CAMP MEETING AT LAKESIDE PARK

THE EVANGELICAL ASSOCIATION,
SELECTS THIS RESORT
FOR THE MEETINGS NEXT MONTH

Presiding Elder Medlar Says the Place Takes With Everybody.
Talk of the Association Purchasing a Site There.

CAMP meeting season will soon bloom and Lakeside will have its share of it. Presiding Elder D. A. Medlar, of Pottsville, writes to David Faust, of town, that the Evangelical camp meeting will be held at Lakeside from July 19 to 26, 1892, and in his letter he says "the place takes with everybody."

On July 12th the committee and other having charge of the arrangements for the camp meeting will visit Lakeside and make arrangements for pitching the tents in the grove.

This will not be the first time for the Evangelical Association to hold its camp meetings at Lakeside. The meetings have been held there for the last sixteen years, but the location of the tents will be different this year.

The site is on the hill above the ice house, towards Quakake, and about a third of a mile from the depot. There is a beautiful grove there, well shaded, dry, and equal in all respects to the old grove near the railway station.

There is an inclination on the part of the Evangelical Association to purchase the site that has been selected for the camp meeting this year. The grounds are certainly well adapted for such purpose and the association would find in them a profitable investment. Should the purchase be made it is said that several cottages will be erected for rental when the camp meetings are held.

THE TWO PARADES.

Answer to a Communication Concerning the Fourth of July.

EDITOR HERALD:—From what I have heard I am led to believe that the arrangements for the celebration of the Fourth of July in town are somewhat mixed. I understand there will be two distinct parades in the morning of that day, but I write you to ask if my understanding is correct. If I am, will you please state the object of the two parades.

PATRIOTIC.

Shenandoah, June 29, 1892.

The information at hand leads to the conclusion that the correspondent's understanding is correct. The arrangements now being made indicate that there will be two distinct parades in town on the morning of the Fourth. The correspondent's query as to the object for having the two parades is too general and cannot be answered. The circumstances seem to be these: The J. R. O. U. A. M. took steps several weeks ago to have a flag raising on the Fourth and the committee claims that invitations to participate in the exercises were extended to every society in the town, to some of which no response was made. Among those who failed to respond, the committee claims, are the societies that have since instituted a movement for a joint parade on the morning of the Fourth. The flag raising people take the stand that their arrangements made the subsequent joint parade movement unnecessary and they will not go into it. The joint parade people are equally determined not to go in with the flag raisers, so two parades on the morning of the Fourth seem inevitable.—Ed.

Officers Elected.

An election of officers for Washington Camp No. 183, P. O. S. of A., was held last evening with the following result: P. P., Fred H. Hopkins; P., William J. James; V. P., Edward Dank; M. of P., Robert Lawson; C., Gustave Shamp; Insp., Isaac Herring; O. G., David Brooks; T., John White; Delegate to State Camp, D. G. Richards and H. Belsel; Alternates, W. A. Kessey and Rev. M. H. Havica.

Affecting Lehigh Employees.

An order was issued to the employees of the Lehigh Valley and Central road requesting them to have their places of residence near their work, that after July 1st no quarterly passes will be issued to them by the company. The employees who do not desire to change their places of residence and must take trains to and from their homes will be obliged to pay full fare.

FOURTH PREPARATIONS.

Arrangements to Celebrate the Day in This Town.

As the Fourth of July approaches the store windows of town are filled with fire crackers, Roman candles and explosives of all sizes, and the small boys find pastime pointing out to each the novelties they will have when the glorious day arrives. To the conservative householder who has ceased to find a joy in the explosion of powder the Fourth comes as a season of trepidation punctuated by the acute agitation of the sounding of the fire alarm, and not until the last ember of the last cracker has expired in its wreath of smoke does he cease to ponder on the probable amount of insurance he can collect. It seems somewhat churlish to throw any damper on the enthusiasm of Young America on the Fourth of July. We are not prepared to go as far as an ultra patriotic Ohio general, afterward a chief of police in an Ohio city, who is reported to have said, "arrest a man for getting drunk on the Fourth? No, sir, by the eternal, I'll arrest every man who don't get drunk," but we think that considerable latitude ought to be allowed in noise, if not in intoxicants. But the matter in point is this, that there is a use and an abuse. If we can get the boys to be careful, considerate of property and person, and keep the explosions out of yards and in the streets, what is apparently a necessary evil will be lessened, and property holders aided by watchfulness can feel a certain amount of security on the coming glorious anniversary.

LAUDIG-LESSIG.

A Quiet Wedding Ceremony at the Lessig Residence.

Miss Lizzie R. Lessig and B. F. Laudig were married at 10 o'clock this morning at the residence of the bride's father, ex-Chief Burgess James B. Lessig, on North Main street. Only members of both families were present. The bride was dressed in light tan, trimmed with green velvet and point de Ireland lace. Rev. William Powick, of the Methodist Episcopal church, officiated. After the ceremony luncheon was served and at 11:40 the bridal couple took a Pennsylvania train for Washington, D. C., where the honeymoon will be spent. The gifts to the couple were numerous and costly. Mr. and Mrs. Laudig will locate in Hazleton, where a handsomely furnished home awaits them. The groom is connected with the Hazleton Plain Speaker. He was engaged in the stationery business here for some time and will be remembered as an energetic and enterprising young man.

Nervous Dyspepsia.

Senator James F. Pierce, of New York, writes: "For the past two years I have suffered very much from an aggravated form of nervous dyspepsia. I have resorted to various remedial agents, deriving but little benefit. A few months since a friend of mine suggested the trial of Allcock's Porous Plasters. Following the suggestion, I have been using the same with the happiest effects. To those similarly afflicted let me suggest the manner of their use. I place one over my stomach, one over the hepatic region, and one on my back. The effect is excellent. From the day I commenced their use has been slowly but surely improving, and an quite confident that by continuing I shall again be restored to my accustomed health."

Notice.

The funeral services over the late Agnes Johnston will be held in the Presbyterian church, instead of at the house, to-morrow afternoon, leaving the house at 2 o'clock, sharp. The mourners and friends will walk to the church and proceed from there in carriages.

OBSERVATIONS MADE BY PETER

HE SMILES BECAUSE POTTSVILLE IS GROWLING
OVER INCREASED ASSESSMENTS

Babies' Day on the Electric Railway—Sixteen Babies Enjoy a Refreshing Ride With Their Mothers.

POTTSVILLE people are making a vigorous kick against the assessments on taxable properties made by the County Commissioners. One paper says "It is hardly probable that any one will appear before the Commissioners and demand that the figures be increased, but there is a great probability that the Commissioners will hear a most vigorous and healthy kick." Another paper blurts out, "Pottsville should see that that Commissioner is bounced. Over $3,000,000 increase in the assessment of Pottsville, because it is a Republican town, will be resisted by all classes of property holders."

The tables are turned and our people may now smile at the Pottsville dukes while they are tossing about in the sea of anger. Some time ago when the HERALD made a vigorous protest against the proposed increase in assessment, and when the citizens of this town met, and gave County Solicitor Minogue the rattle-dazzle the county seat papers could not control their merriment over what they thought was a ridiculous struggle against the majesty of the law. Shenandoah acted in time and tried to deter the Commissioners from taking the action the county seat now complain of and not a town in the county stood by her. Had some of the other places stood by us at the proper time the efforts to convince the Commissioners of the unreasonableness of their intended action might have succeeded. The Pottsville people had their laugh. Now Shenandoah, reconciled to her fate under the assessment—an increase of over $1,000,000—smiles vociferously over the kicking going on at the county seat.

Yesterday was babies' day on the electric railway. A number of ladies, charmed by the delightful weather of the afternoon, concluded to charter an open car of the road and give the babies a ride to Girardville and back. The novel idea is said to have originated in the brain of Mrs. Mary A. Parrott, of North Jardin street. At 3:30 sixteen mothers with infants on their arms met at the corner of Main and Centre streets, where an open car was in waiting. Screaming, laughing, fat, thin, jolly, tricky and funny babies were on hand and congratulated each other upon the thoughtfulness of Mrs. Parrott. While the car was being arranged for their reception one little baby on his mother's arm in front of the drug store asked, "Mom, have yer got der bottle along? You know us kids can't go out on a racket of dis kind widout one." His mother assured him that she had made all preparations. "Say, mom," exclaimed another babe, "have yer got any cigarettes along?" This brought forth a reproof from the mother, but the two-year-old only retorted, "If I am to be a dude I must have them." At this moment a baby girl put in her six-pence and asked her mother how her bangs looked and the little fellow who wanted to be a dude shouted, "O, you're a daisy."

The ride to Girardville and back was a delightful one and the mothers and babies soon greatly refreshed by it. There were no incidents of moment during the trip. Of course, some of the babies tried to punch their fingers into the eyes of others, some got their fingers tangled in the hair of their neighbors, and occasionally a little girl had her finger bitten by putting it in the mouth of a little boy beside her to see how many teeth he had, but such matters are considered trifles by mothers and no reports were made to the police.

The ladies who took part in the excursion were Mrs. M. A. Parrott, Mrs. E. W. Wilde, Mrs. J. S. Kistler, Mrs. H. E. Dangler, Mrs. S. W. Yost, Mrs. J. H. Kebler, Mrs. N. W. Beddall, Mrs. F. C. Basse, Mrs. C. T. Straughn, Mrs. W. J. Watkins, Mrs. E. J. Davies, Mrs. E. B. Brobst, Mrs. G. W. Hassler, Mrs. Snyder, Mrs. Stout and Mrs. Hess.

Two young gentlemen, students at Haverford College, near Philadelphia, are guests at the Coffee House. They are from Maine. One is Leslie A. Bailey, of Dresden, and Wilbur A. Estes, of Easton. In casting about for an interesting place in which to spend their vacation, and at the same time study the social condition of people, they selected Shenandoah. Messrs. Bailey and Estes will very likely remain here until September.

The Joint water committee will hold another star chamber session to-night. There are people in town who believe the time has arrived to sit down upon the Vanderbiltian policy of this committee. "The people be d-d" business is played out and if the committee insists upon keeping its doing under cover from the people it will find itself in hot water ere long.

J. F. Oler, the most active member of the Grand Army of the Republic in this region, was met yesterday while on his way to Shamokin from Washington. He visited the latter place to make arrangements for accommodations for the Shamokin Post when the National Encampment of the G. A. R. will be held in September next. The Post will send 150 members, fully uniformed. Mr. Oler contracted for three Pullman sleepers, at $40 per day. Meals will be served at from $1 to $1.50 per day, but at the market houses meals will be served at from 25 cents to 50 cents each. The members will sleep on the cars. A large number of citizens will accompany the Post.

Interesting Items Concerning Different Sections of the Region.

There is trouble in the Mahanoy township School Board. Heber DeLong, of Park Place, has instituted quo warranto proceedings, alleging that another member of the board, D. J. Roberts, made illegal promises to secure his election. A specific charge is that Roberts promised, in case of his election as school director, to vote for DeLong for treasurer of the board. At the organization of the board DeLong was not elected treasurer.
