OUR "WALKER."

He Tramps All Over Town in Search of News.
A story is going about town to the effect that one of our school teachers the other day asked one of his pupils what he would do if he purchased a postage stamp at the post office and the postmaster refused to put it on the letter. The pupil replied that he would put it on himself, whereupon the teacher volunteered the statement that he would put it on the envelope. Common sense unnecessary.

It is understood that the operators and employes of the Logan colliery at C. R. Tris in and the Park colliery at Park Park are in anything but a pleasant frame of mind over the treatment they are receiving at the hands of the P. & R. C. & L. Co. It is claimed that the Reading is equalizing the collieries. The Park colliery, owing to a scarcity of cars, have worked but 11 days and the Logan colliery but 13 days and 5 hours this month to 28 days in Reading collieries have worked.

Constable "Talley" Phillips stood at the corner of Main and Centre streets yesterday and was approached by a seamy-looking man who asked, "Do you know Mike Mush?"
"Mush, Mush," repeated the constable as he tried to recall having heard the name before, "No, I don't know Mike Mush."
"Well," continued the stranger, "will you lend me ten cents until Saturday. When I see Mike I'll give it back."
"That's too much much for me," said Phillips as he excused the bum to retreat at the rear of the horse house.

Some of the First ward Democrats, including J. J. Kelly, the candidate for the Legislature, bought up all the paper-carrying musical instruments they could get hold of in town and parade to the sidewalk notes of the instruments of torture. They "assaulted" several of the saloon-keepers and managed to keep the town in a nervous state until a late hour. But little was left of the instruments when morning dawned.

A visit to some of our club rooms of which this town has many, discloses some feature that would disgust the parents of boys and young men who belong to them and frequent the rooms. There is entirely too much beer guzzled in some and too much card playing for stakes in others. It was never intended that club rooms should be used for anything else than a place to spend an hour or so in social intercourse, reading books and newspapers, &c. Three rooms ought to be open for the inspection of all and then there would be no danger of them going into disrepute.

The new reading room would be the proper place for our young men. There, they could have access to some of the best books and newspapers in the county and spend their time to advantage in a pleasant room. If they must drink beer, let them go into a saloon and drink openly.

I have also noticed young ladies, many of them reputed as respectable, visiting these places at all hours of the night. Do their parents know it? We doubt it.

I was at the Council meeting Thursday night, and I must say it was almost as good as a show. All the end men were there and they made lots of fun.

When the railroad dis-in-fecting corps was here this week 'tis a pity they did not extend their work to some of the alleys in town. The borough authorities would, no doubt, have paid for the work.

Have you fixed your broken chimney and flues yet? This is about the best time to do the work. Clean out the excess of your houses so that the water, in rainy weather, can go through the spouting and not over the roof. The time for filling the coal bins is here. I noticed that those engaged in hauling coal see busy. Some people wait until the weather is cold, rainy and disagreeable, before ordering their fuel. It isn't very pleasant to the haulers, or pedestrians who have to travel over the dirty truck pavement on a wet or cold day.

If you want to please the housewife see that you have plenty of nice dry wood, cut the proper length, stored away in a dry and handy place, and every time she has occasion to use wood to start a fire she will think what a nice, dutiful husband or son she has. It is worth something to see the lady of the house in good humor. Your meals will taste all the better.

One thing I am almost certain of is that the coming political campaign will be one of education, for I notice more people are reading the daily papers than ever before, especially is this so of the workmen. There appears to be a hungry desire to read all about the tariff, reciprocity, free banking, &c., and those convinced by the reading of these papers will not be easily swayed from their convictions. Most of these people do not confine themselves to the papers of one party. It is no common thing now to see a workman have a Republican and Democratic paper in his possession. In the past it was rare to see them have one. It is a good sign. It is ignorance that causes trouble in the land.

Look at the matter from whatever standpoint you may, the question of a city charter for the largest town in the county is among the almost absolutely assured events of the future, and the not very distant future, either. While there are, of course, a great many of our citizens who indignantly repudiate the idea, there is a constantly growing undercurrent of sentiment favorable to the city charter. In my wanderings about town I find there are many of our citizens now favorable to the charter who opposed it a few years ago. No one who has given the subject thought and study can have failed to discover the advantages to be derived from such an incorporation. This sentiment will exert itself shortly. We want a city charter, and we want it now.

I am in hopes of seeing two of our public squares paved before the snow falls. It is almost certain that this good work will go on and those interested should see that everything is put in readiness so that there will be no delay when Council says "go ahead."

Chestnutting parties have already made inroads on the chestnut trees. The crop will be large and good.

Chief of Police Davis last night gave additional proof of his desire to meet all reasonable demands upon him by the public in squashing the hoodlums who gather about the theatre. The Chief says that he will see that all such matters will receive or merit attention. Let the good work go on and the already popular Chief will have the respect and good wishes of all
