knife when Policeman McGrail arrested one of the Italians, and the officer was obliged to draw his revolver to keep her at a distance.

The keg of beer which caused the trouble was found in one of the shanties. Contractor Rickett arrived in town to-day and it is believed that some arrangement will be made by which "Big Frank" will be surrendered.

At noon to-day 'Squire Monaghan gave the Italians a hearing. Sadusky and Ringheiser were carried to the office in chairs. McAllister was unable to attend.

Sadusky and Madden identified three of the men under arrest as being in the crowd that did the firing.

The three men identified stoutly denied that they did the shooting and asserted that "Big Frank" and Frank Gero, who are still missing, were the guilty parties.

Madden's version of the affair, as given to the 'Squire is this: The Italians stole the keg of beer from the young fellows, who gave chase, but were driven back by Italians who flourished revolvers and shot at random. The young fellows hastened
