rank, because there lies before us one of the most important political contests in which the Democratic party has been engaged for a quarter of a century.

The great work of restoring constitutional liberty, he said, devolved upon the Democratic party. They would not let personal interests divide them. There should be no sulking in the camp. The men presented to them were all patriotic men. They could not easily make a mistake. They must get a firm, unswerving Democrat, and put the flag in his hand.

At this point the galleries started the cry of Hill and there were mingled cheers for a minute. The Convention quieted down presently, and Mr. Palmer continued his remarks.

Cries for Col. Fellows arose. Finally, Col. Fellows, standing on his chair and speaking with his customary clearness of tone, said:

"I am a delegate to this Convention and at the proper time when it shall be appropriate for delegates to express their opinions I may ask the opportunity to say something to the Convention. I am a Democrat, and as I recognize that there is a great number of distinguished gentlemen on this floor whose names are well known to the Democracy not wearing the badge of a delegate, it would be manifestly improper for one occupying that position now to claim your attention."

Mr. Fellows then resumed his seat and was loudly cheered.

The Chairman announced that the Committee on Credentials was ready to report and Mr. Lamb, of Indiana, took the platform and in a clear, loud voice, read the report.

There was no objection to it and it was adopted.

Just as the vote was taken, rain began to fall and the canvass cover was lowered about the ventilator opening above, making the hall so dark that there were cries for light and much confusion prevailed.

The Chairman rapped for order and announced that the Committee on Permanent Organization was ready to report. The report was presented by Mr. Fordyce, of Kansas, and read by one of the clerks of the Convention. It named W. L. Wilson, of West Virginia, for permanent Chairman and continued the other officers of the temporary organization.

The announcement of Mr. Wilson's name was met with loud applause. The report was adopted without dissent.

Then the band struck up a pot-pourri of popular and national airs. When the music ceased a committee was appointed to escort Mr. Wilson to the chair.

The committee was nearly five minutes getting together, and the band played "Ta-ra-ra-boom-de-ay" as the escort committee and the permanent chairman walked up the south aisle and across the Convention hall to the platform.

Temporary Chairman Owens shook hands with Mr. Wilson and then stepped to the front of the platform and introduced him to the Convention.

As Mr. Wilson advanced a storm of applause greeted him. He looked calmly over the Convention during a minute's silence, and then he made a stirring speech.

Mr. Wilson was repeatedly applauded, and when he concluded his speech the delegates, rising to their feet, waved their hats as they cheered again and again.

The Committee on Rules then reported and the report was adopted without opposition.

Mr. Phelps, of Missouri, was then recognized to present a sine gavel.

The Chairman accepting the gavel reported in substance the remarks of Mr. Phelps which had been almost inaudible to the Convention.

The Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions ordered the clerk to ask the delegates to send to the desk the names of members of the National Committee and of the Committee of Notification.

ent Congress to modify its most oppressive features in the direction of free raw material and cheaper manufactured goods that enter into home consumption, and we propose its repeal as one of the beneficent results that will follow the election of the people in entering power to the Democratic party. Since the McKinley tariff went into operation there have been ten reductions of wages of laboring men to one increase.

Section 4—Trade Interchange on the basis of reciprocal advantage to the countries participating is a time-honored doctrine of the Democratic faith, but we denounce the sham reciprocity which juries with the people's desire for enlarged foreign markets and free exchange by providing for a natural consequence of prohibitive taxes, which prevent the free competition which is the life of honest trade, but we believe their worst evils can be abated by law, and we demand the rigid enforcement of laws made to prevent and control such trade, together with further legislation in restraint of their abuses as experience may show to be necessary.

Section 5—We recognize in trusts and monopolies which are designed by capital to secure more than their just share of the joint profits of capital and labor, a natural consequence of prohibitive taxes, which prevent the free competition which is the life of honest trade, but we believe their worst evils can be abated by law, and we demand the rigid enforcement of laws made to prevent and control such trade, together with further legislation in restraint of their abuses as experience may show to be necessary.

Section 6—The Republican party, while professing a policy of reserving the public lands for actual holding by actual settlers, has given away the people's heritage until now few railroads and non-resident aliens, individual and corporate, possess a larger area than that of all our farms between the two seas. The last Democratic administration reversed the policy of the Republican party touching the public domain, and re-claimed from corporations and syndicates, alien and domestic, and restored to the people nearly one hundred million acres of valuable land to be sold for actual settlers for one dollar an acre, and we propose ourselves to continue this policy until every acre of land so unlawfully held shall be re-claimed and restored to the people.

Section 7—We denounce the Republican legislation known as the Sherman Act of 1890 as a cowardly makeshift, fraught with possibilities of danger in the future which should make all of its supporters, as well as its author, anxious for its speedy repeal. We hold to the use of both gold and silver as the standard money of the country, and we demand that both gold and silver, without discrimination against either metal or change of metal, but of equal intrinsic and exchangeable value, or be adjusted by international agreement or by such authority as the American people shall insist on the maintenance of the parity of the two metals and the equal power of any dollar at all times in the market and in the payment of debts; and we demand that all paper currency shall be kept at par with and redeemable in such coin.

Section 8—We recommend that the prohibitive ten per cent. tax on State bank issues be repealed.

Section 9—Public office is a public trust. We demand that the duties of the Democratic National Convention of 1876 for the reform of the civil service, and we call for the honest enforcement of all laws regarding same. The nomination of a President as in the last Republican convention by delegates consisting largely of his appointees, holding office at his pleasure, is scandalous and unworthy of popular institutions and a starting illustration of the methods by which a President may gratify his ambition.

Section 10—The Democratic party is the only party that has ever elected the country a foreign policy consistent and vigorous, compelling respect abroad and inspiring confidence at home. While avoiding entangling alliances, it has aimed to cultivate friendly relations with other nations and especially our own, the American Continent, whose destiny is closely mingled with our own, and we view with alarm the tendency to a policy of irritation and bluster which is liable at any time to confront us with the alternative of humiliation or war. We favor the maintenance of a navy strong enough for all purposes of National defense, and to properly maintain the honor and dignity of the country abroad.

Section 11 condemns the oppression practiced by the Russian Government upon its Lutheran and Jewish subjects and calls upon our Government to use its prompt and best efforts to bring about a cessation of these cruel persecutions.

Earnest sympathy is extended to the Home Rule cause in Ireland.

Section 12 favors legislation looking to the prevention of the landing of undesirable immigrants.

Section 13 praises the patriotism of Union Soldiers and Sailors of the war and favors just and liberal pensions, but demands reform in the Pension Office.

Section 14 advocates the improvement by the Federal Government of the Mississippi River and other great waterways of the Republic.

Section 15—For purposes of national defense and the promotion of commerce between the states, we recognize the early construction of the Nicaragua Canal and its protection against foreign control as of great importance to the United States.

Section 16—Recognizing the World's Columbian Exposition as a National undertaking of vast importance, to which the general government has invited the co-operation of the nations of the world, and appreciating the acceptance by many such purposes of the invitation so extended, and the broad and liberal policy of the government in contributing to the grandeur of the undertaking, we are of the opinion that Congress should make such necessary financial provision as shall be requisite to the maintenance of national honor and public faith.

Section 17 recommends that the States make more equal appropriations for the purchase of schools and the furtherance of education.

Section 18 favors the early admission to Statehood of all Territories having the necessary population and resources.

Section 19 favors legislation to protect lives and limbs of railway employes.

Section 20 favors enactment by States of laws for abolishing the sweating system, contract convict labor, and for preventing employment in factories of children under 15.

Section 21 is a declaration of opposition to all summary laws as an interference with the individual rights of the citizens.

Mr. Jones at the close of the reading, said: "On behalf of the Committee on Resolutions, I move the adoption of the platform as read."

"This was met by cries of 'No.' Mr. Neal of Ohio took the stand and said: "As a representative from the State of Ohio, appointed on the Committee on Resolutions, I gave notice of my intention to present to this convention an amendment to the section of the platform relative to the tariff. I have been unable conventionally to agree with the majority of my fellow members upon that section of this platform. I therefore gave notice to the committee that I would move in open convention to strike out all that section of the platform after the words denouncing the McKinley Act and to substitute the following:

"We denounce Republican protection as a fraud; (cheers) a robbery of the great majority of the American people for the benefit of the few. (Loud cheers.) We declare it to be a fundamental principle of the Democratic party that Federal Government has no constitutional power to enforce and collect tariff duties except for the purpose of revenue only (renewed and long continued cheering), and demand that the collection of such taxes shall be limited to the necessities of the Government and honestly and economically administered."

When Mr. Neal closed there were cries for Henry Watterson. He read an extract from the Democratic platform of 1876, and made a ringing speech.

The amendment to the tariff plank was adopted by the following vote: Ayes 564, nays 342. A motion to adopt a substitute silver plank was lost, and the platform adopted. Immediately thereafter a call of States was ordered for the presentation of candidates.

When Alabama was called a delegate named Fenion jumped on his chair and moved an adjournment but without heeding the motion the secretary proceeded with the call. Arkansas yielded her place to New Jersey, and amid cheers, Gov. Leon Abbott of New Jersey was recognized and took the stand to nominate Grover Cleveland. He stood just behind the chairman's desk, a substitute in front of him, and spoke so clearly that he could be heard all through the great hall.

When Gov. Abbott named Cleveland the delegates sprang to their feet, many of them mounted chairs, hats were thrown into the air, and the noise of the cheering was deafening. Michigan's banner waved aloft again. The enthusiastic banner-bearer forgot discretion and taking the banner across the aisle flouted it in the faces of the New York delegates. Gen. Sickles resented this impertinence and denounced it and was joined by other members of the delegation.

A thunder storm then burst upon the Convention Hall, and torrents of rain found their way through the roof.

Colorado being reached, yielded to the State of New York. Mr. W. C. DeWitt of Brooklyn made his way up the aisle to nominate Senator Hill.

Bourke Cockran asked for a suspension of the proceedings till the storm should abate. This was granted. After an interval of ten minutes or more the Chairman again sought to restore order, but business, threatening to clear the galleries if quiet were not maintained. A delegate moved to adjourn, but Don M. Dickinson and others cried "No." The Chairman decided that Mr. DeWitt had the floor and could not be taken off even by a motion to adjourn.

In a few minutes Mr. DeWitt proceeded and placed in nomination the name of Senator David B. Hill.

Col. John R. Fellows seconded the nomination of Hill. Hon. W. A. Green of Cleveland, Mr. English of Indiana also seconded Cleveland's nomination.

A letter from a Senator Voorhes endorsing Cleveland was read and cheered.

When Indiana was called Hon. Jacob F. Duncombe arose and placed in nomination Gov. Horace Boies. Mr. Duncombe finished at 12:18.

Mr. Fenton of Kansas seconded Cleveland's nomination, as did also Mr. McKenzie of Kentucky.

Henry Watterson of Kentucky seconded Boies' name amid great cheering. Mr. Karm of Louisiana also spoke for the Iowa Governor.

Pennsylvania responded through Attorney-General Hensel, who came to the platform and said Pennsylvania's 500 Democrats had sent their representatives to make no demands, to indulge in no idle threats and to extend to the Democrats assembled no empty promises. Second only to my constituency on this floor they yielded to none in their fidelity to the Democratic nominees. When the gallant Hancock fell no shot from Pennsylvania struck him. "Did you give him your electoral vote?" a New York delegate asked. "We gave him as many votes as the State of New York," Mr. Hensel replied. He closed by seconding the nomination of Cleveland.

Senator Daniels of Virginia was received with applause as he marched to the platform to respond for Virginia. He said that responding to the demand of nearly half the Democrats of Virginia he seconded the nomination which had received the solid support of the Empire State, that candidate whose history for a quarter of a century had been the progress of Democracy in New York.

Mr. Daniels spoke with great difficulty. Mr. Cockran said that if New York could not have a hearing in the convention, it was ready to leave it. Then the audience shouted: "Leave it and go out." Tammany then consulted. The Chair had no control of the convention. Demands were made that the galleries be cleared. It was moved and seconded that the sergeant-at-arms clear the galleries.

Washington seconded nomination of Cleveland. West Virginia seconded nomination of Hill. Wisconsin seconded Cleveland.

Mr. Cockran asked the convention to take recess till 10:30 a. m. Objections raised. He thereupon seconded Hill's nomination.

After Mr. Cockran's speech a motion to adjourn was lost and the clerk began to call the roll of States. Following is the first ballot.

A CME BLACKING is cheaper at 20 cents a bottle than any other Dressing at 5 cents.

A LITTLE GOES A LONG WAY

because shoes once blackened with it can be kept clean by washing them with water. People in moderate circumstances find it profitable to buy it at 20c a bottle, because what they spend for Blacking they save in shoe leather.

It is the cheapest blacking considering its quality, and yet we want to sell it cheaper if it can be done. We will pay for a recipe that will enable us to make WOLFF'S CME BLACKING at such a price that a retailer can profitably sell it at 10c a bottle. This offer is open until Jan. 1st, 1893.

$10,000 Reward

WOLFF & RANDOLPH, Philadelphia.

Old furniture painted with

PIK-RON

(this is the name of the paint), looks like stained and varnished new furniture. One coat will do it. A child can apply it. You can change a pine to a walnut, or a cherry to mahogany; there is no limit to your fancies. All retailers sell it.

When "old Sol" makes all things sizzle, Drink Hires' Root Beer. When dull care makes life a fizzle, Drink Hires' Root Beer. When you feel a little dry, When you're cross, and don't know why, When with thirst the children cry, There's a sweet relief to try—Drink Hires' Root Beer.
