SUDDEN OUTBURST OF PATRIOTISM

IN THE FAMOUS CITY OF SMOKY HOLLOW.

A GORGEOUS STREET PARADE

Fast Trains Carrying Enthusiastic Patriots to the Scene of Festivities—An Obdurate Chief Marshal.

Special Fourth correspondence.

SMOKY HOLLOW, July 4.

THERE is a story on record of one of our statesmen having made an assertion at one time that St. Patrick was a better man than Fourth of July. If the statesman happened to be in this place to-day he was not heard from. He was silenced almost effectually by the grand parade, pyrotechnical display and other observances in honor of Uncle Sam, yclept Fourth of July Sam.

Before dawn the loud report of old anvils, car wheels, cannon, crackers, etc., ushered in the glorious Fourth and awakened the sleeping citizens of Smoky Hollow and the city was soon all bustle. Here and there the people darted with flags and banners and the rap-rap of the tack hammers against the majestic buildings told the populace that the star spangled banner was being unfurled. The day broke with glorious patriotic fire and amid the roar of cannon and the cheers of the multitude the parade was formed in front of the "Stars and Stripes" Hotel at 9:00 a. m. Owing to a delay in the arrival of the limited express from Shenandoah the line did not move until several hours later, Marshal Bunker Hill declared that not a man should move until the arrival of 'Squire Thomas Jefferson and "The Indians." A few weak protests were made by Hamilton Bradley, but the Marshal was obdurate and the exception to his decision was effectually overruled. Paul Jones Flynn was the only man who persisted in objecting. He declared that he could not stand in front of the hotel all day and that he would go to the colliery and prepare his place for work on Tuesday. He left the ranks and went to the colliery. He arrived at the colliery and secured a bucket of hot water. Then he picked up a stick of dynamite and—just here the thread of Flynn's movements is lost. Flynn is not here to give an account of himself. All we know is that while the Marshal was drilling his troops in front of the "Stars and Stripes" hotel a tremendous explosion was heard. "Hurrah!" shouted the multitude, "Let 'er go Gallagher." A few minutes later Putnam O'Neil dashed down the mountain side on horse back and confirmed the suspicion of Flynn's friends—that he had dropped the stick of dynamite into the hot water.

Condolences followed the receipt of the sad news, after which the Marshal again called the men into line. This was done just as the limited express, Jere Ryan, engineer, pulled into the depot. The locomotive was covered with gore and flesh. Jerry explained that in trying to get "The Indians" to Smoky Hollow in time he struck three cows and a goat. John Hancock Toomey could not refrain casting the lie to Jerry, claiming that there was nothing in the history of the state to show that a goat had ever been killed by a locomotive. Jerry wilted and acknowledged that but one cow had been killed.

At the sound of the bugle "The Indians" fell into line with their cannon. The line was through Duck street, then through Mud alley, Larry's Lane to Electric avenue, thence through Quality street and countermarch to the "Stars and Stripes."

Up to this writing no serious accidents have been reported. Patrick Henry McKinley suffered the loss of his imported leg by standing in front of the cannon brought here by "The Indians." He has telegraphed to Ohio for another. It is to be trimmed with American tin.

David Hill Delaney very injudiciously ran his eye against the right fist of Grover Cleveland Reilly. The effect was blue and scarlet. The Shenandoah Beef Company sent down a side of beef and by proper application Dr. Bourke Cockran Lanyon hopes to have the eye in a condition suitable to face the assemblage when Delaney draws a comparison between the taxed tea in Boston Harbor and the raw material that is now flooding the coal region.

LATER.

A messenger who has just arrived here on John Knox Jones' trotter says that the report of Flynn's death by the explosion of dynamite was a fake. Hendricks Gibbons has just arrived here and is now on the platform eulogizing P. J. Foraker. All the wires have been cut to prevent the transmission of the speech to the outside world.

The Republican correspondent is adjusting his glasses preparatory to taking notes on the electric railway and Lakeside from his lieutenant.

A large crowd just boarded an electric car. They are bound for the Phoenix Fire Company's picnic at Lakeside. The latter place still lives.

Nervous Dyspepsia.

Senator James F. Pierce, of New York, writes: "For the past two years I have suffered very much from an aggravated form of nervous dyspepsia. I have resorted to various remedial agents, deriving but little benefit. A few months since a friend of mine suggested the trial of Allcock's Porous Plasters. Following the suggestion, I have been using the same with the happiest effects. To those similarly afflicted let me suggest the manner of their use. I place one over my stomach, one over the hepatic region, and one on my back. The effect is excellent. From the day I commenced their use have been slowly but surely improving, and am quite confident that by continuing I shall again be restored to my accustomed health."

The Ladies.

The pleasant effect and perfect safety with which ladies may use the California liquid laxative Syrup of Figs, under all conditions, makes it their favorite remedy. To get the true and genuine article, look for the name of the California Fig Syrup Co. printed near the bottom of the package.

FOURTH OF JULY GUESTS.

A Visitor to Town Who Walks on Artificial Limbs.

Mr. Ulysses Stephens, Louis Bogert, Misses Carrie and Mame Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McNabb, all of Allentown, are the guests of Mrs. H. Bartsch, of North Bower street. Mr. McNabb is weighmaster of the Crane Iron Company, of Catasauqua. He was married on July 4th, last, and on August 5th following he fell under a train of cars on the slag bank of the works at which he was employed and the engine and four cars passed over his two legs, cutting them off between the ankle and the knee. He was confined in St. Luke's Hospital, Bethlehem, for several months and when he left the institution he walked out on two artificial limbs, with which he is now able to walk, with the use of a cane, almost as naturally as he walked before the loss of the members. Mr. McNabb continues in his old position under the Crane Company and an early promotion is promised him. He is twenty-four years of age and very much thought of by his employers. Yesterday, through the kindness of Inside Foreman Carl, Mr. McNabb and the other guests of Mrs. Bartsch visited the inside workings of Shenandoah City colliery. It was their first visit to a coal mine, and seemed very much interested in and pleased with what they saw.

Flag Raisings.

Saturday night the employes of the Shenandoah City colliery raised a flag pole on the bank east of the colliery. This morning, at 8 o'clock a flag was raised on it, J. H. Pomeroy, Esq., was the orator for the occasion and Outside Foreman Marshal Baugh was master of ceremonies. The expense of the pole and flag was defrayed by contributions of the colliery employes.

This morning the Columbia Hose Company raised a new flag on the tower of the Borough building.

Hall Found Guilty.

The jury in the case of Harry Hall, charged with an attempt to burn the building owned by John Robbins, on East Centre street, in which Hall conducted a photograph gallery, for the avowed purpose of procuring the insurance, returned a verdict Saturday afternoon of guilty as indicted. Sentence will be pronounced during the week.

POLITICAL POINTS.

Local, County, State and National Themes Considered.

Democratic papers are now publishing Bourke Cockran's speech, made in 1888, "Why Cleveland Should be Elected." Why not publish, side by side, his later speech made in Chicago in 1892?

Senator Hill is quoted as talking to a number of Democratic delegates returning from Chicago as to the result. They were praising the courage of the convention in substituting the free trade plank, and bragging of what benefit it would be to the party. Hill listened quietly and then dryly remarked: "Yes, the result of that plank is that you have turned every factory in the United States into a Republican headquarters."

Harpers' Weekly, a Cleveland Mugwump paper, says "Exit David B. Hill."

When the fiery Bourke Cockran said to the Democratic National Convention, "the soldier voters of the state of New York, of whom there are 25,000 at least Democratic, will not support the nomination of Mr. Cleveland," that gallant Democratic soldier, Gen. Sickles, arose, and waving the crutch, which is his badge of honor, exclaimed, amid the hisses of the Mugwumps, "No, no: never." It is not a wonder that no Union soldier was put upon the Democratic ticket? The hissers wouldn't have it.

The procession has started in Jersey. Its ranks should be swollen by rascals of the same stripe in this state. A stuffed ballot box is at one end of the line, and the penitentiary, with a suit of clothes bearing Tammany's trade mark, is at the other end. The summary sentence of twenty ex-election officers, who had been convicted of participation in the infamous election frauds of 1889 by Judge Lippincott in the Hudson County General Sessions Court, presents a phase of Jersey justice worthy of imitation throughout the country. Keep the procession moving.—N. Y. Ex.

A distinguished Massachusetts Mugwump, Charles Francis Adams, in a magazine article, denounces the soldier vote, and says in his own experience he has seen "every dead beat and malingerer, every bummer, bounty jumper and suspected deserter whom he had ever known or heard of rush to the front as the greedy claimant of public bounty." It is not a new thing for the confederates of the South to denounce Union pensioners, but it is a new thing to have the Mugwumps surpass them in their denunciation of the Union soldier as a bounty jumper, tramp and deserter. Is it because Gen. Sickles, that maimed Democratic Union veteran, declares that 25,000 Democratic Union soldiers in New York state refused to vote for Cleveland in 1888 and will refuse to vote for him now?

Perhaps D. B. Hill is tired of his proprietorship of the sentence, "I am a Democrat."

If Baby McKee and Baby Ruth are to figure in this campaign no other music will be required.

"Barnum's circus and the Democratic convention in Chicago during the same week." The Windy City is certainly getting its share of excitement.

"Figures don't lie," but it is only a question of time when the Democrats will realize that they made a mistake in counting.

"A cyclone struck the Democratic Wigwam in Chicago and damaged it badly." The next breeze, a few months hence, will sweep their party "out of sight."
