WHO KNOWS THIS WARD OF THE POLICE?

THE POLICE TAKE AN INTEREST IN HIM.

REFUSES TO GIVE INFORMATION

He is Young and Apparently Well Trained and Educated. Says he is an Orphan and Homeless.

POLICEMAN Davis has at his house a twelve-year-old boy who refused to tell where he came from, or where his friends live. The officer arrested the boy for vagrancy, having found him wandering about the streets at a late hour Monday night. Since he has been living with the chief of the boy has behaved himself admirably and considerable interest is taken in him.

Efforts are now being made to establish the boy's identity. He says his name is John O'Rourke and that his age is as given at the beginning of this article, but he steadfastly refuses to give the names of any of his friends, or give any clue as to their whereabouts.

By close questioning the police have induced the boy to say that he lived in Mahanoy City about a year ago and that his father and mother are dead. He gave the names of the Roman Catholic priest and a school teacher of Mahanoy City and said he knew them well.

Chief Burgess Smith went to Mahanoy City to-day to see if he could confirm the story.

In addition to his good behavior the boy gives evidence of good education. While his cut garments show signs of hard wear his linen is comparatively clean and quite in contrast with that usually worn by tramps.

The Chief Burgess and police believe that he has either run away from a respectable home, or has deserted some reformatory or other like institution.

A Good Move.

The Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company has inaugurated a piece of work at the passenger depot that will be highly appreciated by the patrons of the place. Workmen yesterday started to lower the platform. Heretofore this platform has caused great inconvenience and has been considered a menace to the safety of the public. The steps at the north end and the incline at the south to the lower platform made travel dangerous on dark nights and the height above the rails where the trains stopped made it necessary for passengers to travel to the ends of the platform before they could cross the tracks and get on the east bound trains. The platform will be lowered all around the depot and will be extended about twenty feet at the north end to make more room for waiting passengers.

SOILED DOVES CAGED.

Captured by the Town Police on the Streets Last Night.

Two notorious young women named Lizzie Miles and Katie Keeler were arrested last night by the town police for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. The pair are two soiled doves recently released from the Pottsville jail. One of them came here to keep house for a widower and brought the other along as company. When placed in the lockup the women cursed each other and had quite a lively tongue battle until exhaustion threw them into a slumber.

This morning Chief Burgess Smith gave the offenders a hearing. They were a sorrow looking pair. Both fell upon their knees before the Burgess and begged him not to send them to the Pottsville jail. Any place but that, they said, would be suitable. The Burgess kept them on pins and needles for a while and after exacting a promise from each that they would behave themselves if kept in the lockup here he gave them the option of paying a fine of $5 each, or remaining in the lockup for five days.

"Will you keep us here?" asked the soiled doves in eager chorus.

The Burgess said he would. The women gave a shout of joy and leaped into the air. "O, good, kind, Mr. Smith," said one of them.

The Burgess then put them at work cleaning the lockup and they went at it as if their freedom and a day's wages depended upon it. The women are about 27 years of age.

DEDICATION OF MONUMENT.

Handsome Memento in Honor of the 26th Emergency Regiment.

The 26th Regiment, Pennsylvania Emergency Volunteers, commanded by Col. W. W. Jennings, of Harrisburg, was the first regiment on the field of Gettysburg, and encountered a portion of Early's Division, resulting in a skirmish. Governor Beaver, in his last annual message, recommended an appropriation for a monument, and the Legislature having passed a bill appropriating the money, the Association has erected a very handsome monument on the Chambersburg pike, at its junction with the Mineral Springs road. The figure is that of a soldier, life size, standing upon a natural boulder, and is pronounced a fine work of art by those who have seen it.

The dedication will take place on Thursday afternoon, September 1st, at 2 o'clock, with appropriate ceremonies, the address being delivered by the Hon. Samuel W. Pennypacker, LL. D., one of the judges of the Philadelphia courts, who was a private in the regiment. The Gettysburg Battlefield Commissioners, the Governor and other prominent state officials will be in attendance. For any further information persons should address Mr. Samuel H. Bentz Lebanon, Pa., who is the secretary of the association.

EARNEST APPEAL OF HUMANITY

A Few Drops of Water—Adventures of a Young Hopeful Who Was Sent to a Town to Recuperate.

THE HERALD's article on the inhuman treatment of Troff Krojinski, the Pole who was injured at Knickerbocker colliery on Monday and died at the Miners' Hospital in the evening, has aroused greater indignation than was reported, and any reasonable citizen will admit that there is cause for indignation. If we were in some barbarous land Krojinski's case might pass unnoticed, but as people will look upon an injured brute with compassion it is quite natural that they should become indignant when they hear of the inhuman neglect that this unfortunate man suffered. The HERALD is right when it advocates a system by which speedy relief may be afforded the victims at collieries. True, the mining officials have furnished ambulances to convey the unfortunate to their homes and the hospital, but an ambulance is only a secondary consideration in a case like that of Krojinski's. Had the office of the colliery at which he was employed been supplied with a box of appliances and brief instructions for their use, as provided by the "First Aid to Injured" societies the victim might have had his mangled limb treated in such a manner as to afford relief until his arrival at the Miners' Hospital. Krojinski suffered for an hour and fifty minutes before he received any medical attendance. It was natural that he should die. Nature has endowed very few men with endurance to successfully pass through such an ordeal. While I endorse the HERALD's first aid to the injured idea I would go a little farther and suggest that the mine officials make some arrangement by which a physician may be summoned at once to a colliery when some unfortunate is badly injured and prompt assistance may save his life. In the name of humanity something of this kind should be done.

The local correspondent to the Tri-Weekly Record writes: "Many bitter complaints are heard here about the accommodations enjoyed by those who visited the musical festival at East Mahanoy Junction this year."

It is a mystery to me how people who enjoy accommodations can make bitter complaints about them.

The Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company has wisely undertaken a piece of work that the HERALD has time and again recommended—the lowering of the platform at the passenger depot. This work was started yesterday. The change will be appreciated by the people for the terrace-like platform was a menace to the safety of the people who were obliged to use it.

"Jim" Francy has gone to Bar Harbor, Me. The journey to that place will be made by the all-water route. Well, it wouldn't be the route for "Jim" if it wasn't all water. He's all water at home, eh? Before leaving town "Jim" said he would pay a visit to Boston during his absence. Perhaps he is going to try to find out how our water bonds will float there.

Speaking of "Jim" and water reminds me that Councillman Lamb and Borough Solicitor Pomeroy have also been getting close to water lately. They have been listening to the sayings of the wild waves at Atlantic City. When the pleasure season closes we may expect to see Pomeroy, Lamb and Francy brimful of water. But by that time the court will be ready to decide whether or not they will have the works.

Contractor Gates, of Harrisburg, has done excellent work on the White street school building. The School Board committee is so well satisfied that it has had the school furniture moved back into the building and the rooms are being put in readiness for the opening of the school term. And so the White street school building is saved. Instead of being obliged to expend $10,000 for a new school building in that section the board is only obliged to pay Mr. Gates $1,200 for taking out the dangerous foundation walls of the structure and replacing them with walls of first class material. But for the timely suggestion of Wilbur F. Sadler, Jr., the present structure would in all probability have been torn down weeks ago.

A fond mother recently sent her small boy from town to a farm near Berwick that he might recuperate before the opening of the school term. After a week of anxiety the mother received the following letter from her beloved:

DEAR MOM:—I got here all right and I forgot to write before; it is a very nice place to have fun. A fellow and I went out in a boat and the boat tipped over and a man got me out and I was so full of water I didn't know nothing for a good long while. The other boy has got to be buried after they find him. A boss kicked me over and I have got to have some money to pay a doctor for fixing my head. We are going to set an old barn on fire to-night, and I should smile if we don't have a tully fun. I lost my watch and I am very sorry. I shall bring home some mud turtles and I shall bring home a tame woodchuck if I can get em in my trunk.

PETER.

A MYSTERY SOLVED.

A Story Relating to the Death of James Eisenhower.

On the 11th of May, last, the HERALD gave an account of the death of James, the sixteen-year old son of Washington Eisenhower, of East Line street. The boy died on the 10th and his parents were unable to account for the misfortune. The doctor who had charge of the case came to the conclusion, after questioning the parents, that it was a case of sunstroke.

The parents said that after watching the street parade of Forepaugh's circus in town, which took place on May 9th, the boy complained of being ill. As that day was quite warm the conclusion that it was a case of sunstroke seemed justifiable.

A HERALD reporter has just succeeded in gleaming facts that seem to fix the true cause of the boy's death. Forepaugh's circus arrived in town and pitched tents in the trotting park on Sunday, May 8th. Among the visitors to the grounds during the day was young Eisenhower, who, in some manner that is not explained, received a kick on the head from one of the donkeys in the stable.

The people who tell this story are residents of Ellengowan. They say that after the boy was kicked some of the circus people worked about an hour and a half before they restored him to consciousness. Eisenhower remained upon the grounds until he was able to walk home. He made no complaint to his parents until he was taken ill on Monday morning, after the parade, and then he said nothing of what had happened the day before.

This story cropped while the case of a young man who was kicked by a mule in the mines was being talked over a few days ago.

SONS AT SHAMOKIN.

Opening of the Patriotic Order Sons of America State Camp.

The twenty-seventh annual session of the State Camp, Patriotic Order Sons of America, convened in Shamokin yesterday morning. Chief Burgess Reese made the address of welcome in the opera house and State President Frank P. Spier, of Tamaqua responded. About 800 delegates were present.

State Treasurer Irvin S. Smith made the following report:

Total amount of headquarters' funds in the hands of the state treasurer during the year..... $25,388 11
Total amount of state camp building funds in the hands of the state treasurer during the year..... 1,650 48
Total amount of headquarters' expenses during the year..... 14,800 00
Total amount of building expenses during the year..... 692 92

Total balance in the hands of the state treasurer July 31, 1892..... 12,655 97
At 11 a. m. nominations for state officers were made.

Ex-Mayor Kanny, of Reading, placed Major K. M. J. Reed, of Philadelphia, in the field for State President, Professor Channell spoke for J. R. Mast, of Reading, and H. E. Bullington nominated Ira German, of Harrisburg.

The other nominations made were E. A. Blosser and F. M. Simson for vice president; Theodore Harris, H. A. Tyon, John Dunsfield for state master of forms; G. S. Maurer, for state conductor; W. H. Clarke for state inspector; H. C. Van Vossen for state guard; J. H. Wolf and F. C. Stees for trustees.

Messrs. Mast, Blosser, Dunsfield, Maurer, Clarke, Van Vossen, Wolf, Brubst and Stees were elected.

The convention then adjourned until to-day.

A Base Ball Reply.

EDITOR HERALD:—In reference to the articles in last evening's issue of the HERALD, signed Michael J. Heffron, regarding the disqualified players, it does not explain where the dissatisfaction comes in. The facts are these: Mr. Heffron wants to be manager. Mr. Heffron wants to be president. Mr. Heffron wants to be secretary. And last, but not least, Mr. Heffron wants to be treasurer. Now the disqualified players want a manager who understands how to run a base ball team, and also wants a president, secretary and treasurer appointed separately, so that the team can be managed in a business like way and have no one man control all these offices as the "great I am." There is good material in Shenandoah if it had proper management; and, to show Mr. Heffron we mean business, we hereby challenge his team for a game as soon as possible for the gate receipts, a guarantee, or a purse.

DAVID REILLY,
THOMAS DALTON.

A Narrow Escape.

Thomas Griffiths, 17 years old and residing at Ellengowan, had a narrow escape from death yesterday. While making a flying coupling in the Ellengowan mines, where he is employed as driver, the front car of the trip left the rails and caused the cars to bump. Fortunately the cars Griffiths stood between only bumped with sufficient force to hold him fast. He was held a prisoner until some of the other drivers pushed the cars away. Although Griffiths is unable to work, he is not seriously injured.
