PITHY PIGKINGS IN PETER'S POT-POURRI

HIS OBSERVATIONS PUT IN NEWSY PARAGRAPHS.

THE DISSECTION OF A REPORT

Funny Features of a Township's Financial Statement—Result of an Electric Railway Inspection.

EV. OWEN ENOCH, who has been pastor of the Welsh Congregational church for several months past, on Sunday gave notice to his congregation that he will resign the pastorate at the end of August next. Rev. Enoch contemplates entering a seminary at Chicago and has hopes of securing a pastorate in that city. He goes to Frostburg, Maryland, in a few days and will temporarily fill a pulpit there for a few Sundays, after which he will return to town to make his farewell.

I was looking over the annual report of the Rush township auditors the other day and reading it made very pleasant pastime for a half hour or so. All the office holders there are Germans of the Berks county and Allentown pattern. They say Pottsville, Frackville and Philadelphia, and when they write they follow their pronunciation as close as they can. One of the accounts refer to "for communications," "for spikes," "fixing roats," and winds up with "we hereby serdify." The tax collector's account on the report contains the statement, after reciting the amount of the duplicate, the collections and taxes, "balance due the collector 22 cents." As I concluded reading the statement I remarked to a bystander that the Rush township tax collector stood a poor show to make an independent fortune out of the duplicate. The apparently serious reply was, "No, dat downshib is not so large as some of de oder ones. It hardy pays a man to run for office."

Mr. E. Davis, of Boston, Mass., came to town yesterday as an expert representing the Thomson-Houston Company and made a careful inspection of the electric railway. I asked Mr. Davis concerning the impressions of the road he received by the inspection. He answered promptly that he was very favorably impressed. The road, he said, is in a very satisfactory condition and everything is working as smoothly as can be expected of a new road. "It is equal to any electric road in the country," he said; "it was well constructed and from what I have seen and heard I am satisfied the company has a lucrative plant."

Mr. Davis' opinion of the road is well founded. There are many others who are favorably impressed with the concern, so much so that several flattering offers have been made by well known capitalists to purchase the plant.

The electric railway did a good business yesterday on account of the circus tents having been pitched at the western outskirts of the town.

The grading of the electric branch to the new pleasure grounds west of Wm. Penn is progressing rapidly and to-day the rails and sills were distributed along the branch.

The much advertised sale of western horses took place yesterday in front of the Commercial hotel. There were twenty head of horses, some very fine specimens and sold at very fair prices. Some "old stagers" belonging to town people were sold at the same time, among them "Anti-Deluvian," from J. J. Franey's stable. The animal cast a withering glance at the auctioneer as he shouted "Sold at $16."

The HERALD is read by every one and nothing passes the notice of its readers. The ink on yesterday's paper was scarcely dry when the management of the new picnic grounds on the line of the electric railway road was besieged by applicants for dates. In several cases a good-sized bonus was offered for the Fourth of July, but all such propositions were declined, as the company has fixed the formal opening of the grounds for that day.

The population of the town was increased last night by the arrival of twenty-seven Polish and Hungarian immigrants. They arrived on the late P. & R. passenger train and were met at the depot by two saloon-keepers of the First ward. There were three women and eight children in the party.

HERE AND THERE.

Interesting Items Concerning Different Sections of the Region.

Two unknown men on Friday night stole two valuable horses from the stable of John McHugh, at Hazleton, and abandoned them in the woods near Nesqueh, where they were found by the owner Sunday morning. The men who stole the horses disappeared.

Two of the Linsford ejection cases were tried in the Common Pleas Court last week, the one against James T. Mulhearn and Peter Dorrain and the other against Patrick Brislin and decided in favor of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company. Similar suits were brought against other hotel keepers, for violating the provision of deeds given by the company conditioned that no intoxicating liquors shall be sold on the premises.

A Hazleton call for a parade in ratification of the nomination of "Cleve and Steve" brought out only four men. Shamokin clerks have formed an organization with a view to inducing the merchants to close their stores early during the summer.

A branch of the Miners' and Laborers' Amalgamated Association has been formed at Shamokin.

Taxpayer Complaints.

EDITOR HERALD:—Since the organization of the present Borough Council I have watched the course of the members of that august body with an impartial eye. Supporting them in the past with both my vote and voice, I think I may be granted the right to criticize some of their actions. I have reference to a certain member of the street committee, who is laboring under the delusion that he was elected for the sole purpose of running the town, and at the same time to care for "his sisters, his aunts, and his cousins," irrespective of the rights and privileges of the other fourteen members of Council. It may be in accord with human nature to see that one's relatives are nursed at the public tit, yet I imagine there are other taxpayers in the town who have rights that should be respected by their servants. I have heard considerable complaint about this self-styled Lord Mayor recently, and especially in reference to placing his brother-in-law's team doing the majority of the work on the streets. It is time this man was called down and given to understand his position. I believe in equality and I also believe that the borough work should be equally divided. At the organization of Council I thought the Republicans were in control, but recent events prove that the Lord Mayor has the upper hand and is the controlling power. Let the other members of the street committee show their manhood by exerting their rights, and not allow the man to control the work of the committee.

TAXPAYER.

Shenandoah, Pa., June 28, 1892.

The Basis.

The following collieries drawn for to return prices of coal sold in June, 1892, to determine rate of wages to be paid for work, make the following returns:

Shenandoah City, P. & R. C. & I. Co.	$2.17 1-10
Beltsville, " " "	2.40 2-10
Hammond, " " "	2.30 2-10
Gilberton, " " "	2.47 2-10
Kelley Run, Thomas Coal Company	2.32 4-10
	$11.91 7-10
Average	2.26 2-10
The average of these rates being $2.38 2-10 the rate of wages to be paid for work last two weeks of June and first two weeks of July, 1892, is 4 per cent. below $2.60 basis.

Obituary.

Miss Agnes F. Johnston, daughter of David and the late Helen Johnston, died at her home, 227 East Coal street, at 8 o'clock last evening. The deceased was 18 years of age. She was a young lady who enjoyed the respect of all who knew her and her death is a source of deep regret to many. The illness that caused death was consumption, the symptoms of which made their appearance about two years ago and became violent three weeks since. The funeral will take place on Friday, July 1st, at 2 p. m., from the family residence. Interment will be made in the Odd Fellows' cemetery.

A Successful Festival.

The young people of the Welsh Baptist church last night held a strawberry and ice cream festival in Robbins' opera house. The festival was well patronized and a nice sum was netted. During the evening there was a cake walk in which a number of couples participated. The prize was won by William James and Miss Lizzie Troutman.

MANGLED BY A FALL OF COAL

A POLE'S BACK BROKEN AND CHEST CRUSHED.

NARROWLY ESCAPED SUFFOCATION

The Unfortunate Man Was Completely Covered by a Fall of Top Coal—Sent to the Miners' Hospital.

BACK broken and chest crushed was the fate of John Chirnuiski, a Pole, who resides on Pear alley, to-day. Chirnuiski was employed in a breast of the Kelley Run colliery and was completely covered by a fall of top coal. Miners and laborers working near the unfortunate man hastened to the rescue and succeeded in getting him from beneath the coal before he was suffocated. The man was in a critical condition when placed in the ambulance. He was taken to his boarding house and subsequently sent to the Miners' Hospital.

Chirnuiski was employed as laborer in the mines and is 23 years of age. It is thought he will not recover.

THE CRAYON FRAUDS.

Many of Our People Snapping at a Chicago Bait.

A few weeks ago this town was flooded with circulars containing tempting offers of life-size crayons free of charge. The circulars came from Chicago. The only conditions imposed were that parties wishing a crayon to send on a photograph and agree that the crayon be suitably framed and placed on exhibition. The bait was greedily snapped at and hundreds of photographs have been mailed to the address given in the circular, the wording of which is sufficient to put any intelligent person on guard.

A "suitable frame" costs several dollars and as the "crayon artists" are to be judges of the suitability of the frame it is quite natural that they should refuse to give the crayon without one of their own frames. A frame purchased elsewhere would not be suitable to them—financially. The prices of the frames are always exorbitant and cover many times the cost of the "crayon," which is but fifty cents.

The HERALD has repeatedly exposed this "crayon" scheme, but the town is still full of suckers and every circular fills the net. And, strange as it may seem, the suckers are not limited to the poor and ignorant classes. Some of our leading citizens are "in it."

Any intelligent man or woman must know that no man or company of men can afford to flood the country with first class crayons free of charge "merely to advertise." A good crayon is worth from $10 to $50 and the sucker who lends his face to any scheme of the Chicago kind deserves to be mulcted.

THE MURDER TRIAL.

Witness Tell of Policeman John Merget's Death.

The trial of the Kellys for the murder of C. & I. Policeman Merget near Tamaqua is still going on at Pottsville. Witness yesterday told of the burglary at Lutz's, in Barnesville, at 4 a. m. on March 16th, the subsequent pursuit of the Kellys and Blakeslee, and the shooting of Merget as he ordered the fugitives to throw up their hands.

While a witness was telling of the capture on Pitch Mountain one of the Kellys asked, "What did I tell you?" The prisoner was silenced.

The trial will probably consume the balance of the week. The Commonwealth appears to be making a strong case.

A Fairy Story.

Last evening two gentlemen who are well known throughout the United States held a mysterious conference in Shamokin, and it may be that ere long some fugitive from justice will be captured in this vicinity. The names of the gentlemen are Captain Linden, of Philadelphia, and Detective McParlan. During the great Mollie Maguire scare in this region some years ago McParlan and Linden did some clever detective work and the former is given the credit of running to earth the ringleaders of the gang. Last evening McParlan came to Shamokin from Erie and was met at the Reading station by Captain Linden. The movements of two such great detectives are always wrapped in mystery, and the object of their visit is known only to themselves.—Shamokin Dispatch.

Driscoll's Funeral.

The funeral of the late Con. Driscoll, the fireman on the Lehigh Valley road, who died on Friday night, took place yesterday from his home in Delano. The funeral took a special train for Mahanoy City, where services were held and then proceeded to St. Clair, where interment was made. It was very largely attended.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

How to See it and at the Same Time Live as at Home.

A few days ago the HERALD called attention to a novel scheme suggested by people of this place, Mahanoy City, Girardville and Ashland whereby it was proposed that a club be formed to rent a house in Chicago with a view to providing visitors from the towns named to the World's Fair with comfortable lodging and good meals during their stay in Chicago on a co-operative plan.

The scheme has since been discussed with good results. It has struck a popular chord and there are a score of prominent men ready to go into the scheme, as soon as it assumes shape.

The scheme is to rent a furnished house in Chicago for six months, the period of the exhibition, and put it in charge of a competent and reliable caterer who can have full charge and carry out the club's rules of management.

The club can establish a board of trustees and they can see that all moneys received are properly deposited in bank and judiciously expended as required.

It is proposed that sums shall be paid in by the parties becoming members as initiation fees and the additional sums shall be paid at specified periods so that the whole amount required of each member shall be paid in by May 1st, next.

The first step will be to form a club and establish rules, which will include the fixing of a sum that will secure for each member first class lodgings and meals during a week's stay in Chicago.

The sum so paid in by each member will go into a general fund to defray the cost of renting the house, purchase of necessities for the preparation of meals, and the wages of such help as may be required to conduct the house.

Should any one intend staying in Chicago two or three weeks he can make arrangements for the co-operative accommodations by paying additional assessments in proportion to those required for a one-week stay.

Members could be taken in from all parts of the county and should any one who has made his payments find it impossible to go to Chicago, a transfer system could be arranged by which the member could transfer his certificate to some respectable party, with the sanction of the club.

Considerable interest is manifested in the scheme, but as those who already favor it seem to be waiting for some one to take the initiative step the HERALD places its columns at the disposal of any who may wish to make the start and will keep a list of names until an organization is effected.

Officers Elected.

Last evening Major Jennings Council, No. 367, Jr. O. U. A. M., of town, elected the following officers to serve for ensuing term: C., William J. James; V. C., Wm. H. Dettrey; R. S., Thomas Sanger; F. S., George Spade; A. R. S., George Broome; Treas., C. T. Straugh; Cond., Harry Richards; W. Wm. Willman; I. G., Peter Becker; O. G., John A. Bowman; Trustee, David Reenie; Rep., Thos. Sanger.
