THE WHITE STREET SCHOOL BUILDING

IT IS TO BE MADE PERFECTLY SAFE.

CONTRACT FOR WORK AWARDED

To a Competent and Reputable Builder and Architect Who Promises to Make it as Good as Ever.

Builders and architects, and civil engineers, have had their last inning of speculation concerning the safety of the White street school building. Arrangements were made last night by which all doubts will be set at rest.

Some days ago the HERALD referred to a visit to town by Mr. William Gates, an architect and builder of Harrisburg, and an opinion by that gentleman that the building could be saved at a very slight expense. Yesterday Mr. Gates again came to town, upon invitation of the School Board, and made another inspection of the building and at a special meeting of the board last night he made his report.

Mr. Gates pointed out the weak points of the foundation walls and discussed various methods of remedying them with members of the board.

Director Muldoon read a letter from a Bloomsburg builder, named Dawson, in which the writer said that other engagements prevented him taking charge of the work, but he recommended another Bloomsburg builder as a suitable party to receive the contract.

After the letter had been read one of the directors asked Mr. Gates if he would undertake to do the work for $1,000. Mr. Gates said, "Make it $1,200 and it is done."

Upon a request for a proposition in writing Mr. Gates immediately complied, pledging himself to tear out the old foundation walls between the outside windows in the north and south walls, replacing them in a substantial and workmanlike manner, and to turn the building over to the board in a perfectly safe condition by September 1st, next, for the sum of $1,200.

The board accepted the proposition at once and seemed highly pleased that a reputable builder would bind himself to give the splendid structure a new lease of life at such a reasonable figure.

Said one of the directors last night, "this is a great saving to the board. We had calculated on spending $10,000 to replace the building with a new one."

"Yes," added another, "and we have Wilbur Sadler to thank for it. When the tearing down of the building was spoken of he said that it seemed to him that some architect or builder could contrive means to save the building. That was at a time when everybody seemed convinced that the building was doomed. But Wilbur said that he was confident that he knew a builder and architect in Harrisburg who could do the work, and to back up his belief he offered to bring the man here upon the condition that if an examination showed that the building could be saved the board would pay the expense of bringing the builder here. If it could not be saved, Wilbur was to foot the bill."

"But wasn't another builder here before Gates and said the building could be saved?" asked a bystander.

"That is true enough," responded Sadler's champion, "but Wilbur Sadler made his proposition before the Bloomsburg man was thought of but his man, Mr. Gates, was unable to come here on account of a death in his family. You may say what you like, Wilbur Sadler deserves credit for preventing that building from being torn down."

DISASTROUS RUNAWAY.

Two Men Injured at Girardville—One May Die.

Yesterday a team hitched to an ice wagon on Parker street, Girardville, ran away and while dashing along the street at a terrific pace, collided with a green truck wagon. Two Italians seated on the latter vehicle were thrown violently to the ground and seriously injured. It is feared one of them will die. Their horse was so badly injured that it may be necessary to kill it. The ice wagon was completely wrecked, but the horse escaped with a few bruises. The town was greatly excited over the occurrence and steps will be taken to compel ice men to have their horses guarded while they are delivering ice.

POLITICAL POINTS.

Local, County, State and National Themes Considered.

"Big Steve and Little Steve." You'd be in clover if you had all our Trade you turned over. But we won't have it, see—Adlai and Grover?

Fun ahead, when the campaign opens: The fellows now making threats to bolt this or that candidate will be the first to take their own medicine.

Down the Shenandoah valley, between Shenandoah and Ashland, there is much dissatisfaction over Peregine's nomination. The Ryons—James and John—have been badly treated by the Democratic party in this county. Kick; that is the only way to get even. It pays every time.

J. Harry James, of Ashland, is not dismayed. He is certain of being elected District Attorney in November, and he knows what he is talking about.

Left again. The News wanted Stapleton nominated for the Legislature in the Third district, but Follweiler drew the prize.

In the First ward there are a number of Democratic kickers, but when the boss comes around they will fall into line and take it straight.

Tamaqua, with her sure-to-be-nominated candidates, was badly left on Monday. Everything went Pottsville.

Pottsville got the Judge, Congressman and District Attorney and north of the mountain the Poor Director. Shenandoah is expected to supply the votes to elect the ticket, however.

John W. Ryan, as an independent candidate for Judge, is the talk of the town.

The News, it is said, will support Koch for Judge. We suggest to Mr. Koch that he get out an injunction against that paper if he does not want to get swamped.

Tracey made an honest Director of the Poor; that is the reason he was not re-nominated.

The Democrats came near making it three R's—Ryan, Reilly and Ryan. That was the "skate" of the News followers.

Will the News eat crow again on Sunday? The dish ought to be palatable now. It swallowed Cleveland.

PERSONAL.

George Moll, of Minersville, is visiting friends in town.

Harry L. Roxby was the guest of friends at Shamokin yesterday.

Mrs. John T. Thomas, of Richland, N. J., is visiting relatives in town.

Richard Dabb went to Tamaqua this morning to attend the funeral of a friend.

John Robbins and family will go to Ocean Grove on Friday to spend the summer.

B. L. Talley, Jr., of Baltimore, is spending a few weeks in town the guest of friends.

Misses Ollie Lewis, Maggie Powell and May Cather spent yesterday with friends at Centralia.

Misses Maud Johns, Nettie Levine, Mabel Glover and Sadie Reese are visiting friends in St. Clair.

George M. Boyer and William Llewellyn spent yesterday at Pottsville doing work on a house for Mrs. Lamb, of town.

Hugh O'Donnell, one of the Homestead labor leaders, is an old Tamaqua boy and, we believe, a cousin of ex-Senator Watson of town.

Mr. Graham, representing Megargue & Bro., of Scranton, and W. B. Blitting, of the Nescocagus Manufacturing Co., Philadelphia, were in town yesterday.

John McGee, of Plymouth, after spending the past week in town the guest of James Leckie, of East Centre street, returned home to-day.

Received Their Guns.

Company A, First Regiment, Pennsylvania Light Infantry, an auxiliary to the local Council of the Jr. O. U. A. M., is steadily forging to the front ranks as a military organization. They placed an order with a leading fire-arms manufacturer to supply them with the latest improved breach-loading guns, the first shipment of which arrived Monday evening. The boys are greatly pleased with them.

CAN THIS REPORT BE RELIED UPON?

REPORTS CONCERNING THE READING SYSTEM.

IT IS AN ANTI-POLITICAL POLICY

It is Said That the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company Proposes to Make Known Its Interests.

It is reported upon what seems to be excellent authority that the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company is about to wage war against its employes who are striving for political "pull" and fame.

It is true that the company has use for certain political influence, but it is equally true that the heads of the various departments are prone to uphold the policy of the late Franklin B. Gowen—that the employes shall hold no political office, but shall have a free and absolute right to use the power of franchisee at the polls.

A HERALD reporter had a conversation with a gentleman well known through the county. He said: "The Reading company is heartily sick of its employes who have made fame for themselves in political circles with a view to gaining the smiles of approval from the company. These people have been over-zealous and the result has been that where political influence might have been desirable to the company these enthusiastic subordinates have made a mess of it."

"The truth is these would-be benefactors have made deplorable blunders and the company has been obliged to call them down repeatedly."

"I have it from good authority that many of these pettifoggers, although excellent workmen, and men upon whom every reliance could be placed by the company, must either resign their service or accept positions elsewhere under the company."

"These men intended well," continued the speaker, "but in their zeal to serve the company that grinds the wheat they have become reckless and have planted enemies in the ranks of men who have been the best friends of the Philadelphia and Reading Company in the past."

"You may rely upon it that there will be an explosion in the near future and the first place of attack will be Shenandoah. I understand that one prominent political employe of the town is slated for a position south of the mountain."

THE NOMINEES.

The Democrats Finish Their Preparatory Work for the Campaign.

The Democrats of the county nominated full Legislature tickets in all the districts yesterday. This was contrary to expectations, as it was asserted positively that not more than two candidates for the Legislature would be nominated in the Fourth district.

The convention of the First district was held at Gilberton. John J. Bally, merchant tailor of Shenandoah, received a unanimous nomination. Ex-Representative Brunnan was retired to oblivion. If there ever was a sincere Democrat, Mr. Brunnan was one, and he deserved a re-nomination. While in the last Legislature he did his duty to the party without flinching.

In the Second district, John X. Dence, of Ashland, received the nomination.

The contest in the Third district was a lively one. The successful candidate was Warren F. Follweiler, an employe of the P. & R. R.

In the Fourth district O. J. Aregood, of Pottsville, was nominated for Senator; W. J. Kennedy, of Pottsville, Peter F. Bauer, of Schuylkill Haven, and George Opie, of Donaldson, were nominated for the Legislature.

Major Thompson Injured.

Major Heber S. Thompson and Samuel H. Kaercher, Esq., of Pottsville, were visitors to town yesterday. While at the Pennsylvania depot Mr. Thompson attempted to stop a runaway horse. A stone thrown by a wheel of the vehicle struck him on the leg and he went home quite lame.

HOMESTEAD HUMBAG.

Curious Piece of Imagination From a "Sentinel" Think Pot.

The following article was published in Monday's issue of the Hazleton Sentinel. We do not republish it as a matter of news, but as a sample of the amusing growth that springs from the think tanks of the Hazleton newspapermen. Of course all the people in town know that the report is ridiculously false, for not a man, aside from militiamen, has left here for Homestead:

"On Saturday afternoon a short thick-set little Irishman dropped into town on the belated train due here at 1 o'clock. He at once set out for the Hungarian quarters on the Rocks and was soon in the saloon kept by Anthony Petro.

"The thick-set little man could talk Slavok like a native and he exhibited a great deal of money to the barkeeper. He went from one saloon to another. All day yesterday he kept up his canvass of the wet groceries and speak easies, spending plenty of money in each and keeping up a never-ceasing chatter in the Slavok tongue.

"The result of the visit was apparent at the Reading Railroad station this morning. The pavement was blocked with trunks and bundles, and there was a gabble like that of Babel as the owners stood around and talked to one another while waiting for the train. Tin buckets, pots and pans were there, food was wrapped up in papers and packed in boxes. It looked like a little army starting out on a campaign, and that's what it was. It was going to Homestead.

"The little Irishman's name was P. J. Doyle. He had been sent first to Scranton and from Scranton he had come to Shenandoah and he gathered in twenty-five men here. At Mahanoy City twenty-five more were scooped up. At Losty the same number was secured and thus the Athracite region sends seventy-five men to Homestead to take the places of strikers. The expenses of the men were paid all the way through to Homestead. They were instructed not to say where they were going and they were consequently very close mouthed when speaking to strangers, but that's where they went and they will be heard of in a couple of days."

FREE READING ROOM.

It Has Been Decided to Establish One in Town.

At a meeting of the Ministerial Association of town, held Monday afternoon, it was decided definitely to proceed with the establishment of a free reading room. A committee, consisting of Revs. Floyd E. West, William Powick, William McNally and Robert O'Boyle, was appointed to secure rooms in the Harrington building, corner of Main and Centre streets, which has already been done through James Champion, agent, at a rent of fifteen dollars per month. Another committee, consisting of Revs. Powick, Proude and Havice, was appointed to prepare a plan of organization. This plan is to be submitted at a meeting of all who feel interested in the success of the movement, to be held in the Primitive Methodist church next Monday evening, at eight o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend this meeting and to contribute to the establishment of this much needed institution.

Flower's Miraculous Escape.

Samuel Flower, at one time a resident of this town and employed as a painter in the Deiano shops, had a miraculous escape from a serious, if not fatal, fall while at work in Reading Saturday last. He was engaged with two others in painting the front of the building, and shortly before 8 o'clock while shifting his position slipped from the scaffolding. He promptly let go of his paint kettle, the contents of which were scattered over the building and sidewalk, and clutched the cornice where he hung for a few minutes, suspended by his hands between the sky and earth. He then drew himself up to the roof, and escaped with only a lively scare.

The Ladies.

The pleasant effect and perfect safety with which ladies may use the California liquid laxative Syrup of Figs, under all conditions, makes it their favorite remedy. To get the true and genuine article, look for the name of the California Fig Syrup Co. printed near the bottom of the package.

To be Freed.

The trustees of the First Presbyterian church, at a meeting held Monday evening, decided to have the church freed. The design adopted is beautiful and will add greatly to the appearance of the interior of the edifice. It is also the intention to have the church heated by the steam heating company.
