Expressed the Family.

A curious express package was no ticed at Independence, Ia., en route from New York to California. It consisted of H. Smith, his wife, son and dog. The whole family was billed through at express rates. They were packed on top of trunks and packages, and deposited in the freight room. Smith said that he preferred to travel in that way, as it was cheaper than first-class passage and relieved him of all trouble and responsibility.
