THE CANNON-BALL TREE Something About a Curious Tree and Its

Strange Fruit. The cannon-ball tree owes its peculi arity principally to the mode in which ship companies have refused to take as the flowers are borne on long branches, passengers any foreigners who come from which grow from around the trunk, commencing at its base and continuing many feet upward. They are arranged hardens and enlarges, producing racemes of flowers in succession at its extremity each senson. Years afterward the woody pedicels may still be seen upon the flowering branches. So nearly does the arrange ment of the latter resemble a creeping plant growing upon a tree that it is difficult to convince people to the con-trary, and that they bear the flowers of the tree itself, says the English Garden er's Chronicle, which describes the flowers as cup-shaped, red within and yellowish-white without. These flowers measure four inches across. The large brown, ball-shaped fruits, unlike the fragrant flowers, emit a disgusting odor, rivaled only by the flowers of termanilie belerica. The latter, when in flower, scents the atmosphere of the garden in a way which suggests to the uninitiated that the sanitary arrangements of the district are in a bad condition. The couroupita forms a large tree some fifty to sixty feet in height and bears a dense mass of shining green leaves, becoming deelduous once or sometimes twice during the year. The leaves on these occasions fall very rapidly and are replaced again in a few days by a new set.

AN UP-HILL ROAD.

The Zigrag Ascent to the Capital of Venezuela.

There are few more interesting engineering achievements than the little narrow gauge railroad running to Caracas, the capital of Venezuela, from its seaport, La Guayra. The distance be-tween the two cities, as the crow flies supposing for the moment that he could fly through mountains - is only six miles, but the railway connecting them is twenty-three miles in length, and consequently twists and turns on itself. The road runs in zigzag fashion up the mountain to an altitude of about five thousand feet above its starting point and then descends about fifteen hundred feet in the same manner into the valley of Caracas. Twenty-two thousand rails were used in laying the track, and of these over eighteen thousand are bent. It is jest-ingly said that the engineer almost died of a broken heart because he could invent no excuse for bending the remain-ing four thousand. He did his best, however, and Pearson's Weekly thinks no one who has to ride over the line and finds himself shaken at every one of the three hundred and forty-six sharp twists which the track makes will find It in his heart to condemn the poor man for not making a perfect job. Two passenger trains pass over the road daily, leaving La Guayra at half past eight in the morning and at half past three in the afternoon, making the journey in two hours and a half. This is a speed, exclusive of stops, of not quite ten miles

FOR KILLING A COW.

In India They Make the Penalty Fit the Crime Very Closely.

Caste means something in India. young man of Fyzabod recently killed a calf by accident and had to do penance and be an outcast for six months The Brahmins told him that he could not have committed a greater sin than causing the death of a cow, but taking into consideration that he was an un-educated man they would deal very leniently with him. During the period of excommunication he was ordered to lead a life of mendicancy, and with a rope round his neck and a piece of the calf's tail on his shoulders he was to steamer Moravia in the lower bay last perform pilgrimages to different Hin-bidden to supply him with either shelter or food under a penalty of undergoing similar excommunication. The shir recently returned to his village, but until after the purification ceremonies he must live in a temporary grass thatched house which has been sys-tematically defiled. He must then be plastered all over with cow dung, sonked in a sacred stream till he is student studying medicine with Dr. C. ## INDIAN ETIQUETTE.

Curious Tale of an Invitation to the Maharajah Gwallor.

A curious incident was brought to notice in connection with the recent marringe of the heir-apparent of the Jedh-pore state. It appears that, according to the custom in vogue among native chiefs, a kharita of invitation to the royal wedding was ordered to be sent to the maharajah of Gwalior. The official who wrote the kharita did not know the mode of addressing the ruling them, so they proceeded to New York, chief of Scindia, and, therefore, referred to old records of the state, in sympathising clergyman. which the name of the late grandfather of the present chief was mentioned. The official copied it word for word and sent it off to Gwalior by a daroga. On the kharita being presented to the maharajah of Gwalior he refused to open it, saying he could not open a kharita addressed to his grandfather, who died before the mutiny, and asked the man to take it to his samad three miles out of Gwalior. None of the rep-resentatives of the Gwalior state, the Bombay Gazette says, attended the wedding on this account

The companies announce that all bag-gage will be subjected to fumigation for six hours. The disinfecting process will be under the inspection of American officials.

The four Russian emigrants who were stricken with cholora just as they were about to depart to the United States were isolated at Parkhill hospital. One died last night.

The place is excellently situated for complete isolation, the grounds about the hospital being fifteen acres in extent and well guarded against intrusion.

The baggage of all emigrants destined for America was fumigated in presence of the American consul and the sanitary

The consul having expressed himself satisfied with the disinfection, the consular seal was affixed to the baggage thus treated, and this was made a necessary pre-liminary before taking the baggage on

The members of the crew of the steamer Gerona, from Hambbrg, who are sick with supposed cholera, are improving.

PANIC-STRICKEN HAMBURG-

The Exodus Continues-Slight Decrease in Deaths and New Cases.

HAMBURG, Sep. 1.—The air is cooler to-day. Reports to the Board of Health show the development of 713 fresh cases and 276 deaths. This is a decrease since yesterday of 97 in the number of cases leveloped and of 43 in the number of

The people of the city feel no encouragement, however, to expect on this acdisease. So many hopes have been raised by official announcements in the last week, only to be shattered within the next 24 hours, that public confidence is entire

The panic seems to have taken com-plete possession of the city. Everybody who can is leaving or preparing to leave. Several keepers of the largest hotels contemplate closing their houses should the plague be at its present height on Satur-day. Shops are closing by the score, either because cholera has appeared among the employes, or because the pro-prietors have feared to remain in town to conduct their business.

No accurate estimate of the numbers leaving the city daily is to to be had, but they are now well up in the thousands. Railways running to Loubeck, Rostock and other seaside towns are crowded at all hours, aithough extra cars have been attached to all of them.

MAY STOP IMMIGRATION.

Possibly the Government Will Take the Initiative.

New York, Sep. 1.—It is now likely that other steamship companies will follow the example of the Hamburg-American Packet Company and cease carrying im-migrants to this port until all danger is passed. This subject was discussed in downtown steamship circles yesterday, and will probably bear fruit.

It was suggested elsewhere that the United States Government should demand of all steamship companies, in case the latter fail to take the initiative, that they stop all immigration traffic for a

Several agents were interviewed on this point yesterday, but refrained from giv-ing their opinions, and said that a conference of steamship men would probably be called to consider the question.

Editor and Reporters Arrested.
