MORE CHOLERA CASES

Anxiety Because of the Fresh Outbreak on the Bohemia.

SUFFERING AMONG THE CHILDREN.

Not a Case in New York for Nine Days—Hamburg's Filthiness—How the Plague Obtained Such a Hold Upon the City—Reports from Many Infected Points—No Cholera on the Empress of India.

QUARANTINE, Sep. 28.—The fresh outbreak of cholera on the Bohemia, the last but one of the ill-starred Hamburg ships left in the lower bay, has caused a stir among the Health Department officials, and the third visit to the infected vessel and Swinburne Island, made last evening by Dr. Jenkins and his consulting bacteriologist, Dr. Sternberg, plainly tells of the anxiety caused by the new cases.

The first news of sickness reached the Health Office late Monday night, and the official report by Dr. Byron, given out yesterday morning, showed that two children were transferred to Swinburne Island, one, a boy of 8, dying two hours after entering the hospital.

Yesterday afternoon Dr. Byron again reported that, in answer to the flag hoisted on the Bohemia, he had transferred three more cases, all suffering from severe symptoms of cholera. The five cases were as follows:

Mariana Lukowska, 7 years old.
Stanislaus Michalski, 7 years old.
William Latz, 4 years old.
Johnnie Mikszas, 6 years old.
Carl Gassman, 24 years old.

Of the above, Stanislaus Michalski died early yesterday.

Among the Bohemia's passengers are 100 children, and the long confinement has begun to have most serious results. The Scandia's people, now on Hoffman Island, numbering nearly 1,000, have been 14 days without a case of a serious nature, and so urgent has become the necessity for attention to the Bohemia, that it is likely the Scandia's passengers will either be released to-day or transferred to the New Hampshire.

The ease with which the disease gains foothold is shown by the discovery of Dr. Waiser, who chanced to see the new patients at the hospital soon after their admission. In the bosom of the young man, Gassman, he found food in the shape of herrings and cheese, which had been secreted for future consumption.

It is this difficulty of keeping food from the Russian Jews and their utterly filthy habits that make it almost impossible to prevent sickness, especially when confined on shipboard.

It is 9 days since the Health Board reported a case of cholera in this city. The bulletin issued this morning was to the effect that there had been no cases since September 19. Philip Mutscheneck, 22 years old, was taken to the hospital last night from 830 Eleventh avenue. His case is looked upon as a suspicious one.

THE FILTHINESS OF HAMBURG.

Description of the Dirty Water Supply Which Favored the Cholera.

LONDON, Sep. 28.—The "Times" correspondent in Hamburg writes: The cities are choked with solid matter. In fact, the chain of pollution grows with every link. The water in the river is clearer than that in the water works; there is clearer water in the water works than in the mains, and that in the mains is clearer than that in the houses. Only one thing was wanted. It was to provide an entrance for cholera poison into the water system. This was arranged.

The intake is so situated that at flood tide the matter from the sewage outfalls can reach it. In Hamburg houses the sewage runs out at the basement and in again at the roof, after a little tour of the river and water works. This criminal state of things has been notorious for 15 or 20 years. New water works are planned, but little else. They are not likely to be completed for two years. Whether they will be effective is a question for engineers, but the fact stands that Altona is in a worse position with regard to sewage, but has escaped the scourge by virtue of having power water works.

St. Petersburg, Sep. 28.—The new cases of cholera, yesterday, numbered twenty, and the deaths two. Forty patients were discharged as cured.

HAVE, Sep. 28.—There were three deaths from cholera, yesterday, and nine new cases.

EMIGRANTS CRUELLY TREATED.

The Cunard Line, Tired of Supporting Them, Turns Them Out of Doors.

LONDON, Sep. 28.—The Cunard Steamship Line, having grown tired of maintaining the emigrants from Hamburg who had bought tickets by way of the line at boarding houses in Liverpool, and seeing no early prospect of being able to dispose of them by transportation to America, offered to return to the emigrants the amount of their fares.

The majority refused to accept the offer, and insisted on being conveyed to the United States.

The company then notified the keepers of the boarding houses in which the emigrants had been maintained that the company would be no longer responsible for their support.

Thereupon the landlords turned the emigrants out of doors. The emigrants applied to the authorities, but the latter declined to admit the strangers to the workhouses, as the workhouses in England are called, and the unfortunate foreigners are wandering about the streets, the police, for sanitary reasons, not wishing to arrest them, and nobody being willing to have anything to do with them.

No Cholera on Board.
VANCOUVER, Sep. 28.—The sensational report sent from here regarding cholera on board the steamship Empress of India, on investigation, is found to be absolutely without foundation, and to exist only in the prolific imagination of an irresponsible and erratic correspondent.

Figures from Holland.
AMSTERDAM, Sep. 28.—Twelve deaths from cholera are reported from various parts of Holland. The disease is confined for the most part to Delft, Groningen, Maarsse and Alfen and Goudswaard.

FORTY BABIES MURDERED.

Wholesale Slaughter of Innocents Laid at the Door of a Physician.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sep. 28.—Dr. Henry C. Beale has fled the city, after having been accused of no less than 40 murders. Dr. Beale and Mrs. Mary Montrose were arrested here a few days ago for malpractice. The doctor lived with the woman, and together they conducted a lying-in hospital.

Many patients visited them, but finally the suspicion of the authorities was aroused and Dr. Beale and Mrs. Montrose were arrested. The doctor was placed under $10,000 bail.

It is evident he feared that he could not trust the woman's secrecy for he forfeited his bail and departed for parts unknown.

When pressed by the prosecution Mrs. Montrose told yesterday an appalling story of crime. According to her statement no less than 40 children were born in her house. Not one of them was permitted to live.

Beale would promptly remove the child from its mother and either chloroform or drown it, after which he weighted the body and threw it into the bay or cremated it, whichever method was the most convenient at the time.

Beale always stipulated with a mother in prospect that she would not ask what became of the child, leaving the impression, however, upon her mind that the infant would be quietly placed in the care of a respectable family.

Efforts are now being made to find the remains of some of the murdered children.

Many of the women whose babies were killed belong to respectable families. It is alleged that a number of them wanted to pay Beale's bill rather than have his case carried into court, resulting in their own exposure and disgrace.

A MILITARY FUNERAL.

The Last Rites Over the Body of Bandmaster Gilmore.

NEW YORK, Sep. 28.—The body of Patrick Sarsfield Gilmore arrived at the Grand Central Depot yesterday.

On the funeral train accompanying the body were Mrs. P. S. Gilmore and her daughter, Minnie; the committee of three from the Gilmore band, and three directors of the Musical Protective Association, who met the train at Poughkeepsie.

Long before the time the train was due crowds of friends and associates of the dead leader had gathered at the depot. When the train arrived, the musicians formed in two long lines from the train to the waiting carriages without.

Behind these lines crowding every corner of the spacious depot and the street were thousands of people who stood with uncovered heads from the moment of the train's arrival.

After Mrs. Gilmore and her daughter had passed to their carriage, the coffin containing the remains of the famous band master was taken from the car and carried to the hearse waiting without.

As the head of the funeral train reached the entrance to the depot the soft and solemn notes of the "Lost Chord" filled the vast enclosure and the music continued until the funeral procession moved away.

The remains were driven directly to the late home of the deceased where they will remain until the funeral.

Secretary Hunt, of the Musical Union, said that Mrs. Gilmore had consented to a military funeral to take place to-day.

MURDERED THREE BOYS

Lena Schmidt's Awful Crime at Bordentown, N. J.

NO APPARENT CAUSE FOR THE ACT.

One of the Victims Her Own Son, and the Others Sons of a Neighbor—All Three Strangled—Her Sex Saves Her From Being Lynched.

BORDENTOWN, N. J., Sep. 28.—A German woman, named Lena Schmidt, murdered three young children, ranging from one to three years old, yesterday at her residence No. 4 Chestnut street, by choking them to death.

One of the victims was her own son and the other two were sons of William Bowker, a neighbor. After killing the children the woman, who is believed to be insane, went to Marshal Jones and told him that he would find three dead bodies at her house.

She admitted the killing, but could not give any reason for the act. Mrs. Schmidt was locked up by the police and the coroner and county physician took charge of the victims.

The crime has caused great excitement here.

Lena Schmidt, the murderer, is 38 years of age, is rather good looking and a brunette. She has spent some of her time in the county jail at Mount Holly. Some time ago she became acquainted with a young man in Mount Holly, and the two came here together. The young man was a blond, about 30 years of age. The two were arrested here and committed for disorderly conduct. At first Lena was not recognized by the local police, who were greatly excited over the murders, but now that they have had time to collect their thoughts they have no doubt as to her identity.

She is the daughter of Farmer William Brown, who lives six miles away from Bordentown at a country crossroads known as Red Lion. Her character is described as essentially bad. Last night she told Marshal Jones that her son fell downstairs and blood ran from his nose as a result. The sight of blood, she says, made her crazy and as it continued to flow she choked the child to death to stop it. She then says that she laid the child on the floor and called the eldest Bowker boy, who was playing in the front room, and strangled him. Then to make her work complete she took the younger child, who was playing in the yard, carried him inside, and when she reached the dining room, applied her terrible fingers.

The grand jury is now in session at Mount Holly, and the inquest will soon be held. Feeding ran high last night, and it was owing to her sex that Lena Schmidt wasn't lynched.

Mr. Whitelaw Reid gave the bride away.

COL. CANADAY'S SUICIDE.

He Preferred to Die Rather than Face Exposure.

WASHINGTON, Sep. 28.—The suicide of Col. W. P. Canaday, ex-Sergeant-at-Arms of the United States Senate, here yesterday, is the great topic of discussion. There is much sympathy expressed for the unfortunate man, who preferred death to a prison cell.

Since his retirement from the Senate Col. Canaday had been engaged in a general brokerage business in partnership with J. Q. A. Houghton, who furnished the financial resources of the firm.

Mr. Houghton said he was awakened early in the morning by a colored boy, who brought him a message saying that Col. Canaday desired to see him at the office.

Since his connection with Canaday in the business, Mr. Houghton said, he had invested $17,000 in the concern, $2,000 of which he had placed in the safe only Monday night.

His suspicions were aroused that the message had something to do with that money, and when he arrived at the office he found he was not mistaken.

Col. Canaday stated to him that he had been awakened by three colored men between 2 and 3 a. m., who, with revolvers to his head, compelled him to open the safe.

The burglars, Col. Canaday said, had obtained entrance by breaking the window pane with a railroad spike.

After securing the money the robbers gagged the Colonel, using for the purpose a piece of his night robe. They then bound him to the door of the office after tying his hands and feet.

This was the story told to Mr. Houghton, who promptly declared his disbelief of the tale and left, after warning Col. Canaday that he intended to procure a warrant for his arrest.

The story told by a Mr. Stevenson, whose apartments in the house are above Col. Canaday's office, is that some time before 4 o'clock in the morning he was awakened by a tapping sound and immediately after he heard a voice asking him to come down stairs.

Mr. Stevenson hurried to the room below and found Col. Canaday bound to a closet door in the room.

In an excited tone he asked to be cut loose.

This being done Col. Canaday was asked the cause of his unusual position. He replied "robbers. Look on the floor." Mr. Stevenson glanced down and saw a number of charred papers.

Col. Canaday told him that robbers had overpowered him and burglarized his effects.

The police were summoned, to whom Col. Canaday related the same story.

An examination of the premises showed that the window through which the burglars obtained entrance, as claimed by Col. Canaday, had been smashed into fragments.

The things used to hold Col. Canaday to the door were pieces of binding twine tied loosely about his knees, ankles, wrists and elbows. The gag was poorly arranged in his mouth and he had no difficulty in raising his voice so that he could be heard by the boarder in the story above.

Col. Canaday, after giving his version of the story to the police, repaired to his private room in the rear of the office and dressed himself and then sent the message to his partner, Mr. Houghton.

After the scene between them he returned to the office and about 7:30 o'clock he was found by the police, who had come to serve the warrant sworn out by Mr. Houghton, stretched on a cot in the corner of the room with a bullet hole in his head.

The bedding and floor about the cot were a pool of blood. The bullet had passed clean through his head and was embedded in the wall.

A note was found written by Col. Canaday to his partner, Mr. Houghton, saying: "After your conduct this morning I have no further use for life."

Another note was left by the suicide said to have been addressed to a lady, which the police have and will not make public until the inquest.

It is said that the charred papers found on the floor of the office represented notes, bonds, stocks, and other commercial paper of the value of $100,000.
