A PATRIOTIC SERMON.

Rev. Powick Tells His Congregation e

"Our National Holiday." The sermon on Sunday evening in the asked to note that these words of Christ be there on time, but on account of a presanctioned the idea that there are some things that belong to Cosar as well as some others that belong to God. They are a sentence of perpetual divorce of the civil was indulged by the Jews that as they were the peculiar people of God it was a would land him in Chicago at 9:45 on Tues species of idolatry to acknowledge allegiance to a heathen state by the payment of tax. Hence they sak "is it lawful"-not ware, Gold and Silver is it obligatory—but is it right "to pay tribute unto Cesar?" But although the imperious tyrant at Rome was utterly an-Watches, Diamonds, Precious tagoristic to every religious principle they venerated, Christ, refused to absolve them from their allegiance or to interfere in any way between their duty as cit zens and their duty as citizens and their duty as followers of God. At the same time He announced a principle of universal application to the effect that both church and state have their own respective apheres and that each is absolute in its own sphere; the church has no right to be political and the state has no right to be ecclesiastical. The reason the pages of ecclesiastical history are so stained with human blood is owing to the mistaken efforts of religionists to put together what Christ has put assunder. If the Son of God would not stand between to say that after concluding his argument the diabolical reign of Tiberius Cosar and its Jewish subjects where is the Son of Man that shall dare to interfere with the claims our country has upon its alien subjects? If they enjoy our hospitality and share the protection our laws afford let it be only or condition of rendering to our civil authority and institutions that which belongs to them. The cry of America for Americans is a most wholesome one when we understand by Americans those who are Americans in allegiance and sympathy. It ought not, however, to be a question as to whether a man was born in America but as to whether for the season. Parties wishing to secure America has been born in him. We have a day should write or call on O. A. Keim, more to fear from some of our natives than from some of our foreigners. Only those who render unto America the things that are America's are entitled to the proud distinction of Americans in its truest sense. And this foreignizes many natives and Americanizes many foreigners. The man who renders unto God the things that are God's is most likely to render unto Cassar the the thing that are Casar's. Followers of God make the best citizens and patriots. No man who is false to God is likely to be true to men. Many who pride themselves upon their loyalty and patriotism are wofully regardless of the claims of God. Patriotism can never become a substitute for piety. Patriotism can never save the country without piety. Man bears the image and superscription of God and therefore is, according to the Saviour's reasoning. bound to render himself to God if he would fulfil the measure of his duty. When the great masses do this our country will be safe and not till then. A Shame. "Yes, we have spent over one bundred dollars on Jennie's eyes," said Mrs. Mistake to Mrs. Sensible the other day-had her down to Philadelphia ten times; consulted three oculists, one after the other, and had a dozen pairs of glasses made, and yet Jennie has those dreadful headaches after studying an hour or so. It worries us greatly, because she can not keep up in her studies, and she is so ambitious" found our Katie's eyes were hurting her,' said Mrs. Sepsible, "and we took her to the eye Specialist from Queen & Co., who will be at the Ferguson House, Shenandoah, and he fitted her with glasses which she has worn ever since. I never saw her so well and happy as she has been ever since she put those glasses on. And the whole expense was only $10.00; she has a pair of exquisitely nest frameless gold eye glasses, and I think, although I am her mamma, that she looks really prettier with them on than off. Now, Mrs. Mistake, you just take Jennie to Queen's Specialist on Wednesday, July 6th, and I am sure you will have no more trouble. It will cost you nothing to make the experiment, as Queen's will take the glasses back and refund the money

The consequences might possibly be serious if the Limited should be late in reaching Chicago; but, trusting to its well-earned reputation for being always on time, the New Yorker decided to take it and run the risk. CHEAP TRIP TO NEW YORK.

Christian Endeavor Convention

The Eleventh Annual International Convention of the Christian Endeavor Societies will meet in New York City July 7th to 10th, and will be a monster gathering of christian workers from all over the globe. The Reading Railroad will sell special excursion tickets to New York on July 5th, 6th and 7th at the temptingly low rate of a single fare for the round trip. These will be good to return until July 15th, and upon compliance with certain conditions, which will be explained to purchasers. they will be extended until August 15th. This not only places attendance upon the convention within the reach of everybody interested in its objects, but it affords an unprecedented opportunity for everybody else to visit New York City. That powerful body, the Philadelphia Christian Endeavor Union, has selected the Reading Railroad's Royal Blue Line as the official route from Philadelphia to New York.

A Kansas Project. The world's fair board for Kansas is promoting a plan whereby it is expected that the expense of erecting the exposition building for that state will be borne by school pupils. The proposi-tion is to have all of the schools in the state observe a "world's fair day," by holding an entertainment with music recitations, tableaux, etc., to which small entrance fee will be charged. The proceeds are expected to be sufficient to pay for the state building. Over the entrance of the structure it is proposed to have the words: "Erected by the School Children of Kansas."
