UNION MEN, READ.

Article 1, section 8, clause 1, of the Permanent Constitution of the Confederate states, adopted when in rebellion on March 11, 1861, was as follows:

shall have power to lay and collect taxes, duties and excises for revenue only, necessary to pay the debts, provide for the common defense and carry on the government of the Confederate states: but no bountles shall be granted from the treasury; nor shall any duties or taxes on importations from foreign nations be laid to promote or foster any branch of industry.

The Democratic National Conventiou adopted as its tariff platform June 22: 1892:

We declare it to be a fundamental principle of the Democratic party that the federal govand collect tariff duties except for the purpose of revenue only.

ANOTHER VIUTIM.

The New York Recorder says that boss, is another victim of Republican oppression. He began to feel the iron heel of the "Republican tariff tyranny" about the time he became a naturalized citizen. He was then very poor, not worth much more than a second-hand silver watch and a hand-me-down Sunday suit of clothes. He had a trade-that of a blackemith, we believe-at which he earned fair nearly every penny "for the benefit of at last gave it up in despair, joined Germany. of them at hone or abroad who is arrayed more magnificently then he. He has a handsome town mansion and an elegant country seat at a fashionable and select summer resort. Fast horses whirl him over the cour try roads, and liveried servants are at his beck and call.

But despite all this luxury, which comes from no one knows where, Richard's heart is still bowed down under the weight of the despotic tariff hat "is making the rich richer and he poor poorer"-that is "taking from the many to give to the few"out under which, strange to say, his wn bank account grows larger and arger with every sun that rises and be only rift in the cloud of his afflicion during many wears years appeared the other day at the Chicago onvention, when the hundreds of the orely oppressed delegates around him adopted the platform plank of "a tarff for revenue only." How he yelled and whooped the Tammany whoop intil he grew red in the face! That has been his cherished idea all his life -a tariff for revenue, especially Tammany revenue.

Richard Croker is, we believe, the only native-born Iri-hman who became the "Boss" of Tammany. It is a most interesting case of 'the robbery of the many for the benefit of the few."

WOMEN AS MONEY-SAVERS. Methods Sensible and Practical, Albeit Sometimes Ludicrous.

The fact that women are economical and money-savers is difficult to impress upon the minds of men as a class. The methods adopted by women are sensible and practical, sometimes ludicrous, and often pathetic, according to the position in which they are placed in regard to the amounts which fall to their lots to dispose of. There are a few Hetty Greens, and it is more wholesome for the race that her class is in an overwhelming minority. Money-savers of her kind are a detriment and not a benefit. One who denies herself even the common decencies, not to mention the necessaries of life, is not a good exam ple for others. Whenever a wonan is allowed a certain sum or earns a regular amount, with which all expense must be met, then she is better able to appreciate the relative values, and she will soon accustom herself to the best methods for procuring the most and best for her money. As a class women are more saving than men ever think of being. The wife of one of the most prom inent politicians this state has ever pro duced was the financier of the family and but for her ambition and faith in his abilities he would probably never have been known beyond the confines of his own county. Her far-sightedness in real estate purchases, which were exceedingly small at first, made for them a modest competency which gave him opportunities in furthering his political career. All the household labor was performed by her own hands, and the sale of dairy products gave them their first start. One plan was to buy a lot in a respect able quarter and place several houses upon it. The houses were not built there. The wife passing through the would find mas for anla chean if they were moved from the place. These were bought and placed on the lot mentioned, the cost being much less than a like structure when new. Fresh paper within and a coat of paint made them desirable to rent, and little by little the fortune was accumulated.

The officers of the building and loan associations have found thousands of woman stockholders. Young women fired with an ambition to own property and have a home of their home are paying weekly into the association hundreds of dollars. Many of them have to practice the most rigid economy in order to meet their obligations. The comparative newness of women in business life and their naturally sensitive consciences make them prompt, and dealers in real estate have found them, as a rule, desirable purchasers. In an organ-Richard Croker, the great Tammany ization recently started the plan is the same as that of a savings bank. Any sum may be deposited at any time and after the deposits amount to fifty dollars interest is paid to the depositor. Among the persons who have dealings with this association are women of our most fashionable sets, who entertain handsomely and seemingly have everything heart can wish. Their savings are sometimes as small as twenty-five cents, fifty cents, occasionally as many dollars. -Indianapolis Journal

YOUNG EASER RETURNS

But the Maspeth Mystery Seems No Nearer Solution.

CORONER THINKS HIM INNOCENT.

He Tells a Straightforward Story and Intreduces a New Character Into the Dark Tragedy of Lizzie Buhler's Death-His Statements Corroborated.

New York, July 6 .- The sensation in the Maspeth murder mystery yesterday was the return to his home of Joseph Easer, the young milkman whose disappearance at the time of the discovery of Lizzie Buhler's mutilated body on the railroad track gave rise to a suspician that he feared to remain in the neighborhood and face investigation.

Young Easer was cool and straightforward, and his manner went far toward convincing Coroner Brandon that he was ignocent of all complicity in the death of the unfortunate girl.

He was subjected to a rigid examination by Coroner Brandon, but he told a straight story, with the exception of a few insignificant contradictions.

After denying that he ever took Lizgie to a picnic he said he often met her at such festivities. He said he never called on her at her place of employment. At Feltman's picnic, six orseven weeks ago, he saw her with a strange man, who was thin, tall, well dressed, about 21 years of age, and rather dudish in appearance.

The last time he saw Lizzle was on Sunday a week ago, the Sunday before her death. He denied that Lizzie ever reproached him for any misconduct or told him she was in trouble.

The young man was released on his own recognizance and Coroner Brandon sent out his Pinkerton detective to verify his statements and the detective's report was in Easer's favor.

Efforts will be made to find the dudeish young man who Joe Easer saw with her at Feltman's pienic. Kate, who worked with Lizzle for the Snyder family, says that Lizzie frequently spoke affectionately of a young man, whose name she had forgotten. This proves Lizzie had another admirer. that Lizzie frequently

The neignborhood where the Bublers live is overrun by ruffians who "run pints," as it is called. When they meet a belated pedestrian they ask for the price of a pint of beer. Some persons believe Lizzie fell into the hands of one of these gangs.

NOT UP TO EXPECTATIONS. Liberals Disappointed Over the Results o the Elections. LONDON, July 6 .- The expectations of the Liberals as to gains in the metropolitan boroughs have not been realized. The Tories have gained 7 and the Libcrals 7 seats in the contests, leaving the Liberals a net gain of 8 seats, includin g Monday.

There is deep disappointment among the Liberals over the results in London, where it is evident that the success of the radical element in the County Council elections has not involved desertion of the Conservative ranks in the gen-

The Awful Experience Undergone by an Indiana Farmer.

In June, 1868, George Wellington, an Indiana farmer, fell into a trance which came near being the cause of his meeting a horrible death by being buried alive. Of course he was sup posed to be dead, and the doctor who was called to make the examination so declared. But as Wellington bad retired in perfect health the night before there were those among the neighbors and friends who strongly objected to any undue baste in putting the remains of the popular farmer under ground. Finally, however, arrangements for the burial were all completed and the supposed corpse loaded into hearse. After the remains had been deposited in the wagon of death, and before the procession had left the house a runaway team collided with the hearse and unceremoniously dumped the coffin out upon the hard ground This broke the trance, and the thor oughly frightened Wellington yelled "For God's sake let me out of this!" What happened prior to this lucky ac eident is related in the farmer's own words as follows: "I retired in my usual health, but noticed that I did not fall asleep until after midnight. When I awoke the clock was striking five. made a movement to get out of bed, but, to my amazement, could stir neither hand nor foot. I had full use of my ears, but could not open my eyes I argued at first that I was not yet wide awake, but when my wife shook me and called me by name and I could not respond by moving even an eyelid, I became satisfied that I was in a trance. My mind was never clearer and my hearing was painfully acute. I made effort after effort to throw off the weight that seemed holding me down, but it was not until after the doctor had pronounced me dead that I felt any real alarm. Up to that time it had seemed as if I could soon get rid of the weight. Had a gun been fired in the room I am sure the spell would have been broken, but after the doctor's ultimatum I felt sure that I was to be buried alive. Horrible thought! It was all of a sudden that it flashed across my mind, but it troubled me more than I can tell. As I had never died before, how was I to know the sensation? Could the dead hear and think? Was the mind of a corpse in active operation when preparations were being made to bury it forever? These were problems which I could not solve and the agony they caused me will never be known."-St. Louis Republic.
