A DELIGHTFUL TRIP TO "OLE VIRGINNY"

MADE BY SOME OF OUR TOWNSMEN.

INTERESTING NORFOLK FACTS

The City is Full of Grit and Enterprise—Something of Its Politics—The "Repubs" Are Not "In It".

TRIP to Washington would be incomplete if it did not include a visit to the battle fields in Virginia and a sail on some of the fine steamers on the Potomac river and Chesapeake Bay. It is impossible to see all the sights about the Capitol in less than two months, but after visiting Arlington Heights, the city of the dead; Alexandria and vicinity, the camp ground of the Army of the Potomac; the Jackson House, where the gallant Colonel Ellsworth met his death at the hands of the rebel landlord while tearing down the Confederate flag, and briefly viewing many other scenes of interest, the traveler should take the steamer "Washington," or the "Norfolk," which leave Washington alternately at 7 p. m. and land you in Norfolk, Virginia, the next morning in time for breakfast. The cost of the round trip is but $3.50 and $1 additional will give you a stateroom large enough to comfortably accommodate four persons. And $1.50 in addition will give you a still larger and exquisitely furnished room. The boats of this line are the best and fastest, and are officered by gentlemen of experience and who omit no courtesies. The meals furnished are superior in many respects to those served in some of the first class hotels on land and do not cost any more.

The writer took that trip this week with hundreds of others and he did not regret it. The scenery along the route is exceedingly picturesque and while daylight last the passengers feast upon it. The first stop is at Alexandria and the next Mount Vernon. Old Point Comfort is the third stopping place. This place was reached at 6 a. m. A large number of passengers alighted and a large amount of baggage was unloaded and then the boat resumed the journey to Norfolk, which place was reached within an hour. To one who has not visited the place for 27 years Norfolk presents some wonderful changes. It shows great growth since the time the writer packed his knapsack and bid adieu to Fort Woodruff and started for home. The population has increased since that time from 20,000 to over 50,000. The negro element is in the majority by a large number. Many fine buildings have wended their way skyward, the city limits have been greatly extended, business is booming and everybody there appears happy. The negro laborers are there in large numbers and are always smiling or singing. A soldier recognized by a badge, cap, or other insignia, especially a veteran, is always an object of observation by the negroes, and they never fail to evince an appreciation of the indebtedness they owe the saviors of their race in this country. An old colored lady informed the writer at Washington that if we wanted to see many of her race Norfolk was the place to visit, and I found she told the truth. Washington has its share of negroes, but Norfolk has an abundance.

After a drive through Norfolk and a visit to all the points of interest, we visited the oyster packing house of Fuenstein & Chase. The buildings in which the industry is established are large and very neat and clean. At least 200 negroes, men and boys, were opening oysters and singing merrily. If they had any thought of sorrow they failed to betray it. It was a pleasant scene. These oyster openers make from $2 to $4 a day. One of them made $7 in one day, having opened 55 gallons, but, of course, such earnings are rare.

We then crossed the ferry to Portsmouth and here we met another surprise. This bustling city has also had a remarkable growth. The navy yard, which was partially destroyed in 1861, is the principal attraction and is worth a visit. The chain of forts have been leveled and buildings now occupy their sites. The change is so great that the place cannot be recognized by one who has not visited it for many years. A handsome Confederate monument stands in a square about the center of the city.

Returning to Norfolk, we visited the brick church which has imbedded in one of its corners a cannon ball fired in the Revolutionary war. The building is used as a museum of Revolutionary relics.

I had the pleasure of meeting Frank L. Slade, Grand Army Commander of the Department of Virginia. He is postmaster of Norfolk and is very popular. He was the unanimous choice of the city for the position. In politics he is a staunch Republican and was elected sheriff twice, when others of his party were counted out. Mr. Slade is a perfect gentleman and a soldier, and always has an open hand for his comrades.

Mr. Slade's assistant, "Billy" Clegg, is also a pleasant and whole-souled gentleman and the writer is indebted to him for many favors. He gave us many points concerning the city. "Billy" was elected sheriff, but was counted out as every Republican candidate for office in this city and county of Norfolk will be until there is a revolution there. The Republicans have five out of every six votes, but they are not "in it." The election system is worked on the Kodak plan. The Republicans may vote, but the Democrats do the rest. All the election officers are Democrats and they refuse to count the votes.

P. O. Conner, Esq., who can be the next Republican Congressman from the Norfolk district, and who will not be counted out because in Congressional elections the United States Marshal will be on hand to see fair play, was another acquaintance we made. He is a good-natured and estimable gentleman, a good talker and a general favorite. He desired to be remembered to his friend, Congressman James B. Reilly.

William H. Gunn, of the Southern Times, who divides his time in editing his interesting paper and acting as an officer of a society for the prevention of cruelty to animals, found time to fill our heads with southern ideas. He freely acknowledged that the Republicans are not "in it" in Virginia when it comes to counting votes. We admired him for his frankness.

Notwithstanding its slowness, the street railway of Norfolk is a mint for the owners. Horses are used on the line.

On the whole Norfolk is a very nice place. In time it will be one of the leading seaboard cities of the country.

STILL BOOMING.
The Soldiers' Monument Project Should be Pushed Along Steadily.

Watkin Waters Post, No. 146, Grand Army of the Republic, to which our citizens look for official action on the monument project, met last night but failed to take any action. This failure was due to a light attendance of members, many of whom have not returned from Washington.

The Post will meet again next Friday evening, when definite official action will be taken.

Meanwhile let the ball be kept rolling and the pledges to the project continue, so that when official action is taken and an official committee is appointed to take charge of the funds, the committee will know who may be called upon for assistance in starting active work.

What will you subscribe, reader?

It is proposed, after the Post acts, to have a governing committee which, it is suggested, shall consist of three or five members of the G. A. R., members of the several societies of town, and a committee of the business people. In selecting this committee it is proposed to make it a popular one, with no partiality to any society or class. To be a success the movement must have the co-operation of all the prominent and influential people of town.

It will first be necessary to have a temporary committee appointed to invite co-operation and when the invitations are responded to the governing committee can be appointed. Then the time will come to ascertain the cost of a monument, select a site and a day for the event, and after that the preliminaries for making the day the greatest in the history of the town will command attention. An intelligent and energetic committee will be able to arrange these affairs in short time.

The people of the town and the press of the county have endorsed the soldiers' monument project and have declared that, besides being a laudable object so far as it relates to the perpetuation in memory of the deeds in the civil war, will be a great benefit to the town in many respects.

To-day the fund was given another excellent lift and was increased to $591. C. E. Titman pledged himself for $50 and says he will make it $100 if the monument is placed in the centre of the town. The Columbia Hose Company will go $25 providing the monument is placed in town.

The returns for to-day are:

C. E. Titman	$50
Columbia Hose Co.	25
Total	75
Previously reported	516
Grand Total	$591

EXTENDING THE ELECTRIC LINES

WORK COMMENCED ON THE ASHLAND BRANCH.

ENLARGING THE POWER PLANT

Three Additional Boilers to be Put in and Other Arrangements to be Made for Increased Power.

IF THE electric railway company can carry out the plans of its directors without any more injunctions or other like obstacles the line will be extended through this and the Mahanoy valleys within a very short time. The company has made preparations to increase power for the proposed extensions and they will be put into operation as soon as the Schuylkill Traction Company gets its charter, which will be some day next week, according to present indications.

The power house at Rappahannock will be doubled in capacity and with this end in view the building of foundations for three new boilers has been commenced. This addition will give the boiler house a nest of six boilers and, with the new 250-horse power dynamo, will afford ample power for the extension.

The work on the Ashland extension of the road is now going on in dead earnest. Two car loads of Italian laborers arrived at Girardville on Wednesday and were at once put to work on this extension. One gang is working west from Rappahannock and the other west from Big Mine Run. The completion of the Ashland extension is expected by December 1st.

The proposed new work in town is at a standstill and the trench opened on South Main street about ten days ago is still open, being guarded at night by a watchman employed by the railway company. The trench has not been closed because the chances for the borough authorities and company agreeing upon terms are very favorable. The injunction proceedings remain in statu quo, having been postponed by consent until next Monday, but as a special meeting of Council has been called for Monday night it is probable that the proceedings will again be postponed. The meeting of Council has been called to consider the understanding arrived at by the street committee and the company, namely, that the company will pay the injunction expenses and extend the road down Main street to Cherry and pave it as it goes along; and as soon as the work can be done the tracks now on North Main street will be taken up and stringers will be put in so that the track can be paved.

The railway officials, nor the borough authorities, are not disposed to say much about the matter for publication at present. They prefer the await the result of the meeting on Monday evening.

A Pleasant Gathering.
A very pleasant tea was given by Mrs. S. A. Boddall at her residence, 114 South Jardin street. Among the guests were Mrs. H. K. Aurand and Miss Annie Griffiths, Tanagua; Mrs. William Goyno, Mrs. Harris and Mrs. Maurer, Ashland; Mrs. S. M. Robinson, Chester; Mrs. B. D. Boddall, Wm. Penn, and Mrs. William Powick, Mrs. J. Senior, Mrs. J. J. Price and Miss Jennie Thomas, of town. Excellent vocal and instrumental music was rendered during the evening by Mrs. Goyno, Mrs. Harris, Mrs. B. D. Boddall and Charles N. Boddall.

The True Laxative Principle.
Of the plans used in manufacturing the pleasant remedy, Syrup of Figs, has a permanently beneficial effect on the human system, while the cheap vegetable extracts and mineral solutions, usually sold as medicines, are permanently injurious. Being well-informed, you will use the true remedy only. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co.

PERSONAL.

Rev. Floyd E. West has returned from Chicago.

D. H. Llewellyn has returned from Washington.

Wilbur F. Sadler, Jr., has been spending the past week with his parents in Carlisle.

Joe Daddow, Sam Cannon and Lew Hopkins came home from Washington yesterday.

Charles Baker has been appointed driver for the Columbia H. & S. F. E. Co., vice Joseph Tempest, resigned.

John L. Williams, general manager for the Union Coal Company at Shamokin, was a visitor to town to-day.

Major Finney went to Lakeside this morning to arrange for a meeting of the engineers to be held there next month.

Rev. Wm. McNally, pastor of the Presbyterian church, and R. A. Glover attended the meeting of the Lehigh Presbytery which was in session at Stroudsburg this week.

Rev. Wm. Powick, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, was among the visitors to Washington this week. He was more than delighted with the grand spectacle. To-morrow evening he will preach on "The Great Encampment."

"Jimmy" Dougherty, the South Main street saloonist, who returned from Washington, has been entertaining his customers with interesting details of the great event in that city. "Jimmy" can describe the many scenes in a manner that prevents his hearers from going to sleep. It was a great treat for all and one never gets tired of hearing about it.

C. M. Lawler, general superintendent of the Williamsport division of the P. & R. R. R., has been appointed assistant to the general manager of the same company with headquarters at Philadelphia. It is thought that W. B. Bortolotta, superintendent at Mahanoy Plane, will succeed Mr. Lawler as superintendent of the Williamsport division.

One of the surprises of the day, since the great parade at Washington, D. C., on Tuesday, last, was the appearance in town to-day of Theodore Wiederhold, of Boulder, Colorado, brother of our townsmen Henry Wiederhold. The former left here 12 years ago and has been residing in the Centennial state since. He had on his suit of blue, he having participated in the parade and reunions of the soldiers.

Should be Fenced.
The HERALD has been requested to call attention to a nuisance existing near the corner of Lloyd and Union streets, close to the school house. Several days ago the borough authorities made a dam so that the surface drainings would not interfere with the work of laying a crossing. The dam is still in existence and the water has formed in a large body at the place stated. It is covered with a green scum and is very offensive.

Cloth Vendor Wanted.
Constable Phillips has a warrant in his pocket for a man who has been selling cloth to people of town for suitings. The claim is made that some of the pieces of cloth sold have not met the representations and the charge upon which the warrant was issued is false pretence. It is believed the man has left town.

Parry's Funeral.
The funeral of the late David Parry, a veteran of the war and a member of the Grand Army, will take place to-morrow afternoon. Post 146, G. A. R., and Camp 40, S. of V., will attend in a body. All soldiers, connected with the Grand Army of the Republic or not, are requested to meet in front of Kolowich's hall to-morrow at 12 o'clock m., and proceed to the residence of the late deceased. The Grand band will furnish the music.

To study Medicine.
John D. Riley, who has resigned his position as clerk at the P. & R. freight depot to commence the study of medicine, was last night tendered a farewell party at the rooms of the Brownsville Literary Society, in Brownsville. About 100 of Mr. Riley's friends from town, Mahanoy City, Girardville and Ashland were present. The dancing music was furnished by the Riley family orchestra. Next week Mr. Riley will begin his studies in the Pennsylvania University, Philadelphia.

Fare of Charge.—Before buying write to Messrs. F. Ad. Richter & Co., 310 Broadway, New York City, for the valuable book, "Guide to Health," and read the endorsements that the "Anchor Pain Expeller" receive at the hands of prominent physicians. 29 prize medals awarded to the manufacturers of this valuable preparation.

Died.
PARRY.—On the 22nd inst., at Shenandoah, Pa., David Parry. Funeral will take place on Sunday, 25th inst., at 1 p. m., from the family residence, 300 East Line street. Interment in the Odd Fellows' cemetery. Relatives and friends respectfully invited to attend. 9-22-1f

Paid for Their Fun.
Martin Stravinski and Malach Shinkawicz were before Squire Williams to-day, charged with opening the brake of a coal car at Indian Ridge colliery and starting the car. They were prosecuted by C. & I. Policeman Shirley and settled the case upon paying a fine and costs.

Electric Railway Change.
Hereafter the electric railway cars will leave the corner of Main and Centre streets at 5:30 a. m., daily, and every 25 minutes thereafter until midnight, at which hour the last car will leave.
