GLEVER CAPTURE OF AN INSANE MAN

HE HAD KEPT HIS NEIGHBORS IN TERROR.

WITH SHOT GUN AND REVOLVERS

He Held his House Against Intruders—Lived in Constant Fear of Being Taken From his House by Force.

POLICEMEN DAVIS, Williams and McGrail and Chief Burgess Smith took an insane man into custody very cleverly this morning, in spite of the fact that the man had an arsenal at his command to keep intruders from his house.

For some time past complaints have been made to the police against John Malone, a resident of the west end of Line street. The man's mother and the neighbors complained that Malone was insane and was continually threatening to shoot people. Mrs. Malone said she was put out of the house and she was afraid to go near it, as her son kept guns and revolvers constantly at hand to shoot any one who might approach him.

Notwithstanding these complaints the police were powerless, because no one would swear out a warrant, and Malone could not be arrested on the street, as he seldom left his house, and then he only took a stroll in the rear garden with a loaded gun in his hand. Those acquainted with him says he has not been outside the house and garden for a year. When in the house he kept the front and rear doors almost constantly locked, and at night he stood guard with his firearms in a dark room.

The tears of the neighbors grew daily, and at last one of them concluded to swear out a warrant. This was done last night and Chief Burgess Smith and Chief of Police Davis went to execute the writ. Accompanied by Lieutenants Williams and McGrail and a HERALD reporter they started for Malone's house, the understanding being that the Chief Burgess was to try and get into the house, and while engaged in conversation with Malone was to give a signal to the police outside.

The house was found dark and as so many people had gathered about the house the police concluded that it would not be wise to meddle with the man. They left the place telling the people that as the man's relatives could not get him out of the house they would drop the case. But early this morning the Chief Burgess and the same policemen again went to the house. The police stood behind a stoop about fifty feet away while the Chief Burgess walked up to the doorway of Malone's house. The door was ajar. As Smith ascended the steps Malone, who was lying on a bed in the front room, sprang up. The man had lived in constant dread of being taken from the house and rarely undressed when retiring.

When Smith was half way up the stairs Malone shouted, "Stop there!" Smith spoke to the man in a quiet, friendly tone, but it had little effect. Malone repeatedly shouted "Stop there!" Smith continued his friendly overtures and gradually edged his way into the room. Suddenly exclaiming "I tell you to stop there!" Malone stepped back a pace or two and threw one of his hands to his hip. Smith sprang forward, pinioned the man's arms and pushed him back upon the bed, shouting to the Chief of Police, "Take him!"

The police rushed into the house. When released Malone made no attempt to struggle. Smith removed a five-barrel revolver from his hip pocket, Policeman Williams took a loaded double-barreled shot gun from one corner of the room and Policeman McGrail took possession of a single-barreled gun and two powder and shot pouches that were in another corner.

Malone said, "This is a terrible murder for such a beautiful morning." Then pointing to his mother, who entered the room, he exclaimed "and she is responsible for it. She is bound in hell by a million chains. I sent four pounds to bring her from the old country and now she sends me to my death. If you take me away there will be a fire in Shenandoah that will never be quenched. Wait and talk a little and then take me to my death."

The police tried to quiet the man by telling him they only wished to take him to a doctor, that as he had a bad cough and was not taking care of himself they had called to take him to a doctor and he would be brought back to the house when well.

Malone reiterated that he was to be taken to death, that he would die before he could return. Then he fell upon his knees and prayed forgiveness for the people he declared were persecuting him.

Malone then said he would be prepared to go as soon as he could bid his daughter good bye. The daughter, a girl of about sixteen years, entered the room and received from Malone some bills and pieces of silver, the change, he said, of the last ten-dollar bill he had in the house. After making Chief Burgess Smith promise to have a body placed beside that of his wife, Malone walked out of the house with the police.

The man was taken to Squire Monaghan's office and there examined by Drs. Langton and Spalding. They concluded there was no question about the man's insanity and Chief Burgess Smith and Poor Director Tracey took him to Slaykill Haven.

Malone is a widower about fifty years of age. He lived with his two sons and daughter.

THE TAX LEVIED.

And the School Board Prepares to Purchase Property.

A special meeting of the School Board was held last evening at which all the directors were present. The main object of the meeting was to fix the tax rate for school purposes for the year 1892-93.

It was decided that the rate be fixed at 18 mills, 11 for school purposes and 7 for buildings and refunding the debt.

There was only one bid for tearing down the White street school building and that was made by John R. Cooney, of town. His figure was $350.

It stated that a man in Bloomsburg had expressed the belief that he could save the building and had offered to come to town and examine the building upon payment of his traveling expenses.

The board decided to have this man and a Harrisburg architect examine the building.

The committee appointed to select a site for a new school building recommended the property at the northwest corner of Jardin and Cherry streets, 50x60 in size. Among the advantages pointed out was that the property is located on a dividing line of the mines and there would be no danger of the building being destroyed by undermining.

Director S. A. Biddall was authorized to notify the owner of the property that the School Board desires to purchase it for school purposes. Arrangements will be made for a consultation with the owner with a view to arriving at a fair price for the property. If a price cannot be agreed upon the Board will claim the property and the valuation will be left to arbitrators and the court.

TOWN DEMOCRATS ARE ENTHUSIASTIC

THEY CELEBRATE MR. CLEVELAND'S NOMINATION.

FIREWORKS ON A LARGE SCALE.

The Grant Band, Head by Leading Democrats, Parade the Streets, and Discourse Some Excellent Music.

THE Democrat of town last night ratified the nomination of Grover Cleveland for President in a very enthusiastic manner. The Grant Band, headed by Col. J. K. P. Schuifly and John A. Reilly, paraded up and down Main street playing popular airs while other demonstrative Democrats set off fireworks of all descriptions from pavements, awnings and roofs. A large amount of fireworks was consumed in a very short time. The demonstration lasted about three-quarters of an hour and when the last cracker was fired the smoke floating through the streets was so thick it could be cut with a knife.

Part two of the ratification was conducted by "The Modocs" of the First ward. They started out with their cannon and kept the town awake until a late hour. The result of their celebration is a large bill for broken glass.

When discharged in front of Squire Monaghan's office the cannon bounded back about 18 feet and several large and small panes of glass on both sides of the street were shattered.

A discharge at the corner of Main and Lloyd streets shattered the glass in the windows of the Merchants' National Bank, Hagenbuch's drug store and Robinson's saddlery.

The cannon was next discharged in front of the Sunday News office and the shock extinguished every light in the building. The discharge of the cannon was followed by cheers for Cleveland and jeers for Hill. Editor M. E. Doyle ran out with his breech-loader and declared he would shoot the man who attempted to fire the cannon again. "The Modocs" disappeared.

"The Modocs" this morning issued the following challenge in retaliation:

"We, the members of the First Ward Democratic Club, hereby challenge M. E. Doyle, of the Sunday News, to shoot at nine pigeons for $50 a side. We to take our cannon and his gun. Richard O'Connell to be champion."
"THE MODOC'S."

The plant established near Mahanoy City in 1889 for the manufacture of anthracite culm into coal "briquettes" has been abandoned. The plant was operated by an English company. The causes given for the abandonment are that the culm received from the collieries contained a large proportion of slate that would not burn, that there is no method by which the slate can be eliminated, and that the importation of the pitch used from England made the cost of production too high.

He said he would teach them to know America's flag.

Wednesday afternoon a couple of Polish miners coming from Big Mountain noticed a man lying on the track near the "Y." Thinking he was sunstruck they hastened to him and discovered he was covered with dirt and blood. A closer examination revealed the fact that he was dead, having evidently been walking on the track and struck by a coal train, the crew not noticing the killing. His remains were identified later as those of John Bolick, a Frenchman, living in Shamokin.

A bad wreck occurred on the Reading road at Locust Summit, Wednesday night in which a large number of cars were wrecked and the contents strewn along the tracks. The crew escaped unhurt.

Caution.

Imitations have been put upon the market so closely resembling Alcock's Porous Plasters in general appearance as to be well calculated to deceive. It is, however, in general appearance only that they compare with Alcock's, for they are worse than worthless, inasmuch as they contain deleterious ingredients which are apt to cause serious injury. Remember the Alcock's are the only genuine porous plasters—the best external remedy ever produced; and when purchasing plasters do not only ask for but see that you get Alcock's Porous Plasters.
