THE PASTIME PARK OPENING

THOUSANDS VISITED THE GROUNDS SATURDAY.

GRANT BAND PICNIC A SUGGEST

The Electric Railway Did a Tremendous Business and the New Park Branch Worked Very Satisfactorily.

A large assemblage such as attended the opening of Pastime Park, near Wm. Penn, Saturday, is seldom seen down the valley. Notwithstanding picnics were held simultaneously at Turkey Run, Lost Creek, Raven Run and Girardville, people flocked from all these points and other places, including this town, to Pastime Park to share in pleasure afforded by the picnic of the Grant Band.

Pastime Park is a success. It is a beautiful place molded by nature for a pleasure resort. Its location is superb. One standing upon the immense dancing platform can have a splendid view of the valley. Looking from the main line of the electric road one is led to ridicule the assertion that nature has afforded any shade for the park, but closer observation shows that one of the prettiest groves of maple, oak and chestnut trees is just where the park is located. To the west of the dancing platform there is a natural terrace upon which people may be seated and watch the evolutions of the dancers.

The electric railway branch connecting the park with the main line was also opened for the first time Saturday night. The branch is about two-thirds of a mile long. One car was run and it made regular connections with all cars on the main line going east and west. The track is a little "stiff" just now, but will be made perfect in a few days.

The structures now upon the grounds are the steam carousel, the rejuvenated Columbia dancing platform and several refreshment stands. Others will be added in time. For the short period which the management has had to make accommodations the work already done has been remarkable.

Enough for the park. Now for the picnic. It was one of the most delightful affairs the band has ever held. It was also a splendid financial success. The electric railway was taxed to its utmost capacity to get the people there and cars from all points were literally packed. One car that left here at 10 p. m. carried 130 passengers. The people clung to the back and sides of the cars as they clung to a molasses barrel. They were not all men and boys by a long shot. Young women were on hand in large numbers and did not leave a six-inch space on the car-step undilled. It was one of the greatest nights for traffic the road has yet had and the band had a large patronage from the crowd.

The Union Cornet Band, of Centralia, and the Liberty Band, of Wm. Penn, were in attendance. Both played several selections, the Union band playing on the dancing platform under the leadership of Prof. Zeitz, who is the instructor of that organization as well as the Grant Band.

The music discoursed by both bands was excellent and the Grant Band extends its thanks to them. The dancing music was furnished by the Schoppe orchestra of ten pieces and was of the usual excellent standard.

Right Kind of Talk.
 The executive committee announced by Chairman Davis is not received with satisfaction in all the districts, more particularly as there are so many new men appointed. We are not ready at this time to question the wisdom of his choice. The mere fact of their being new men is not sufficient to condemn them, and if they turn in and conduct a successful campaign, there should be no room for complaint. Those who wanted to get on and didn't, can console themselves by the fact that they are thus relieved of lots of hard work.—Mahanoy Tribune.

PERSHING NOMINATED.

Majority of Over Sixteen Hundred on the First Ballot.

POTTSVILLE, July 18, 2:30 p. m.—The Democratic county convention met at 11:45 o'clock this morning and was called to order by County Chairman Marr, of Ashland.

J. J. Monaghan, of Shenandoah, was made permanent chairman.

J. B. Kline, S. Krebs and J. T. Mc Loughlin were made secretaries.

John Rattigan, of Mill Creek, nominated Hon. Cyrus L. Pershing for Judge.

John Dolphin, of Mahanoy City, nominated Hon. John W. Ryan.

Pershing was nominated on the first ballot, the result being:

Pershing..... 5,122
 Ryan..... 3,473

Pershing's majority..... 1,649

The convention adjourned at 2 p. m. for recess amid great enthusiasm. The Pershing men were exceedingly jubilant.

The balance of the ticket will probably be this: Congress, James B. Reilly; District Attorney, James W. Ryan, Frackville; Coroner, Dr. Marshall, Ashland; Poor Director, William Derr, Shenandoah.

ARGUMENT POSTPONED.

The Injunction Suit Against the Borough Holds Fire.

The injunction case of the Shenandoah Water and Gas Company against this borough was before the court at Pottsville this morning for argument, but D. C. Henning, Esq., counsel for the company, asked for a postponement of thirty days pending the fixing of a date for argument. The court granted the request. This seems to be an indication that the case will not be argued before September.

Borough Solicitor Pomeroy then offered a bond of $10,000 in behalf of the borough, the intention being to secure ex-Senator Torbert against damages arising out of the borough taking the stream and property they want for the proposed public water works.

D. C. Henning, Esq., who is also Mr. Torbert's attorney, objected to the bond. The court took the bond. An argument on it will probably be made when the injunction case comes up.

THE GREAT FESTIVAL.

Formal Announcement of the Competitions and Prizes.

In another column of the HERALD will be found a formal announcement of the competitions to take place at the great musical festival to be held at Lakeside on Monday, August 15, and the prizes to be awarded. The festival will be on a grander and more expensive scale than last year and it is expected at least 10,000 people will be present.

The prizes offered are ample and the conditions are such as to admit competition by all who take an interest in such festivals. As a musical event the affair will be a feast. Prof. Clark, of Philadelphia, has been engaged to make the adjudications and Rev. Fred Evans, also of the Quaker city, will be the conductor.

Particular attention is called to the notice in the advertisement requiring that the names of all competitors shall be in the hands of the secretary by August 1st.

AN EXPLOSION AT ELLENGOWAN

EXAGGERATED REPORTS CONCERNING IT.

SO SAID THE MINE BOSSSES

But a "Herald" Reporter Who Could Glean Nothing From Them Learned That it Was Quite Serious.

HIS town was thrown into a state of great excitement this morning by a report that there had been an explosion of gas in the Ellengowan colliery.

The Ellengowan colliery, accompanied by Clays, Palmer and B. R. Severn, drove to the colliery and found that the report was true so far as it related to an explosion, but that the location and results were exaggerated.

From what the HERALD reporter could learn only one man was a victim of the explosion, and he suffered by being closed in a heading. His name is Gustave Miskell and he boards on Popular street, in this town.

Miskell worked in breast No. 16 of the west mammoth gangway. His "butty" was not out to-day.

When the reporter and others stood at the head of the shaft Inside Foreman Brown appeared and ordered everybody away. "You are on the company's grounds," said he.

The reporter advanced and said, "Mr. Brown, Shenandoah is in a state of excitement over a report that there has been a terrible explosion in these mines and I have come to learn the truth."

"There has been an explosion, but nobody was hurt. There is a man inside, closed in, but he is neither burned or hurt."

"How do you know?"

"I was in there half an hour ago and was talking to the man."

"Did you see him?"

"No."

The reporter waited until it was time to make his return to the HERALD hoping that Assistant Superintendent Broughall would come out of the mine but he did not do so.

After recess for dinner the breaker started up and work went on, including hoisting out of the shaft, as if nothing had happened.

It was said that this was done to show the explosion had no serious results.

Miskell's brother was at the head of the shaft and begged to be allowed to go down and help rescue his brother. He was told that Gustave was all right and ordered off the grounds with the rest. He left declaring that he would see if there were not some means by which he could learn more of his brother.

The HERALD reporter met, at some distance from the shaft, a Pole who had left the mine. He said that the explosion was more serious than the bosses cared to make known. He said the explosion occurred in a breast, but he did not know which one, or how it occurred. Tons upon tons of coal were started, he said, and several timbers in the gangway were blown out. The whole place was choked up. Miskell was not burned or hurt, he believed, but closed in a heading. He feared the man would be suffocated.

A report was started that two other men were closed in with Miskell. Their names were given as Flanigan and Broderick, but this report was modified by a statement that they were inside trying to get Miskell out.

Up to the time the HERALD went to press no additional particulars were received and the result seemed to be as already learned by the reporter, that Miskell was doomed to suffocation and the mine was badly damaged by the explosion.

It is said that after August 1st all the chair cars run on the Lehigh Valley railroad will be removed and Pullman cars run in their stead. The Reading runs Pullman cars on all its system, and the rumor is likely well founded. During Wednesday afternoon's terrific storm at Freedom, George Malinski and his wife stood by the side door of their residence when lightning struck the building, shattering it considerably and killed Mrs. Malinski. Friends and neighbors rushed to their assistance. Medical aid was summoned, and in the meantime a trench was dug and the woman placed therein, and covered with earth, this being proposed by a bystander as bringing back life in such cases. All this was of no avail as the woman was dead. Her body turned black immediately.

 Benjamin Richards again took charge of the Cambria House, at the corner of Centre and Jardin streets, to-day. After the recent sheriff's sale at the hotel the license of the place was transferred from I. H. Carl to Mr. Richards, who installed Carl as manager. To-day Mr. Richards assumed full control. He will make several improvements in the place and intends to make it as popular as in former days.
