Base Ball In and Out of Jail Receives Attention—The Prediction of a Democratic Politician.

HEY say the inmates of the county jail had a jolly time on the Fourth of July. Among the pastimes was a game of base ball within the prison walls and one of the players was Harry T. Hall, formerly a photographer of this place, but now an inmate of the jail under conviction for arson. He played short stop and it is said he ran the bases like a professional.

Speaking of base ball reminds me that Shenandoah, although not figuring actively in base ball circles at present, is in a position to put a club of local talent in the field that can give some of the would-be champions a defeat. A club went to Tamaqua yesterday and beat the famous club of that place by a score of 7 to 6. Heffron and Fitzgerald formed the battery for Shenandoah, and Fulmer and Wagner pitched and caught for Tamaqua.

"Lizzie! Can I meet you at 10 o'clock this evening up in my parlor? Everything will be all right."
The above is a copy of a note written on a notepad of one of the leading hotels in town and which accidentally fell into the hands of a HERALD reporter. If the writer of the note, or the woman to whom it was addressed, wish to regain possession of it he or she can do so. My only object in publishing it is to warn such people against allowing their clandestine correspondence to become public property. The important feature of the note is, that it seems to confirm the reports that some of our hotels are not being conducted as respectably as the proprietors pretend they are. Lizzie—ten o'clock at night—engagements are not tolerated at respectable hotels.

A resident of town who figures prominently in Democratic circles says this ticket will be nominated at the Democratic county convention: Congress, Hon. James B. Reilly; Judge, Hon. John Ryan; Coroner, Dr. Marshall; of Ashland; Poor Director, William Derr, of town.

Yesterday's HERALD reported an accident to Lizzie Thomas, the ten-year-old daughter of Widow Thomas, of West Lloyd street, but the injuries were not reported as serious as they have developed. Her tongue is badly swollen and all her teeth are loose. Lizzie found a torpedo on the street and bit it to see what it was made of. The torpedo exploded and the girl has been suffering great pain since.

I was reminded of olden times the other day when I saw the veteran Coal and Iron Policeman Peter Kreiger strike a light for his pipe. Kreiger carries with him pieces of flint and punk. He uses them expertly and can light his pipe without delay, and without the expense attending the purchase of matches. So far as I know he is the only man in town who is independent of the match trusts.

On the Fourth of July a group of townsmen were discussing the splendid weather afforded for the day and Jacob Bamberger's mind went back to thirty-two years ago. He said he distinctly remembered the weather conditions about the 4th of July, 1860, as on that day the Sunbury and Erie Railroad was formally opened between Williamsport and Lock Haven and he was one of the passengers on the train. The Fourth fell on Monday that year, as it did this year. On July 1st and 2nd the weather was extremely warm. On the morning the 3rd the sky became very black and there was a fall of heavy drops of rain, which, however, lasted but a short time. The weather then grew cold and that night quilts were resorted to for bedding. On the 4th it was so cold that fire-were called into play and stoves were eagerly sought for. The weather did not moderate until towards the close of the week. The conditions of the weather about the 4th this year are not unlike those spoken of by Mr. Bamberger.

Politically speaking, I think the Democratic party will have a choice stock of boomers on hand before the presidential campaign closes. A hue and cry has been raised against W. J. Campbell, the new chairman of the Republican National Committee, the Democrats charging that he is counsel for the great Armour beef trust. The charge is admitted and it is equally true that Armour is an ardent Cleveland man and he is trying to get

Campbell to resign from the committee so that he cannot work for Harrison's re-election.

The dedication of the Polish cemetery here on Sunday makes the list of cemeteries connected with local institutions number five. They are the Old Fellows', which includes the G. A. R. lot, the Annunciation, Jewish, Greek Catholic, Lithuanian and Polish. They are all within a stone-throw of each other and that part of the mountain is now justly entitled to the name "City of the Dead." The arrangements pertaining to the dedication of the Polish cemetery were such as indicated a great interest on the part of the people of that nationality in the undertaking. The ceremonies were preceded by a grand parade in which all the societies attached to the Polish Catholic church and the Warsaw Guards and Kociusko's. The music was furnished by the Polish, Lithuanian and Annunciation T. A. B. bands. The parade was a large one and the organizations made a fine appearance. The dedication ceremonies were under the direct supervision of Rev. J. A. Lenarkiewicz, pastor of the local church.

I notice that the Lithuanians, who severed their connection with the Polish church and had Robbins' opera house as their place of worship for several months past, have now vacated the latter place and are installed in the basement of the church they are building at the corner of Cherry and Jardin streets. The basement affords ample room, being 90 feet long and 53 feet wide in the clear. The congregation will hold services in the place until the church is finished, when it will be used for lodge and other meetings. In conversation with a prominent member of the congregation a few days ago I asked, "What is the number of people in your congregation—a thousand?" "A thousand? pshaw! We haven't got room enough for them all now, but when the church is ready we will have four thousand in it."

"Will you conduct a school in the basement?" "That I can't say. So far as I am concerned I think we have all the educational advantages we need in the public schools. Experience has taught me that, after sending children to the schools connected with churches you find upon transferring them to the public schools that they must start at the first class, so that there has been so much time lost. I send my children to the public schools and intend to keep them there."

A stranger stood at the corner of Main and Centre streets on Monday intensely watching the people. He seemed very much interested in their movements and nothing within sight escaped his notice. I approached him and opened a conversation. I learned that the stranger had never been away from his home in the southern part of the state on a Fourth of July and the passing panorama before him was a revelation. He looked first down Main street, and then up; then along Centre street, east and west. He expressed surprise that the stores were closed and thought the temptation to business men to keep their places open when the town was so crowded must have been great. He thought the people had a nice appearance and that their behavior was excellent, indeed the reports he had heard before coming to the coal region had so fixed his mind that the appearance of the people quite surprised him. He marveled that it took but five policemen to preserve order in the town with its mixed population of over 16,000. Our schools were equally surprising to him and, taking all in all, his opinion of the coal region had undergone a great change. He also spoke of the electric road, a trip he had over it, and the heavy traffic during the day. "The people have a great convenience in it and the company a bonanza," he concluded.

Reading Went Under.
A club of base ball players who claimed to be the Pastimes of Reading came to town yesterday and played a game at the trotting park against a picked nine. They were beaten by a score of 14 to 9. At one time the score stood 14 to 2, but the town pitcher, Scanlan, slackened a little and gave the visitors a chance. The game put up by the Pastimes was a poor one.

TALE OF TRIAL BY A JURYMAN

HIS EXPERIENCE IN DECIDING THE KELLY CASE.

THREATENED BY STARVATION

The Jurors Went Without Food for the First Twenty-Two Hours—How Some of the Ballots Resulted.

SO MUCH interest has been manifested in the result of the recent trial of the Kellys for the murder of Policeman Merget a HERALD reporter concluded to interview A. J. Gallagher, of town, who was one of the jury. Mr. Gallagher was seen at his place of business to-day. At first he was not inclined to talk, but he finally said with some feeling, "I don't wish to be locked up again like that. Oh, yes, we were treated all right taking it as a whole, but during the first part of our confinement I thought we were to be starved. And to increase the discomfort we were in a room just large enough for a table and twelve chairs, and there was not a strip of carpet or oil cloth upon the floor. It was gloomy, sure enough. We retired at about 4 o'clock Friday afternoon and shortly after took a ballot, which resulted in one for acquittal, three for second degree and eight for first degree."

BURGESS SMITH ANSWERED.

The Flag Raising Committee says it was Choice.

EDITOR HERALD:—In reply to the card of Chief Burgess Smith, in your issue of last evening, in reference to returning his acceptance of our invitation to participate in the J. O. U. A. M. parade on the Fourth, we would say the same was returned in order that his wishes in the matter of a choice might not in any manner be retarded by the fact that he had accepted an invitation from us previous to receiving a similar one from the other paraders. This fact did not prohibit him, nevertheless, from participating with us had he desired to do so, for our invitation to him was not withdrawn. Not knowing the time of the other parade, we only desired to extend to the Chief Burgess the privilege of parading with whom he desired, which privilege he has rightfully exercised in parading with those of his choice. THE COMMITTEE.
Shenandoah, Pa., July 6, 1892.

Whist Experts.

Upon invitation Messrs. William Neiman and L. J. Wilkinson, of town, went to Hazleton last evening and played a game of whist with Register Weaver and a Mr. Smith. Our townsmen won the game and then tried conclusions with two other gentlemen, the result being a draw. Messrs. Neiman and Wilkinson say they received royal treatment. It seems that whist games between experts of different towns are about to boom.

Mrs. Franey's Funeral.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Ellen Franey took place yesterday. It was a very large one, prominent people from all parts of the county being in attendance. Requiem High Mass was celebrated in the Annunciation church, the services being profoundly impressive. A glowing tribute was paid to the deceased as a devout christian and a faithful member of the church. Interment was made in the Annunciation cemetery.

TWELVE KILLED.

Terrible Riot at the Carnegie Works Reported.

SPECIAL TO EVENING HERALD.

PITTSBURG, July 6, 11 a. m.—The outbreak of trouble at works of the Carnegie steel works, Homestead, has taken place. A despatch just received here states that the strikers made an attack at half past nine o'clock this morning and twelve men of the Pinkerton force were killed outright. About sixty of the Pinkertons are reported injured, many of them dangerously. Thus far the loss of the strikers is reported at but six killed and twenty injured.

The people of Homestead are terror-stricken and it is hard to get reliable details. The tearing down of the sheriff's proclamation seems to have given the strikers renewed courage and they declare that they will fight until every plank of the high fence surrounding the Carnegie works is laid to the ground.

The sheriff and his posse are openly defied. The Governor has been asked to call out the militia.

A despatch just received says the request will be complied with at once.
