REV. POWICK'S SERMON.

An Interesting Discourse in the Methodist Episcopai Church.

The sermon at the Methodist Episcopa sharch on Sunday evening was from Psalm 50-23; 'Whose offereth praise glerifieth God, and to him that ordereth his conversation aright will I show the salvation of God." This Psalm shows the vanity of a heartless service. It teaches us that God decires our loving obedience rather than our sacrifices; it shows that grateful praise and contrite tears are infinitely more precious in the sight of God than slaughtered hecatombs or mountains of

One might have supposed that one high and lofty, so pure and holy, would be indifferent to man's praises. Some vain and foolish people affect to be insensible to either the praise or blame of their fellowsas though such a thing were possible-bu not so with God. He goes so far in condescending love as to assure us that "whose offereth praise glorifleth God," We often estimate the value of praise by the rank of him who bestows it but the great God is glorified by the praise of the "Whoso evers." Perhaps the reason is because their praise implies their sensibility to his goodness. It shows they are not living in forgetfulness of God. It lifts them out of that most offensive class of sinners, in the sight of God, the thoughtless ingrates. 1 also involves the idea of their sense of un worthyness to receive the mercies for which they offer praise.

The word praise in this passage also implies confesion as though the contrite suppliant at the throne of grace blend d thanksgiving and confession with his plea for pardoning mercy-with such eacrines God is well pleased. Such ascriffor return n blessing to the devont worshipper They prepare the way for the exhibition to him of the salvation of God. No one can "order his conversation aright" and leave out of the account his obligation to God. And after all that he can do he still needs 'the salvation of God."
