A DISTRESSING SHOOTING CASE

JACOB KREIGER TERRIBLY INJURED BY ACCIDENT.

A BULLET PLOUGHS HIS JAW

And Inflicts Other Injuries That Almost Caused Immediate Death—The Victim in a Critical Condition.

JACOB KREIGER lies on a couch at the residence of his father, C. & I. policeman Peter Kreiger, on East Coal street, the victim of an accidental shooting at his own hands. His life hangs by a slender thread and the attending surgeons are cautious in giving an opinion as to the probable result.

Shortly after 5 o'clock Saturday evening the residents of the vicinity of the Kreiger house, which is on the north side of Coal street, between Bowers and Emerick, were startled by the loud report of a firearm shot. The echo had hardly died away when Jacob Kreiger appeared upon the front porch of the house and sank to the floor as he stepped down from the door sill. His distracted father and mother were at his side in an instant. Blood poured from the young man's neck and mouth like a stream of water from a garden hose and continued to spurt forth in spite of the efforts of neighbors who had hastened to his assistance. Messengers were sent for medical assistance.

Dr. D. W. Straup responded. The porch was now completely covered and the victim's clothing saturated with blood. The doctor saw at a glance that the great flow of blood was due to a severing of the carotid artery. He caught and tied the artery and then stitched the flesh over it. The blood continued to flow rapidly from a horrible wound to the left of the chin and for a time it looked as if the young man would bleed to death before the flow could be checked. Dr. Straup finally succeeded in getting control of the case and Kreiger was removed back into the house. For hours he lay as if the last spark of life was about to go out and when asked about the probable result Dr. Straup shook his head in a manner that gave no encouragement.

"The shock is terrible," said the doctor, "and there is very little blood left. If he rallies between now and Sunday night there might be some hope, but the wound is such a bad one I cannot say that he will recover."

And thus the fate of Jacob Kreiger remained in the balance for several hours. Inquiries as to what led to his deplorable condition elicited the information that the young man went to a bed room on the second story to put a breech-loading gun in a box kept for the purpose by his father. Upon entering the room he placed the gun on a bed. The gun was empty. He then closed the cover of the gun box and seeing a large revolver in the place where the gun was to be put he stopped to take it out. The revolver is of the Colt's navy pattern and of 44 calibre, the same as those supplied the C. & I. Policemen for long range duty. They carry effectively 500 yards.

The revolver was in a holster. As Kreiger stooped he caught and raised the holster. The next instant the shot was discharged. The revolver had slipped partly out of the holster and its hammer struck the barrel of one of the guns already in the box. The bullet shot through the side of the holster, entered the left side of the chin, ploughed along the left jaw bone, badly shattering it, passed through the carotid artery and lodged in the back of the neck, near the centre. The chin, jaw and neck presented a horrible appearance. It was thought at first that the jaw was wholly destroyed, but it is now thought that in case of recovery it can be brought together again.

The shooting was purely an accidental one and there is nothing in the case to justify a suspicion that there was an attempt at suicide. As he was shot Kreiger fell across the bed that stood beside the gun box. Quickly recovering his presence of mind he regained his feet and ran down stairs with his two hands clapped over the gaping wounds. The stairway he descended was literally dyed red with blood. At the porch he lost strength and fell.

Kreiger is about 22 years of age and is a member of Washington Camp, No. 188, P. O. S. of A., Henry Horncastle Camp, No. 49, Sons of Veterans, and the Rescue Hook and Ladder Company and delegations of the organizations are seeing that he receives careful nursing day and night. He is a popular member of all of them.

A few years ago a brother of the victim was killed almost opposite the house in which the accident happened Saturday. He was playing on a lumber pile at Robbins' lumber yard. The heavy planks started to run and the boy was crushed to death beneath them.

Yesterday Dr. Straup found Kreiger much improved and, with the assistance of Dr. Hamilton, extracted the ball from the back of the neck last evening. The bullet was flattened and very ragged, showing the effects of the crashing through the jaw bone.

To-day Kreiger is in a pretty fair state. He is very weak. The dangers the doctors are now preparing to cope with are blood poisoning and the possibilities of an abscess.

POLITICAL POINTS.

Local, County, State and National Themes Considered.

TA HA, BOOM.
David Bennett weeps and wails for these things which are not. Although his "Ta ra" may be safe, His "Boom" has gone to pot. Quay is in it. Have no fears of the result.

D. B. Hill isn't saying a word since the Democratic nomination. If he had been as discreet before the convention the nomination might have been different. Cleveland is still a fishing. Up to date Dana and Hill have not bitten. Platt is with us. You can put your trust in him.

Michigan is safe. The gerrymander has been knocked higher than a kite. Harrison will receive the full electoral vote. Let the Democrats make Larna a political issue just to see how it works.

CHAUMON CARTER.
The time is quickly coming when we will go humming for the Democratic doom, doom, doom. And when we want a starter we will call on Brother Carter. And we'll get there with a boom, boom, boom. Clarkson is on deck and will help Carter to win a sweeping victory.

Warner Miller and all the rest, whom the Democrats were counting to sink in their tents, are going to take an important part in the coming campaign. They are all for Harrison without any "but's."

Cleveland cannot carry New York. That is a fixed fact because all the prominent Democrats have said so.

ADLAI TO GROVER.
I've no letter from Dave Hill, Grover mine, Grover mine, Which I think he's setting ill, Grover mine, Grover mine, And it makes me feel quite blue, When I think that Dave's untrue, So I write to ask: Have you? Grover mine, Grover mine.

If you want to see a really fine bit of acting, including the best simulation of nervous terror ever seen in American theatrics, just step up behind a Democratic patriot and in a hoarse, tragic voice whisper "Force bill" at him. The effect is worth going miles to see.

If "Uncle" Jimmy Minogue was only a candidate this year he would have lots of fun.

Senator Hill denies the report that he was about to go to Europe. He is too busy campaigning for Mr. Cleveland (?) to be able to indulge in any excursion business. Talk is cheap. It is entirely probable, therefore, that William H. English, of Indiana, will contribute liberally of it to the Democratic campaign fund.

Candidate Cleveland's boast that he is "a Democrat among Democrats" is all right as far as it goes. But what is he among Mugwumps?

Read His Own Obituary.
Mr. All at Owens is a prominent young farmer near Winesboro City, Minn. He spent hundreds of dollars in endeavoring to recover from nervous prostration, and a year ago was so low that a report of his death reached the editor of the Winesboro Press News. An obituary of Mr. Owens appeared in that paper, and was read by him. While in this condition he began taking Dr. Miles' Restorative Remedies, and in a short time was a well man. Says he never felt better than now.

PETER'S PUNGENT PENGIL PUSHINGS

A LIVELY BUT QUITE PEACE-ABLE PAY DAY.

HOW A FELLOW FOUND HIS GOAT

Toughs Who Travel on the Electric Railway and Attempt to Run the Cars to Suit Themselves Will Suffer.

HARLES J. QUINN, of town, spent a few days in Philadelphia recently and while there became acquainted with a gentleman who is engaged in the manufacture of gingham and ladies underwear. In course of conversation the manufacturer stated that he was desirous of locating a factory in the coal region and that he was disposed to locate it in Shenandoah if he would receive encouragement.

The manufacturer stated that the market for his line of goods is always open. He said that he would want a stock company formed with capital stock of $100,000 and he will contribute some cash himself. The stock company, he said, could elect their own officers and have charge of all the finances. All he would ask would be the position of manager. The factory would give steady employment to 225 hands.

There is a lot of bad material in some companies of the Pennsylvania National Guard that will be weeded out before another Legislature meets. It is quite probable that those companies will go by the board and, of course, the vacancies must be filled. Here will be a chance for Shenandoah patriots who have been so anxious to get into the National Guard. All necessary for admission will be organization and application. Will it be done? It is "now, or never."

When Prof. Zeitz, who left town recently, arrived in Germany there was a grand re-union and a good time all around. There were present, among others, Dr. J. C. Biddle, Joe O. Powell and Harry Weiderhold, all residents of Shenandoah at one time.

The entire country continues its demands for good roads. Build one mile of good road rather than ten miles of poor. Build roads that will stay in repair from one season to the next. There is economy in good roads and economy leads to wealth. There is satisfaction in good roads and satisfaction means about as much of happiness as the average mortal finds on this terrestrial globe.

It may be too warm for a boy to work in the garden, but it was never hot enough yet to prevent him taking his part in a ball game.

The town was more lively Saturday night than it had been for several weeks past. The streets were thronged with people from dusk until after midnight, notwithstanding the picnic of the Democratic Club at Pastime Park drew an immense crowd down the valley. The police and constables had prepared themselves for a number of arrests, which generally mark lively pay nights, but they were not called upon as frequently as they expected they would be. The arrests for the night did not exceed more than a dozen and they were all drunk and disorderly cases. Several of the offenders were toughs from down the valley.

When I remarked that the Polish, Lithuanian and Hungarian people were not giving the authorities as much trouble on pay nights as they did some months ago, a prominent Lithuanian citizen said, "No, they are beginning to know better. The business people and others who have been going ball in so many cases have turned over a new leaf. They have agreed not to go ball for any fellow who gets drunk, gets in a fight, or steals, and that makes these fellows more careful. According to the agreement we will only furnish ball when the party can show he is deserving of it and where we believe that there are grounds to suppose he is innocent."

Two young men came to town from Colorado Saturday night and picked a fight with one of our townsmen at the corner of Main and Coal streets. Policeman Holvey appeared upon the scene and one of the Colorado fellows disappeared. Holvey grabbed the townsman and other Colorado toughs. As he started with the man for the lockup the other man re-appeared and, grabbing the policeman, objected to the arrest. At the same time the Colorado man under arrest slipped his arms out of his coat and ran off. Holvey then grabbed the man who had interfered and placed him and the coat in the lockup. The townsman was released on his own recognizance. Later in the evening the colorless tough returned to the corner of Main and Coal streets and complained to Policeman Tempest that somebody had stolen his garment. "There is the fellow who has your coat," said Tempest, pointing to Holvey, who stood on the opposite corner. The Colorado representative walked up to Holvey and said, "Say, young fellow, have you got my coat?" Turning quickly, Holvey grabbed the man and said, "Yes, come with me and I'll show you where it is." A few minutes later the coat was found and the two Colorado men were in one cell for the night. They paid the fines and costs yesterday.

Saturday night a number of toughs from down the valley undertook to run the cars on the electric railway. They were driven away and one was placed under arrest. He was brought to town and fined by Squire Williams. The others are known and warrants for their arrests have been issued. Last night other toughs created a disturbance on one of the cars and they, too, were spotted. They will be gathered in and given a chance to reflect. It is quite likely that the electric railway company will insist upon more severe punishment than fines in these cases to set an example for the toughs who do not behave themselves when riding on the cars.

Struck With a Hatchet. Peter and John Shmarowsky quarreled yesterday with one Matt Bolinsky and after an exchange of blows John struck Bolinsky on top of the head with a hatchet, which happened to be dull and only cut open the scalp. The Shmarowsky were taken to jail this morning. Peter is wanted for jumping his bail in a case in which he was charged with housebreaking.
