"KEEPING IT DARK

The taxpayers of the town should look at the water question from a practical point of view. If a man wants a house built he first wants a plan and then he ascertains the cost. This is what all business men, do and the taxpayers should do likewise. It would be folly for the people to vote to place $95,000 in the hands of a few men for the erection of public water works without first knowing what kind of works are to be established and what the cost will be. The projectors of this scheme have had since iast fall to prepare plans and make estimates, but up to date the people are as little enlightened as to these particulars as they were when the first gun was fired. True, the water committee and certain favored Councilmen have said that the plant will only cost $95,000, but what assurance of this have they given the people? Nothing but the promise of a party, whose name they have not divulged, that he will establish the works for that amount and give bonds to guarantee that he will do so. Why have the Conncilmen and the joint committee held the name of this party in the dark? Why have they failed to produce a contract and bond from the party, which would be some evidence of good faith? If a proposition of the water company, over the signatures of its president and secretary, and with its corporate seal attached, is not sufficient for the consideration of the Borough Council, of what value is the mere word of a myth?

PRESIDENT GEORGE WASHINGTON'S name appears affirmatively on the first tariff bill ever passed by an American Congress, and the generally accepted opinion in this country is that George was no slouch.

IF a Councilman promises to estab lish public water works for $75,060 and asks an allowance of $95,000, what will it cost to put the works in operation ?

AGAINST THE COAL DEAL. New Jersey Authorities Fire Their Firs

Gun in the Fight. TRENTON, N. J., June 1 .- The first important step in the war of the au-thorities of New Jersey against the Reading coal deal was taken yesterday afternoon, when Attorney General Stockton appeared before Chancellor Mc-Gill and presented a bill of information against the recent lease of the Central Railroad by the Reading, and praying for an injunction restraining them from operating under any of its provisions. The bill sets forth that the lease of the Central Railroad by the Reading was only done to come within the require-ments of the law, but that in fact the Central Railroad has no longer any claim upon its incorporate powers, but has wholly surrendered to the Reading ompany. The bill further claims that the Cen-The off further claims that the Cea-tral Company, knowing the inability of the Fort Reading Company to execute the provisions of the lease, would not execute it until the Reading Company signed an agreement that the Reading would pay the rents when and as they became due. became due.

Further, that the lease was made for sole purpose of controlling the price of coal, and as a consequence of the lease the three companies interested practi-cally control 60 per cent, of the anthra-cite fields in the United States.

The Chancellor granted a rule to show cause why the relief prayed for should not be granted, and issued a preliminary injunction.

PARIS, June 1 .- The question whether Mr. Edward Parker Deacon will be pardoned is still a subject of interest, popuerted against Mr. Deacon before and during the trial being adverse to his release. MONEY WAS HER'S IN ABUNDANCE,

But the Regard of a Groceryman's Son Seemed to Be Indispensable for Peace of Mind-Handsome and Accomplished-A Novel Mode of Suicide,

BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 1 .- One of the handsomest, most talented and wealtby young women on Long Island, a member of the Brooklyn 400, was strangled to death by her own hair yesterday. The woman was Miss Lillian Norfolk, the daughter of Dr. George H. Norfolk. With her father she lived in a hand some house at the corner of Franklin and Flatbush. The house is one of the finest in that section. The girl was but 26 years of age and had all in life her heart desired except one thing, and that, as some of her friends explained, was the regard of Edward Indig, son of the importing grocer at 158 Fulton street. Because she did not have that she thought there was nothing in life, and so she settled it all, so far, at least, as the owner of a number of houses. She was easily worth $100,000 in her own right, and with which she did just as abe pleased. The property came to her upon the death of her mother, two years apparently the best of spirits, and, it is thought by her friends, she expected to meet Indig. She did not meet him, and if that made her despondent or affected her at all, she gave no sign to her father or any of the servants in the house when she returned. She retired as ususl.

Not appearing at the breakfast table at her usual time, her father went to her room, where he found her kneeling beside a wash bowl, cold in death. The method of the suicide proved the marvellous determination of the woman to take her life. On either side of the wash-bowl is a faucet, and the bowl itself is covered with a marble slab, having a sharp moulded edge.

Miss Norfolk had shaken out her gold-en tresses and then bound tham tightly around one of the taps in such a manner that her neck was pressed against the

the other faucet with one hand, and squeezed her neck down to the hard, and marbie molding. In this position she held herself, shutting off her supply of air, and thus choked herself to death. The neck was dented to a depth of half an inch.

Secrecy has marked the water project from the day of inception, and marks it to this day.

The members of the Borough Council, or the joint committee, have no right to keep the people in the dark respecting the plans and costs of the proposed works, and then ask them to go down into their pockets to the tune of $95,000. No intelligent community will suffer such humbugging.

Let the Borough Council deal with the water question as they have dealt with all other affairs in which the borough has been the purchaser. When the borough building was built plans and specifications were prepared and the cost was fixed before the contract was awarded. Before the school buildings were erected the same course was taken by the School Board. Why should the proposed water works be an exception to the rule?

The estimate made by the Pottsville engineers, and recently published in the HERALD, would serve as a valuable guide to Council and the joint committee, if they do not know how to get the information the people are waiting for.

A FATAL EXPLOSION.

Four Men Killed and Seven Hurt in a Mine Near Wilkesbarre.

WHERESBARRE, Pa., June 1 .- The mine accident at Macanaqua yesterday turns out to be more disastrous than at first reported. The victims number four. Their names are: John Protheroe, fore-man; John Walters, Henry Ritter and Walter Districk, all miners and heads of families.

Seven men were taken to the hospital, badly burned. The most seriously in-jured are H. M. Everbart, Fred Ever-hart and William Cooper. The accident was due to a terrific explosion of gas, which did great damage to the mine. The dead were horribly mangled, and shreds of flesh hung from the bodies of the injured. Just who is responsible for the disaster is not known. Fore-man Protheros could tell, but he is dend

He Proved Himself a Hero.

PHILADELPHIA, June 1. - While at play in a wood near this city yesterday George Ervin stepped on a piece of glass and sovered an artery in his foot. The cut was so bad that the boy was in danger of bleeding to death. He could not walk, and for a moment he nor his companions knew what to do. Finally John Ervin, his brother, said: "Jump an my back, George, and I'll carry you to a doctor." And he did it, although the nearest physician was a mile away. His heroic action saved his brother's life.

Smith in His Own Defense.

WASHINGTON, June 1.-Theodore Smith formerly chief of the special examining division of the Pension Bureau, against whom many charges were made by dis-charged employes, such as favoritism, etc., has presented to the House Pension Office Investigating Committee a state ment in his defense, and declares that all charges made against him were false. He also filed various letters from prominent people, testifying as to his good character and ability.
