WITH A FEW TIMELY COMMENTS

Another Paragraph on the Inadequate System for Affording Relief to People Who Are Injured at the Collieries.

BOSS at the Knickerbocker colliery has taken exception to a recent article of mine in the HERALD in regard to the treatment of those who are unfortunate enough to be injured in the mines, and with special reference to the Pole who had a leg crushed at the Knickerbocker colliery last week and virtually died to death. The boss taking the exception says that they did everything they could for the man with such facilities as they had at the colliery. I did not censure the boss at the colliery. I did say that there should be some system by which victims could receive better treatment than that Pole did. There should be arrangements whereby physicians can be summoned to give temporary relief, or the colliery offices should be supplied with relief boxes and brief directions for their use. The mere carrying of a man out of a mine and placing him in an ambulance, with perhaps a drink of water, is not treatment equal to the emergencies that frequently arise; and the fact that the friends of the unfortunate do not do their duty is no excuse for allowing a human being to die without attendance at the road side.

I see that Kate Keeley and Lizzie Miles, the young women who begged Chief Burgess Smith to allow them to serve time in the lookup instead of sending them to the Pottsville jail, have landed in the latter place after all. After being released here they tried to turn the streets of Mahanoy City into dance halls and were "run in."

It is understood that Superintendent Freeman has decided to exercise his prerogative so far as the assignment of school teachers are concerned and over which there was so much discussion at the last meeting of the School Board. I am also told that the assignments will not be made known until to-morrow morning, just before the schools open.

Hay fever attacked its victims early this year and is worse than it has been, according to leading physicians, since 1875. An ocean trip is said to be the only effective remedy for the disease. But, of course, the remedy comes high.

A number of our young men are preparing to grow up with the country. Montana and Idaho seem to be the favorite states.

I understand that Squire C. G. Palmer is so well pleased with Montana, where he is at present on a tour, that upon his return here he will pull up stakes and move his family there. Jeffrey Williams, Mr. Palmer's brother-in-law, has also decided to remain in Montana. Should these two gentlemen adhere to their present views Shenandoah will lose two of its best citizens and Republican voters.

The fair season will open in September. Orwigsburg and Lavelle promise big things this year, but the poor old Ringtown grounds seem to have gone upon the shelf for good. The grounds and fences have a dilapidated appearance and no one seems disposed to give them any attention.

The Columbia Hose Company has engaged the Grant Band to accompany it to Hazleton. The Columbia is one of the town organizations that believe in making the best appearance possible in out-of-town demonstrations.

"Jimmy" Williams, of the Columbia Hose Company, has won the sobriquet of "World's Fair Commissioner" because of the active interest he is taking in the Columbia's proposed Columbian excursion next summer. "Jimmy" is a hustler of the hustlers.

Pure and Wholesome Quality Commends to public approval the California liquid laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs. It is pleasant to the taste and by acting gently on the kidneys, liver and bowels to cleanse the system effectually, it promotes the health and comfort of all who use it, and with millions it is the best and only remedy.

Married. John F. Ploppert, of town, and Miss Annie Thiel, of Hyde Park, were married at the latter place yesterday. The ceremony was followed by the marriage of Mr. Ploppert's sister to his bride's brother. Mr. and Mrs. Ploppert came to town yesterday afternoon.

TIMELY TOPICS.

What People Are Talking About These Times.

A little religion would not hurt the editors of the News. We might then get a little truth out of them.

More people in town substist on goat's milk than many of our people think. For sickly children this kind of nourishment is much in demand.

The circus, unless it is either Forepaugh's or Barnum's, fails to enthuse the people to any extent and, consequently, the proprietors do not leave with well filled pocket books.

The new reading room ought to be the means of keeping our young men from spending their evening hours in the saloons or playing cards in the numerous club rooms in town. It is noticeable that many of our best young men are on the downward course because of the late hours they are keeping in the club rooms which are, in many cases, worse than gambling halls.

In a few weeks the theatrical season will be in full blast. The small boy, he who works in and about the mines, has a large stock of sulphur diamonds in store to be used in paying his way into the theatre, &c. Whenever the show people arrive they are soon surrounded by these "diamond" merchants.

The picnic season is about over; excursions to the woods for autumn leaves will be next in order, then will follow the chestnutting and hunting season. Corn-husking and straw rides to the country to attend them will be just as popular. Have you ever been to a corn-husking? If not, go to one at the very first opportunity. There is lots of fun and—well, go there yourself and find out all about it. We have been there and had no trouble in finding a red ear every time we wanted one. We had a good supply always handy.

The stove men and plumbers are getting their houses in order for the fall and winter trade. They will be the most sought after until the days begin to lengthen again. It is now in order to examine your stoves and if any part needs repairing have it done at once. The stove pipes should be gotten out from under the stairways and from the attics to see whether both ends meet. If found that they do not fit have them attended to now. It will save considerable swearing and bad humor later on.

Interesting Items Concerning Different Sections of the Region.

Many of our exchanges, in view of the fact that the public schools are about to open, are sounding notes of warning against the mischievous habit of defacing pavements and school buildings with chalk marks, by school boys who pilfer the chalk in school. This is a matter that any wide-awake and active teacher can guard against, if the teacher wishes to take the trouble. Nine times out of ten the boy gives himself away by scribbling his own initials.—Mauch Chunk Times.

The Ashland Fish and Game Protective Association met last week and several new names were added to the list of membership. The association has extended printed invitations to the farmers to become honorary members, free of cost, and has also provided each with a copy of the game laws and the penalty. Under the law the informer is entitled to half the fine. The Ashland Association will bear all expenses in prosecuting offenders. The fines range from $5 to $50.

Hazleton is to have a large market house. A new Council of the Jr. O. U. A. M., was instituted at Mt. Carmel on Saturday evening with fifty charter members. This is the second Council of the order in that town.

"One of the Finest."

The genuine version of the play, and with a much stronger dramatic construction, will be presented at Ferguson's theatre Saturday evening by E. J. Haesen's own company. In this instance the play is given in its entirety, and not as garbled by Williams, and scenes are introduced that did not appear in the other play. There are no "star" parts, all the parts being nearly equal in prominence. A tank 70 feet long, in which several boys indulge in aquatic sports, and marine craft and row boats cross and recross the stage, is introduced.

The Columbia's Fair. A meeting of the ladies who have been invited to assist in making arrangements for the Columbia Hose Company's Fair will be held in the company's room on Tuesday, 30th inst., at 7:30 o'clock. It is hoped all the ladies who have been invited will be present. COMMITTEE. 8-29-92

KNOGGED DOWN

BY A LIVE WIRE

AN EXCITING SCENE ON OAK STREET.

A CURRENT FROM THE TROLLEY

Through a Broken Telephone Wire

Knocks Down Three Horses, One of Them Horribly Burned.

WELLS of frightened children and men, screams of women, and the sight of three horses lying in the street, stretched stiff and unable to move a muscle, presented a thrilling scene on Oak street, between Main street and Pear alley, at about half past ten o'clock this morning.

A broken telephone wire had dropped and fallen across the electric railway trolley wire and the horses lying in the street were receiving the full benefit of the current running through the trolley.

Two men who were engaged in doing wire work for the Philadelphia and Reading Telegraph Company, hurried to the scene, cut the telephone wire and released the unfortunate beasts.

Eye witnesses to the occurrence state that while the P. & R. men were engaged in making connections for the electric clocks that are being introduced in town, the telephone wire stretched along Oak street, west to Pear alley, snapped. The telephone wire fell across the trolley wire and the loosened end fell upon a team of horses owned by M. P. Fowler that was being driven east along Oak street towards Main. The horses fell in front of Francy's building as a steer falls when struck by a butcher.

The next instant a horse belonging to Frank Schmidt, and driven by two boys, stepped upon an end of the broken wire and he, too, went down upon the street like a shot. The boys driving him were thrown forward over the dash board of the wagon, but fortunately did not strike either the horse or wire.

One of the boys was about to help raise the horse, but the shouts of bystanders deterred him. Had he failed to heed the shouts the boy would in all probability have received a shock that would have killed him.

Meanwhile the three horses remained prostrate, under the current through the telephone wire from the trolley.

One of the clock men hurriedly cut the telephone wire and the current was cut off. Schmidt's horse got up a moment or two after. He had suffered but little. One of Fowler's horses next got up. His body bore marks of the live wire, but the third horse presented horrible effects of the shock.

There were two deep ridges burned upon its left side. One was so deep that it penetrated the hide, flesh and muscles, barely penetrating the tissue that covers the entrails, but leaving the latter plainly in view. This horse was taken to the stable at the rear of the Grand Union Tea Company's store and was attended by John B. Gise, the veterinary surgeon, who said the injuries were of a very serious character, but that if inflammation could be avoided the horse could be saved.

The foreman of the clock gang was not inclined to say much. He said, "We were stretching wire for the clocks when the telephone wire snapped and fell on the trolley. I don't know what made the telephones wire break."

It is most fortunate that the telephone wire did not fall upon the drivers of the horses or pedestrians, for in that case there would certainly have been loss of life.

This accident would incite all wire repairers to the utmost caution, especially when doing their work near the electric trolley or live electric light wires.

A Base Ball Trip. EDITOR HERALD:—Our trip of three days was a success in every respect and the boys enjoyed themselves immensely. In justice to myself I would like to state that this club is not run as that swelled headed ball player said it was. We have a secretary, and an able one, in the person of Mr. William Scanlon, but because I would not appoint some of his larger headed companions to office I was no good. Then, again, he was prejudiced against and jealous of his fellow players and, worse than all, a disorganizer. We could not play successfully, as he was working against the club and players. As a ball player Mr. Reilly's head has increased in size wonderfully of late and his assertions as to how a club should be run are contemptible. I think I used good judgment in shifting him and that baseball player, Mr. Dalton, where they belonged—on the outside. We have a fund of fifty dollars for cases of necessity, and anything outside of that is divided equally between the players. So I am the great I am, as has been described.

Grand Army Items.

Grand Army Day will be celebrated in South Bethlehem on Thursday, September 1st. As Warkin Waters Post, of town, has decided to attend the monument ceremonies in Mahanoy City on Labor Day it will only be able to send a delegation to Bethlehem.

The festival and bean soup lunch in Robbins' opera house this evening promises to be a success. Any one wishing to enjoy a pleasant evening should attend. They will enrich the widows' and orphans' fund at the same time.

"On to Washington" is now the cry. The veterans and their friends will leave here on the 19th. Twenty-five of our townsmen have already signified their intention of going.

Athletes of the Present Day. J. E. Sullivan, Secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union, President of the Pastime Athletic Club, and Athletic Editor of The Sporting Times, writes: "For years I have been actively connected with athletic sports. I always found it to my advantage to use Alcock's Perous Plasters while in training, as they quickly remove soreness and stiffness, and when attacked with any kind of pain, the result of slight colds. I always used Alcock's with beneficial results. I have noticed that most athletes of the present day use nothing else but Alcock's Plasters."

The "Camp Record." The Camp Record, published at Mahanoy City, although less than a year old, has become so popular with the members of the P. O. S. of A., in whose interests it is published, as to warrant the Pennsylvania State Camp of that order to extend substantial financial aid to the management, in the shape of an appropriation of $250.00. This action, we understand, is especially gratifying to the publishers, as it was not expected nor sought for by them.
