AT KEITER'S

THE BOROUGH COUNCIL!

VERY LIVELY SESSION HELD LAST NIGHT.

ONE OF THE MEMBERS RETIRED

The Water Works Proceedings Stopped by a Suit Instituted by the Thomas Coal Company-Street Paving.

If bad blood ever flowed in the Borough Council it did at the meeting last night. It was almost a continual brawl and certain not such a meeting that reflects credit upon the governing body of a town, especially one the size of Shenandoah.

The first dispute arose over the method by which the electric railway track should be paved. Mr. Betteridge, of the street committee, reported that the paving of the track with red stone south of Centre street had been stopped because some people contended that the track on the two squares in that section should be paved with Belgian blocks, as the rest of the street. Mr. Betteridge said that Mr. Yarnell, general manager of the electric railway company, had agreed to pave with Belgian blocks if Connell insisted upon it, but he asked that the red stone be accepted for the road between the rails, as the company had made a contract for it.

Mr. Devers said the company ought to be made to pave right and Mr. Phalen said that if the company was willing to pave with Belgian blocks he saw no reason why red stone should be accepted. Mr. Cookley said he thought the electric railway company was doing very well with the people of the borough, and he did not wish to see it pushed around the wall. He made some reference to Mr. Devers, who jumped up and retorted warily, and finally Messrs. James, Gallagher and Phalen also became entangled in an argument as to what certain Councilmen did in the past for the electric railway and street paving, what some didn't do, why and when they did or didn't, etc., etc. The argument was at such high pressure that the listening members and spectators at the rear of the room expected to see a sensational explosion, but Mr. Devers put on his hat and coat and left the room, whereupon the other members resumed business.

Mr. Quinn, one of the new water works contractors, was present and stated that the Thomas Coal Company had served a legal notice upon his firm and Lawyer Nash had advised that work be stopped until the borough could file a bond of $20,000 in the case. Mr. Quinn said it would also be necessary to employ a mining engineer at once. His services will be required at Pottsville next Monday to give testimony in the water company's injunction suit and will also be required in the Thomas suit. Mr. Quinn also said that the Thomas Coal Company claims that the site selected for the reservoir of the new works is on coal property leased by the company.

Mr. Quinn was authorized to make a temporary arrangement with some mining engineer and it is understood that J. Marshall Young is to be the man. Council also ordered the preparation of the $20,000 bond. Mr. Lewis Grant, of Pottsville, was present and stated that the firm that makes the Belgian blocks for street paving cannot furnish enough blocks for all the work required here, but has agreed to ship one cargo at once and the rest by December 1st. Mr. Grant thought that one cargo (a schooner load) would pave one side of the two squares on Main street. The following understanding was then arrived at: "The Grant Bros. will have until May 15, 1893, to which to complete their contract. They will begin next Monday and use all the stone they can get until the weather becomes so severe that the work cannot progress. Messrs. Grant will then have the unfinished portions of the street cut down to grade and made fit for traffic until the paving can be renewed in the spring." Mr. Grant said he would begin work next Monday and Council instructed him to begin paving on the east side of the street first. Council also intimated that it was not anxious that all the paving should be done this fall, as the pipes for the new water works are to be laid along the west side of the street and it would be well to have the pipes down, if possible, before the paving is done. Mr. Grant said he would not mind being held back a reasonable time on that account, but he would not like to have the contract hanging on his head for a year or two. One of the Councilmen said that would not be done as the contract for the water works called for their completion by June 15th, next.

The Chief Burgess was instructed to notify all the property owners on the squares to be paved to secure a proper grade for the curbs.

The report of the Chief of Police for October showed 23 arrests. Nineteen paid fines, two served time and two were discharged. The fines collected amounted to $38.

The report of the Chief Burgess showed a collection of $62 for fines, license, etc., for October.

Complaint was made that the electric street lights are not kept burning until daylight and the company's bill was referred for investigation, together with two bills for gas and engine house electric lighting, both which Council thought were too high.

When the Supervisor's report was read Mr. Gable objected to an item of over $10 in favor of a business man of town. He said that men who are unable to pay their taxes should be allowed to work upon the streets, and people who could afford to pay the cash should do so. Mr. Betteridge said that people who had been exonerated from taxes had also been given work on the streets. Supervisor McGraw was notified by the criticism, and there was a lively debate between him and the two Councilmen, but the report was finally accepted.

A Common Sense Remedy. In the matter of cures what you want is something that will do its work while you continue to do yours—a remedy that will give you no inconvenience nor interfere with your business. Such a remedy is Allcock's Porous Plasters. These plasters are not an experiment; they have been in use for over thirty years, and their value has been attested by the highest medical authorities, as well as by testimonials from those who have used them. They require no change of diet and are not affected by wet or cold. Their action does not interfere with labor or business; you can toil and yet be cured while hard at work. They are so pure that the youngest, the oldest, the most delicate person of either sex can use them with great benefit. Beware of imitations, and do not be deceived by misrepresentations. Ask for Allcock's, and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

OBES OBSERVATIONS.

What He Sees and Hears During His Travels.

Ye green goods man is on the wing again. This time his circulars depicting the soft, tempting road to sudden wealth have fallen into the hands of Mr. T. C. Waters. Mr. Waters is in the tin business, not the kind of "tin" ye green goods man booms, but in the genuine tinkering and roofing sphere. "Mr. C. Grand, No. 304 Morris Avenue, Elizabeth, New Jersey," writes Mr. Waters that he has a "very superior article" for sale that will "compare with the genuine" and he will sell $7,000 for $500; $10,000 for $650; $20,000 for $1,000; but our townsman has concluded to try to grow rich on the $2.50 basis, though it takes a little while longer. "I thought there was something queer about that as soon as I read it," said Mr. Waters as he handed the circular to me yesterday, "and after reflecting a moment I recalled to mind how Kochanowsky went under."

There are few people in this town who know just how "Kochanowsky went under." Joseph Kochanowsky settled in this town several years ago and opened a small variety store on East Centre street, near the Lehigh Valley depot. At first his stock consisted of pictures and frames, stationary and little fancy trinkets admired by the Polish and Hungarian people. Kochanowsky's business prospered and he eventually added a small jewelry department to his store and engaged a watchmaker to do repairs. The business continued to increase and finally Kochanowsky moved to more commodious quarters on South Main street. Here he remained for several months and, to all appearances, prospered even better than before, thanks to his wife, a German, with a knowledge of several languages, a good education, and as plucky and sharp as the best of bargain drivers.

But Kochanowsky yearned for the saloon business and finally succeeded in getting a license for a place on Centre street just east of White and almost directly opposite his little variety and jewelry store. If patrons of the saloon expressed a desire to secure a good watch or piece of jewelry, or some nice trinket for his sweetheart Kochanowsky would propel him across the street to the little store. If some customer made a good purchase in the latter place the propelling business would be reversed. Mr. and Mrs. Kochanowsky thrived. Their neighbors believed they were growing rich rapidly.

But just when the goddess of fortune seemed to be beaming most brilliantly upon the ambitious foreigner there was a collapse. The fatal messenger came in the form of a confidential letter from "C. Grand," "Z. Grand Fake," or some other dispenser of fortunes that came wrapped up in green paper and sawdust. Kochanowsky's wife was a good English scholar and she read the message that told of "an opportunity to make an independent fortune in a short time and at a comparatively small investment." Kochanowsky bit and in doing so made a fatal step. He had his wife read and re-read the injunction in the message, "do only just as I tell you, be guided by my experience and advice. I mean to give you a sure and safe way of making money quickly."

One day last spring Kochanowsky closed his place of business on East Centre street. He sold out and left town. His wife said the sale was due to a heavy loss her husband had recently sustained, but refused to give any intimation of how the loss came about. She admitted that the amount was $600.

A gentleman who seems to be pretty well posted in the matter tells me that the loss was $800 and the get-rich-quick was the cause of it.

The newspapers have repeatedly warned the public against these schemes. The Herald has done it often. I wonder if this review of the Kochanowsky case will have any effect?

THE RYON GATHERING!

A LARGE ASSEMBLAGE IN FERGUSON'S THEATRE.

RYON, DOLPHIN AND ULRICH TALK

The Democratic County Convention Declared to Have Been Packed in the Interest of the Reading Company.

The Ryon meeting held in Ferguson's theatre last night drew an immense crowd. Over fifteen hundred people crowded into the theatre to hear Hon. John W. Ryon tell why he is a candidate for judge. J. J. Dougherty, of town, was chosen chairman and introduced John F. Dolphin, Esq., of Mahanoy City, the chairman of the Ryon movement. Mr. Dolphin declared that Judge Pershing was nominated by a convention packed in the interest of the P. & R. company and against the will of the Democratic majority in the county.

Mr. Dolphin said the question of tariff or no tariff faded into insignificance when compared with the question of who shall be our next judge. This question is important for many reasons, the principal of which is the long tenure of office. If a mistake is made in the selection of a President the people can, after four years service, retire him. If a Congressman is unfaithful, he also, at the expiration of two years, can be relegated to the duties of a private citizen. And the same rule holds good in all the offices but the judgeship. If a mistake is made in the judiciary the whole people must suffer. If a mistake is made now many who are here to-night will have crossed the dark river before it can be rectified and your children must pay the penalty. Such a mistake will entail the next generation with useless and excessive taxes. Mr. Dolphin closed with a stirring appeal to all genuine Democrats to support John W. Ryon for judge.

The next speaker was J. O. Ulrich, Esq., of Tanawaga. He related several pertinent and humorous stories which won the appreciation of his hearers. He arraigned Judge Pershing and denounced Mr. Marr, the Democratic County Chairman, in most scathing language. He spoke for over half an hour.

Hon. John W. Ryon was next introduced. Mr. Ryon said the fight was between Koch and himself and he ignored Pershing's candidacy. He spoke sarcastically of County Chairman Marr and accused him of ingratitude. He related several instances which he claimed went to show rulings by Judge Pershing in behalf of corporations and demanded that the Democrats "turn down a judge who has entangling alliances with any corporations." Mr. Ryon produced a letter from President McLeod, of the Reading Railroad, in answer to a request from Mr. Ryon that charges made against certain Reading officials should be investigated. Mr. Ryon responded Mr. Ulrich to read a quotation from Chairman Marr's proclamation concerning the votes that were cast for the respective candidates before the Democratic county convention and then read from Mr. McLeod's letter. The figures read by Messrs. Ulrich and Ryon tallied and Mr. Ryon asked the audience, "How did 'Billy' Marr get the private figures of the gigantic corporation?" He declared that the inference was plain. Mr. Ryon then gave a resume of the manner in which Pershing was nominated and asked the Democrats to go to the polls next Tuesday and vote as their consciences dictated, without fear or favor, as the law prevented any one from knowing how they voted, and that even the election officers had no means of knowing. After thanking the audience for the attention given him Mr. Ryon retired amid great applause.
