The Bailway Strike Hits Hard Here-Meat and Cattle Cars Cannot Get Through From the West.

I is quite apparent that if the Buffalo strike spreads, or if it does not end soon, many people of this section will be obliged to forego their diet of beef, lamb, mutton, veal and other meats. We are threatened with a most famine. As is well known, nearly all the meat used in this section is delivered to us by the great Chicago mest concerns, through the local butchers, and consequently the arrival or non-arrival of these companies refrigerator cars has much to do with determining whether we shall have meat, or no ment-

At present we are almost meatless.

We should have had a supply of western prime on Friday last and another on Monday but the cars are practically in the hands of the people at the places affected by the strike and, hence, we are almost

Thank goodness, the strike has taken place in the summer and we are enabled to upplant the rib roasts with ribs of watermeion and other fruits, and vegetables are on hand in abundance. Now would be an excellent time for the aposties of vegetarianism to get in their work and make converts. But those who cannot be converted to this belief may console themselves with the thought that meat dies is beating and should be dispensed with as frequently as possible in the summer. From this point of view the misfortune attending the scarcity of meat is really a blessing in

But to deal with the subject more directly we find ourselves confronted by the fact that ere the sun disappears in the western horizon many more times we will be stricken by a meat famine.

A HERALD reporter called at the Shenandosh Beef Company's headquarters in town yesterday afternoon. Manager M. S. Riggs was seated comfortably in an office chair tilted backwards and smoking a genuine Havana, His assistant, "Billy" Rowse, was also in the office, seated in a tilted chair. His face told the visitor that Five thousand novels, the latest and best the heat was eighty in the shade. The perspiration streamed from his massive brow, over his rotund chops, and dropped out of sight under his 171 collar. Business was at a complete standstill. There was not a piece of meat in sight, either in the shipping department or refrigerator house. Everything was gone and the butchers who stood near at hand, evidently upon the verge of desperation ecause they could not meet the demands of their customers, cursed the railroads, the strikers and every one who ventured to

In answer to a question, "Is there any mest in town?" a butcher volunteered the information that George Folmer succeeded and LINOLEUM. These goods are very soft and in getting a car load of live cattle through on Tuesday night and that, with economical management, the people may be able to tide over the threatened famine until relief omes from other sources.

The situation gives an effective illustration of the terrible condition the country would be in if all the railroads should be stopped for any length of time.

The total vote for President in Cleveland, 13,064; Fisk, 211; Streeter, 193, The total yote for Congress that same Presidential year was 25,980, Mr. Reilly leading Mr. Brumm by 688. This is a campaign in candidates for Judge in the field, two of whom have been nominated by regular conventions, while the other will run just City and Cape May, and before their as well authorized under the new ballot re-return they will visit New York City and form and with his name printed on the tickets with the others, as an independent, or third candidate.

This latter is the Hon. John W. two thousand (2000) less votes than Mr. Harrison had in 1888. There is no material disaffection whatever over Mr. Koch. But it is very likely that with two Democrats running for the office, one of whom has been practicing law at this bar for over thirty years and has maie many friends; and the other who has sat on the bench for nearly twenty years and made, undoubtedly, some enemies, also some friends, that there is some disaffection on some one Democrat, and it must be over the one who received the regular nomination, otherwise-2,000 people would not come out thus early and openly and endorse him while it is reasonable to suppose that at least 1,000 others will flock to his standard before the campaign opens in earnest, which will not be until the last of September. So that, should Mr. Koch lose only 522 of the vote Mr. Harrison had in 1888, which will give him him 12,000 votes, and Mr. Ryon draws from Judge Pershing 2,000 of the other 13,000 votes which will be polled, Mr. Koch will go in with a plurality of 2 000.

ANOTHER LOOK AT THE PIQUERS. Suppose Mr. Koch should run up well with his ticket, and in his own county, with his growing popularity, he ought to exceed it; and lead Mr. Harrison, he will receive at least 12,500, for Mr. Harrison should receive every Harrison vote of 1888, mishaps therein and thereon. The chances to wit: 12,522; and suppose Mr. Ryon should receive only 1,000 of the votes cast for Cleveland in 1888, which was 13,054, gulleys who attempt too much skyward it leaves Judge Pershing with 12 054, and journeying in their too rapid march toward still elects Mr. Koch by over 400.
