WILL BLAINE SPEAK?

Strong Effort Making to Induce Him to Take the Stump.

POLITIGIANS AT OPHIR FARM.

The Ex-Secretary of State Declines to Talk of the Situation-He is Looking and Feeling Wel!—His Plans Not Yet questions involved except those discussed in Judge Andrews' opinion.

The cases and decisions are as follows:

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 14.—Mr. Blaine is passing the time quietly at Ophir Farm, the residence of Whitelaw Reid, resting after his trip from Maine. Although a distinguished delegation came up from New York yesterday afternoon he did not meet them until he came downstairs to dinner at 7 o'clock in the evening. The gentlemen whom Mr. Reid had invited to meet Mr. Blaine were Gen. James S. Clarkson, Cornelius N. Bliss, Chairman Carter, of the Republican National Committee, and Secretary McComas.

To a press representative Mr. Reid stated this morning that the visit of Mr. Blaine, and his meeting with the directors of the Republican campaign, had no political significance. It was a purely social affair, and not a gathering for the holding of an important conference as to the progress of the campaign.

Mr. Reid also said that Mr. Blaine was not induced to come on In order to give the managers of the campaign an oppor-tunity to make a personal and united ap-peal to him to deliver one or more cam-

Thave been expecting Mr. Blaine to visit me for some time," said Mr. Reid, "and he has not been able to come until
now. He is on his way to his Washington residence, and while I would be most happy to have him with me for some time, I am not certain that he will remain longer than the end of this week.

"Mrs. Blaine expects to arrive in New York on Monday, and will go to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Damrosch, for a visit. Mr. Blaine may go there also for a time, and he may then go on to Washington, and he may return here. His plans are not yet settled. "Now, about Mr. Blaine's health, he has been unwell all summer and is now improving rapidly. The way in which he stood the trip from Bar Harbor speaks volumes. He is looking and feeling very well after his twenty-four hours in the cars. He positively declines to see newspaper men and to talk politics."

It is the general opinion here, in spite of what Mr. Reid says that a strong effort will be made to induce M. Biaine to ap-pear at least once at Madison Square Garden, and deliver one of his magnetic speeches in behalf of the Republican ticket. The absence of Mr. Harrison from the campaign made necessary by the illness of his wife, has, it is said, led the members of the National Republican Committee to decide that some strong climax is needed to arouse enthusiasm in in the ranks and call out a full vote on election day.

Whether the arguments of General Clarkson, Joseph Manley, Corneitus N.
Bilss and Mr. Reid, all of whom are strong personal friends of the ex-Secretary of State, will induce him to run the risk attendant upon entering a political campaign in his present physical conducton is uncertain. The matter is evidently being seriously considered, and the visit of James G. Biaine to Whitelaw Reid may have a marked effect upon the campaign

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 14.—Private Detective McHenry, the author of the story published in the Boston "Globe," regarding the Borden case, is now endeav oring to show to the Fall River authorities that he was working in their behalf and that his intention was to trick the 'Globe" reporter."

He alleges that he felt that the reporter was playing a part, and that he was trying to find out just what the reporter was up to, and for whom he was working, intimating that the evidence in the case which the newspaper man was to buy was to be communicated to the de-fence in the Borden case.

Mrs. Descen was not in court, but was represented by M. Barboux, her lawyer, accompanied by a stemographer.

When M. Barboux was called by Presiding Justice Tartu, he at once burst into a bumbastic trade against Mr. Descon. He accused the latter of being a persistent drunkard, violent waen in his cups, and frequently abusive of his wife. He said that Mr. Deacon when drunk had struck Mrs. Deacon frequently and had subjected her repeatedly to the most degrading language. Deacon, moreover, he said, was crazy drunk when he shot M. Abellie in the Hotel Splendide in Cannes.

M. Barboux then launched into a turgid imitation of the speech of the prose-cutor in the trial of Mr. Deacon as lacking the elementary instinct of manhood, and accused him of accepting from Mrs. Deacon the money for his food, clothes and caronsals. Barboux's speech was weak, pointless and planned unrely to prejudice the court against Mr. Deacon without touching upon the merits of the charge against his Pilatte, for Mr. Deacon, said that he would have no objection if Mrs. Deacon would pay casts. The court then decided that Mrs. Deacon should pay costs and that the power of appeal be granted. The trial will probably take place about the middie of November.

The request for a dismissal on the ground of abandonment undoubtedly was the surprise which, it was rumored be-

NEW YORK'S EXHIBITION OVER. A Brilliant Banquet Worls Up the

Columbian Pestivities. New York, Oct. 14 .- As if to justify Sydney Smith's wittleism that every event, even an earthquake, must be cole brated by the Anglo-Saxon race by a banquet, even if they hunt a place at the ruins in which to dine, New York's celebration of the discovery of America was closed by a banquet last night, The auditorium of the Lenox Lyceum Fifty-ninth street and Madison avenue where the feast was beld, is an ideal banquet hall. Well proportioned and lofty, its natural advantages were enhanced by decorations and wonderfully artistic electric lighting to a point of exceeding beauty. The balconies were hung with hand-embroidered designs of the ancient armor of Italy and Spain on a background of crimson plush, inter-spersed with United States shields and the colors of Italy and Spain.

Among those who were present were nearly all the most notable persons in the Government of the United States, the Army and Navy, members of the foreign legations at Washington, Judges of the tegations at Washington, Judges of the United States Supreme Court and of the higher State courts, Governors of several States of the Union, members of the City Government, the Board of Education, prominent members of the Chamber of Commerce, New York Stock Exchange, together with representative men from all professions.

The boxes and seats were all occupied, and there were about 500 speciators in addition to the banqueters. The rables were decorated with flowers and smilinx, and the walls were hung with flags, banners and silk curtains.

At the head table were seated Vice-President Moriou, Postmaster-General Wanamaker, the Hon, William Sulzer Congression A. J. Commings, Secretary Tracy, Gen. Horaco Poeter, Secretary Foster, Governor Flower, Mayor Granv, ex-President Cleveland, the Hon. J. H. V. Arnold, and Commissioner Wante.

Others who were present were Senator Hill, General Schoffeld, General Ruggles, General Howard, Governor Bulkeley of Connecticut, Governor Pattison of Ponnsylvania, Governor Abbett of New Jerasy, Rutherford B, Hayes and Governor Russell of Massachusetts.

There was one empty chair at the table of honor. Chadheey Depew, who was to have acted as toastmaster, was absent, Mayor Grant supplied his place as best he could. Mr. Depew's unexplained absence deprived the after dinner oratory of much of its a markle. At the older of the dinner at 10 p. m.,
