READING EDITORS' TOUR.

THEY PAY A VISIT TO THE MINES.

NEARLY A HUNDRED IN THE PARTY

St. Clair, Frackville, Gordon, Mineraville, Glen Carbon, Shenandoah, Mahanoy City and Other Places Visited.

THE first excursion of the Reading Press Club to the anthracite coal regions took place yesterday. The members of the club, accompanied by their wives and lady friends, representatives of the Philadelphia newspapers, C. R. Deacon, press agent of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad company, and a number of officials of the company, left Reading at 8:31 a. m. on a special train of three cars, one of which was a palace car with dining room attached. A brief stop was made at Port Carbon at 9:01 and thirty-one minutes later the excursionists arrived at Frackville, at the head of Mahanoy plane. Here they alighted and spent forty-five minutes viewing the scenery of the valleys and mountains and examining the machinery of the plane. At 10:20 the party returned by the same route to Schuylkill Haven and proceeded to Cressona on the Mine Hill and Schuylkill Haven branch, arriving at 11:12 a. m.

This part of the trip afforded the excursionists an opportunity to inspect engine houses, machine shops, and the scales that weigh coal brought from Gordon plane, but the stop was a brief one and the party pushed on to Mineraville and Glen Carbon, and at noon reached Gordon planes. Here a stop of about an hour was made for lunch, which was served in the dining car. Shortly after 1 o'clock the excursionists were lowered over both planes. They then journeyed to Mahanoy Plane and at that point were switched on the Shenandoah branch. The visitors were due here at 2:05 p. m., but did not arrive until 3. They were accompanied by General Superintendent R. C. Luther, of the P. & R. C. & I. Co., and were received by many of the mine officials of this and the connecting districts. The train was run up to Indian Ridge colliery and the visitors spent over an hour inspecting the mines.

In speaking of the trip the editors said it was one of the most enjoyable and interesting they had ever had. They were particularly well pleased with what they saw in and about the mines in this section. It was a novel sight for many of them and some said they intend in the near future to spend several days in Shenandoah so as to get full benefit of all that may be seen in the great works for the production of anthracite coal. Some of the excursionists expressed surprise at finding a town like Shenandoah in a nest of coal mines. Cyrus T. Fox, of the Reading Press Bureau, who makes frequent trips to this section, said, "Why, this is the greatest town in the region. You should be here on a pay day."

Shortly after four o'clock the excursionists started for home, going from here to Mahanoy City, then to Tamaqua and Port Clinton, and from there to Reading.

The roll of press excursionists was as follows: August Bendel, Literatur Blatt; A. N. Burkholder, John M. Geiger, Jesse G. Hawley, Alfred G. Jones, J. D. Missimer, W. Frank Mohr, Joseph S. McCullough, and John W. Rausch, of the Engle; George W. Brown, Edwin R. Gerber and H. H. Hammer, of the Telegram; Frank T. Cox, Individe; John H. Early, Lewis G. Early and Charles W. Gerhart, of the Morning Herald; John H. Focht, Robert L. Leyburn, William Sterrett and Thomas C. Zimmerman, of the Times; Cyrus T. Fox, of the Reading Press Bureau; Thomas H. Jones and A. D. B. Mackenzie, of the World; William Rosenthal and John Wetler, of the Post; Milford N. Ritter, News; Charles B. Spatz, Boyerstown Democrat; Harry E. Hart, Birdsboro Dispatch; Henry Seibert, Adler.

The guests of the club were: Mrs. F. E. Aulenbach, Mrs. A. Bendel, Mrs. George W. Brown, Mrs. Frank T. Cox, Mrs. J. B. Dampman, Mrs. Marcus B. Eachus, Mrs. John H. Focht, Mrs. Cyrus T. Great Activity at Republican National Headquarters.

New York, Oct. 9.—There is continued activity at the Republican National Headquarters. Chairman Carter was up bright and early yesterday morning, although he had been at work nearly all the previous night. He was busy all day, and he is still toiling as this letter goes to mail. Yesterday he held a long consultation with General Mahone, ex-United States Senator from Virginia, who thinks that that state can be carried for Harrison and Reid if a fair vote and count can be secured. Mr. Mahone has succeeded in uniting all the chief Republicans under his leadership, which is in itself an evidence of their confidence in victory if they are not divided. Congressman Bowden, of Virginia, also called upon Mr. Carter. Other callers were Governor McKinley, of Ohio, and his brother, Abner; Editor Frank Hatton of the Washington Post, Alexander Shaw, of Baltimore, ex-Postmaster Huidekoper, of Philadelphia, National Committeeman Campbell, of Illinois, and Charles N. Bordon, of Chicago. Governor McKinley agreed to speak in Illinois on October 21 and 22, in Kansas City October 24 and St. Louis October 25, and then again in Illinois on October 25. General Alger will speak in Kansas every night next week. Major A. M. Hancock, of Maryland, is to speak in Kansas.

THE $100,000 CHECK.

Ex-Mayor Grace denies he has given his check for $100,000 to the Democratic National Committee to help along the campaign.

A FISHING CLUB.

The Cleveland and Hill factions of the Democratic party in Jamestown, this state, are at daggers drawn. One of the leading Hill Democrats, and a merchant of that city, is organizing what he sees fit to call "The Eighth of November Democratic Fishing Club." The members agree to spend election day fishing, and to refrain from going to the polls. He has obtained 100 signatures in that city and 187 in the northern part of the county, and reports that the organization is growing rapidly. All the members are Democrats.

FEDERAL ELECTION OFFICERS.

One thousand United States supervisors of election districts were sworn in last evening in the post office building by Commissioner Shields. A large number of additional marshals appointed by Marshal Jacobus were also sworn; more will be sworn in to-night and also on Monday evening. Badges were given to the marshals. Supervisors and marshals have been appointed for Yorkers, Sing Sing, Newburg, Poughkeepsie and other places in the southern district, and commissions have been issued to them of Judge Brown. HOWARD.

A RE-DEDICATION.

The First Presbyterian Church Formally Re-opened After Repairs.

The First Presbyterian church of town was re-dedicated last evening, the edifice having recently undergone extensive repairs and re-decoration. Rev. William McNally, the pastor, had extended invitations to a number of out-of-town clergymen, but prior engagements prevented their attendance. Rev. McNally had a special sermon prepared for the occasion, the text being taken from the last clause of Isaiah, 56:7: "My house shall be called the house of prayer for all people." Prof. E. D. Beddall and family also had special music for the event.

The interior of the church now presents a beautiful appearance. The walls and ceilings have been handsomely repainted and frescoed and the scriptural designs in some of the decorations are of a most beautiful character. The wood work of the church has also been greatly improved in appearance. The Board of Trustees are contemplating an offer by the steam heating company to supply the church with its system for a nominal sum per year.

Patterson's Death.

James Patterson, the prohibition candidate for the Legislature, writes to the HERALD denying the assertions of "Walker" that he has held himself out as an independent candidate for the Legislature and that he worked against Hon. William E. Jones when he was a candidate for the Legislature. In justice to "Walker" it should be stated that the assertions were made upon the positive declarations of two respectable and responsible citizens and voters of this town.

TWO CALLS FOR FIREMEN.

THE ALARMS WERE SOUNDED YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

THEY WERE SLIGHT AFFAIRS

Both Alarms Sounded From Centre Street—The Services of the Companies Were Not Required.

THE fire alarm system was called into use twice yesterday and the firemen had two sprints within the same number of hours. The day was breezy and upon the sound of second alarm many of our townsmen became quite nervous. Fortunately the fires were very slight. One was in Ploppert's lake house on East Centre street and the other at the Merrick property at the east end of the same street.

Fire Marshal Edward Early was kept busy nearly all the afternoon. In addition to the trouble connected with the two alarms he was obliged to walk to the west end of town to release a key. The holder of the key opened a box to show a friend the inside workings. After getting the outside door open he discovered that another key was required to open the inside door and he felt very much chagrined. His embarrassment was increased when he discovered that his key could not be released from the outside door without the use of the Fire Marshal's key. Hence Mr. Early's second trip. The Fire Marshal has requested the HERALD to state that he wishes holders of keys for the fire alarm boxes to be more careful in their use.

ELECTRIC ECHOES.

Shamokin and Mt. Carmel are to be Joined by an Electric Road.

It is stated on good authority that a number of prominent Shamokin capitalists will form a company in the near future and build an electric road from that town to Mt. Carmel, at which place connection will be made with the Ashland line. A continuous track will thus be formed, taking in all the principal towns of the coal region. The branch will no doubt be a paying one. It is intended to take in Springfield, Boydstown and all the best mining patches between Shamokin and Mt. Carmel, including Locust Gap. The scheme seems to be one of the most feasible ever advanced in these parts and it is a wonder the Shamokin power company did not make the attempt to run to Mt. Carmel and make the connection before this.

During the first four days the new electric railway at Carbondale was open the company carried over 11,000 people.

Over $8,000 was paid out in wages to employees of the Traction Company, employed in the neighborhood of Ashland, on Saturday.

Nothing besides the granting of the right of way by the city councils has been done by the Hazelton Suburban Electric Railway.

Little of anything is being done by the directors of the Tamaqua-Lansford Company. It is a question if the road will ever be built.

The Traction Company in this vicinity will put sand-boxes on their cars.

A large consignment of rails for the electric railway has been delivered at Mahanoy City.

THE MASTER PAINTERS.

Making Arrangements for Their Sixth Annual Convention.

The executive board of the Pennsylvania Association of Master House Painters and Decorators met in Wilkes-Barre last week to arrange a programme for the sixth annual convention which will be held in Scranton next January. Williamport, Wilkes-Barre and Shenandoah tried for the date. There were present Titus Berge, President, Pittsburg; Charles McCarty, Vice President, Philadelphia; George Butler, Secretary and Treasurer, Philadelphia; John S. B. Mercer, Pittsburg; William H. Margwarth, Hazelton; M. Daniel Cohan, Philadelphia; R. D. Davis, Johnstown; John P. Gohl, Harrisburg, and Arthur S. Jennings, editor of Painting and Decorating, Philadelphia, the official organ of the association.

The association comprises a large number of local associations and the object is the improvement of the painting business, the eliminating of all incompetent workmen and establishing a state apprenticeship system whereby young men, desirous of acquiring trades may be duly indentured and properly taught and a certificate of workmanship given. The association has been closely investigating into the quality of painters' materials. At the coming convention reports will be made on tests that are now being made on white lead, colors and oils. Papers on decoration on the best method of performing work and other subjects will also be read. It is expected that Mr. Titus Berge, of Pittsburg, will pay the Shenandoah and Mahanoy City Associations a visit within a week or two.
