APPROPRIATELY CELEBRATED.

THE FOURTH COMES AND GOES.

THE FLAG FLOATS O'ER THE SCHOOL

H. J. Dolly, of Philadelphia, in an eloquent address, presented the Star-spangled Banner. Addresses by Others.

The celebration of the Fourth of July yesterday was the finest observance of the day in town since Centennial year. All the principal business places and most of the residences were elaborately decorated with the national colors and each citizen seemed to vie with the other in showing desire to commemorate the Declaration of Independence as an American citizen should do it.

The parade question remained unsettled, but the matter in no way marred the celebration. The societies that enrolled themselves under the jurisdiction of the joint committee carried out their programme in the early morning. They consisted of the St. Patrick's, A. T. A. B. and the various Polish and Lithuanian societies, and the St. Patrick's, A. T. A. B., Lithuanian and Polish bands. There was a large number of men in line.

But the event of the day was the parade and flag raising under the auspices of Major Jennings Council, No. 367, Jr. O. U. A. M. The parade fully equalled the expectations of the committee and the ceremonies attending the raising of the flag to the pole on the High school building was a splendid exhibition of patriotic sentiment and devotion to the stars and stripes.

There was considerable delay in starting the parade, but after it got started the spectators were well rewarded for their patience. There were several visiting organizations in line, Mt. Carmel, Mahanoy City, Girardville, Frankville and Ringtown being well represented. The three military companies of the Jr. O. U. A. M., marching from Mt. Carmel and Mahanoy City, and escorted by the company of town, presented a strikingly neat appearance. The companies were warmly applauded for the marching and drills.

A novel feature of the parade was the corps of Pioneers recently organized by the local J. T. of H. & T. branch. They were dressed attractively and marched well. The corps promises to swell to large numbers.

The parade ended in front of a large platform erected in front of the High School building. Among those who took seats on the platform were School Directors Williams, Gable, Davenport, Hanna and O'Hearn, Councilmen Stout, Coakley and James, Revs. Havice, James, Powick and McNally, Superintendent Thomas Baird, Prof. Thomas B. Hughes and choir and the Grand Band and its leader, Prof. Zeitz. Chief of Police Davis and Lieutenants Tempest, Williams and Holvey were also upon the platform. The band occupied seats on the right and the choir on the left.

Hon. M. P. Fowler was chairman and H. J. Dolly, of Philadelphia, made the speech attending the presentation of the flag. As soon as Mr. Dolly concluded his address he left the platform to catch the noon train for Philadelphia, as he was obliged to attend a flag presentation at Hartman's Home, Philadelphia, in the evening.

The Grand Band rendered several patriotic selections with admirable precision and effect, and hearty applause followed each selection. The singing by Prof. Hughes' choir was also appreciated by the large gathering.

After the rendition of "The Sword of Bunker Hill," Rev. Havice, pastor of the English Lutheran church, offered prayer. The Stars and Stripes were then hoisted to the roof of the school building and the band struck up "The Red, White and Blue."

schools are the means by which the children of to-day are to be made intelligent citizens. During the coming campaign the politicians may tell the people that the future of the country depends entirely upon the success of the platform of this or that party, upon the success, perhaps, of protection, free trade, farmers' alliance, or prohibition; but the success and prosperity of the country is dependent upon the manner in which the people educate the little boys and girls. The United States government has placed before every little boy and girl in the land a ladder of fame and tells them to mount that ladder if they can.

On the question of immigration Mr. Dolly said that in the early history of the country immigration was of great benefit to the nation. The sturdy sons of the old country coming into our midst became naturalized and thoroughly imbued with the principles of our government and its institutions. They were welcome and are to-day. "The man who comes into our midst for the purpose of bettering his condition, adopting our customs and our language, and upholding our institutions, are welcome at all times; but the man who comes here for revenue only, who comes here aiming at the destruction of our liberties, are a menace to our institutions, and I say the time has come when we should put down the gates at Ellis Island, pick out the men we want and send the refuse back."

Great applause followed this declaration. In closing his address and presenting the flag Mr. Dolly said, "In behalf of Major Jennings Council, No. 367, Jr. O. U. A. M., I present to you this emblem of liberty. May you ever guard it. May you ever teach all that it represents to us as a nation, and as a people. May it ever in glory wave, and may we all learn to love it and respect it, and defend it, if need be, with our life's blood."

Three cheers were given for Mr. Dolly, after which the band played "Way Down Upon the Suwanee River."

Rev. Powick was next introduced and he received the flag in behalf of the School Board in a very neat and graceful address. He made several patriotic hits that elicited warm applause. He maintained that the important question is not as to whether a man is born in America, but as to whether America is born in the man.

The singing of "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," by the Hughes choir, was followed by a stirring address by Rev. McNally. A delightful strain of humor ran through the remarks and when the assemblage was not applauding some patriotic declaration it was roaring with laughter over some humorous remark. As a public speaker Rev. McNally is certainly a success. It is regretted that space will not permit the publication of a detailed report of the address.

Upon taking his seat Rev. McNally was honored with three cheers by the large gathering. Three cheers were also given for Major Jennings Council.

The Grand band then played "My Country 'Tis of Thee," after which the choir rendered "Hurrah for the Fourth of July."

Rev. James next gave the benediction, after which the assemblage dispersed and the exercises of the day were declared at end.

Headache and Dyspepsia.
 William E. Rockwell, No. 512 West 57th street New York, says: "I have been a martyr to bilious headache and dyspepsia. Any indiscretion in diet, overfatigue or cold, brings on a fit of indigestion, followed by a headache lasting two or three days at a time. I think I must have tried over twenty different remedies, which were recommended as certain cures by loving friends, but it was no use. At last I thought I would take a simple course of purgation with Brandreth's Pills. For the first week I took two pills every night, then one pill for thirty nights; in that time I gained three pounds in weight, and never had an ache or pain since."

Disease in one part of the body will eventually fill the whole body with disease. Every year or two some part of the system grows weak and begins to decay. Such part should be removed at once, and new matter be allowed to take its place. There's no need of cutting it out with a surgeon's scalpel. Purge away the old, diseased and worn-out parts with Brandreth's Pills.

THE FOURTH BROUGHT NO FATAL OCCURRENCES.

A LITTLE GIRL'S NARROW ESCAPE

She Was Wrapped in Flames When Assistance Arrived—Her Clothing Ignited From a Fire Cracker.

A view of the promiscuous use of fireworks in town yesterday the returns of accidents are comparatively light. There were several cases in which children suffered from exploding crackers, but in no instance were the injuries serious. A four-year-old girl, a niece of Mrs. Shapira, on East Centre street, had the most narrow escape. Her clothing caught fire from a cracker thrown by an unknown boy. The aunt, Mrs. Llewellyn and W. F. Sadler, Jr., happened to be near at the time and promptly extinguished the flames. Although the child was completely enveloped by flames when assistance arrived she suffered but slight injury. Her right thigh was burned and her hair was singed. The child was able to be about to-day. Mrs. Llewellyn and Mr. Sadler had their hands slightly burned in making the rescue.

The son of Samuel Weidman had a narrow escape. A large cracker exploded close to his face and for a time it was thought his sight had been affected. Fortunately he escaped with singed eyebrows and lashes.

A little boy who is visiting Mr. Szymanski, of North Jardin street, has lint and oil wrapped about his body. A pack of fire crackers the boy carried in a pocket of his trousers were set on fire. His injuries are not severe.

A Pole residing in the First ward exploded some powder and did not get away from it in time. One of his hands was lacerated and his face was badly burned. A little girl named Thomas, of Lloyd street, had her tongue burned by an exploding torpedo.

John Poff, of West street, was burned in the face by a discharge from a small cannon.

Fred. Hingleberger had one of his feet burned by a discharge from the same cannon that injured Poff.

Josh Tempest had the calf of one of his legs injured by a large cracker that had been placed under his chair. He will be laid up for several days.

Burgess Smith Explains.
 EDITOR HERALD:—In justice to my friends and myself I wish to state why I did not take part in the two parades that took place in town yesterday in celebration of the Fourth of July. I had received and accepted two invitations, one from the Jr. O. U. A. M. and the other from the joint parade committee. The hours fixed for the parades were an hour and a half apart, which gave me ample time to take part in both. My acceptance of the invitations seemed to be satisfactory to both parties, until yesterday morning when, a little after 9 o'clock, as the joint parade was about to start, Thomas Tosh, who claimed to be the spokesman for the committee, notified me that my acceptance of the Jr. O. U. A. M. invitation was returned. I would also state that had there been a dozen parades on the Fourth of July and had they been so arranged that I could have taken part in all of them I would deem it my duty to do so.

The Ladies.

The pleasant effect and perfect safety with which ladies may use the California liquid laxative Syrup of Figs, under all conditions, makes it their favorite remedy. To get the true and genuine article, look for the name of the California Fig Syrup Co. printed near the bottom of the package.

To the Public.

Remember your houses in a substantial manner by using enameled figures. The majority of the numbers placed on your houses five years ago were of a cheap and inferior material, therefore the figures, in a great many places, are corroded and in such a condition that a person not acquainted with the town and the whereabouts of your residence would not be able to locate you. I am prepared to, and have been requested by some of the leading citizens of your town, to re-number your buildings with the best enamel goods, and for prices within the reach of all.
