WHERE IS THE CASHIER?

Depositors Are Asking.

MURRAY'S MYSTERIOUS ACTIONS.

He Is Also Treasurer of the County-Offi-Closed Bank Being Made--The Shortage

GOSHEN, N. Y., June 28.-The Goshen National Bank failed to open its doors for business at the usual hour yesterday morning. The following notice was appended on its doors:

"By order of the Board of Directors of the National Bank, pending an examination of the books, securities and accounts by the bank examiner, this bank will be closed. The directors desire to say to the depositors and the public that a somewhat hasty examination has been made by them, and nothing has been discovered which renders doubtful speedy payment in full to all the depositors, and it is now expected that the bank will be open for the regular transaction of business in a few days."

William M. Murray, the cashier of the bank, is missing, and is said to be in New York. At a special meeting of the directors held on Thursday, it was dis-covered that the bank had been making loans to Mr. Murray and others on in-sufficient securities, and that its finances sufficient securities, and that its finances were in a very confused and unsatisfactory condition. At another meeting of the directors held on Saturday it was decided that the institution be closed pending an official investigation of its affairs. Bank Examiner E. M. Cettman has arrived and is conducting the investigation. vestigation.

Vestigation.

Cashier Murray is a son of the late Congressman William Murray, a former president of the bank. Murray is also Treasurer of Orange county. His friends say he has acted strangely of late, and they believe that his mind is affected. He returned from New York Sunday and the but left again vestellar members. night, but left again yesterday morning, and his present whereabouts are un-known. It is said that before leaving homeyesterday he filed his resignation of the post of County Treasurer.

All sorts of rumors are current concerning the actual condition of the bank. It is generally reported that there is a shortage of from $50,000 to $60,000. The capital stock of the bank is $110,000, and its surplus about $22,000. The surplus is believed to have been sunk and the capital seriously impaired. The directors are wealthy men, so it is believed the impairment of the capital will be made good and the bank resume business. The funds of the county in Treasurer Murray's hands are believed to be intact.

It is said here that Cashier Murray and his family have been living extrava-gantly for some years past, and that his expenses have considerably exceeded his income. He recently built a house at a cost of $15,000, and fitted it with expensive furniture. This and other extravagances are mentioned as accounting in a large degree for his present financial troubles.

The throwing of stones and other missiles at gentlemen's carriages has grown to be a serious annovance in London and other places. It seems to be one way of expressing the antipathy of the lowest class of wealth in any form, and it is believed that Mr. Giadstone was pelted just as any other gentleman would have been pelted who might have happened to be passing at the time. Among the telegrams received at Hawarden regarding Mr. Gladstone's condition were anxious and sympathetic luquiries from Mr. Balfour and other Conservative leaders.

Mr. Gladstone's Midlothian constituents also showed their anxiety for the welfare of their champion.

The woman who, it is alleged, threw the pebble that hit Mr. Gladstone below the eye, is still unknown to the police.

THE RAMPANT MISSISSIPPI.

At Burlington the River is 28 Miles Wide Rock Islank Embankment in Danger. DAVENPORT, In., June 28 .- The Miss-

GREAT HAVOG BY STORM

Several Pennsylvania Towns Suffer Heavily.

IMMENSE LOSS AT WILLIAMSPORT.

Scarcely a House Escaped Damage-Many Miraculous Escapes Recorded-Several Buildings Entirely Destroyed -- Crops Almost Ruined-- Damage Elsewhere.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., June 28.—This city was struck by a furious cyclonic storm at 6 o'clock last evening which caused damage aggregating $50,000. The track of the whirlwind was narrow, but it reached almost the entire length of the city. Starting up in the west it partly unroofed the Demorest and Man-key factories, and blew the chimneys from a score of houses.

Further east on Park avenue for a distance of half a mile scarcely a building escaped damage; roofs were peeled chimneys toppled over, and trees twisted like pipe stems. On Bennett street the large hall of the Turn Verin Vorwaerts was reduced to a pile of kindling wood, the destruction keing made complete.

At this point whole sections of the sidewalk were taken up and hurled through the air. Portlons of the debris of the Turn Hall were carried a great distance. Thousands of panes of window glass were blown in by the fury of the wind.
The Williamsport Woolen Mills in the eastern section of the city were almost demolished. A workman on a scaffoil of a new building was hurled to the ground and seriously injured.

Many miraculous escapes are re-ported. In several instances podestrians were lifted from their feet, and one man was blown clear across the street and jammed so tight to a fence that he could not escape.

Light buildings were crushed like eggshells, and bricks from chimneys were sent through the air in several instances, smashing into houses on the opposite side of the street. The rain poured in tor rents in unroofed houses, which were drenched to the cellars. It is reported that a tree struck a Northern Central passenger train breaking the windows of the rear car. Trees were blown across the track, and locomotives were used to pull them off.

Lightning struck several houses. The full extent of the damage cannot yet be estimated. Electric light wires are down, and the city was in darkness last

Almost a Cloudburst at Lancaster. LANCASTER, Pa., June 28.—A very severe storm passed over this county yesterday. Nearly two inches of rain fell in less than half an hour. At Washington borough it was like a cloudburst. ton borough it was like a cloudburst. The water was several feet doep in the streets, and the people were compelled to seek refuge in the second stories of their houses. The tobacco fislds were completely rulned. Fences, trees and outhouses were swept away. A large landalide occurred on the Columbia & Port. Description. Port Deposit Railroad, which blocked travel for several hours. The barn belonging to Samuel Hartman at Witmer was struck by lightning and was burned.

Terrific Hailstorm Near Reading. READING, Pa., June 28.—The crew of the Wilmington & Northern passenger train had a thrilling experience between Coatesville and Reading yesterday. When near Brandemora they encountered a terrific storm. Hail fell the size of walnuts for 15 minutes and created the greatest and created the greatest and created the greatest and createst and ated the greatest excitement among the passengers. When the train reached Beaver the earth was completely covered to a depth of several inches. Consider-able damage was done tobacco and other crops in the vicinity, also in eastern Lancaster county.

Much Damage at Bellefonts. Belleforte, Pa., June 28.—The severest storm since the 1889 flood swept this locality yesterday afternoon. Hail fell as large as hickory nuts and greatly damaged the fruit crop. The axe factory dam gave way and the water rushed down the valley in one huge bil-low to Bellefonts, carrying away hun-dreds of tons of hay and completely ruining large fields of grain. The full extent of the damage is not yet known. The loss to property, however, is very Betrayed Her. New York, June 28. -- Edward Devens shot and killed Max Clargett at moon yesterday in part II. of the General Sessions. Judge Martine was holding court at the time.

Devens's motive was to revenge wrong committed upon his 15-year-old sister by Clargett, For this offence Clargett was brought before Judge Martine for trial. Clargett was a boy 18 years old, and was completely unstrung when brought to the ber. He attempted no defence, but entered a plea of guilty. When Clargett pleaded guilty Judge Martine remanded him until Friday for sentence. He was led beck toward the prisoners' pen. Edward Devens, the brother of the girl, had been in court all the morning sitting just outside the ralling. railing.

As Clargett was being brought back

Devens shifted his position so that he would be able to reach the prisoner as he passed. Just as Clargett came opposite, Devens drew a revolver from his cost pocket and, placing it against the prisoner's breast, fired, exclaiming at the same time: "Die, damn you!" Clargett fell to the floor shot through the heart. Devens attempted to cook the pistol and fire another shot at the prostrate body, but Officers Collier, Tighe and Knight jumped on him, bore him to the floor and then disarmed him

AFTER DANN'S ACCOMPLICES. A Warrant For An Ex-Teller, But He Can't Be Found.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 28 .- The depos itors of the National Savings Bank are now after Treasurer Dann's accomplices. Notwithstanding that the bank examiners stated positively that other employes of the bank must have stood in with Dann or at least known of his crooked transactions, the bank officials made no movement toward placing these people under arrest. Saturday a depositor quietly awore out a warrant for the arrest of ex-Teller McGready, who left the employ of the bank about a year ago.

McGready went down the river Saturday afternoon and has not returned. His whereabouts are unknown.

The warrant charges him with grand larceny.

Dann has placed in the hands of the bank officials $45,000 in cash and securities and his friends say he will turn over property to the bank as fast as it can be transferred. The examiners resumed their investigations of the accounts this morning but say it will be three weeks before the work will be completed.
