THE FIRST GUN!

OPERA HOUSE CROWDED!

ROUSING AND PATRIOTIC ADDRESSES BY TWO ABLE SPEAKERS.

BRUMM AND HASTINGS

American Industries and Sound Currency the Themes.

MR. BRUMM'S ABLE SPEECH.

A Fearless Proposition to Congressman Reilly, or Any Man the Democratic Committee May Name, For a Joint Debate on the Stamp.

THE Republican rally in Robbins' opera house was a glorious event. The opera house was crowded by people of respectability and intelligence who showed that they were there to learn something of the issues the people are to settle next election day, and that they were gratified was evidenced by the enthusiastic applause that followed the expressions of the speakers, Gen. D. H. Hastings and Hon. Charles N. Brumm.

The speakers arrived in town early and repaired to their hotel for rest. Among the other arrivals were County Chairman Elias Davis, District Attorney Koch and his assistant, Arthur L. Shay, Esq., Hon. S. A. Loebe, Hon. D. D. Phillips, J. Harry James, Esq., John J. Coyne, the Republican candidate for Legislature, W. H. Lewis, Wm. Penn, W. H. Richardson, Hon. William E. Jones, T. J. Edwards and John I. Mathias, of Mahanoy City. All were in an enthusiastic frame of mind and spent some time with Messrs. Hastings and Brumm at their hotel.

At about 7:45 o'clock the Grant Cornet Band, headed by John F. Finney, T. T. Williams and B. J. Yost, marched up to the Fergussan House, where General Hastings and "Charlie" Brumm, with an escort of the candidates, visitors and a number of local Republicans fell into line and marched to the opera house.

The Grand Band rendered a selection in front of the stage while the speakers were being escorted to their places, and when the playing ceased Mr. David Morgan called the meeting to order. The following ANNOUNCEMENTS WERE MADE:

President, M. P. Fowler; Vice Presidents, C. W. Dangler, J. H. Kehlor, T. T. Williams, John A. Lewis, William Kendrick, John F. Finney, T. J. Davies, William Stein, A. B. Lamb, M. H. Kohler, John Watson, David Morgan, William Broughall, James Grant, M. S. Biggs, W. H. Lewis, James Heaton, Joseph Parry, William Krick, Thomas Baird, Michael Graham, Thomas J. James, H. C. Boyer, Hon. J. W. Morgan, W. Neiswender, R. A. Davenport, E. C. Brobst, E. W. Johnson, Morgan Price, Elmer J. Wasley, S. L. Brown, F. Hopkins, H. P. Mallet, R. A. Glover, B. J. Yost, George Beddall, O. A. Keim, Ralph Oliver; Secretaries, W. J. Morgan, W. J. Watkins, H. E. Dangler, M. J. Lawlor, F. C. Reese.

President Fowler at once introduced General Hastings who was enthusiastically received. The speaker held the platform for nearly two hours, and so close was the attention given that not a dozen people left the hall before he finished, and those who did leave were out of town residents who were obliged to make train connections. General Hastings at once planted himself solidly in the estimation of the audience and when he retired the

APPLAUSE WAS TREMENDOUS. The speaker entered upon a glowing tribute to Schuylkill county. Whenever the country has called upon Pennsylvania no section of the state has responded more promptly and loyally than the men of Schuylkill. Speaking politically the General said, "I am satisfied that the aims and objects of every man in this grand old Commonwealth, no matter what his politics may be, are, at heart, for the best interests of the country. I believe the Democrats are sincere in their judgment in naming their candidates and voting for them, because they think it is for the best interests of the country, but, of course, they are wrong.

In comparing Harrison and Cleveland the speaker made several points that provoked hearty applause.

HARRISON AND CLEVELAND are of about the same age, both reached manhood before the war, both had a taste of public life, both chose the law as a profession and became eminent, and both had tastes for positions in public life. Cleveland allied himself with the party that upheld slavery; Harrison joined the party that favored its abolition. When the war came HARRISON LED HIS REGIMENT from Indiana to the field of glory and blood; Mr. Cleveland, when he was drafted, hired a substitute. General Hastings paid a glowing tribute to the Harrison administration, and said that the President is always found on the side that Lincoln, Grant, Conkling, Garfield and Washington were found—on the side of protection for America and her industries.

Speaking of protection, General Hastings said that the second law placed upon the statute books of the country when Washington was President was a protective tariff law. They said they wanted (first) revenue to pay the expenses of running the government; and (second) to encourage home industries. The expenses of the government were comparatively insignificant then. Now they amount to $1,000,000 per day. There is not a man in the country who knows there is a PROTECTIVE TARIFF in the country because it hurts him. In 1861 said, that which everybody has upon the table, was free of duty. Ninety per cent. of it came from other countries and it cost in New York, wholesale, $2.50 per barrel. The tariff on salt is now 32 cents a barrel. "I can take you to salt works in the northern part of the state of New York and I can furnish you with 10,000 barrels of salt at 50 cents per barrel, and the barrel, which is worth 20 cents, thrown in. The effect is, we are producing our own salt.

OUR OWN AMERICAN salt. The men who manufacture our salt are Americans, they have their homes here, and they live here. They belong to us. The money expended in the manufacture of salt is not paid out in other countries. Now, is the tariff a tax on salt?"

Treating the tin plate question General Hastings said that he has found, and the report of Col. Ayres, appointed by the government to ascertain the condition of the different industries in the country, shows that since the passage of the McKinley bill we now have 42 establishments manufacturing tin, and 21 of them are in the state of Pennsylvania. The General referred to a letter he received from a Philadelphia manufacturing firm stating that it has

ALL AMERICAN CAPITAL in the work; all American citizens employed in the manufacture; all the pig iron and steel are made of American ores; and the tin is dipped in comes from American mines.

"Did you ever hear of a wage earning man going from the United States in order to get work in Great Britain? Never! The gateways of the government swing the other way," said the General.

The speaker then turned his attention to the wild west banking system plank in the Democratic platform. Before the war we had nothing but state bank notes. If we go back to that system each of the 44 states will have a different kind of a currency, and perhaps each bank a hundred different kind of notes. On the 15th of June, 1859, there were 102 state banks in Pennsylvania. Private banks—we call them

WILD CAT BANKS. Each one had a different kind of bill and each depended for its credit on nothing but the good faith of the men who were in the banking business; and if they were good, the notes were good. And at that time there were only five banks whose notes sold at par. Some sold as low as 90 per cent. discount on the dollar. At that time when people started for church they always carried with them the bible and a copy of Peterson's bank note detector. The workman of to-day has no time to study bank note detectors. We have a SPLENDID SYSTEM OF CURRENCY to-day. We can devise nothing better. The tax of ten per cent. was put on the state banks to drive them out. Let us leave good enough alone. The wage earner should be paid with money that goes at par in every country under the sun. "I didn't go to a place on the other side during my trip last summer," continued General Hastings, "where I couldn't put my hand in my pocket and pull out a greenback, a silver certificate, or a treasury note and hand it up and see it go at par. And in two governments they went at a premium. You cannot go to any place on the other side where American money and

THE AMERICAN FLAG are not respected. Let us keep to that which is as good in Texas as in Washington, and as good in China as in Pennsylvania.

In closing General Hastings spoke in terms of Hon. C. N. Brumm, the Republican candidate for Congress, that provoked prolonged applause. Mr. Brumm was next introduced. He was enthusiastically received. Mr. Brumm said he would not speak long, as he wished to speak here again before the close of the campaign and have the whole meeting to himself to speak of Congressman

REILLY'S OFFICIAL RECORD

He made mention of the fact that he had written to Mr. Reilly twice to have a joint debate on the stump, but had received no answer to the communications, and when County Chairman Marr was asked to get Mr. Reilly to comply the excuse was made that Mr. Reilly had previous engagements. Mr. Brumm said he wrote that gentleman a month and a half before he made any engagements. He said Mr. Reilly was afraid to have joint debates because he knew they would draw large crowds and it might result in the people being BROUGHT FROM DARKNESS and voting the whole Republican ticket. Mr. Brumm said he would not attack Mr. Reilly's personal record. He believed him a gentleman in every respect.

As Mr. Brumm spoke for 45 minutes space cannot be given to his address in detail, but the challenges he made are too valuable to be omitted.

Mr. Brumm said: "Mr. Reilly has been eight years in Congress; so have I.

DEATH OF A HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATE

T. EDWARD SHARAR DIES AT WILLIAMSPORT.

MEMBER OF THE CLASS OF '89

A Fatal Accident Occurs at the Hammond Colliery Near Rappahannock—One Man Killed and Another Injured.

TELEGRAM was received to-day announcing the death of T. Edward Sharar at the home of his father in Williamsport. The death was sudden, having been caused by heart disease. The announcement caused much surprise and regret. Mr. Sharar had resided with his uncle, Richard Stocker, on South Main street, for several years and was well known and very popular. He attended the High School of town and graduated with the class of '89, being its president.

The death of Mr. Sharar fell with special force upon the corps of school teachers in town, several of them having graduated with the deceased. They were Misses Nellie Baird, Lizzie Carroll, Hannah B. Morrison, Mary E. Fox, Carrie M. Smith, Libbie B. Phillips, Mary E. Roberts, Corinne Tempest and Mr. J. W. Burks. The deceased was a member of Washington Camp, No. 183, P. O. S. of A., of town. No announcement of the funeral has been received, but it is thought the remains will be brought to town.

DISTRESSING ACCIDENT.

Two Cars Crash Down the Hammond Colliery Slope.

At about three o'clock yesterday afternoon a most distressing accident occurred in the slope of the Hammond colliery near Rappahannock, by which a young man was instantly killed and another injured.

The accident was caused by the top men missing a coupling at the top of the slope and two cars went crashing down to the bottom, tearing up rails and rails and instantly killing William Thorington, a driver who was at the bottom. Flying debris struck Anthony Cleary, the bottom man, but he was able to walk home after being taken out of the mine.

Thorington was about twenty years of age and resided at Girardville. He was frightfully mangled.

PERSONAL.

School Director William Trease is confined to his home by a severe neuralgic attack.

Miss Sadie Levine, of Shenandoah, who will shortly be wedded to Simon Korzoksy, of the Mt. Carmel notion and bargain store, was pleasantly entertained by town friends yesterday.—Mt. Carmel News.

A Child's Death.

Newsweek Won.

Daniel Neiswender and George Manning, both of town, contested in a pigeon shooting match at the trotting park yesterday afternoon for stakes of $100 a side. Neiswender killed six out of eight birds and Manning killed four.

An Omission.

In making out the list of citizens to be invited to co-operate with the soldiers' monument committee the name of Hon. M. C. Watson was unintentionally omitted.

Found Out.

The best and easiest way to get rid of a cough or cold that may develop into consumption is to invest 25 cents in a bottle of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, the great remedy for Coughs, Colds, La Grippe, Throat and Lung Disorders. Trial bottles free at F. P. D. Kirtland's drug store.

Colliery Notes.

A jig house addition is being built at the Indian Ridge breaker to prepare the smaller sizes of coal for market. It is expected that the addition will be ready for operation in about a month. Superintendent John Veila, of the Pottsville headquarters, was in town yesterday and inspected the St. Nicholas district.

Electric Railway Change.

Hereafter the electric railway cars will leave the corner of Main and Centre streets at 5:30 a. m., daily, and every 25 minutes thereafter until midnight, at which hour the last car will leave.
