CYRUS W. FIELD'S DEATH. The Announcement No Surprise-Sketch of the Financier's Life.

NEW YORK, July 18 .- The announce ment yesterday of the death of Cyrus W. Field at his country home in Ardsley Park, near Dobbs Ferry, was no surprise, as his demise had been momentarily ex-pected for some time. He passed away during one of the violent spells of delerium from which he has suffered during his illness.

Cyrus W. Field was born in Stockbridge, Mass., December 30, 1819. At the age of fifteen he came to New York city. He went to A. T. Stewart for employment and got it. At the age of twenty-one he began the manufacture of paper. After twenty-live years of hard work Mr. Field decided to drop the paper business and look elsewhere for the fortune he de-ermined to win.

Visiting Europe, he became convinced that a telegraphic cable could be laid and successfully operated across the Atlantic. He interested such men as Peter Cooper Marshall O, Roberts, Moses Taylor and Chancellor White and they joined him in the investment of $1,000,000 as the American end of the proposed company.

a noble historic event, an English and American frigate parting in mid-ocean, each carrying one-half of the cable and laying it as they proceeded homeward. When messages were exchanged between President Buchanan and Queen Victoria cannon were fired in almost every city in the Union, and a grand procession and dis-play of fireworks took place in New York. But the cable broke, and though efforts were made to repair it, the enterprise

The Civil war rendered it impossible for Mr. Field to procure sufficient capital for another and improved cable. He did not, however, loss heart, for in 1865 the huge steamship Great Eastern was sent across the Atlantic with the second cable. After 1,200 miles had been laid the line

In 1876 Mr. Field turned his attention to rapid transit in New York, and obtained control of the New York Elevated Railway Company. In this enterprise he was joined by Samuel J. Then there came a consolidation under the name of the Manhattan. Later Mr. Field attempted to fight the Wall street octopus, which effort resulted in his losing control of his elevated rail-road interests, at a cost estimated all the way from $1,000,000 to $5,000,000. Of late years Mr. Field has devoted himself to the care of his real estate property, his advanced age and failing health compelling him to husband his strength. Personally Mr. Field was a very genial man, and he had many friends in all parts of the world, for he was an exten-sive traveller.

LAW AND ORDER REIGN

No Resistance Offered the Military By the Strikers.

FRATERNAL FEELING PREVAILING.

Workmen and Bluecoats Join Hands and Drink Together-Gen. Snowden's Summary Disposition of the Advisory Committee--Carnegie Man in Pittaburg to Strike To-Morrow if President Frick Persists in Refusing to Treat With the Amalgamated Association .- The Congressional Investigating Committee, HOMESTRAD, Pa., July 13 .- Law and order have been once more established in Homestead. It is martial law, and Maj.-Gen. Snowden is Dictator. Armed men, in blue coats adorned with brass buttons, have succeeded other armed men who had no authority of law.

A review of events shows a change so radical that few who have been here since the bloody repuise of the Pinkertons can scarcely realize its full meaning. With the first tap of the pioneer drum corps came the death-knell of the authority of the Advisory Committee of the workmen. Regiment after regiment marched along the dusty roads and impressed the people by their solid ranks, their superb discip-line. All day long they continued to arrive-infantry, cavalry and artillery-un-til the town became fairly flooded with blue uniforms.

The Advisory Committee of the Amalgamated Association called on Major Snow den at Brinton during the night and told him of the decision reached at the mass meeting of the strikers to receive the militia with band and hossauahs. Gen. Snowden said that he did not want any onstration

He refused information as to the time his division would arrive in Homestead. Then he sent the committee back. The committee could do nothing. It had no information on which to arrange the pro-posed reception, and furthermore it knew Gen. Snowden would be offended if it car-ried out the objects of the mass meeting. The lodges of workingmen that expected to form in bodies and give formal welcome to the military were not called into

Between 9 and 10 o'clock a boy rushed down the main street in Homestead to-wards the railroad station and should to the people that the soldiers had arrived. The day was clear and while the sun was a trifle hot, a finer day for the entry of the troops could not have been selected. Business in the town was at a standstill and verything assumed a holiday appearance. Notwithstanding the proclamation of the Burgess numbers of women and children rangess numbers of women and children were on the streets. Young girls in their best gowns were seeking places from which to view the boys in blue as they marched into town.

Maj.-Gen. Snowden and Adjutant Green-land were in command.

The 18th Regiment was the first to arrive. There were two trains containing the 5th, 10th, 12th and 18th regiments, a number of freight trains with sixth horses and two gondola cars with three Gatling guns and two cannon. Sever al companies were at once placed on guard, and Eighth avenue from City Farm lane to Munhall is closed to civil-

There were few people at the station when the train arrived. They were nearly all locked-out men. They watched the soldiers sullenly while they unloaded their arms and cannon.

strangers attracted to town by the un-usual proceedings, and militiamen off duty. The soldiers were placed on duty where the supplies were being unloaded. The Council of the borough after discus sing the situation adopted resolutions re-questing the officers in charge of the State troops to keep their men out of the saloons of the town and thus prevent them from becoming intoxicated and causing trouble The Council Informed the officers that the town is at peace and quiet, and when the local authorities failed to preserve the peace they would call upon the troops for assistance. Until that time they asked that the troops be kept out of the town for the good of all concerned.

TROOPS ORDERED OUT.

Now on Their Way to the Scene of the Idaho Riots.

WALLACE, Idaho, July 13,-It is now reported that twenty non-union men were killed in the explosion of the mill in the 'Frisco mine in the Cour d'Alene Monday.

The renewal of the struggle between the union miners and the mine owners of the region has caused great excitement in

The Governor and the United States Marshal at Boise City have been thor-onghip posted on the situation. Gov. Willy became satisfied that it would be impossible for the militia to deal with a determined mob. He therefore sent a message to President Harrison re-questing that troops be sent to the scene of the riots, and Government troops are now

The fors, and obveriment triops are now on their way to the mines. The Governor has also ordered the militia companies at Weiser, at Moscow and at Haily to hold themselves in readiness to march.

The strike in the Cour d' Alene began about nine months ago and came to a head Monday, when the fight between the union and non-union men occurred at the 'Frisco and Gem mines, in the town of

Gem. According to the only definite and confirmed report received from the scene six men were killed and seven wounded during the fight.

The union men have declared their intention to clear the region of non-union men. The Cœur d'Alene strike started about nine months ago, when the Mine Owners' Association organized to resist the de-mands of the Miners' Union. The wages of miners and shovellers were reduced from $3.50 to $3 a day.

The streets are crowded with miners who are determined to stand firm and further trouble is expected.

WASHINGTON, July 13 .- Senators Shoup and Dubois of Idaho received the following telegram last evening from Attorney-General George H. Roberts, dated Boise City: "One thousand armed miners have pos-session of Bunker Hill and Sullivan Mine, Inspector-General Curtis, now at Wallace, wires the Governor that a full regiment of regulars will be required. In my opinion, additional troops should be sent from Walla Walla or Fort Spokane. Heiburn concurs in this. Cannot this at once be done! The mob must be crushed by overwhelming force: we cannot retreat now. Please explain situation to President. Answer.

SILVER FIGHT TO-DAY

General Opinion That the Blll Will Be Defeated.

BOTH FACTIONS FIRM, HOWEVER.

Uncertainty As to How the Republicans Will Vote-Depression Among Some Silver Men on Account of the Decision to Amend-Senator Stewart's Views.

WASHINGTON, July 13 .- The great silver battle commences to-day, and both factions are just as confident now as ever. It is probable that the fate of the Stewart free counge bill will be settled by to-morrow at the latest.

The advocates and opponents of the measure have been laboring industriously for their respective causes, but the result of the fight is still problematical. The action of Monday night's caucus in de ciding to amend the bill, the silver men claim, is favorable to them, as the amend ments cure the defects upon which the opposition of certain members had been based. This is not admitted by the antisilver men, who claim that the men who opposed the measure will continue to do so on principle and not on technicall ties

The probable attitude of the Republicans has become an important factor in the matter, and both factions have evinced a great deal of anxiety upon this point. It was reported last evening that the Republicans had a decided disposition to join the antis and bury the bill at the first opportunity. A greater unanimity exists among them now, it is said, than when the Bland bill was before the House.

The concensus of opinion, owing to the belief that the Republicans will oppose the bill at all stages, is to the effect that the measure will be defeated. The most ardent silver men appear depressed by the decision to amend the bill, for even in the event of its passage in the House they are aware that the Senate is dangerous ground, and the course of the bill in that body will be very uncertain. "What do you think of the decision to amend the Silver bill in the Housef" was amend the Silver bill in the House!" was asked Senator Stewart last night. "It looks dark for the people," was his response. "There is a movement looking for the defeat of the bill. The men who voted for it, I know, say they are silver men, but they are not its true friends. It is ridenious to ear that the receal of a is ridiculous to say that the repeal of a law villates a contract made under the provisions of that law. I fear that we shall see sad times unless the basis of our circulating medium is broadened, and that are not be the same set of the s that can only be done by making sliver a full money metal. The area of the gold base is constantly decreasing, both rela-tively and actually."

EDUCATORS AT SARATOGA.

Thousands Assemble to Hear President Harrison's Address.

SARATOGA, July 13.-Hundreds of educators arose early in the hope of seeing President Harrison. The red and white badges of the members of the National Education Association were more prevalent than race track badges in August. At 7 o'clock the President was ready to re-ceive the officers of the association.

At7:45 o'clock the escort, consisting of At 7:43 o clock the escort, consisting of the Saratoga citizens' corps and a delega-tion from Post Wheeler, G. A. R., with President Cook and the committee from the association, arrived at the car, and in a few minutes the president appeared and was greated with applause. Seated in a carriage he was driven to Congress Hall, where he breakfasted with the officers of the association. After breakfast he was escorted to Congress Spring Park. There 3,000 people had gathered.

As the President stepped upon the plat-form there was a burst of applause, which he acknowledged with a bow

The jury took the view, urged by Madame Reymond's counsel, that she was not responsible for what she did, and that her brain was affected by the evidence of her husband's infidelity with Madame Lassimonne.

Counts Bismarck and Rantsau to Resign.

BERLIN, July 18 .- It is rumored that in consequence of the strain caused by Prince Bismarck's recent utterances, Count Wilhelm Bismarck will resign the presidency of the regency of Hanover, and Count Rantsau, husband of Prince Bismarck's daughter, Marle, will resign his connection with the diplomatic service.

Editors Off on an Excursion.

HARRISHURG, Pa., July 13.-A special train of six conches bearing several hun-dred members of the Pennsylvania State Editorial Association on their annual ex-cursion, left this city at 8:40 a. m. for Scranton. Most of the members were so-companied by their wives.

The camp of the National Guard is on a plateau at the top of a high hill directly south of the Carnegie Mill property and the city farm mills and overlooks not only the Carnegie plant but the borough of Homestead and many miles of surrounding country. The camp is about 300 yards distant from the celebrated high fence which in-closes the mills and the city farm.

Guards are stationed along Eighth avenue, upon which street the mills front. When be upon which street the minis front. The troops suffered considerably from the heat as they marched from the railroad up the steep hill to their camp. When the different regiments had taken their positions the men threw themselves upon the ground and stretching their rub-ber blankets from the bayonets of four muskets formed a screen from the rays of the sun.

The camp ground is a meadow from which the grass had not been cut and it made a very comfortable resting place for the men, most of whom were tired out after their all night's experience in the cars. It took several hours to unload the men and move them to their stations on the hill That the troops did not come to Home-stead upon any idle errand is shown by the fact that each man has ten rounds of ammunition and is equipped for active service.

Passes were issued to the militiamen with very little discretion as to the num-ber, and within an hour of the arrival at the camping ground the streets of Home-stead were filled with a dusty, tired lot of soldiers. They mingled with the locked-out Carnegie mill men and drowned all differences in beer at the many saloons, which were wide open. There were 200 special policemen on duty, but they made no attempt to main-tain order so long as no actual disturb-ance occurred. Numbers of militiamen were under the influence of liquir by noon and some of the strikers kept them company. For some unknown reason John Mo Luckie, the Burgess of the horough, turned his authority over to Assistant Burgess Byrne. The latter did his best to preserve order. Shortly after noon he went to the brewery upon the hill back of Homestead and finding about 500 soldiers there in various stages of intoxication, he ordered the place closed. The militiamen became quite bolster-ons and rows with strikers were narrowly avoided. One man in the uniform of the State after drinking freely expressed himsolf in uncomplimentary terms in regard to the strik vs. Two men broke for him, but a number of militiamen closed in around him and he made a hurried return

COAL TO GO HIGHER.

An Advance of Fifty Cents Said to Have Been Determined Upon.

NEW YORK, July 13 .- Philadelphia dispatches say that it has been decided by the Reading combine to advance anthracite coal prices 25 cents a ton August 1, thus establishing a basis of $4.75 for stove coal.

The programme is said to be to make the highest price of the year $5, and if things work right another and final advance of 25 cents will be made on Septem-

Much depends on how the August advance is taken. Some of the New York interests think $4.75 high enough. The July price is 25 cents above the highest price of last year, and every advance of 25 cents now means $1,000,000 net to the Reading Coal & Iron Company.
