LEARNED OPINIONS.

Judging a Patient's Condition by False Eyes and Teeth.

Dr. Brunton, in an address lately reported in the London Lancet, was cautioning his hearers—the members of the medical society—against hastily ex-pressed opinions as to the nature of patients' diseases, and emphasized his warning by two professional anecdotes. He was once present at a clinic, the sub-ject of which was a man evidently suf-fering from some disease of the heart.

An unnatural murmuring sound could be heard from that organ, and the pupil of one of his eyes was very much dilated. The peculiar appearance of the eye seemed to have some connection with the cardiac affection, but various opinions were expressed by the different students as to what the precise nature of this relation could be.

The discussion was just becoming in-teresting when the patient remarked that this strange-looking eye was made of glass!

At another clinic the professor in charge was discussing learnedly about the importance attending to minor symptoms.

"Now, gentlemen," he said, "in the case of this woman here, certain things could be confidently affirmed from the condition of her teeth." He was proceeding to particularize, but just then the patient broke in upon him.

"Please, sir," she said, as she took out her teeth, "I will hand them around; the young gentlemen might

FIRE FOLLOWS FLOOD

A Veritable Reign of Terror In the Oil Creek Valley.

MORE THAN ONE HUNDRED LIVES REPORTED LOST.

BUBNING OIL ON THE FLOOD TOP.

The Torrent Started in a Dam Burst Seven Miles Above Titusville-Oil Tanks Swept from Their Buses-A Locomotive Spark Ignited the Swollen Stream-Wild Stampedes for Safety--Women and Children Trampled to Death in the Mad Rush-Hundreds Are Missing, and Many of Them Are Thought to Be Dead-Scenes of Harrar That Pen Cannot Describe

Oil City, Pa., June 6 .- Flood and fire have laid waste a large section of this city, and a fearful loss of life has resulted. The wildest stories of its magnitude are afidat. It is claimed that 50 persons have been burned or drowned in this city, and the number may ex-

A territory of at least 40 acres, being a narrow strip along Oil Creek, is burned or flooded or both. In addition to those dead a large number are in-fured and probably a thousand peo-ple are nomeless. The fire started in this city at 11:40 o'clock yesterday morning with an explosion of naptha and oil on the surface of Oil Creek, which was at a fearful height.

The entire upper end of Oil City on both sides of the creek was under water at the time of the explosion which

The town consists of four principal parts. The south side is on the opposite side of the Allegheny River and was at no time in danger. In the acute angle formed by the confluence of Oil Creek and the Allegheny River lies the business section of the city, and scross Oil Creek and on down the west bank of the Allegheny is the Third Ward, which is the district entirely burned the district entirely burned.

A thick coating of oil, presumably from the bursted tanks at Titusville, covered the surface of the creek. Floating along were three tanks of naptha was shining hot and caused a vapor of oil fumes to rise from the wide surface of the creek. The several thousand people who were watching the mad torrent seemed to simultaneously recognize their peril, and just as ously recognize their peril, and just as they began to move, the calamity came. It is believed that a spark from an engine on the Western New York & Pennsylvania Railroad ignited the fumes, which could be seen plainly daz-sling in the air about 20 feet above the surging water. Eye witnesses say that sheets of flame and volumes of smoke shot upward to a height of 100 feet in the vicinity of a bridge crossing Oil Creek, 500 yards above the junction with

In two minutes the fire had spread up and down the stream for over two miles. In less than ten minutes between two and three hundred buildings were in flames. The thousands of witnesses were thrown into a state of the wildest were thrown into a state of the wildest panic. Men, women and children ran through the streets screaming and be-seeching each other to be conducted to a place of safety. Clouds of smoke obscured everything. When the darkness was most dense, three frightful explosions in succession shook the very earth. These were the fleating naphtha tanks in the creek. floating naphtha tanks in the creek. The cause was not then known, and a feeling that some horribly uncertain fate was impending added to the other terrors. It was then evident that the whole of the Third Ward and a large number of buildings on both sides of the creek further up were doomed. Lower down where the buildings were above the water's surface, the fire was swapt directly in among them.

victims in on one side, the river on the other, the devouring flames at their rear. Others were burned in their houses and many were drowned.

One rescuing party with a large skiff load of persons taken from flooded houses, was overtaken by the biazing til and all perished. Four of a party who stood on the Western New York & Pennsylvania Railroad bridge are known be dead. Bodies are being unearthed literally torn from masses of debris made solid by the flood. Out in the middle of Seneca street parties of men are com-ing and going with stretchers between them weighted down with a body. They return from the morgues immediately expecting to find more dead bodies.

In some places three feet or more of mud covers the streets. The sidewalks are torn from their foundations and piled in confusion.

TERROR-STRICKEN TITUSVILLE.

Thirty-Five Believed to Have Perished-The Loss Over a Million.

Tirusville, Pa., June 6 .- A conservative estimate places the loss of life from the flood and fire yesterday morning at 35, and the damage at $1,500,000. All this loss is in this city, with the surrounding country yet to be heard from. A large number of the most extensive and prosperous manufacturing establishments are now in ashes, and hundreds of homes and business places are utterly wiped out, while the streets are crowded with hungry, homeless, weep-ing and distracted people, mourning the loss of loved ones who have perished in the rush of waters or the flery billows of flame which engulfed them almost in the twinkling of an eye as they were struggling in the vain endsavor to save their homes.

At this writing the sky is filled with dense and pitchy clouds of smoke arising from the smouldering ruins of refineries, cooper shops, furniture factories, radiator works, botels, rallroad ware houses, cars, dwellings, etc., while the waters of Oil Creek are rushing through the streets with almost resistless tide. No tongue, no pen, no language can do justice to the scene of terror and confusion prevailing in this stricken city. The filmministing gas works, the electric light plant and the city water works are ander water, while the natural gas mains have been turned off at Oil City. This leaves Titusville without water, it may be that several arrests may result.

fuel or light, at least from the sources from which these necessities have been accustomed to come.

Parents and children stood by without the power to aid one another's struggles against the clutches of the flood until eventually they went down to rise no more. As sad and sickening scenes as ever transpired in the valley of the Conemangh three years ago, were repeated here while thousands looked on unable to avert them.

One father is a reacter again.

One father is a maniac over the loss of his whole family, a wife and seven children, one, a babe three years old. A brother was rescued from a burning building where he was forced to leave a sister, her husband and two children to perish. Many such cases, sad in the ex-treme, are heard. Many are the fathers, mothers, sisters and brothers wandering similessly in search of missing ones. who, in all probability, will never again

About milnight Saturday historical Oil Creek began suddenly to rise. Heavy and almost incessant rains have been prevalent throughout this entire section for the past six weeks. This, however, does not seem to have been the cause of the sudden rise in Oil Creek, although at first it was thought to be the case. Late reports say that the huge mill dam owned by Thomson and Eldred and iocated at the little town of Spartans burg, seven miles above this city, sud denly burst. This body of artificial water was one and a haif miles wide and quite deep. This great body of water thus suddenly let loose made of this valley in the course of a few brief moments a regular inland lake.

The flood was soon augumented by fire. At 2 o'clock in the marning, immediately following three terrific explosions, which shook the city to its centre, a great light went up from the di-rection of the Crescent refinery, located on the north side of the creek, in the East End, and owned by John Schwartz & Co. It showed to the assembled and horrified spectators the full extent of the great calamity that had befallen their beautiful city.

The tongues of flame shooting 200 feet and more straight into the heavens, the shricks and agonizing cries of the helpless human beings eaged in their dwellings like rats in a trap in the mid-dle of that mighty and rushing water, and within the very shadow of death from burning oil, benzine and naptha that threatened at any time to engalf them, the shrill whistling of one hun-dred and one steam whistles, the jangle of the fire bell, the clatter of the steamers, hose carts and hook and ladder trucks, the crackle, roar, rush and rumble of the huge body of water and sky piercing flames all went to strike terror to the strongest heart.

About one hour from the time the Crescent Works caught another slarm was sounded, and it was found that oil discharged from an overturned tank further up the creek had scattered itself over a broad enough expanse of water to reach the Cresent fire, where it at once ignited, and in a moment a large acreage of the creek was one wast sea of

This blaze soon spread to the Inter-national Oil Works, owned by Thomas & Co., and they were soon in a blaze. Then came the large refining plant and soap factory of Rice & Harrison, which the flames in a short time reached and consumed. The wind was in the right quarter, and on sped the fire, arriving in due time at the Oil Creek refinery and was plant.

Besides the three big refining plants, the fire has destroyed the large furniture factory, store and store room of Casper-son & Rowe, located on South Franklin street, the Culien Hotel, the Western New York & Pennsylvania freight depot and about 75 private dwellings.

Warkinen, Pa., June 6.—The cloud-burst on Saturday afternoon between Corry and Irvington, near the head waters of the Broken Straw, was most disastrous. Streams, already bankful, became rivers. THE MINNEAPOLIS FIGHT

Thought That It Is Now a Contest Between Harrison and Blaine Alone.

GEN, ALGER REFUSES TO MAVE HIS NAME PRESENTED.

WARNER MILLER OUT FOR BLAINE

Both Forces Confident and in Readings for the Convention To-Morrow-How the Besignation of the Secretary of State Is Begarded By the Delegates-Foraker Will Present the Name of the Muine Statesmun-Carter's Enthusiastic Estimate-The Struggle for Temporary Chairman Not Vet Decided-McKinley Will Be Permanent Chairman-Ante Convention Gleanings.

MINSEAPOLIS, June 8 .- To-day the fndications are very pronounced that the contest before the Republican convention will be one to the finish between Harrison and Blaine alone, and, if this is the case, the contest will be remarkably brief as well as brilliant.

The sensation of the day is the withdrawal of Gen. Alger from the field as a possibility in any event.

Senator Stockbridge announced to a reporter that notwithstanding the determination already referred to, to bring Gen. Alger's name before the convention, it would not be presented. Senator Stockbridge quotes Gen. Alger as saying that he had gone into this con-test honestly and with the sincere intention of making the best fight possible. He was a friend of Mr. Blaine, and under the conditions which now existed he would withdraw from the field and not let his name go before the convention at all. Gen. Alger is further quoted as saying that he washed his hands or the whole business, and that he would take no part whatever in the nomination.

The resignation of Secretary Blains from the Cabinet is on every lip, and although it is believed that some of his friends had a "line" several days age, the majority of the delegates and workers have not pet recovered from their surprise.

Mr. Platt's appoundement that he had it from Mr. Blaine's lips that he would socept if nominated, has given the Sec-accept if nominated, has given the Sec-retary's friends greater assurance.

Among the Southern delegates the news of Mr. Blaine's resignation created the greatest excitement. E. M. Bray-ton, delegate from South Carolina, an-nounced it in the lobby of the West Hotel in a stentorian voice, and immedi-ately three cheers for Blains were called for and given with a will.

Col. Conger. of Ohlo, when asked as

Col. Conger, of Ohio, when asked as to the effect on the nomination, replied: "It insures Biaine's nomination on the first ballot. We counted 551 votes Sat-urday, and since then we have learned that we underestimated Illinois and Ohio and some other States. Illinois, we counted II for Blains; it will give 20. Ohio, we counted 20; it will give 28." John C. New said: "The resignation does not change the situation one lota, as far as we are concerned. We are here to nominate Harrison and to antag-onize no one. The incident will have no effect upon the result—the nomination of President Harrison on the first Ex-Governor Warmouth, of Louisiana ex-Governor Warmouth, of Louisiana, said: "There will be no change in our delegation by the resignation. If we are admitted to the convention there will be a solid vote from Louisiana in favor of President Harrison. If the others are admitted there will be four votes, president there will be four votes, president the president than the president than the president that th votes, possibly five, for the President, and none of our men can be moved by letters or resignations. Mr. Stains has injected a personal quarrel into the contest, and it would be suicidal to nominate him.

"New Hampshire is true to Harrison," said F. C. Churchill, Chairman of the New Hampshire Republican State Cen-tral Committee, "and her sixteen votes

Ex-Congressman Joseph G. Cannon, of Illinois, says that the report that the Chicago delegates would vote as a unit for Blaine was untrue. "The Illinois delegation, as I understand it, is for Mr. Harrison," said Mr. Cannon. "The outlook is good, or it was when I left Chi-cago. I got a better idea of it there than I can here."

Several of the Michigan delegates are of the opinion that the resignation of of the opinion that the resignation of Secretary Blaine made his nomination next door to a certainty; that Harrison was practically out of the race, and that no matter who was the nominee, Gen. Algas would be named for the second place on the ticket and would be nomi-nated.

Mr. N. Wright Cuny, of Texas, Cellector of Galveston, heading the Texas delegation, said he feered Mr. Blaine's resignation would changs six or asren of Texas' thirty votes from Harrison to Blaine. At the same time Mr. Blaine's warmest friends in the delegation regretted that be should have written the Clarkson latter if he intended to be a candidate. It would hurt the party, Mr. Cuny thought.

Mr. Cuny thought.
The New York delegates are accompanied by over a hundred Empire State Republicans, most of whom are opposed to the renomination of Harrison. The notable exceptions are Congressman James J. Belden, of Syracuse, and Carroll E. Smith, editor of the Syracuse "Journal." General Michael Kirwin said: "Although I am a Federal officeholder, I do not think it incumbent upon me to labor for the renomination of President Harrison, or even to keep aloof from the efforts to nominate a stronger man. I am for Biaine because I want the party to win. I have nothing but praise for the present administra-

Jacob Patterson, one of the delegates from the Ninth New York District, who has been counted as one of the Presi-dent's strongest supporters, said that if he had to vote to-day he would vote for Harrison, but he could not tell what he would do when the time comes

There has been considerable specula-tion as to the attitude of ex-Senator Warner Miller and his friends in the New York delegations.

It has been asserted and with equal force denied, that Mr. Miller would join his forces with those of ex-Senator Platt in opposition to the renomination of President Harrison and considerable weight has been attached to his probable course in this regard.
