A YOUTHFUL BURGLAR.

Fourteen-Year-Old William Ormond Arrested Again at Poughkeepsie.
POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Aug. 30.—The police have arrested William Ormond, the 14-year-old son of a Kingston saloon keeper. The lad, notwithstanding his age, has already a remarkable criminal record and has twice been sent to the House of Refuge.

A year ago he robbed a store and was sentenced for six months. The day after his release he burglarized a hardware store on Main street and stole several revolvers and some money. He was sent away again, and last week he was released.

On Sunday he burglarized the same hardware store and stole four revolvers, several knives, and broke open the money drawer. For this crime he has just been arrested again.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

—Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes was 88 years old yesterday.

—Theodore Bird, a shoemaker of Muncie, Ind., shot his wife and then put two bullets in his own brain.

—The People's National Bank of Claremont, N. H., capital $100,000, has been authorized to begin business.

—It is stated in official circles that the International Monetary Conference will probably meet in London about Sept. 25.

—The next biennial session of the Supreme Lodge and Encampment of the Knights of Pythias will be held at Washington, D. C.

—News has just been received at Bay Head, L. I., that Mrs. A. G. Butterfield of New York has been drowned in Shinnecock Bay.

—The tents of Camp General Ordway at Cape May, N. J., were struck yesterday afternoon and the Washington Light Infantry battalion embarked for home.

—Rev. Thomas H. Stockton, a former resident of Philadelphia but of late years a missionary of the Methodist Episcopal Church in South America, is dead. He was a nephew of Frank Stockton, the novelist.

—One hundred shovellers and 40 teamsters employed on the city paving at Springfield, O., have struck for higher wages. Contractor Whiteley says he will import labor, and the strikers threaten violence.

POLITICAL POINTS.

Local, County, State and National Themes Considered.

Two Justices of the Peace, Charles S. Kistler, of West Penn., and J. J. Monaghan, of Shenandoah, it is said, have already entered the race for the Register's nomination before the Democratic county convention of '93.—Orwigsburg News. Is our friend, Colonel Scheidt, to be crowded out again?

Hon. John W. Ryon, of Pottsville, will run as an independent candidate for Judge. There are no "ifs" or "buts" about it. His friends claim he will stand as good a chance of election as either Koch or Peshing. They may be right; who can tell what may happen?

THE GREAT LETTER-WRITER.

If you want to know:
How to plow a field of corn.
How to care for pigs just born.
How to steer the ship of state.
How to choose a loving mate.
How to name your latest kid.
How to write a formal bid.
How to make the wisest laws.
How to wash the lightest gauze.
Write to Grover Cleveland.

If you want to know:
How the tariff is a tax.
How to keep your wheat in sacks.
How to save the nation's life.
How to quell your children's strife.
How to burn your winter's coal.
How to save your precious soul.
How to mend the blue and gray.
How to mend the true reform.
How to keep your houses warm.
How to trim your last year's hat.
How to be a Democrat.
Write to Grover Cleveland.

We may expect to hear some very interesting speakers during the campaign. The Evening Chronicle now advocates free trade, pure and simple.

Next year Shenandoah Democrats expect to furnish all the candidates to fill the offices to be elected.

The Commissioners' fight next year will be interesting. Almost every town in the county has one or more candidates. Dr. Flexer, the Republican candidate for Coroner, has not been idle since his nomination. He is working quietly and is making friends wherever he goes.

THE SUNDAY ACCIDENT.

Michael Byrne, the Victim, Well Spoken Of—The Bridge Gang.

A resident of the First ward, who is intimately acquainted with Michael Byrne, who lost a hand when lying on the Reading tracks early Sunday morning, said to a HERALD reporter last night, "Your account of the affair in this evening's issue was as near correct as it was possible to get it, but a mistake was made in stating that the young man was connected with the red bridge gang. The truth is that the young man or his friends cannot account for his presence there. He was with Squire Monaghan until midnight Saturday, and apparently sober. Michael has always been a model young man and good to his parents. The HERALD's statement that something should be done to break up the red bridge gang should arouse the people. I for one feel like going to Rev. H. P. O'Reilly and ask him to contrive some means by which the gang can be broken up. I feel like asking his assistance because I know the breaking up of the gang will be a benefit to a number of young men of his church."

SHAFT SPECIALS.

Fair Library.

Worthington Co., 747 Broadway, New York, announce for immediate publication a No. 3 in their Fair Library, "One Year, a Tale of Wedlock." Translated from the Swedish. 1 vol., 12 mo., paper, 25 cents. A strange but intensely interesting volume. The heroine is certainly one of the most original figures in contemporary fiction, the character drawing is true to life; its story treats of questions of love and marriage under peculiar circumstances. The narrative is interspersed with many charming descriptions.

Knee Injured.

George Lambert, of East Apple alley, had one of his knees injured in the Gilbert colliery this morning by a falling piece of coal. The injury is not a serious one.
