TRYING TO VALUE THE WATER WORKS

THE JOINT COMMITTEE AND WATER COMPANY MEET.

CZAR LAMB EXCLUDES REPORTERS

For Some Unknown Reason it Was Not Desired That a Public Record of the Proceedings Should be Made.

The joint committee and representatives of the Shenandoah Water & Gas Company met in joint session in the Council chamber last night. The joint committee members present were J. F. Higgins, McGuire, Warm, Gable, Stout, Betteridge, Lamb, Franey, Scheiffy, William Kimmel, Wrasg, J. H. Pomeroy and Conkley. The water company representatives were T. R. Baddall, S. D. Hess, John R. Jones, M. Monaghan, E. J. Waseley, Charles Bowman, D. C. Henning, Lewis Grant and George Roads, of Pottsville, and John Grant.

Czar Lamb presided and opened the ball by announcing that the joint committee did not wish to have any newspaper reporters present, whereupon the HERALD reporter withdrew. Later in the evening four members of the joint committee stated that they did not countenance star chamber proceedings and that they had made no objection to the presence of reporters at the meeting.

According to the information gleaned by a HERALD reporter after the meeting there were some spirited arguments on both sides as to the value of the water company's plant. Some members of the joint committee compared the cost of some horses and cows with others, but the water company representatives argued that it was not a question of the value of horses and cows, but of water works.

Gable said that the dams are in danger of destruction by mine workings and that there are cracks that already indicate this. One of the water company retorted that if such is the case he could not see why the borough should be willing to give anything for the plant.

The joint committee then wanted to know what proposition the water company had to make. The answer was that the company expected a proposition from the borough, that the company had already made an alternative proposition—to sell out for $125,000, or give the borough water for fire purposes free of charge and cancel all indebtedness.

The committee wanted to know if the company could not put a lower figure on the plant and the representatives answered that it could not change its offer without having another full meeting of the company's directors to consider the matter.

Here the conference practically ended and the water company people then withdrew.

Czar Lamb then called the joint committee to order and the water question was again discussed. Four members submitted figures on their estimate of value of the water company's plant. They were: Gable, $60,000; Stout, $75,000; McGuire, $80,000; Scheiffy, $90,000.

A motion was made that the secretary write to the water company offering $75,000 for its plant. Scheiffy wanted the motion amended to make the price $90,000 on condition that the water company cancel all its claims against the borough.

The motion to offer $75,000 was finally carried.

The water company is to reply within six days. After the committee considers it the reply will be submitted to the Borough Council.

Married.

James Ramago, of town, and Miss Hannah Steel, of Philadelphia, were married last night at the residence of John Ramago, on East Coal street, by Rev. William McNally, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. A number of friends from Shamokin and other points witnessed the ceremony, at the conclusion of which a supper was served. Miss Bella Steel was the bridesmaid and John Willingham the groomsmen. We wish the groom and his fair bride a happy voyage on the matrimonial sea, and extend our thanks for a supply of wedding cake and other refreshments.

Reading Railroad's Fourth of July Excursion Tickets.

It is announced that the Reading Railroad will, as usual, contribute to the general enjoyment of the "Glorious Fourth" by selling special reduced-rate excursion tickets on July 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th, good to return until July 6th, inclusive. No special tickets will be sold where the excursion rate is less than 25c.

CHANGES ON THE RAILROADS

Lehigh Valley Men Don Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Uniforms—Changes in Crews of Trains

REFERENCE made a day or two ago to the festival to be held shortly by Henry Horncastle Camp, No. 49, Sons of Veterans, and the fact that the organization has formed a military company, was not quite correct, in that it stated the object of the festival is to raise funds to defray the cost of uniforms. The object is to raise funds for arms for the military company.

I notice that John Stevens, the genial fellow who was baggage-master for so many years on the Shenandoah and Mahanoy Plane passenger train of the P. & R. railroad, has been made conductor of the train. Stevens has been faithful to the company and courteous to the traveling public and his promotion is a just recognition. Martin J. Davis, of Frackville, has been made brakeman of the train.

"The Modocs," the representative Democratic organization of the First ward, will reorganize for the campaign in a few days. The old by-laws are to be amended to provide for a glass fund, which will be reserved for repairing windows that may be wrecked by the shocks their cannon causes when discharged. If the celebrations of the Tammany brass next fall will be proportionately enthusiastic with those of "The Modocs," the New York people will give thanks when the campaign closes.

The enthusiasm over the nomination is only of a temporary character at present. It will soon die out and give room to speculation on the probable result of the Democratic county convention. When the county ticket is made then the enthusiasm will revive and we may expect to hear little aside from Harrison and Cleveland until after November. There are some level-headed Democrats in town who think the Democratic National ticket this year is much weaker than it was in 1888.

The passenger train conductors, baggage-masters and brakemen on the Lehigh Valley trains yesterday donned the uniforms of the P. & R. system. They are similar to the uniforms that have always been worn by the P. & R. hands, but the Prince Albert coats look odd on the conductors, who were only cutaways under the Lehigh system.

A local freight train was disabled near Ashland yesterday. The trouble was caused by the rails spreading and letting the engine down on the sills. A passenger train was shut in on the Ashland side of the wreck, but the passengers were delayed but a short time, as a train was sent from Delano to bring them eastward. Meanwhile a wrecking crew put the freight engine back on the rails.

The new passenger depot being erected at Lakeside by the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company will be a very neat and commodious structure. The office and waiting room will be fifty feet long and will extend from the track on the Tamaqua route to the Catawissa road. The platform will be 150 feet in length. The depot will be nicely decorated and a model of beauty.

NOTES OF TRAVEL.

The Western People are Great Consumers of Chewing Gum.

Cleveland is the centre of the chewing gum industry in this country. Hundreds of men, women, boys and girls are employed in its manufacture and the consumption is very great. The West has a mania for the gum and tobacco is being steadily discarded. Everybody chews gum, old and young men and women, the ladies and the duds, and even the babies. There are many kinds of gum, and ways of putting it up in wrappers and packages for sale, and the names of equally numerous. But the chewing gum industry of to-day, in all its phases, is far superior to the old time manufacture. Medicinal qualities now enter into the products and many of them are highly recommended as good for dyspeptics, because pepsin is used in the preparation. It is not an unusual sight to see a whole car full of passengers chewing gum in the West. The leading article is Boeman's Pepsin Gum, manufactured in Cleveland, Ohio. Its manufacturers claim it is a perfect and delightful remedy for all forms of indigestion and the sale of the gum has would seem to indicate that the claim is a good one.

It would not be surprising if, in a few years, Ohio should rank as one of the largest producers of grapes and lead in the manufacture of wine from the fruit.

A delightful ride through a rich country and some of the finest villages and towns in the land is afforded passengers on the Nickel Plate road between Buffalo and Chicago. The train service is excellent and the railway people are extremely courteous and accommodating. Among the principal cities and towns this road passes through are Durkirk, N. Y., Erie, Pa., Ashabula, Painesville, Cleveland, Lorain, Belleville, Green Springs, Vermillion and Forestia, Ohio; Fort Wayne, Indiana. The distance between Buffalo and Chicago, via this road, is 523 miles. The time is equal to that of the other roads. For many miles Lake Erie is in full sight of the passengers. The proper name of the road is New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad. It is one of the Vanderbilt system roads. Messrs. Moore and Maxwell ably represent the road at Buffalo, N. Y. They are excellent business men and win many patrons for the road by their kind treatment of the public.

If during some part of your life, reader, you intend visiting the west, do not fail to extend your trip to the northwest, and take in the "twin cities"—St. Paul and Minneapolis, Minn. You will never regret such a visit and you will see enough to arouse a desire on the part of your children and grandchildren to take the same trip. Should you conclude to follow this advice look on it the fact that the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad is the popular road to the northwest. You can leave Chicago at 6 o'clock in the evening, secure a berth in the sleeper and take things easy until the next morning, when you will arrive in St. Paul. A square from the Union depot is the Merchants' hotel—a three-dollar house. Stop there. The place is worth the price. Good meals, good, soft, clean beds, and polite treatment to guests never fail.

Caution.

Imitations have been put upon the market so closely resembling Alcock's Porous Plasters in general appearance as to be well calculated to deceive. It is, however, in general appearance only that they compare with Alcock's, for they are worse than worthless, inasmuch as they contain deleterious ingredients which are apt to cause serious injury. Remember the Alcock's are the only genuine porous plasters—the best external remedy ever produced; and when purchasing plasters do not only see for but see that you get Alcock's Porous Plasters.
