Picnic. The St. Patrick's Band will hold a picnic in town on Labor Day, Sept. 5th. If Huckleberries Wanted. We are now buying huckleberries and expect to do so throughout the season. Nothing but good sound berries wanted. GOODMAN & BRO., No. 33 West Centre street, Shenandoah, Pa.

Will be a Success. The raspberry and ice cream festival to be given in Robbins' opera house on Saturday next, commencing at 3 o'clock p. m., is an assured success judging from the large number of tickets already sold. The Sons of Veterans have many friends in town who will assist them in making the affair a financial success.

Cool Shade Can be found at Vermillion, O., and those who wish to attend the camp meetings at that place during July and August can procure excursion tickets via the Nickel Plate from June 21st to August 23rd at special rates.

An Example. Four Hungarians, more or less under the influence of liquor, created a disturbance on an electric car at Girardville last night. One of them attempted to strike motor man Leckie on the head with a bottle. Three of them were arrested and were fined $5 each by a Girardville justice. Being unable to pay they were committed to jail. The fourth man got away.

Re-union of Class of '90. The members of the class of 1890, of the Shenandoah High School, held a reunion at the residence of Charles N. Beddall, on Saturday evening. All participating had a most delightful time. Those present were: Misses Annie Clausen, Emma Wasley, Elsie Connelly, Nellie O'Hara, Gerie Hess, Olive Lewis, M.ary McGuinness, Libbie Ovenshough, Mame B. Boyer; Messrs. James Fitzgerald, Jerry O'Hearn, Thomas Shea, Thomas Bell, Harry Wasley, Charles N. Beddall and Richard Ogden.

EDWARD JAMES'S ROMANCE. The sad story of a well-known sporting editor. New York, July 11.—The removal of Ed James, the old sporting editor, to Bellevue Hospital, suffering from insanity, was a sad shock to his many friends.

To those whose recollection of affairs in this city go back about 80 years, the name of Ed. James is connected with the erratic life of Adah Isaacs Menken, the actress. Ed James is believed to be the first man that made the writing of pugilistic events and matter a specialty. He contributed to the "Clipper" long before he became, in 1859, the sporting editor of that paper, and it was through Frank Queen, the proprietor of the sheet, that he became acquainted with Adah Isaacs Menken.

The actress was at that time the talk of New York. Handsome in form and figure, dashing, vivacious, talented with both pen and pencil, it was little wonder that she had almost every man who had ever met her, at her feet.

Originally her name had been Adah Isaacs. Then she married a Captain Menken, of New Orleans; James Barclay, a prominent gambler; John Heenan, the prize fighter, and "Orpheus C. Kerr" (Robert C. Newell) the writer. With none of her husbands did she live happily for any length of time, and the formalities of a divorce were dispensed with when she had tired of them.

It was while she was in the height of her New York success, when her performances of "Mazeppa," well calculated to show off her splendid proportions to the best advantage, was being given nightly to crowded houses, that James made her acquaintance, and became infatuated with her.

He followed her all over the continent, it is said, saw how the crowned heads bowed before her, and then when she was in the height of success, he caught cold in his eyes and had to remain behind to have them attended to. He visited the most prominent oculists in Europe, but they could do nothing for him.

In the meanwhile after a long series of splendid triumphs, Adah Isaacs Menken had died in poverty in Paris. James heard of her death when far away. He hurried to the French capital, sought out the grave, unmarked and unwept, in Pere La Chaise Cemetery, and over it erected a handsome monument. Then, heart-broken and almost blind, he returned to America.

In the year 1865, he held his position as sporting editor of the "Clipper". His eyes became somewhat better, but at last the constant strain upon them became too much, and he was forced to turn his attention from writing to the sale of sporting goods.

He occupied a small office in the "Clipper" building and did a prosperous business. Three months ago he sold out, and a week or two thereafter broke down with nervous prostration, which has resulted in the loss of his reason.

TO PRISON FOR LIFE. John Gleason's Sentence for Shooting James Daly. WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., July 9.—John Gleason, the war veteran, who was convicted of murder in the second degree, in having shot James Daly, a grocer of Portchester, was sentenced by Judge Dykman this morning to life imprisonment in Sing Sing Prison.

When he was asked if he had anything to say, he told the court that he did not think he had a fair trial. Judge Dykman told the prisoner that he was lucky in escaping with a sentence of imprisonment for life, instead of being sentenced to die in the electric chair. Gleason was immediately taken to Sing Sing by Under Sheriff Pugsley.

Mrs. Parnell Wants Her Son's Property. New York, July 11.—Mrs. Della Parnell has applied for letters of administration upon the estate of her son. It appears that the widow has taken up letters, but has taken no measures to obtain possession of his property in this country. The mother says he owned no real estate, but that he has about $15,000 in securities. She wants her counsel, Lawyer Byrd, appointed administrator of the estate.

Election of Officers. The military company of the Sons of Veterans will hold an election of officers this evening.

For Almost Nothing. Max Reese has just received a large stock of tablets, writing paper, envelopes, etc., purchased at an Assignee's sale and is selling them at 50 per cent. less than regular prices.

A Former Citizen Dead. Benjamin F. Hackett, a former citizen of this borough, died at Latrobe last week. Deceased enlisted in the war of the rebellion and served until discharged March 24, 1865. He was married to a Miss Lizette Thompson at Jeddo in 1867. He was a first cousin to Ben. Haskey, of town.

On Duty Again. D. J. Connors, who was a member of the paid police force of town until the last organization of Council, was on Saturday made a member of the C. & L. police force, succeeding a man named Titus, of St. Clair. Connors went on duty immediately after his appointment. He is in Lieutenant Daniels' division.

The Band Photographed. The Grant Band was photographed yesterday afternoon by Photographer William A. Kosogy, the object being to present one of the pictures to Prof. Zeitz, the leader of the band, who will leave for Germany in the near future. The band desires to thank Superintendent Baird for the use of his field.

A Narrow Escape. George Harler, who boards at Weeks' hotel on South Main street, had a narrow escape from very serious, or fatal, injuries, early yesterday morning. In a fit of somnolence he fell from a rear second story window of the hotel into the yard. His right foot received a deep cut, and the right side of his body and head, and his right arm received painful bruises.

Columbia's Anniversary. The members of Columbia H. & S. F. E. Co., No. 1, of town, celebrated its twenty-second anniversary by taking their wives and sweethearts for a day's outing at Lakeside. About two hundred citizens, not members of the company, accompanied them on a special train to the delightful resort.

OFF FOR LAKESIDE. Twelve Coaches Were Filled With Merry Picnickers This Morning. When the special train left the Reading station this morning it consisted of twelve coaches and two cars for provisions, games, etc. The coaches were filled with happy men, women and children, all intent on having as good a time possible before the train returned. The Methodists are great on giving successful picnics and this one-to-day will live long in the memory of those who were there. Lakeside is such an admirable place for public gatherings and quick as the special reached there the grounds were soon occupied by Shamokinites.

From adjoining towns a few invited people were also there. From the moment of arrival the pleasure commenced in diversified manner. The lake was quickly occupied by joyful boating parties, while many thronged its beautiful banks. Up in the grove swings were put up, hammocks adjusted, base ball matches instituted and numerous pretty lanes invaded. The bicyclist sported on the Barnesville road, and daring young men brasted the deep waters of a large mill dam, a mile distant from the park. Old folks busied themselves preparing for dinner and on all sides contentment and joy prevailed.—Shamokin Herald.

Specimen Cases. S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism; his Stomach was disordered, his Liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Spaker, Catawba, O., had five large Fever sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by G. H. Hagenbach, Druggist.

Best photographs and crayons at Dabb's The Gibbons Funeral. The funeral of the late Edward Gibbons took place yesterday afternoon from the residence of his mother, on East Centre street. The remains were interred in the Annunciation cemetery. The pall bearers were James Quinn, Martin Durkin, Thos. Reilly and Michael Lally, of town, and John Duffy and John Gordon, of St. Clair. A coroner's jury has decided that Gibbons' death was accidental.
