JOHN RYON WILL BE A CANDIDATE

HE WILL RUN AS AN INDEPENDENT CANDIDATE.

PETITIONS ARE CIRCULATED

Secure a Percentage of Votes That Will Make His Candidacy Legal—Some of Them in Town.

It is now settled that Hon. John W. Ryon will be an independent candidate for Judge. It is understood from a reliable source that he has consented to step into the arena and make a fight against Judge Pershing. In confirmation of this report petitions for a percentage of votes to enable the ticket to be made were received in town last night and several prominent Democrats went to work at once to secure the signatures required. They have been very successful thus far and a sufficient number of names will be secured without trouble.

A well known Democrat said last night that when the petitions are filed it will be found that Ryon has the backing of many of the most influential Democrats in the county and the number will exceed a figure that few have any idea of. "John Ryon was entitled to that nomination," said the informant, "and he will show it in an independent canvass. There are many Democrats who feel as I speak, but for certain good reasons they will keep their mouths closed and do the work with their ballots on election day. Those who thought the shelving of Ryon in the convention would end the matter were mistaken, and they will find it out on election day."

Some time since the HERALD published a rumor, coming from its Pottsville correspondent, to the effect that Hon. Charles N. Brumm, the Republican candidate for Congress, would decline to run for the office. The rumor is alive again, but comes from another source. We are loath to believe that Mr. Brumm has any such intentions, but where there is so much smoke there must be fire. So far as we know there is no trouble in the Republican ranks and if Mr. Brumm contemplates withdrawing it is not because of any trouble in the party. All differences have been considered buried, yet some attribute the rumor to the fact that Brumm fears that the friends of Hon. S. A. Loesch, the Republican candidate for the Legislature in the Fourth district, may try to knife him in the coming election and elect Loesch to show that the latter is a bigger man than Brumm.

This story has been told before, but those who tell it and pretend to believe it is true, overlook the fact that two could play at the knife game and that it would be a losing contest for both. We don't take any stock in the story and we believe that the hatchet will remain buried. Such stories are frequently concocted by the Democrats with the hope of creating strife in the Republican ranks.

A rich discovery was made at Humboldt last week. The body of coal discovered lies to the south of the present vein about a half mile, and near to the D. S. & S. railroad. Many are of the opinion that it is an extension of the Crystal Ridge vein, which lies to the southwest of Hazleton. At any rate what has been proved of it, shows it to be nice coal with a good depth and in a short time a slope will be sunk.

The engine is said to be the best yet built in this country.

A Milton paper tells of a gypsy who entered a house in that city and persuaded a young lady to have her fortune told. When the young lady consented, the fortune teller began by telling her that she had a dress that would always bring her trouble, and upon seeing her wardrobe picked out the best dress of course. The young lady told the gypsy she could have it, but she refused it. About an hour later another gypsy came to the house begging old clothes and the young lady without thinking gave her the dress that had the "ban" put upon it.

HIS CORNS BOTHERED HIM.

A Wife's Solitude Over Her Husband's Manner of Walking.

Last evening an old Irish lady and her husband were walking down Main street. The husband had evidently been imbibing too freely and staggered quite often. When the couple got as far as the post office the woman exclaimed in a voice loud enough for those around to hear what she said, "Pat is your corns troubling yer?" "Shure I've got no corns," was the husband's answer.

Clutching the man by the arm and putting her mouth close to the man's ear the woman said with some emphasis, "Say it's your corns bothering yer, or the people will think yer drunk."

"It is me corns," exclaimed the man as he ambled down the street behind the wife.

ANOTHER TALK ON THE STORE BUSINESS.

THE MATTER TO BE INVESTIGATED

Lieutenant of the C. & I. Police Daniels Has Been Directed to Learn if Company Stores Are in Existence.

THE article published in the HERALD Saturday concerning the abortions of the company store system has caused an unusual stir in the town. Indeed, some people are very much concerned over the article. Yesterday Lieutenant Daniels, of the Coal and Iron police force, notified the HERALD that he had been instructed to investigate the report concerning the stores and he desired all information on the subject. Mr. Daniels has received assurance that he will be given all the information the HERALD can give, but it is now the duty of the store owners who have been complaining to step forward with their proofs.

Mr. Daniels says the Philadelphia and Reading Company will not tolerate any company store system. We believed this, and if we had not we would not have taken up the cause of the complaining store people as we have.

Since the publication of Saturday's article another storekeeper has come forward with the statement that he has lost two customers by reason of these abortive institutions. Both were good-paying customers, he said. In one case a woman called at his store and settled her account, stating that she would deal at another place in the future.

"Have I given you any cause to make the change?" the grocer asked.

"No, sir; you have always treated me right, but my husband has a good job now and we think it best to deal at the other place."

In the other case the wife also called to settle her account and say that she intended to transfer her custom to one of the stores complained of.

"If you go there," said the storekeeper, "you will pay more for your goods than you pay now."

"I know that," said the woman, "but a good job now-a-days is a good job and my husband wants to try and hold it."

A storekeeper yesterday handed me a draft of an address which was prepared some time ago for presentation to the Philadelphia and Reading Company. For some unknown reason it was never presented. It reads as follows:

"Knowing the position the P. & R. C. & I. Co. has always taken regarding company stores, and feeling grateful toward the company for doing so, we deem it our duty to you, as well as ourselves, to inform you of a number of little 'digs' that have come to our notice in the past year, namely: stores of the sons of out and inside foremen, as well as district superintendents, with which we are blessed, with four or more. We feel that it is an injustice that men are compelled, in an indirect way, to trade at any of the stores mentioned below, particularly at this time, while trade is so very depressing. Of course it is natural to suppose that all of the foremen will deny using their influence in the interest of their brothers and sons, but if you could spare the time to inquire as to what positions the men hold who do trade we feel positive you would discover that the best to be had in and about your several collieries are occupied by men of families who trade at the several stores mentioned. Trusting you will feel enough interest to look into this matter, we remain, yours very truly,"

Now that the HERALD has set the ball rolling and officials of the P. & R. C. & I. Co. state they are authorized to investigate the store system, it is the duty of the storekeepers complaining to take the platform and have their little say. The HERALD is willing to undertake any cause which it considers right, but it has great faith in the old adage, "The Lord helps those who help themselves." Now, gentlemen, step forward. If the battle is won you will reap the fruits.

As far as the HERALD is concerned, it will hold the position it took in the start. The system complained is not fair. It tends to create a monopoly; it debars the men who work in the mines of the right to make purchases where they please and renders them liable to extortion. At the same time it works an injustice to other people, by depriving them of the opportunity to compete. Of course, if the Reading company countenance this store system, the fight should be kept up until the company performs its duty to its employees and the people.
