Fire Alarm Boxes.

The following list shows the location of the alarm boxes of the Shenandoah Fire Department:

- 15—Coal and Bowers streets.
- 16—Bowers and Centre streets.
- 24—Bridge and Centre streets.
- 25—Main and Centre streets.
- 31—Main and Poplar streets.
- 35—Main and Coal streets.
- 45—Gilbert and Coal streets.
- 48—Gilbert and Cherry streets.
- 48—Chestnut and Coal streets.

To send an alarm open the box, pull down the hook once and let go. When an alarm is sent in the fire bell will sound the number of the box and repeat the alarm four times.

HOW TO LOCATE ALARMS.

If the alarm is sounded from box 15 the fire bell will strike one, then pause and strike five which will indicate that the fire is in the vicinity of No. 15 box. Every alarm is repeated four times.

OBIE'S OBSERVATIONS.

What He Sees and Hears During His Travels.

Chief Burgess Smith said yesterday "The Herald may state that our town is making remarkable progress from a moral standpoint." This decision is based upon the fact that the police have not been called upon to make an arrest for drunkenness or disorderly conduct since pay day.

A blast made on the Pennsylvania railroad, Monday, near Wm. Penn, caused the passage of a large piece of rock through the roof of a slant. The occupant, a woman, attacked the workmen with blood in her eye and a strong flavor of brimstone in her vocabulary and for a time it looked as if she would "clean out the whole gang." Italians and all. The foreman promised to cry out "Fire!" before setting off the next blast and the woman withdrew, apparently satisfied.

I have been informed upon reliable authority that the Mahanoy City borough authorities are contemplating securing a new water supply and that the dams at Lakeside are likely to be picked as the source. If the report is true I would advise prompt action, as other parties have had their eyes upon the dams for some time and the Mahanoy City people may be left as they were in the electric railway and Lakeside enterprises.

Harry Roxby, assistant to Baggage-master Golden at the Lehigh depot, saved a life Monday night. An intoxicated man tried to board a rapidly moving coal train. Harry caught him by the coat tail and pulled him out of danger.

An exchange gives this timely warning:

He sat at his door at noonday
Lonely, grim and sad,
The flies were buzzing about him,
Led by a blue-winged gad.
Not a customer darkened his portal,
Not a sign of business was there;
But the flies kept on buzzing
About the old man's hair.
At last in misery he shouted:
"Great Scott! I'm covered with flies!
And the scaphy that toyed with his whiskers
Said:
"WHY DON'T YOU ADVERTISE!"

I have just heard of three of our young townsmen who are following the stage as a profession. P. J. Gaughan, who left here several weeks ago with Sargent and Kidder's circus, is home again, the show having disbanded for the season in the oil region. Madden and Lowery have just closed a successful season with a circus in New York and have gone to Buffalo. They play a week there with a specialty company and if the show gives promise of success they will remain with it for the season. They do not expect to be home before next fall.

The Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Company is experimenting with a new mine car at the Maple Hill colliery. The car is of a late patent and its special merit is in its axles, which are supposed to require no oiling. It is said the car runs so easy that when loaded it can be started with one hand.

I have clipped the following extract from the Reading World's account of the editorial visit to this section on Sunday last, with particular reference to the visit to the mines of Indian Ridge colliery: "The visitors were lowered by two powerful elevators, first over 300 feet, when the engines, stables and pumps were inspected. Then the party, divided into tens, took another drop down into the earth, this time about 150 feet. All down the excursionists inspected the real work of digging dusky diamonds, in doing which they gained considerable instruction, had lots of amusement and got very dirty, although the mine was comparatively a dry one. In going up the breasts, walking on the sheet iron, a large number of the party had toboggan experiences they are likely to remember for a long time to come. One thing was made evident by the inspection of the mine: The visitors all concluded that the miners certainly earned the money paid them in their hazardous work, and all are now satisfied to give a tribute more for coal if the difference is to go to increase the wages of the coal delvers."

I have at hand a copy of the Reading Morning Herald containing a report of the recent trip of the Reading Press Club to this section. The report is a lengthy one and the gross inaccuracies with which it is studded makes it amusing. We fear the writer did not take time to fully investigate his subject. If he had his opinion of Shenandoah would not be as it appears in type. He says, "Shenandoah is not much of a town to look at. It has a general air of having come in in the night from somewhere on a coal train, and one is impressed, as everywhere in the coal regions, that the people must have saved a great deal by economizing in paint." Shenandoah is not a one night stand and so far as paint is concerned there is no town in the county more liberally decorated, especially on pay nights. Why, if the writer had just glanced at the school building just west of the depot he would have seen the first instalment of $500 worth of paint. When that scribe visits town again I hope he will get off the train and look around.

Another correspondent who needs a little talking to is the man who attempts to hush Shenandoah news for the Hazleton Plain-Reporter. He is not only sublimely ambitious, but is also very apt in the art of mixing matters so skillfully that the original lose their identity. Among the statements his aspirations lead him to is this: "A regular Donnybrook fair was held at the election of officers of the Jewish synagogue." I am informed by one of the prominent members of the congregation that there are no Irish Jews in the town.

The impartial citizens of the town will concur in the sentiments expressed by Borough Solicitor Pomeroy at the joint meeting held on Tuesday evening. The Borough Council should go slow with the water project and take no risks whereby the town may be subjected to interminable litigation. From past experience, the Councilmen should know that the Pottsville court is too expensive an agency for the borough to meddle with and no law suits should be invited. We have not agreed with Mr. Pomeroy, the Joint Committee, or the Borough Council from the time the water project was first put on foot, but in this case we must say that Mr. Pomeroy is right. His advice is timely and sound and if it is not heeded those who ignore it may fall into the soup.

All the talk about conditional contracts for the construction of the public water works is a waste of time. I do not believe that any contractor will undertake the construction upon the condition that if the courts eventually issue a permanent injunction against the borough a claim for breach of contract will not be made. As a rule, when contractors make agreements with a condition attached, especially with parties situated as this borough is, they ask for a bond to insure them against any loss by reason of any suits. If the borough is wise it will clean its skirts of all litigations touching upon the water works before it awards any contract.

There are more than a score of people in town who are gradually becoming convinced that the arguments made by the Herald against the action of the joint committee were not without some virtue. It will not be long before all people in the town who are open to conviction will realize that the Herald has been right from the start. "Go slow" has been the Herald's cry at all times, but with "the people want water" banner in the lead the joint committee has rushed ahead until now they are halted by the cry of "go slow" from their own advisers.

"I believe the constitution of this state, its laws, and the will of the people of this town, after an election duly advertised, will uphold us," said Mr. Francy at the meeting Tuesday night. That may be true, "Jim," but suppose the courts declare that the election was illegal because it was held under the Baker ballot law and suppose the people should decide against an increase of indebtedness on a second election, would not the constitution, the laws and the will of the people operate? Of course this is only a supposition, but it is marked by an element of possibility.

Water Notice

OFFICE OF THE

Shenandoah Water and Gas Co.

On account of the long drought the Shenandoah Water and Gas Company gives notice to its consumers that there must be no more waste of the water supplied by the company. This notice is especially directed to people who use garden hose and wash slow windows, pavements, carriages, etc.

The water will be turned off every evening, beginning on Wednesday, October 5th, at seven o'clock, and remain so until 7 a. m. This rule will remain in force until the next rain. A watchman will be stationed at a stop at Fowler's lumber yard, on East Coal street, to turn on the water at a moment's notice in case the fire alarm is sounded.

By order of the company,
